30% Voter Turnout In First Punch Card Election

McCauley, Condon, Koch, Nutley Win

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Incumbent Francis McCauley piled up a 3,479 vote margin over challenger Joanne Condon as the pair won the two mayoral nominations in Tuesday's preliminary election.

McCauley polled 8,121 votes to Condon's 4,642 with three other candidates trailing far behind.

Thomas Koch and Thomas

Nutley won the nominations for the Ward 6 City Council seat in a tight race.

Koch led Nutley by a scant 57 votes—914 to 857.

Richard Sheridan was third with 607, followed by John Walsh, 342; Marilyn Hanabury, 186 and former Councillor Thomas Gilmartin 183.

A possible recount may be sought by Nutley or Sheridan.

McCauley and Condon and Koch and Nutley will square off in the Nov. 5 final election.

It will mean that two brothers—Thomas Koch and Councillor-at-large Richard Koch, Sr. will be on the same ballot. They are believed to be the only two brothers ever to run in the same election in Quincy.

Despite the lack of contests other than the two for mayor and the Ward 6 City Council seat and drizzly weather, the voter turnout was larger than predicted.

Some 30 per cent of the city's 46,297 registered voters went to polls. Only 20 percent was forecast.

McCauley carried Condon's stronghold—Ward 6—by 572 votes. The vote was 1422 to 850.

McCauley took five of the six precincts, he lost only Precinct 6—Condon's backyard by four votes.

The pair were dead even in Precinct 1, 178-178. In Precinct 2 it was McCauley 192, Condon 141, in Precinct 3, 115 to 82; Precinct 4, 279 to 224.

In Precinct 5, McCauley piled up a 658 to 225 vote margin.

FRANCIS McCAULEY

JOANNE CONDON

THOMAS KOCH

THOMAS NUTLEY

McCauley, highly pleased with the results said: "I ran on my record and they (the voters) gave me an endorsement today. We're delighted and very pleased."

McCauley said he didn't expect to win by such a margin. "But I felt if the voters focused on my record in office, we'd do all right."

"We did very well—I'm very happy," said Mrs. Condon. "I would have liked to have won, but we have eight more weeks to do that."

Mrs. Condon said she did not intend to change her campaign strategy and that the issues of the Quincy shipyard, public safety and public service would remain priorities.

"One night doesn't change the issues," she said.

Koch was also very pleased with the vote, especially in North Quincy and Squantum. He congratulated the other candidates in the race, especially Richard Sheridan, and said he expects to continue a very personal house to house campaign.

Nutley said he was "absolutely delighted with the results" and looked forward to addressing the qualifications of the Ward 6 candidates and the issues of the ward.

Herman Pasquerella, Quincy High School teacher who finished with 790 votes in the mayoral contest mused:

"This time, the teacher was taught a lesson."

Sabina Kavanagh, Wollaston business woman placed fourth in the mayoral with 162 votes and David Peterson was last with 76.

City Clerk John Gillis said he was very pleased with the new voting system.

"The next election will go even better."

The punch card voting machines—marking the first time in the city's history that paper ballots were not used—proved highly successful.

Final returns from the city's 39 voting precincts were tabulated by 10:15 p.m. and but for computer problems at the beginning and end the final results would have been known by 9:30 or earlier.

Ordinarily, with paper ballots, the final returns have not been officially tabulated until as late as 5 or 6 a.m. the following morning.

Gillis is predicting 60% turnout for the primary election in November.

Robert LeBlanc, registrar of elections, said he went to a number of polling places Tuesday and the majority of people had no problem with the punch-card ballots.

"They said they enjoyed using them."

"With the old ballot system, we had auditors who talked up the vote on election night."

"This way, with the computer, it's all done for us."

Gillis, who had predicted that only 20% of the voters would go to the polls, said he was surprised by the 30% turnout.

City-Wide Flu Vaccine Program Scheduled

The Quincy Health Dept. has scheduled a flu vaccine program for Quincy residents only. Saturday, Sept. 28 at the JFK Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., from 1 to 4 p.m. for adults ages 29 and over.

Flu clinics will also be conducted at the following locations to accommodate the city's senior citizens and those unable to come to the JFK Health Center, according to Brian Buckley, coordinator for the Quincy Council on Aging.

Monday, Sept. 23: O'Brien Towers, 73 Bicknell St., 9 to 9:30 a.m.; Granite Place, 125 Granite St., 1 to 2 p.m.; Hancock Court, 25 School St., 2:30 to 3 p.m.

Tuesday, Sept. 24: Fenno House, 540 Hancock St., 9 to 10 a.m.

Wednesday, Sept. 25: 1000 Southern Artery NW, 1000 Southern Artery, 9 to 10:30 a.m.; Town Brook House, 45 Brackett St., 1:30 to 2 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 26:

Atlantic Neighborhood Center, 12 Hunt St., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.; Wollaston Manor, 91 Clay St., 9 to 10 a.m.

Friday, Sept. 27: Sawyer Towers, 95 Martensen St., 9 to 10 a.m.; Pagnano Towers, 109 Curtis Ave., 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Tuesday, Oct. 1: Drohan Apartments, 170 Copeland St., 9 to 10 a.m. and Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

The annual immunization against influenza is recommended for persons in the older age group, particularly those over 65 years of age; persons in nursing or convalescent homes, rest homes and other facilities where elderly people may be residing. Those ages 28 and under are less susceptible to contracting the flu and will not be participating in the program—unless they have a written request from their doctor. No flu vaccine is available for children under age 12.

Crack Down On Motorists Failing To Stop For School Buses

Quincy Police are cracking down on motorists who fail to stop when school buses are picking up or dropping off passengers.

According to the law, motorists must come to a full stop, in both directions, when the bus's lights are flashing.

Both plain clothed and uniformed police officers have been told to "vigorously enforce" the school bus regulations.

Violation of the law carries a $100 fine and a $50 a year surcharge on car insurance for three years.

Burger King Remodel Request Continued To Sept. 24

Plans to remodel the Burger King in West Quincy were put on hold after a request from ward councillor James A. Sheets.

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Sept.

24 a request from the Burger King Corporation to remodel its restaurant at 680 Adams St.

"We have a request from Councillor Sheets for continuance until he has a chance to look at it," said Police Chief Francis Finn. In his letter, Sheets explained that he was asking for the continuance so that a neighborhood meeting could be held on the proposed changes.

110 Permits For $928,965 In Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports his department issued 110 permits for an estimated $928,965 in wiring during August.

The department collected $7,338 in fees.

Major projects for which permits were issued during August include 35 condominiums at 934 Southern Artery, the former site of the Pollard School; 25 condominiums at 38-40 Cross St.; seven condominiums at 5-7-9-11-13-17 Whaler Lane, Marina Bay; 18 condominiums at 6 Jackson St.; a two-family dwelling at 55-57 Commonwealth Ave., and a Dary Mart at 200 Sea St.

The department also issued 68 certificates of approval to Massachusetts Electric Company; made 311 inspections; also 21 defects were noted and 14 re-inspections made.

8-To-10 New Firefighters To Be Appointed

Eight to 10 new firefighters and five senior officers will be appointed to the Quincy Fire Department on or before Oct. 30, announces Mayor Francis McCauley.

Scheduled to be appointed are one deputy chief, two captains, two lieutenants, in addition to the eight to 10 firefighters.

The positions will be filled from a civil service list sent to Quincy last week by the Department of Personnel Administration.

The appointments will bring the Fire Department up to the full complement of firefighters, according to McCauley. The vacancies are due to retirements and promotions, he said.

Extensive background checks will be made, and medical, psychological and strength tests given, McCauley said.

McCauley's announcement came on the eve of the preliminary election.

Condon: Mayor's Timing 'Unusual'

The timing of Mayor Francis McCauley's announcement of the appointment of eight to 10 new firefighters and five senior officers came under fire by mayoral candidate Joanne Condon.

"It seems unusual that he would be announcing the Oct. 30 appointments of 13 positions on Sept. 10, which happens to be primary election day," said City Councillor Condon.

"But I'm quite sure the people do see that they are vacancies, they are not the positions we have been fighting so hard to regain in the budget."

"And even with those positions that are regained, they are not enough positions to properly provide public safety in the city."

"These are not 13 additional firemen, these are 13 firemen he doesn't have presently hired which have been budgeted since July 1."

"Many of these vacancies have existed for a period of time. It also doesn't address the fact that we still have a reduction of over 10 public safety personnel that the mayor reduced from the budget for the last two years."

License Board Briefs

By LINDA WILKINS

The License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

Nutley Tops Ward 6 Condon Outspends McCauley By Over $10,000

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A total of $48,032 was spent by candidates for mayor in the preliminary race, with the largest share coming from City Councillor Joanne Condon who outspent two term incumbent Francis McCauley by more than $10,000.

Mrs. Condon raised $36,962 and spent $29,060, leaving her with $7,901.

McCauley, who already had $32,159 in his war chest from other campaigns, raised $26,150 and spent $18,266. He has $40,043 remaining.

Herman (Hank) Pasquerella spent $286, from an original $300; and Sabina Kavanagh spent $419.

The fifth candidate, David Peterson, did not raise or spend any money.

The largest of Mrs. Condon's 266 contributions came from Joseph Baglione of 134 Old Colony Ave., Donna Bucheri of 152 Governors Rd., and I.B.P.O. Union, 285 Dorchester Ave., South Boston, each of which gave $1,000.

Nearly $4,600 was contributed to Condon by a total of 12 unions.

Braintree developer Francis X. Messina donated $600 to McCauley, the highest of the mayor's 708 contributions. More than 10 city department heads contributed an average of $100 each.

Thomas J. Nutley spent the most money in the race for the Ward 6 Council seat being vacated by Mrs. Condon.

Nutley raised $3,790, spent $3,608 and has $182 remaining.

Thomas P. Koch raised a total of $3,415 from 49 contributions, spent $2,817 and has $598 left.

A total of $2,704 was raised from 19 contributions for Richard T. Sheridan who spent $2,651 and has $53 left.

John J. Walsh raised a total of $3,135 from 53 contributions, spent $2,297 and has $835 left.

A total of $253 was raised by Marilyn D. Hanabury from two contributions and she spent that amount.

Thomas Gilmartin spent $197.

In other races, which will be on the primary ballot in November, Richard Koch, Jr., Councillor at Large, had $1,910 in his campaign account, raised $2,255 from 63 contributions, spent $1,471 and has $2,694 remaining.

Frank Santoro, candidate for School Committee, raised $2,001 from 20 contributions, spent $1,361 and has $640 left.

Ronald Iacobucci, candidate for Councillor at Large, had $11, raised $4,485 from 47 contributions, spent $1,345 and has $3,151 remaining.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets had $640 in his campaign account, raised $5,650 from 69 contributions, spent $4,251 and has $2,039 left.

Councillor at Large Patricia Toland had $471, raised $7,770 from 135 contributions, spent $3,394 and has $4,848 left.

Another Councillor at Large, Joseph LaRaia, had $98, raised $2,689 from 45 contributions, spent $1,729 and has $1,058 left.

School Committee candidate Margaret Nigro raised $725 from four contributions, spent $357 and has $368 left.

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath had $995, raised $5,770 from 117 contributions, spent $794 and has $5,971 left.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro had $1,918, raised $3,215, spent $1,101 and has $4,301 remaining.

In the Ward 3 race, Howard MacKay spent $150. Incumbent John Lydon reported no contributions.

Plans To Reduce City's Voting Precincts To 30

City Clerk John Gillis presented to the City Council plans to redraw Quincy's wards and precincts which would take effect in about two years.

The action, which reduces the number of precincts from 39 to 30, is being taken so that "all of the precincts and wards in the city will be equal, according to Gillis.

"Two wards are out of kilter," said Gillis. "Ward 2 is too large and Ward 5 is too small."

Under the plan, which will be formally before the board Sept. 18, ward 2 precinct 7, the Quincy Square area, will be taken out of that ward. It will be broken into wards 3, 5 and 1, Gillis said.

"Ward 5 will go into Ward 1, and Ward 3 will go into Quincy Center," said Gillis.

Rent Grievance Board Meeting

Two hearings on rent increases were to be heard by the Quincy Rent Grievance Board at a scheduled meeting last night (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. in Quincy City Hall.

The board's agenda: The Brookside Apartments, 1193 Furnace Brook

"Quincy Point will have its boundary on Elm St."

If the plan is approved by the council and then by the state, it could go into effect in 1987.

Parkway, owner Tien-Yu Tsui; and the Westside Apartments, 615-633 Quarry St., owner Edward J. Nelson, Trustee for NEI-FAM Trust.

Council At-Large Candidates

At HN Meeting Sept. 17

Candidates for Quincy's City Council At-Large race are being invited to speak at the season's first open meeting of the Houghs Neck Community Council, Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

The candidates are incumbents Richard J. Koch Jr., Joseph LaRaia and Patricia M. Toland; and challenger Ronald Iacobucci.

Daniel Bythrow, president, will be moderator.

Also to be announced that night are names of residents who have been selected to be honored for community service, heroism and good

Liberty Square Park Dedication Sept. 28

City Council President James Sheets announces that the rededication of the World War II War Memorial at Liberty Square Park, South Quincy, will take place at 11 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 28.

Liberty Square Park is being refurbished and the granite World War II Memorial cleaned and polished, according to Sheets.

Immediately following the rededication service, the children attending the ceremony will be treated to games, fun and food at Grasso Park which abuts Liberty Square Park.

At noon, the first South Quincy 'alian Festival will be held at Malnati's Block. There will be continuous entertainment and dancing in the square until 8 p.m. Saturday. Booths will be set up for the sale of pizza, Italian sausages, spaghetti and a variety of other old-time Italian dishes.

The South Quincy Italian Festival Committee has been established with Alba Tucci elected president. The committee will be responsible for planning and conducting the festival.

Anyone interested in participating in the festival should contact Alba Tucci at 15 Rodman St., or Don Martell at the Bocce Club, Liberty St. The Italian Festival is to be an annual event.

In case of inclement weather, the rededication and festival will be held at the same time Sunday, Sept. 29.

Hard Decision For Burt & Helen

Business has never been better at Tags Discount Furniture & Sleep Shop in downtown Quincy.

So, a lot of people are going to be surprised — and some puzzled — when the "Going Out of Business Sale" signs go up in the windows.

Burt and Helen Cook are leaving the furniture business because it just became too much for them to handle anymore.

Both are ill. They've done well coping with their health problems but they feel they cannot handle them and the furniture business, too.

"It wasn't an easy decision to make," says Burt who has been in the furniture business 38 years, the past 16 in downtown Quincy. Before going into business for himself, he was the manager of a sleep shop in Quincy in 1952.

"Helen and I have given it a lot of thought and decided that because the way things are, it is the right decision.

No one in the family is interested in taking over the business. And because of a prior agreement Burt cannot sell the Tags name. And he doesn't believe in hiring a store manager and being an absentee owner.

Both Burt and Helen have been active in aiding the Lupus Foundation and recently were named honorary members of the Lupus Foundation. They don't have Lupus, but a daughter does.

Helen, who has been working with Burt in the furniture business for many years, is also a member of the Quincy Hospital Board of Managers.

Burt is a member of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association Board of Directors and active in downtown promotions. He is chairman of the QCBPA annual Sidewalk Bazaar. Fellow members honored him two years ago as its "Business Man of the Year".

The "Going Out of Business Sale" will start Sept. 19. Tags will close by Dec. 31.

Burt is not going to retire. He just wants to take it easier.

"I may do a little consulting, sales and advertising," he says, "but not on a full time basis."

Helen will be there to help out if needed. Their biggest fear is that their leaving will be misinterpreted by some that business is bad in downtown Quincy.

"It's not so," says Helen. "Quincy has been good to us and we plan to continue to live here," says Burt.

"We have done both some growing and moaning with Quincy down through the years. We saw it go down a few years ago but we've seen it come back. It's on the rise again.

"If I were starting my business over again today, I would start it in downtown Quincy. "It is our kind of town."

FORMER Mayor Thomas Burgin, Quincy's "Elder Statesman" is home after a five-week stay at Massachusetts General Hospital where he underwent two operations.

Burgin, who is 83, says: "I was a real sick fellow but I'm starting to feel good."

He is saddened by the death of Ruth Gordon.

"She and I were always good friends," he says. "How proud I was of her. All of her accomplishments. She did them all on her own."

MONEY IS STILL trickling in for the Muscular Dystrophy fishbowl at The Sun even though the Jerry Lewis telethon was more than a week ago.

A $50 check from former Quincy Fire Capt. Vincent Currier, $20 from William Dryer, also retired, and a $10 donation from "a friend" puts this year's fishbowl receipts up to $7,148.

This, plus $40,207 in telephone pledges brings the pledge center's total to $47,355 $7,311 more than last year. But figures on many special pre-telethon events sponsored by the Quincy South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee are still coming in.

They are expected to reach $55,000 or more and bring this year's total effort to over the $100,000 mark and near $900,000 for the nine years the committee has been in existence.

AND, THIS WOULD be an appropriate spot to say a special "thank you" to the old reliables who have been with us for these nine years or a good part of them, giving up their Labor Day weekend to help Jerry's Kids.

People like Tom McDonald, Rita, Ken and Karin Kelleher, Vera and Joe Sullivan, John Fantucchio, Mario Salvatore, Dick Realini, Sulo Soini, John Tamasco, Baron Hugo, the Quincy High School Alumni Band, Win Bettinson, Roy Lind, Herb Fontaine, Ted and Betty DeCristofaro, Bill and Jackie Monahan, and, of course, Dick Koch, Sr.

The committee, as you probably know, has its sights trained on reaching the $1 million mark in its 10th year in 1986.

FATHER DANIEL GRAHAM, associate pastor at St. John's Church, left this week for Rome on a Sabbatical to study scripture, liturgy and Italian. He will return in early January.

IT WAS A big, happy day for George and Christine Montilio Sunday. Their beautiful twin daughters, Jenna and Elisa, were christened at St. John's Church by Fr. William McCarthy, pastor, with Fr. Daniel Graham assisting. A reception followed at the Montilio home in Milton with a "Who's Who" in attendance. Naturally, there was an appropriate huge Montilio cake. George and Christine, incidentally, met on a blind date.

MILESTONE: Rep. Michael Morrissey and his wife, Joanne, are parents of a daughter, Colby, born Aug. 31 at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston.

"We wanted a name that was a little different," says Mike.

How did they come up with Colby? "Well," says Mike, "she was 8 pounds, 8 ounces."

Mike grew up at 88 Colby Rd. Get it?

Incidentally, he passed out two kinds of cigars at the State House.

Real ones for smokers. And chocolate for non-smokers.

Reader's Forum Dismayed At Politicians Over Shipyard Closing

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Shipyard is closing and there is little anyone can do now to stop General Dynamics from packing their bags and leaving town. I was somewhat dismayed at the attitude of local and state politicians who appeared to remain rather silent until after the closure was made public and then started to stand up and speak out when it wouldn't count anymore.

The recent weekday rally at Quincy Square in front of city hall was nothing more than rhetoric and news release copy. The phalanx of politicians telling the small crowd assembled that they were working on the problem is an apparent sham, especially when General Dynamics is now telling the politicians to bug off from a private shipyard manner.

I am outraged at the shipyard management's attitude but equally angered at politicians in Quincy, at the State House and in Washington, telling us that they're working on a resolution to the situation when their speeches are next to worthless.

Wishful thinking on the part of anyone in a responsible government position should be labelled as such. Making headlines is not enough because actions speak louder than words!

City Council Tables McCauley's Veto On Hospital Rezoning

The City Council has voted to place on the table an order it passed rezoning Quincy City Hospital land as Planned Unit Development and the mayor's veto of that order.

The council can later override the veto by a two-thirds vote. It approved the PUD zoning so that it could have more control over the $75 million replacement of a major portion of the hospital.

Mayor Francis McCauley said he issued the first veto of his administration because "delays caused by the PUD process would significantly increase the overall cost of the project."

Hospital director Mark Mundy wrote to the mayor that "if the PUD process, including public hearings and City Council action are applied to delay the sale of the bonds and the start of construction, the cost of the project would increase by about $175,000 per month beyond April, 1986."

Councillor John Lydon said he was offended by the tone of the letters which he said alluded that the council may be obstructionists.

"If it weren't for the City Council," said Lydon, "I doubt that the ($75 million) bond package would be where it is."

Councillors Joseph LaRaia, Stephen McGrath, Michael Cheney, Joanne Condon and James Sheets also said they failed to see how the PUD would be a hindrance.

Mundy told the council he didn't consider it to be obstructionist and didn't mean to offend. He said he was concerned because he is dealing with a "very tight time frame" and the prospect of having to pay large amounts of money if the project is delayed past April 1, 1986.

Mundy also said there have been no changes made to the plans.

City Council president Sheets told Mundy, "you have our commitment that the (PUD) process will be handled expediently."

Farmers' Market Contributes Over 1000 Pounds Produce To Needy

The Farmer's Market in Quincy has contributed over 1,000 pounds of fresh produce to the needy since a pilot program to help the state's hungry was launched last month.

According to Anneli Johnson of the Norfolk County Extension Service-Nutrition Agency, a large portion of the 1,127 pounds of produce (including some 40 dozen ears of sweet corn) was picked up by the Southwest Community Center for distribution by Quincy Community Action's Emergency Food Program.

On Aug. 10 the pilot food program was launched in Quincy City by State Agriculture Commissioner August Schumacher Jr. It was the first time a farmers' market donated a variety of fresh fruits and vegetables at the end of the selling day.

According to Schumacher, if the program is successful, it will be expanded to include all 45 farmers' markets in the state, and if necessary, recruit foundations to help pay the costs.

Contributing to the cost of the pilot program at the Quincy Farmers' Market are The Colonial Federal Savings Bank, Quincy Savings Bank, and the City of Quincy.

Quincy Farmers' Market is coordinated and supervised by the Nutrition Education program of Norfolk County Extension Service, and a group of volunteers from the community.

Merrymount PTO Scholarships Awarded

Merrymount PTO has announced the two winners of the 11th annual scholarships for $150 each.

They are Colleen Dunn of 97 Putnam St., Quincy Center, and Theresa McLoughlin of 154 Putnam St., both graduates of Quincy High School.

Miss Dunn plans to attend Holy Cross and Miss McLoughlin plans to attend Columbia.

In addition, the Merrymount PTO awarded two memorial scholarships of $100 each.

The Mary Rose Sullivan Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Michael Hays of 15 Virginia Rd., Merrymount, who will be attending the University of Lowell.

The John Sullivan Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Deborah Parry of 105 Putnam St., who plans to attend Southeastern Massachusetts University.

Both of the memorial scholarships were funded by the family of former School Committee member John Sullivan.

Plan E Opponents Take Plan A Ban To Court

Atty. Maurice F. Maher of Quincy, representing former City Councillor Laurence J. Curtin and other opponents of Plan E government, petitioned for a Superior Court review of an Appeal Board decision to remove the Plan A question from the ballot in November.

The Board, which is made up of four members of the Board of Registrars of Voters and City Solicitor Arthur Burgess, declared that the petition to get the Plan A question on the ballot did not contain enough valid signatures.

DEEP CHANNELS BEST

Fred E. Bergfors Sr., Chairman of the Harbor Development Committee told Directors of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce that Quincy's deep water facilities are the city's most important asset in economic and industrial potential.

Bergfors said that some 150 ocean-going vessels enter the city's inner harbor every year carrying an average of 45 men apiece and each time a ship ties up at a Quincy dock, merchants and all the city residents stand to profit.

PATRONS FLEE FIRE

James Griffin, 16, of 351 Granite St., West Quincy, an usher at the Art Theater, smelled smoke from a rubbish fire in the basement and calmly alerted some 50 movie fans and helped lead them from the theater at 1369 Hancock St.

GIFT TO NATION

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin suggested to the City Council that the city should consider the possibility of giving the birthplaces of John and John Quincy Adams in South Quincy to the federal government for preservation as historical shrines.

WELFARE UP

Public Welfare Commissioner Anthony J. Venna said the cost of welfare in Quincy will be going up to above $7,000 a month or $84,000 a year as the result of an increase in the cost of living that calls for a 5.4 per cent upward adjustment.

PARKING ENVIED

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr. returned from the annual conference of the International City Managers' Association in Poland Springs, Maine, with word that Quincy's parking facilities are the envy of other cities' officials, who made many inquiries about them.

High Holy Day Services To Usher In Jewish New Year

By LESTER H. GLASSER

Quincy Jewry and Jews throughout the world will usher in the Jewish New Year 5746 with High Holy Day services Sunday evening, Sept. 15.

Jack Klaver, president, announces that at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy, Rabbi Jacob Mann will officiate, assisted by Samuel Klaver of New York City.

Services will be held Sunday and Monday evenings, starting with Mincha (afternoon) at 6:40 followed by Maariv (evening) at 7:10.

Services will be held Tuesday mornings, Sept. 16 and Sept. 17 begin at 8. Yom Kippur service will be ushered in by the chanting of Kol Nidrei on Tuesday evening, Sept. 24 at 6:15. Services will be held all day, Wednesday, Sept. 25 starting at 8 in the morning and will conclude after the blowing of the Shofar in the early evening.

At Temple Beth El, 1001 Hancock St., Quincy, George Goldstein, president, announces that Rabbi David J. Jacobs, assisted by Cantor Morris Semigran will conduct the services starting Sunday evening, Sept. 15 at 6:30.

Services on Monday and Tuesday mornings, Sept. 16 and Sept. 17 will begin at 8:30. The Shofar will be sounded at 10:30 on both days followed by Rabbi Jacob's sermon. There will also be services on Monday and Tuesday evenings starting at 6:15. Shabbat Shuvah service will be Sept. 24, at 9:15 a.m.

The chanting of Kol Nidrei will usher in the Yom Kippur Services at Temple Beth El, Quincy on Tuesday evening, Sept. 24 at 6:15. Services will resume Wednesday morning, Sept. 25 at 8:30 and continue the entire day till the sounding of the Shofar at 6:45. Yizkor (memorial prayers) will be recited during the morning services and Rabbi Jacobs will deliver his Yom Kippur sermon. There will be a brief intermission at 2 in the afternoon.

Abe Greenspan, chairman of the Religious Committee announces that Rosh Hashanah services at Congregation Adas Shalom, 43 Adams St., Quincy will be held Sunday evening Sept. 15 at 8. It will be a family service.

High Holy Day services will be held Monday and Tuesday mornings, Sept. 16-17 at 9. Afternoon services will be at 7.

Rabbi Allan Press, Cantor Susanne Katchko and Shamai Kurtzman will conduct the services. Leo Lofchie and Abe Greenspan are co-presidents of the Congregation. There will be a Shabbat Shuva service Sept. 21 at 9 a.m.

Kol Nidrei will usher in the Yom Kippur service at Congregational Adas Shalom, Tuesday evening, Sept. 24 at 6:30. Services will resume, Wednesday morning, Sept. 25 at 9. Yizkor (memorial prayers) will be recited during the morning service. Conclusion of the Yom Kippur service will be at the sound of the Shofar, about 6:45 p.m.

On Rosh Hashanah, Jewish people resolve to live better lives. Rosh Hashanah, according to Jewish tradition, is the day on which God judges the deeds of every man and the Jewish people resolve to live better lives. They pray for forgiveness and a year of peace and happiness for themselves and the entire world.

New Year's is regarded for a year of spiritual stocktaking.

What is Man? What is our Life? and What will be our Fate? Some Jews have believed literally, others metaphorically, that on the New Year, the books of Life are spread open before the Great Judge.

In this period of judgement, it is determined on Rosh Hashanah and sealed on Yom Kippur—who shall live and who shall die; who shall see ripe old age and who shall not; who shall perish by fire and who by water; who by the sword and who by beast; who by hunger and who by thirst; who by earthquake and who by plague; who by strangling and who by stoning; who shall be secure and who shall be driven; who shall be tranquil and who shall be troubled; who shall be poor and who shall be rich and who shall be humbled and who exalted.

Orthodox, Conservative and some Reform Congregations celebrate Rosh Hashanah, two days in accordance with ancient tradition. Many Reform Congregations, however, observe the holiday only one day. The Shofar, made from the horn of a ram, is sounded during the Rosh Hashanah morning services and at the conclusion of the Yom Kippur Services. It was used in ancient Israel to call the people together for emergencies or for peaceful assemblies.

When the Shofar is sounded during the Rosh Hashanah services, it reminds the members of the Congregation the need to do good and the necessity to live an honorable and God-fearing life. The cry of the Shofar calls upon worshippers to repent any misdeeds.

The prayers in the Orthodox book are recited in Hebrew; in the Conservative Synagogue most prayers are recited in Hebrew, however in Reform Congregations, most prayers are recited in English, so that most congregants may take part in the services.

The following confessional is recited during the Yom Kippur Services — asking forgiveness for "The sin we have committed against You consciously or unconsciously; and for the sin we have committed against You openly or secretly; and for the sin we have committed against You in our thoughts; and for the sin we have committed against You by the abuse of power; For the sin we have committed against You by hardening our hearts; For the sin we have committed against You by profaning Your name; and for the sin we have committed against You by disrespect for parents and teachers."

"For the sin we have committed against You by speaking slander; also the sin we have committed against You by dishonesty in our work and the sin we have committed against You by hurting others in any way. For all these, O God of mercy, forgive us, pardon us grant us atonement."

At home, the rosh Hashanah dining room table is set with Kiddush Cup filled with wine; candle sticks with candles; two challahs (holiday bread) and special Challah cloths. The round challas are usually filled with raisins to symbolize a continuous, unbroken and sweet year. Before eating the main Rosh Hashanah meal, which consists of fish, soup, chicken, turkey or meat, a piece of challah or apple is dipped into honey by the host and guests for a good year.

Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement) is the last day of the "Ten Days of Penitence" which began with Rosh Hashanah. This 10 day period according to Jewish tradition is a time for repentance, prayer and charity in preparation for the holiest day of the year, Yom Kippur. On this solemn and important day, almost all Jewish Men, women and teenagers (unless prevented by illness) refrain from eating and drinking. Some young children try to fast part of the day. Jews do no work on these High Holy Days. Members of the Congregation spend the entire day on Yom Kippur in the Synagogue in prayer and worship, asking forgiveness not only from God but also from man.

Judaism teaches that one cannot ask God's forgiveness for wrong doing unless he has also asked others to forgive him for any evil he may have done to them. But simply asking for forgiveness is not enough. The wrong must be righted whenever that is possible. There must be a true feeling of repentance. God recognizes the sincere desire of the worshipper to undo his evil and to live a better life.

On Yom Kippur eve, Kol Nidrei is recited in all Synagogues. From the Gates of Repentance: "Let all our vows and oaths, all the promises we make and the obligations we incur to You, O God, between this Yom Kippur and the next, be null and void should we, after honest effort, find ourselves unable to fulfill them. Then may we be absolved of them. Also on this Holy Day, Yom Kippur, Yizkor (memorial prayers) for the departed are recited. At nightfall, the end of the fast is announced by a single blast of the Shofar, after which worshippers return home.

However, at Congregation Adas Shalom, members gather for a "Break The Fast Kiddush." The festival of Sukkot (booths) starts with services at the Beth Israel Synagogue and Temple Beth El Sunday evening, Sept. 29 at 6:30. Morning services are Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.

Fred Casey Recognized At Elks Convention

Fred Casey was recognized as the newly elected Exalted Ruler of the Quincy Lodge of Elks for 1985-86 at the 121st convention of the Grand Lodge of Elks held in Seattle, Washington.

Casey was one of more than 2,250 Exalted Rulers recognized nationwide and who reign in that post for one year.

The Exalted Rulers heard convention reports that the Elks donated more than $28 million to various charities during 1984-85. Since the Elks began keeping records 105 years ago, more than $510 million has been donated for charitable purposes.

The Elks, in addition to numerous other charitable ventures, sponsor a "Hoop Shoot", a free throw basketball shooting contest entered by more than three million boys and girls each year.

The convention delegates have also unanimously elected John T. Traynor of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, the new Grand Exalted Ruler for 1985-86.

Traynor will serve the 1.6 million Elks until July, 1986.

Classes Begin At QJC

The fall semester at Quincy Junior College begins today (Sept. 12) and students may register for classes until the following week.

Financial aid is still available at the college and applications will continue to be accepted until registration for classes end.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Someone once said that courtesy is one of the most important factors of true love. Too often we tend to forget this. Too often we are careless toward those whom we love best and polite toward those for whom we care little or nothing.

True and abiding love is divine, but to keep it as we must observe its ritual. We dare not take those we love for granted. Love must be kept in repair. As religion would perish without its services, love will die without its courtesies.

The ancient Greeks had six different words to express love, four of them towards persons; the love of physical attraction, the love of friends, the love of children and parents, and finally, the highest form, spiritual love. This last is the word used by St. Paul in describing the ideal love for home and family relations.

Yes, courtesy is love's habit . . .

City Council Votes Open Space For Former Howard Johnson Site

The City Council has unanimously voted to change the zoning of the former site of Howard Johnson's and an Arco gas station off the Southeast Expressway from Residence B to open space.

The order must be signed by the mayor before it becomes law.

Ten area residents spoke, or were registered in favor of the zoning changes. None was opposed.

City Council president James Sheets explained the zoning open space would prevent building on the seven acres of land if it were sold by the state to the private sector.

The state, however, is not bound by the local zoning ordinances, explained Sheets. He said the area could be used to house the state police barracks which are now in Norwell.

Sheets also said he has spoken to the state police about an increase in vandalism since the businesses were closed, several months ago.

The state ordered the closings because of federal rules prohibiting direct access off an interstate highway to such businesses.

St. Mary's Celebrates 145th Anniversary Oct. 5

St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, will celebrate its 145th anniversary Saturday, Oct. 5 at 5:30 p.m. with a special con-celebrated Mass.

Giving the homily will be Quincy native and former member of the parish, the Rev. Robert J. Daly, S.J., now head of the theology department at Boston College.

Immediately following the Mass there will be a reception and roast beef dinner in Mullarkey Hall.

U.S. Cong. Brian Donnelly will be the main speaker. There will be dancing until midnight.

The first St. Mary's was built in 1842 after two years of planning by a group of Catholics from all over the South Shore. John Quincy Adams attended the dedication.

The cornerstone of the present church was laid in 1900 and the church when finally completed in 1917 was dedicated by William Cardinal O'Connell.

St. Mary's parish is often referred to as the original Catholic parish on the South Shore.

'Starthrowers' Sermon Topic At Bethany

This Sunday there will be one service of worship at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon entitled "Starthrowers", based on the texts of Romans 12:9-21 and Matthew 5:38-48. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will assist in leading worship.

The lay scripture reader will be Jean Ross. Peter Krasinski will be at the organ console and will direct the chancel choir in singing Stainer's "God So Loved The World". Soloist Paul David Johnson, will sing "The Wonder Of It All" by Shea.

Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

The service of worship is broadcast by delayed-tape over WJDA, 1300 kc., at 11 a.m. Sunday morning.

There will be a fellowship hour following the worship service. All are welcome to share in both the worship and the fellowship.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Point Congregational Plans Pre-Fair Special Events

Pre-Fair events planned by the Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St., Quincy include a Flea Market and Military Whist.

The Flea Market will be held in the church parking lot from 9:30-3:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21. Table space may be reserved by calling 773-6424. A luncheon will be opened in the social hall from 11-2 p.m.

A Military Whist will be held Friday, Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. in the church social hall. A donation of $1.50 will be taken at the door. Prizes and refreshments are included.

The "Country-Time Fair"

Rally Day Sunday At Wollaston Congregational

Rally Day will be observed at Wollaston Congregational Church, this Sunday.

is scheduled to be held Saturday, Nov. 16. Mrs. James Egan is the chairwoman for Fair Day activities. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson are in charge of Pre-Fair events.

Registration for Church School classes, nursery through grade 8, will be held at 10 a.m. Grades 9 through 12 will meet in the evening in a combined program of religion, social service, and fellowship.

The Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach on the topic, "Who is Great?" at the 10 a.m. worship service.

Preceding the service, at 9:45 a.m., there will be a hymn sing. Following the service, there will be a Rally Day Luncheon.

A special guest clown will entertain the children after the meal.

For further information on the church's activities, call the church office at 773-7432.

Bethany To Conduct Service At Cathedral Of The Pines

Bethany Congregational Church will conduct an outdoor worship service Sunday at 3 p.m. under the trees at the Cathedral of the Pines.

The service is being sponsored by the United Churches of Christ in the Quincy/Milton area.

The Cathedral of the Pines is a nationally known interfaith shrine located near Rindge, N.H. Within sight of Mt. Monadnock, it is a place of pilgrimage visited by tens of thousands of persons each year.

The bus trip to the Cathedral and the service are open to the public and persons from any church and the community at large are most welcome to make the pilgrimage.

The Rev. J. William

Arnold, radio preacher over WJDA, and senior minister of Bethany Church, will preach the sermon. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister of Bethany, and the Rev. Arthur Curtis, pastor of Memorial Congregational Church, will conduct the worship.

The Bethany Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will provide special music, singing two anthems: "If Your Heart Keeps Right" composed by Ackley and "I Need Thee Every Hour" by Lowery.

Two charter buses will leave from Bethany Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 12:15 p.m. and will also make a pick-up stop at Memorial Congregational Church, Newbury and Atlantic Avenues in North Quincy at 12:30 p.m. The buses are equipped with onboard restroom facilities.

The round trip bus cost will be $6. for adults, $3. for young people 11 to 18, and $1.50 for children 10 and under.

Arrangements also have been made for a one-hour picnic stop at the Willard Brook Massachusetts State Park at approximately 5 p.m. on the return trip. Persons planning to attend should plan to bring their own food and beverages. Arrival time back in Quincy is 7:30 p.m.

To make advance bus reservations or for additional information, telephone the Bethany church office at 479-7300.

'Knowing God In Creation' Topic At Squantum Church

"Knowing God in Creation" was the title of the pastor's sermon in the early service at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin expounded on a text found in the first verse of the Bible, "In the beginning God created..." (Genesis 1:1a)

Guitarists David Williams and Andy Ogilvie provided the accompaniment for the hymns. Sarah Mildram and Deborah Stohberg were the ushers. Patti Hurd and her daughter Mindi were in charge of the refreshments.

In the second service, Dr. Langevin preached on the topic, "Are You Being Saved?" basing his remarks on the text, "For the word of the cross is folly to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." (1 Corinthians 1:18-25)

Before the sermon, members of the congregation dedicated their pledges and offerings for the Church Renovation Drive which has been going since the beginning of August.

After the sermon, the congregation observed the Lord's Supper. Seated with the pastor at the Lord's Table were Deacons Stewart Scott, Evelyn Ahearn, Hazel Mayne, Leon McIntyre and Tom Williamson.

The offertory anthem sung by the Chancel Choir was Bach's "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee." The organist was Marie Mildram.

The hymns were "Crown Him with Many Crowns", "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "Christ the Lord is Risen Today."

Gretchen Bumpus and Ellen Ogilvie were in charge of the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Sunday School and nursery began again Sunday for children from nursery through the fourth grade. Older children go to classes and other groups throughout the week, including Orange Crush on Sundays from 5-6 p.m. (for students in grades 7 and 8), Seven-Up on Sundays from 6:30-7:30 p.m. (for students in grades 9-12) and Pepsi-Free-ks on Tuesdays from 3:30-4 p.m. Other groups will be starting up in the next two weeks.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

CP Has Adult Class Openings

The Cerebral Palsy Association of the South Shore has openings for its evening adult class for developmentally disabled which begins Sept. 18.

The class will meet on Wednesday from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Lincoln Hancock Community School, 300 Granite St., Quincy.

The program, sponsored jointly by Cerebral Palsy and the Quincy City Recreation Department, has seven instructors to provide instructions in weaving, ceramics, arts and crafts, leatherwork, painting and quilting.

Special activities are also held throughout the year. For more information telephone the CP headquarters at 479-7443.

7 P.M. Kickoff

Raiders Open Season Friday Under Lights

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's football team opens its season Friday night at 7 p.m. against Weymouth South at Veterans Memorial Stadium in the first night schoolboy game ever played in Quincy.

North coach Ken McPhee doesn't know quite what to expect as he leads an extremely inexperienced team against a former Suburban League rival now playing in the Old Colony League. McPhee, in his fourth season as Raider coach, lost 32 seniors from last year's 7-3 squad which won six games in a row before losing to Quincy, 14-12, on Thanksgiving.

"We have a big rebuilding job," said McPhee. "We have only two veterans with any real varsity experience in Co-captains Steve Miller and Rob Bradley, plus a sprinkling of other lettermen. We have improved during workouts but we have a big job ahead of us."

Weymouth South had little luck in the Suburban League and has fared much better in the Old Colony League. (North Quincy and Quincy hope to make a similar move within the next few years).

Due to the early opening, North had only two scrimmages against Braintree and Scituate. "We moved the ball well against Braintree but I was very disappointed in our defense," McPhee said. "We did a little better against Scituate, but we have to improve still more if we hope to hold our own against another rough schedule."

Offensively Chuck McGrail and Jim Mulvey will be at tight end, Mike Cicerone and Mark Bilton will be the wide CHRIS GRAY will be the starting quarterback when the North Quincy football team opens its season Friday night, Sept. 13, against Weymouth South.

receivers, Miller (210), Todd Maynard, Mike Hugyo (240), Scott Williams, Brian Flukes and Brian Campbell will be at tackle, Don Clancy, Kevin McCarthy, Ed Bagley (190), Steve Brooks, Levine, Jim Liberties and Tom Dolan will be the guards and Ken Kemp (200), Tim Kelly and Tom McDonald will be the centers.

Chris Gray will open at quarterback, backed up by Ted Shionis. Gary McNamara will start at fullback with Marc Smith behind him and the halfbacks will be Leo LeMay, Bradley, John Pacino, Mark Simonelli and Brian Callow.

"I think we will move the ball all right but we lack speed," the Raider coach said. "The offensive line has looked good."

Most of North's problems may be on defense, although the Raiders have some size and have shown some improvement.

McNamara, Flukes, twins Keith and Kevin Segalla, McGrail and freshman Bill McDougall will be the defensive ends, Miller, Kemp, Don Conway (230), Bob Casey, Hugyo and Maynard the tackles, John Ainsley and Clancy the noseguards, Kelly, Dolan, Bagley, McCarthy, freshman Mike Ainsley and another frosh, Ryan Craig, the linebackers and Cicerone, Angelo Kapetanakis, Bradley, LeMay, Tom Casey (220) and Pacino in the secondary.

"The fact we are using three freshmen show the rebuilding job we face," McPhee said. "The three show a lot of promise and should help us."

Weymouth South, 4-4-2 a year ago, has four returning starters on offense and two on defense. Coach Bart Webber sees the Wildcats' passing game and linebacking as the strengths and line depth as the weakness.

Quarterback Keith Nastasia is a fine passer and Weymouth features a good short passing game.

"We have a lot of kids moving up from the junior varsity and out season depends upon how well our young players can settle into our system," Webber said.

North Quincy will have a second night game. Waltham has changed its home game with the Raiders from Saturday, Nov. 2 to Friday, Nov. 1 at 7 p.m.

Curry Has Quincy Look

Coming off its best season in history, the Curry College football team faces a real challenge in matching or bettering last year's 7-2 record.

However, coach John (Duffy) Doherty, last year's N.E. Football Conference Coach of the Year, has 65 players, including a number of outstanding freshmen, the largest squad ever.

And this fall's team will have a distinct Quincy flavor.

Junior quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy, who has had two outstanding seasons, is back and will spearhead the Colonels' attack. Jack Brown, former North Quincy standout, is the backup quarterback and also an outstanding pass receiver. North Quincy's Jerry Martin is a fine sophomore offensive guard and on defense Quincy's Mike Donovan is a solid senior linebacker.

Among the promising freshmen are Al DiBella (230), North Quincy all-scholastic middle guard; linebacker Pat Calabro (210) of Quincy and defensive tackle Jamie Gravalese (240) of Quincy.

Curry opens its nine-game NEFC schedule against Westfield State Saturday, Sept. 14, at 1 p.m. at Curry's home field in Milton.

Jaehnig Club Captures Crown

The Jaehnig Chiopracetic Club of Quincy clinched the championship of the South Shore Sports Center men's basketball league, avenging two earlier losses and defeating first place J.B. Heating, 47-34, in the playoff semi-finals and then topping the Hurricanes, 52-49, for the title.

Against J.B. Heating,

Jaehnig trailed at the half and was tied, 32-32, with three minutes to play. It then ran off nine straight points keyed by Rich McGuire three-point play. The winners were led by Rich McGuire with 12 points, Chuck Jaehnig with 11, Pudge Gill with 10, Mark Jaehnig with eight, Mike Venna four and Mike Jaehnig two.

In the championship game Jaehnig played sluggishly for three quarters and trailed by three with five minutes left before Gill scored seven straight points.

Gill had 18 points, Mark Jaehnig 11, McGuire 10, Chuck Jaehnig nine, Pete Grey and Steve Jaehnig two each. Jim Timmins and Venna played strong games.

Jaehnig's roster includes five Jaehnig brothers, Mark, Steve, Mike, Chuck and Don; Gill, Venna, Grey, Timmons, Paul Principato, McGuire and Kevin McLaney.

Elks Shock Apaches

The West Quincy Elks upset the defending champion North Quincy Apaches, 8-6, as the Quincy Youth Football League opened its season Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the other half of the doubleheader the Squantum Sailors rolled to an easy win over the Houghs Neck Manets.

The Quincy Point Panthers will face the Manets at 1 o'clock Sunday and the Elks will meet the Sailors at 2:30.

Over 140 Entries In City Tennis Tournney

The Quincy Recreation Department and the Granite Cooperative Bank are once again co-sponsoring the annual Quincy Tennis Tournament at the Vocational Technical School Court.

This is the 15th annual tournament which determines city champions in 11 categories.

City Recreation Director Barry J. Welch notes:

"This year we have over 140 entries and some 200 first round matches, and we believe that we are the largest municipal tournament in New England. We have more entries than last year and considering the general decline in the tennis bow, we are pleased at the interest and enthusiasm that residents have for this traditional event."

"John Franceschini, long-time tournament director continues to run a top quality tournament and I am certain that his presence brings many persons back year after year. The partnership of the Granite Cooperative Bank has also provided the financial backing to make this a solid event not just for players but for the many spectators who enjoy watching Quincy's best each season."

The tournament continues through Sept. 18 weekday evenings after 6 p.m. and all day weekends at the courts behind Quincy High School. Spectators are invited, there is no charge.

The tournament for this year shapes up like this:

The men's singles draw will have defending champion Lenny Chiavaro fighting through a tough field to reclaim his title. Strong opposition should come from Steve Durante, Matt Tobin, Rich Landi and Joe Ryan.

Ryan and Chiavaro will also be heading a strong mens 35 and over singles field, with Joe Astino, Ralph Columbare and Joe Shea as players to watch.

Defending champion Neil Cronin will go for his fourth straight title in the men's 50 and over singles with Henry McAuliffe as his toughest challenger. The men's doubles field is one of the strongest in years. The defending champions Neil Cronin and Rich Landi are back.

But teams like Paul Berini and Bill Courtney, Dick Hatton and George Burke, Joe Ryan and Ed Lamb, John Franceschini and Steve Durante, and Bruce Maggio and Barry Gilfeather should make this category a toss up.

On the women's side, women's singles champion Sue Pacetti will have two new players on the block - Sue McDonald and Nancy Flukes chasing her for the crown. Louise Durante and Hildy Gillis will again be the class of the women's 35 and over singles with Terry Shea and Mary Morris looking to upset the two top seeds.

Durante and Gillis will also be the team to beat in the women's doubles, with the team of Sue Pacetti and Nancy Flukes as their biggest threats.

In the mixed doubles another great field will battle for the William F. Ryan Cup.

Top seeds Rich Landi and Hildy Gillis will have to be at the top of their game in order to withstand some fine opposition.

Lenny Chiavaro and Joanne Player, Bill and Camille Courtney, George Stokering and Mary Morris and John and Louise Durante are just a few of a very talented mixed doubles field.

The Boys 16 and under singles will have everyone trying to defeat Tom Savoie and David Bouley.

Results of the weekend play in the tournament:

Men's Singles First Round:
Mark Jaehnig def. Bruce Maggio 6-7, 7-6, 6-0; Dana Chella def. Mike Jaehnig 6-0, 6-1; Paul Hutchinson def. Paul Andrews 6-0, 6-0; Mark Scanlon def. Burt Lewis 6-2, 7-5; Ralph Columbare def. ## Bowling Little Loop To Open Oct. 12

The Quincy Bowling Little Loop will open its 32nd season at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, in a new home, the Wonder Bowl, 505 Southern Artery.

Forced to move because the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome will be converted into condominiums, the league may be facing a final year of competition due to similar plans for the Wonder Bowl property, owned by the same people. Of the two remaining bowling establishments in Quincy, Olindy's and Merrymount Lanes, rumors are prevalent that Olindy's could be next in line to cease operations for greener pastures.

At the league's 31st annual awards dinner, President Joe Gildea explained the problems and asked the youngsters, ages 11 through 16, if they wished to continue. A vociferous vote of approval answered that question.

Any boy, regardless of residence, is invited to participate in the 27-week program and registrations are now being received by Gildea, 45 Division Street, North Quincy 02171. Boys can also register by calling 328-5525. The first 60 to apply will be accepted.

Dues of $2.50 a week include three strings of bowling, use of bowling shoes, annual awards dinner, trophies, MBA state tournament entry fees and competent instruction.

Those registering to date are Neil Hatfield, Steve

Registration information must include full name, age, date of birth, address and telephone number.

League officers are President Gildea, treasurer Stanley Kovalski Sr. and directors James Vey, Stanley Kovalski Jr., Jack Hatfield and George Hatfield.

Sponsors are Sen. Paul Harold, Wonder Bowl, Quincy Elks, Bryan Post VFW, Atty. George Burke, The Quincy Sun, Joseph Brett, Atlantic Fuel Oil, Local 1451, IAM, AFL-CIO and Montclair Men's Club.

O'ROURKE PLAYGROUND won the Quincy Recreation Department's city midget championship. Coach Greg Donovan's team easily defeated Palmer Park 14-0, for the title. James Schatzl had four hits and six RBI, Brian Clifford and Jason Hewitt had five hits and two RBI each, while Donny Anderson and Alden O'Donoghue combined to pitch the shutout. Jack Kelly had two hits for Palmer Park. Front, left to right, Ryan Bell, O'Donoghue, Hewitt and Schatzl. Back, Paul Kearns, Anderson, Donovan, Clifford, Phil Bell and Mike Kavanaugh.

Dudek Trains Sights On Payton's Record

Many former Quincy and North Quincy football players will be showing their stuff in college this fall, but most eyes are on North Quincy's Joe Dudek at Plymouth, N.H., State College, who is eyeing two national records.

Dudek, who has scored 54 career touchdowns for the Panthers, needs only 13 touchdowns to break the NCAA all-division record of 66 set by the great Walter Payton in 1971 at Jackson, Miss., State.

Dudek was blanked in the season's opener last Saturday when Plymouth State's first game against a Div. 2 team proved disastrous. American International College walloped the Panthers, 31-0, and held Dudek to a career-low 42 yards rushing.

Last year the Div. 3 All-American rushed for 1378 yards and 21 touchdowns. He is also expected to break the NCAA Div. 3 rushing record this fall.

Dudek, who led North Quincy to wins over Quincy in 1980 (three touchdowns) and 1981 (the only touchdown of the game on a 55-yard run), wants the record not just for himself, but for the players who have been blocking for him the past three seasons.

"I've had the advantage of

playing with an outstanding team," said Dudek, the Panther's 6-1, 194-pound tailback and captain.

"My offensive line is one of the best around and those guys, as well as our fullbacks and receivers, do a great job blocking."

"If I break Walter Payton's record, and that is something I wouldn't even have dared to dream about in high school, I want to share it with the rest of the team. With three of our five offensive linemen back from last season, I'm really looking ahead to the season."

Plymouth State returns to its own division Friday night when it plays at Nichols at 7 p.m. as it opens defense of its NEFC championship. It has won four straight conference titles.

"Few people know that Joe hasn't played all that much, either," said Coach Jay Cottone. "In games when we've been up something like 28-0 at halftime, he'd only play the opening series of downs in the second half. It has been rare when he has played in the fourth quarter. Actually, he played the entire game only four times in three seasons."

"He is a very talented kid. He's a hard-nosed runner who can break one inside or outside, and he's tough. Maybe his best asset is that he seems to hit high gear just after two steps. He uses his head, he has good instincts and his vision is excellent. He knows where everyone is."

Cottone made it plain he plans nothing different to help the former North Quincy star break a record.

"There's no way we'll keep feeding him from the two, four or five-yard lines," he said. "We'll play our normal game. Besides, Joe usually breaks for long touchdowns. I'm sure he will break the record, but we won't make any attempt to run up scores for his sake. Joe doesn't want that, either. He'll do it his way."

Quincy Chapter Ducks Unlimited Banquet

The fifth annual banquet of the Quincy Bay Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will be Sept. 28 at 6:30 p.m. in the George Bryan VFW Post, Broad St.

Chairman Jim Greto said this fund raising function is of interest to anyone concerned with the future of North America's waterfowl.

"The Ducks Unlimited success story," said Greto, "is really starting to spread around. Dinners much like our chapter's event held throughout the country last year contributed toward a national fund-raising effort which realized $45 million during 1984 alone."

The Committee has collected a large number of gifts and prizes to be auctioned or given away to people who attend the dinner. Items include limited edition art prints, carvings, several shotguns, fishing and camping items.

Tickets are $25 per person or $40 per couple and admission includes a one year's membership in Ducks Unlimited. For more information telephone Jim Greto, 843-1458, Paul McSweeney, 479-5968 or Jim Patton at 828-4210. Calls will be taken evenings and weekends. Ticket deadline Sept. 25.

OVER OR UNDERSPENDING

QUESTION: Are there guidelines as to how much a family should spend for the purchase of a home in relation to income?

ANSWER: There are guidelines published by lending institutions. But — like the "height/weight" charts printed on scales — these are only averages. Don't hold back if you feel you can exceed the guidelines. A good house may seem costly in the beginning, but the rewards are well worth it — especially if you get the right financing. Investing in a house that's a little more expensive gives you an excellent inflation hedge while your family enjoys a better place to live. Also, the resale opportunity is often better.

Preschoolers Program At Crane Library

Programs for preschoolers will begin at the Thomas Crane Public Library in October, Jane Granstrom, Supervisor of Children's Services, announces.

Toddler Time enters its second season and will again be held at the Adams Shore Branch Library under the direction of Lori Seegraber, children's librarian.

The program brings parents, their two and three year old children, and library resources together in an open environment. Toddler Time will be held Tuesdays at 10:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 1.

Picture Book Story Hours, which are standard fare in public libraries nationwide, will be conducted at the Central Library, Quincy Square, Thursdays, beginning Oct. 3 at 10:30 under the direction of children's librarian Nancy Bree-Pilz.

The Wollaston Branch Library on Beale St. is also the site of picture book story hours scheduled for Fridays at 10 a.m. beginning Oct. 4, with Marian Cicciarella, children's librarian.

The programs are open for four and five year olds and expose youngsters to storytelling, reading aloud, book talks, fingerplays, films and filmstrips.

Three series of film programs for children three years old and older will also be offered this fall. Two series will be held at the North Quincy Branch Library where Mary Raux is children's librarian. One begins Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 10 a.m. the other on Friday, Oct. 4, at 10 a.m.

The film program series at the Central Library in Quincy Square begins Thursday, Oct. 3 at 1:30 p.m. These film programs, now a Quincy tradition, not only offer movies for children but also an introduction to books and fingerplays.

Registration for these programs is being held at all library units. Anyone wishing more information should call the Central Children's Room at 471-2400, ext. 38.

WJDA To Salute Oscar Winning Composers

Radio station WJDA 1300 AM Quincy, will feature a salute to Oscar winning composers on its "This Week's Musical" show presented Sunday, Sept. 15 from 1 to 4 p.m.

William McGuirk: An Artist With A Natural Ability

When William McGuirk isn't drafting contracts for the Metropolitan District Commission's Water Division, he's drafting on canvas.

A 14-year resident of Forbes Hill Rd, Wollaston, he paints pastel portraits, landscapes and still life, artwork which has been displayed at the South Shore Plaza and the Stoughton and Chelsea Public Libraries.

With little formal training, McGuirk has a natural talent. "I used to do comics as a kid," he says.

His parents recognized his talent and urged him to attend an art school, but McGuirk went his own way. "I was young and thought I knew everything," he says.

The financial instability of being an artist also deterred him.

"People would rather have a bird on the table than a picture on the wall," was his comment.

So 27-years ago he began work at the Metropolitan District Commission. Sometimes he did lettering for police awards and illustrations for brochures, such as the zoo brochure. This year he was asked to create a portrait of a Chelsea activist whose work helped develop the park where the Chelsea Naval Hospital stood.

The portrait now hangs in the Chelsea Public Library. McGuirk is a member of the Quincy Art Association. Every week he goes to the Canton Public Library, where a model poses, and he attends workshops when he can. His favorite artist is Daniel Greene, a New York artist he has studied under.

Classes For Seniors At Fenno House

John King Area Manager At American Cablesystems

JOHN KING

John King has been named assistant Vice President and area manager at American Cablesystems.

Announcement was made by Executive Vice President Barry Lemieux.

King, who has been general manager of Quincy Cablesystems, will oversee the 37,000 subscriber system serving Quincy, Milton, Randolph and Dedham.

Since joining American Cablesystems, he has served as director of development, acting general manager at Arlington and general manager in Milton before becoming general manager and now area manager in Quincy.

King, who grew up in teacher and college placement director for nine years at the Holderness School in New Hampshire.

He is a graduate of Milton Academy and graduated Magna Cum Laude at Williams College in 1972. He was a member of the Board of Directors of the Milton Rotary Club and the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association. He also serves on the Board of Governors of the Stone Horse Yacht Club.

American Cablesystems, based in Beverly, serves approximately 300,000 subscribers in Massachusetts, New York, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Florida and Illinois.

Working Parent Families Topic On 'Psychology Tonight'

Dr. Dianne Burden, Professor of Social Policy and Research at Boston University will join "Psychology Tonight" host Tim Lynch Wednesday, Sept. 18, 8:30 p.m. on Quincy Cable Ch. 3.

Dr. Burden and host Lynch will discuss her recent research on families in which both parents work, the increase in stress for both parents as they take on more responsibilities both at work and at home, lack of use of day care help even in homes where it is affordable, the importance of job satisfaction in easing stress, and the problem of the working wife and mother doing the majority of house-hold work.

Strategies for easing stress that can be used by working parents and those that can be instituted by companies also will be discussed.

'Barbara' Now On Quincy Cable TV

"Open House With Barbara", one of American Cablesystems most popular regional shows will now be a regular part of presentations on Quincy, Milton and Randolph Cablesystems.

Barbara Kiriakos, as hostess, brings a new theme with each show. She presents an array of personalities, subjects and on-location shows. Television and theater stars, state, national and local dignitaries, sports personalities and shows devoted to problems and issues are featured.

She has extensive professional television and theater experience, a sharp wit and warm personality, which result in a show that has received acclaim and numerous awards.

"Open House With Barbara" can now be viewed by nine American Cablesystems communities, Mondays at 8:30 p.m.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 12

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Downcast friend finds something to cheer about. Demanding relative becomes more open minded. Loved one resists surprises. Think twice before making controversial business statement.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
You excel in the role of generalist, an ability to know something about many topics wins applause at home and at work. In business dealings, keyword is compromise.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
If involved in a debate, don't be too hasty to give in on the most important points. Real estate transactions may be favorable. Prestige in creases after the weekend.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Took your own horn, Taurus, you're the best salesman of your strengths. Don't be shy in romance or in career matters. Tell the whole world why it should love you.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
The week finds you outspoken, lively and energetic and making key strides in areas of romance and career. The key is to outline goals more clearly - and improve organization.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Loved one sets out to pamper you, but your independent streak may surface at the same time. Avoid making controversial statements. Educational advancement can give you the edge.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Dispute may grow out of your procrastination and/or a loved one's growing impatience. Glamorous event is highlighted on weekend. New friends offer wise suggestions.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Be more trusting of loved one, more observant in general. Intuition is strong through the weekend. Clash with supervisor may be narrowly avoided. Travel is a surprise highlight.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Much fun this week happens close to home. Family reunions benefit from sense of humor. If planning a major event, double check that another engagement is not set for the same date.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Partnership endeavors are accentuated through this period - an excellent time for launching or strengthening a business or personal relationship. Cultural rather than social activities are highlighted.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
You may have left recent acquaintances dominate your life, but best times are now spent with dear old friends. Academic achievement is accentuated through this period.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Communications are stressed. News from abroad may arrive after a series of delays, and you excel in writing reports and making speeches. Loved one is unusually difficult to please.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Nextness is your middle name and you run your life with precision. You're not a mingler, but your quiet charms don't go unnoticed. You can be surprisingly enterprising through the next six or seven months. More opportunities than usual come knocking in the seasons ahead.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 12th, musician John Charles Jones; 13th, actress Jacqueline Bisset; 14th, actress Zoe Caldwell; 15th, actor Jackie Cooper; 16th, musician B.B. King; 17th, actor John Ritter; 18th, actor Jack Warden.

Keohane Funeral Home Begins Another Year With Golden Rule

The Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy, will begin its third year associated with The Order of the Golden Rule (OGR) an international affiliation of funeral homes.

The Order selects for membership only those funeral homes they have investigated and recommended as totally reputable.

According to OGR Executive Director Dale L. Rollins, "Keohane Funeral Home, Inc. has continuously upheld our strict professional standards of service to the community, as evidenced by the positive referrals we have received from local residents, area funeral directors and other members of OGR."

As a member in the Order, Keohane is evaluated on an on-going basis through contact with the families they have served. The responses received through this system, in addition to the continuing education conferences sponsored by OGR, serve to enhance and improve the services offered to the community by Keohane and his staff.

Thayer Academy Opens, Adds 8 To Faculty

Intruder Breaks

Into Hancock Pool

An intruder forced the door into the stairwell leading to the Lincoln Hancock School's pool, swam and damaged equipment, according to pool director Bill Walker.

Council adopt a classification plan he unveiled last week. The meeting was to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The plan provides for a residential factor of 87.9561 and the valuation of commercial, industrial and personal property at 130% of full fair cash value.

Under the plan, the residential tax rate would be $20.63; commercial, industrial and personal property rate, $30.49.

Last year's tax rates were $21.03 for residential and $30.86 for commercial, industrial and personal property.

Last week, the State Department of Revenue certified the total valuation of the city for fiscal 1986 as $2,056,770,030.

The council must pass on McCauley's classification figures and the State Department of Revenue must approve the whole package before the tax rate becomes official.

McCauley said Monday, Sept. 30 is the target date for putting the tax bills in the mail. They would be due in 30 days.

Union To Continue Fight

General Dynamics To Sell Shipyard 'As Soon As Possible'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

General Dynamics hopes to sell the Quincy shipyard as soon as possible, and would like to find a company that would provide "significant employment" at the site, according to published reports.

But the head of the local shipbuilders union says his organization will still pursue avenues to try to keep the yard open for shipbuilding.

Gary S. Grimes, general manager, said the company will begin soliciting buyers early next year. Grimes had announced in July that the shipyard will close next spring due to lack of Navy contracts.

Richard Piccuito, president of Local 5, said members of the local union and Save Our Shipyard Committee hope to be able to meet with the Massachusetts Congressional delegation in Washington within a week to present over 100,000 signatures gathered on petitions.

Grimes outlined a six-part program already underway to prepare for the sale in a communication to the Patriot Ledger.

Points of the plan are: Contact shipbuilding firms to find out if they are interested in buying the property and continuing to build ships at the site.

Identify other industries that would be able to use the shipyard facilities but for other manufacturing purposes.

Identify companies in alternative industries that might be interested in buying the property.

Review other potential commercial and real estate possibilities for the shipyard.

Ascertain how much it would cost to level the shipyard to bare land.

Learn the fair market price for the shipyard "for any specific alternative sale opportunity."

Last week, the City Council learned that, despite a request, it would not be represented on a General Dynamics internal task force to study what to do with the shipyard.

However, Grimes did say that when some tentative conclusions are reached, they will be shared with both state and local officials.

"This again shows the arrogance of General Dynamics," said Piccuito. "They don't care about anything, they just want to make the decision themselves."

Piccuto said he wasn't informed by company officials of the latest developments, but instead read about them in the newspaper.

"In the past, Grimes has said that it takes $125 million worth of business to keep the shipyard open. If they were able to do that, they would keep it open."

"That's what the (recent) rally and signature drive was for. The congressional delegation has wholeheartedly given its support, and has said it will do whatever it can possibly do."

Piccuto said that of $12½ billion in Navy contracts, over $9 billion went to three shipyards, according to a publication.

"It doesn't make sense to put all the eggs in one basket," said Piccuito, "the Navy is not making a wise decision."

Quincy-Born Artist Charged With Murder Of Wife

Quincy-born painter and sculptor Carl Andre has been charged with murdering his wife, Ana Mendieta, by pushing her out the 34th floor window of their Greenwich Village apartment.

Andre, 50, argued with his 35-year-old wife Sunday morning and then pushed her from a window of their two bedroom apartment, according to New York City police who offered no motive for the argument or slaying.

At the arraignment Monday, Andre's attorney Gerry Rosen requested that client's work be posted as bail instead of $250,000. Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Max Sayer denied the request and Andre was remanded to jail at Rikers Island.

Andre, the son of a draftsman at the Fort River Shipyard, said he was not responsible for the death of his wife, a sculptor.

Born in Merrymount, he attended public schools and later said that Quincy had inspired his work which brought him international recognition.

BURGIN PARKWAY EXTENSION could be open as early as Thanksgiving, barring unforeseen difficulties. From left, at a recent inspection of the project were John McNamara, Modern Continental superintendent; Sen. Paul Harold, a long-time proponent of the project; Robert Tierney, State DPW Commissioner; Jack Ricciardi of Modern Continental Construction Co., the contractor; and Robert McDonagh, chief engineer for the state.

Big Boost For Downtown Burgin Extension, Quincy Fair Due For Nov. Opening

The holiday shopping season in downtown Quincy is expected to receive a substantial boost with the opening of the Burgin Parkway Extension and occupancy of Quincy Fair in the old Sears building in November.

"The combination of the two openings could increase retail sales by millions of dollars," said Sen. Paul Harold, "many merchants make as much as one third of their profits in the four weeks before Christmas."

Harold said that officials are aiming for an early opening date of Thanksgiving for the $9.9 million Burgin Parkway Extension, barring unforeseen difficulties. It had been originally scheduled to open in October, 1986, and will link Quincy Center with Routes 3 and

Tenant space in Quincy Fair is expected to be ready within two months, according to Planning Director James Lydon.

Harold inspected the 1.2 mile Burgin Parkway project last Friday with Robert Tierney, State DPW Commissioner, Robert McDonagh, chief engineer for the State DPW, and a representative of Modern Continental, the contractor.

"The only real difficulty," said Harold, "is construction of a culvert at School St."

"It's the last major element of the project. Once that is done, they can do the paving and put in the traffic lights."

"The overhead lighting and landscaping could be done in the spring."

Harold, a long-time proponent of the Burgin Parkway Extension, said he also requested that the commissioner include money for a pedestrian overpass from Star Market to Paperna.

He said he did that at the request of Mayor Francis McCauley and the City Council, particularly Councilors Joanne Condon, John Lydon and Theodore DeCrisofaro. A petition signed by residents of Granite Place and 45 School St. was presented to Tierney.

"The significance of the Burgin Parkway might be missed by some," said Planning Director Lydon, "because it has taken so long."

"But it is the single most important happening as far as the economic viability of

Tax Rates Down In All Categories

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The 1986 tax rates for personal and commercial property have been officially set and both are lower than last year.

Tax rates of $20.63 per 1,000 valuation for residential property, and $30.49 for commercial, industrial and personal property were officially certified by the state Tuesday.

The rate for residential property is down 40 cents from last year's $21.03; and for commercial, industrial and personal property, down 37 cents from last year's $30.86, said Mayor Francis McCauley.

The city hopes to have the tax bills in the mail the week of Sept. 30. They are due in 30 days.

The City Council adopted McCauley's classification plan at its meeting last week. The plan provides for a residential factor of 87.9561 and the valuation of commercial, industrial and personal property at 130% of full fair cash value.

"Now we can go forward to the last part of the process, such as preparing the bills for mailing," said McCauley.

Group Seeks Safe Hazardous Disposal

A group of city officials and the League of Women Voters were scheduled to make a presentation last night (Wednesday) on what they feel is the critical need for safe disposal of household hazardous waste in Quincy.

The presentation was to take place before the City Council's Environmental Control Committee at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

The group, brought together by City Councillor Michael Cheney, includes Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti, Commission of Public Works Paul Anderson, Acting Health Coordinator Richard Stuart, and Mary Quinn of the League of Women Voters.

They were to propose a plan for a city-wide project to increase public awareness of the need for safe disposal of toxic chemicals used in the home.

The need for such a project in the city was dramatically demonstrated by the recent experience of several Cheriton Road residents who became ill from toxic fumes that were released when a B.F.I. trash truck compacted a can of toxic chemical left at curbside for pick-up, according to the group.

The group says that neither state nor federal regulations concerning industrial hazardous waste govern the disposal of the small quantities of these toxic products found in the average household.

Yet, these substances, such as drain cleaners, pesticides, and anti-freeze, are a threat to the health and safety of people who may come in contact with them when unused portions are left out for trash pick-up, members say.

They are also contaminants of the environment when disposed of improperly in our landfills and sewage systems, according to the group.

D.P.W. Commissioner Paul Anderson said that these hazardous substances, if disposed of at the local dump, will eventually poison the ground water. He hopes the project will make residents more aware of the cumulative effect of all these hazardous substances at the landfill in West Quincy.

The group says that many towns in Massachusetts, including Canton, Hingham, and Braintree have tackled this environmental issue by sponsoring Hazardous Household Waste Collection days in their communities.

A day is set aside in the spring or fall when residents can bring their toxic products to a central location in the city, where a chemical company identifies and seals the waste products in large drums. They are then transported to a designated hazardous waste collection site, according to the group.

The Quincy group hopes to draw on a combination of state, city, and private funds for its projects, which will culminate in a spring 1986 Hazardous Household Waste Collection Day in the city, sponsored by the League and the City of Quincy.

Valenti said the the "ordinary home-owner has no understanding of the dangers involved when certain household chemicals are mixed together." He feels that having a collection day for these chemicals is a safety measure to prevent accidents such as the one on Cheriton Road.

The Quincy League of Women Voters will coordinate the public education aspect of the project in the city.

"Most of us are not used to thinking twice about what happens to our trash after it leaves our homes. Quincy residents will need to be convinced that disposing of toxic chemicals in their regular trash, or in the sewage system, is dangerous for everyone," said Mary Quinn, spokesperson for the League.

Hospital Re-zoning On Council Meeting Agenda

The City Council was scheduled to remove from the table last night (Wednesday) the mayor's veto of a council order proposing re-zoning of the Quincy City Hospital site from residence C to Planned Unit Development.

The council can override the veto by a two-thirds vote. It approved the PUD zoning so that it could have more control over the $75 million replacement of a major portion of the hospital.

Mayor Francis McCauley said he issued the first veto of his administration because "delays caused by the PUD process would significantly increase the overall cost of the project."

Also scheduled during the meeting, which was changed from Monday to Wednesday night because of the Jewish holidays, is discussion of new ward and precinct lines for Quincy.

Protestant Bureau Plans Home For Seniors

By LINDA WILKINS
The Protestant Social Service Bureau's (PSSB) plans to have a shared living home for senior citizens at 49 Newcomb St., Quincy Point, were delayed Tuesday when the License Board continued the Bureau's hearing until Sept. 24.

The board voted to continue the request so the building plans, zoning, and parking situation can be checked by the city's building, fire, and health departments.

Robert Taylor, executive director of PSSB told the board the home would be a living space where residents would share household costs and responsibilities.

The home would have five residents, each of whom would have his or her own bedroom, Taylor said. The kitchen would be shared by the residents, as would the two living rooms (one on each floor) and the two bathrooms. "It will be a supervised housing unit and the PSSB will oversee its activities," said Corliss Wells, second vice president of the PSSB.

The residents would be "all single and able people" who could do work for themselves, Taylor said.

"These people will pay a fee once a month to cover costs," he said. Costs would include the mortgage, taxes, heat, lights and water.

A shared living coordinator, who will not live on the premises, will be available to the residents, he added.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, who was present at the meeting, said he had not talked to neighbors in the area but had no objections to the proposed lodging house.

"My concern is parking," he said. "But I feel the traffic for that building won't make that much difference."

DeCristofaro said he would go on record that he would not oppose the home.

"They're (the PSSB) willing to do anything the city requests," said City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis. "I think it's a great concept."

Planning Board Hearing Sept. 25

The Quincy Planning Board will hold a public hearing Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall Annex to consider a request from Manet Development Realty Trust for an extension of Turner and Charles Sts.

QCA Urges Reagan To Aid Shipyard

The Quincy Citizens Association has sent the following letter to President Ronald Reagan appealing to him "to exert your influence in preserving and supporting the continuance of the Quincy Shipyard."

The text of the letter, written Sept. 16, and signed by the association's president, Arthur M. Chandler, said:

"As a local community association which is actively concerned with the economic welfare of our city (birthplace of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams) and its citizens, we appeal to you to exert your influence in preserving and supporting the continuance of the Quincy Shipyard, a division of General Dynamics Corporation. At the present time, the shipyard is low in contracts for building and rebuilding ships for the United States Navy and for private maritime uses. Some 3,000 to 4,000 employees of the shipyard are threatened with unemployment in the near future, if the shipyard closes.

"For more than 70 years the Quincy Fore River Shipyard has been a prime supplier of Navy ships for the defense and security of the nation, in peace and in war, as well as builder of ships for private maritime uses (from ocean liners to LNG's). We believe it would be shortsighted to permit the demise of one of the best shipbuilding yards in the world for lack of new ship and ship-repair contracts. As with the railroads, established American shipyards like Quincy are invaluable defense resources for the United States, and our nation's defense capabilities will be seriously diminished if we do not keep them operating now building and upgrading Navy, Coast Guard and maritime ships as a basic arm of our nation's defense.

"We appeal to you, Mr. President, to do all you possibly can to assist the Quincy Fore River Shipyard to continue to receive contracts for more shipbuilding and ship maintenance work which will strengthen our national defense capabilities, and in addition protect the lives and security of thousands of our local and neighborhood residents whose economic security is dependent upon the future economic success of the Quincy Fore River Shipyard.

"With many thanks for your support."

License Board Briefs

By LINDA WILKINS

The owner of a lodging house which had its license revoked for public safety and public health reasons after a fire in March, made an informal appearance before the Quincy Licensing Board Tuesday.

Mrs. Hikmet Abraham, owner of the lodging house at 3 McGrath Highway, told the board she has spoken to a contractor and plans to have nine rooms and a three room apartment in the renovated lodging house.

But City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis told her that even after the building inspector goes over the plans, the board may not issue a new license.

"My concern is parking," said Building Inspector and board member Allan F. MacDonald.

MacDonald said Mrs. Abraham will have to give the renovation plans to the building, fire, and health departments for review.

The License Board took the following action at its meeting:

- Granted a request from Old Colony Liquors, 519 Southern Artery, for a license to extend the premises.

- Granted a request from the Rev. William D. Underhill for a flea market permit for Saturday, Sept. 28, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at St. Chrysostom's Church, One Linden St., Wollaston.

- Granted a request from Joseph Gardner, 11 West Elm

Ave., Wollaston, for an auctioneer's license.

- Granted a request from Quincy Point Congregational Church for a permit to hold a flea market Sept. 21, 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., in the church parking lot, 444 Washington St.

- Granted a request from Albert Nazzaro for a one day all alcoholic license for a 90th birthday party Saturday, Oct. 26, 7 p.m. to midnight, at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted a request from Francis Sayers, for a one day all alcoholic license for a wedding reception Sept. 21, from 6 p.m. to midnight at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

Used Car License Granted In Quincy Point

A continued request from the manager of a used car dealership at 517 Quincy Ave. for a Motor II (Used Car) license was granted by the License Board at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall.

Richard A. Toma of Braintree requested the license for up to 13 used cars at the property, which is on the Quincy/Braintree line.

The board had continued

the request due to questions from Building Inspector Allen F. MacDonald and Acting Fire Chief Carl V. Valenti, both board members, concerning the location of the business, parking and congestion.

Customers will enter the property from West Howard St., Quincy, not from Quincy Ave., said Toma.

Toma said his office will be part of a building owned by Toufic Hajjar, who also owns the land on which the dealership is located.

The previous license for the land, which was held by Quincy Motor Co., Inc., was for five cars.

Ground Broken For Two New Buildings On Goldie's Site

Ground was broken Monday at the former site of Goldie's Auto Salvage yard, Willard St., West Quincy, for the first phase of two major building projects, totalling 250,000 square feet.

Adams Realty Trust, a real estate development firm, said construction of the second building will be at the same site on the Brintree side.

Adams Realty has named The Codman Company, Inc., of Boston, as their exclusive leasing agent for the first five-story office building which will be marketed as One Adams Place.

The site is strategically situated with easy access to major interstate highways and to all modes of public transportation. Its setting, upon completion of a carefully phased master plan, will be a beautifully landscaped, two building office park with spectacular visual appeal from all approaches. The park is adjacent to the Blue Hills Reservation.

According to Thomas A. Walsh of The Codman Company, "the strong geometric form of the building will be enhanced by the use of red granite and tinted glass exterior walls. Because of a new manufacturing technology, granite is now more suitable for suburban office construction."

Burgin Pedestrian Ramp Sought By Condon

"We must look beyond the city and seek state assistance for the much needed pedestrian ramp over the Burgin Parkway Extension," says City Councillor and mayoral candidate Joanne Condon.

Mrs. Condon met recently with residents of Hancock House, 45 School St., Granite Place, 125 Granite St., and Hancock Court, 25 School St. They presented her a petition with over 300 signatures of residents who would like the pedestrian ramp replaced.

As a result, Mrs. Condon introduced a resolve to the City Council Sept. 3, requesting that State Rep. Thomas Brownell have the State Department of Public Works study the feasibility of installing a new ramp and/or access road off the state-funded Burgin Parkway extension.

The ramp would be in the vicinity of the Parkway, School St., and Granite St. area, said Mrs. Condon, and would replace the one that was removed due to the construction of the Burgin Parkway extension.

"According to the residents, the mayor has advised them that nothing can be done in this regard," said Mrs. Condon.

McCauley Urges Kerry To Oppose CDBG Cuts

Mayor Francis McCauley has written to Senator John F. Kerry urging the senator's support in opposing cuts in the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG).

Congress is presently proposing a 15% cut, said McCauley.

The mayor wrote to the senator that in the 10 years the program has been in effect, the overwhelming majority of grants have been spent on the needs of the low and moderate income population of Quincy.

The fiscal 1986 CDBG budget is $2,134,000, down from $2,225,000 in fiscal 1984, he said. The fiscal 1986 budget includes funds for Elderly Outreach and Van Program ($165,700); Public Works improvements ($633,200);

Community Centers ($154,400); Housing Rehabilitation Programs; Home Maintenance and Weatherization Programs ($440,700).

McCauley has urged Senator Kerry, when reviewing the merits of the CDBG program, to view the program based on its proven record of positive assistance to the cities of this country.

HoJo's Land Rezoning Signed By Mayor

Mayor Francis McCauley has signed an order submitted by Council President James Sheets rezoning to open space the 7.11 acres of land where a Howard Johnson's and Arco Station were located off the Southeast Expressway.

The City Council had unanimously approved the rezoning at a recent meeting.

The land, which is owned by the state, was formerly zoned Residence B which would allow condominiums or garden apartments if it were sold to the private sector, said McCauley.

"When land such as this becomes vacant," said McCauley, "we try to rezone it to prevent over-building. There has been an awful lot of development pressure in West Quincy."

Sheets, who noted that the state is not bound by local zoning ordinances said at the council meeting that the area could be used to house the state police barracks which are now in Norwell.

McCauley said he has not heard of such plans, but added, that police protection in the area would increase if the barracks were located there.

The state ordered the closing of the restaurant and gas station because of federal rules prohibiting direct access off an interstate highway to such businesses.

United Way Aims For Record $39 Million

The United Way of Massachusetts Bay has launched its golden anniversary campaign to raise a record $39 million.

The United Way now helps more than one million people, one out of every three, in eastern Massachusetts, including Quincy.

Two years ago, over 23,200 individuals and families in Quincy were served by 64 United Way agencies. These agencies include:

Domestic Violence Ended (DOVE); Quincy-based South Shore Chapter of American Red Cross; Quincy-based Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore; Quincy Visiting Nurse Association; Salvation Army; Family Service Association; Quincy office of the Greater Boston Legal Services; Catholic Charitable Bureau; Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children; South Shore Day Care Services; and South Area Jewish Community Center.

There has been an increase in funding for care for battered women and abused children and troubled teens.

A 'Thank You' From DOVE

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
We want to say thank you for publishing our pleas for donations and releases about our auction.

If possible we would like to say thank you to all those who helped. Would you please publish the following release in your newspaper:

Dove (Domestic Violence Ended) wants to say thank you to all who helped make our Auction an enormous success. Without your time, energy, expertise, in-kind and monetary donations the Auction's goals would not have been achieved. Once again, thank you for your support."

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASON'S and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have "lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relative of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

WATCH THOSE STATISTICS

QUESTION: I have sold my home and plan to move about 200 miles from here. The median home price is $70,000 in the new town. I can't afford to spend over $55,000. Do you see any ray of hope?

ANSWER: By all means! When you see MEDIAN home prices quoted, you have to remember that this is the middle price. If the median is $70,000, it means that half the homes sold for more than that figure (like $90,000) and half sold for less than the median.

Can Condon Come Back?

This year's mayoral campaign has suddenly come down to two questions:

Is it all over?

Can she come back?

Many political observers looking at Mayor Francis McCauley's surprising near 2-1 vote margin over major challenger Joanne Condon in last week's preliminary election think the answer to the first question is "yes."

But Condon herself and supporters insist the answer is "no."

They then move onto the second question and give it a big answer "yes."

CONDON

the final script.

Most observers figured Condon would finish a strong runner-up to McCauley for the second nomination. And some thought she had a good shot at even topping him.

Then it would be a new horse race with enough money pouring into the Condon campaign chest to finance a strong battle through October to the final showdown, Nov. 5.

The six candidate field for the Ward 6 City Council seat would bring out a good vote there with most of it going to Condon because it was her backyard and stronghold.

In the other five wards, voters were being asked to turn out to vote for just one of five persons for mayor. There were no other contests.

Who's going to bother to turn out to vote for just one person the so-called experts were asking. Not many. No reason for satisfied McCauley voters to bother. He was sure of getting one of the nominations and they could vote for him in November when it really counted. But, it didn't go that way.

Thirty per cent of the city's 46,297 voters did bother - 10 per cent more than expected.

They gave McCauley 59 per cent of the vote and Condon 33.7 per cent as he took 36 of the 39 precincts and tied one.

In Ward 6, he polled 56.6 per cent to her 38 per cent, pulling a vote of 1718 to her 1153.

They were dead even in Precinct 1, 178-to-178. Condon took her home: Precinct 6 by seven votes - 303 to 296. But McCauley rolled in Squantum's Precinct 5 capturing it by a 433 vote margin, 658 to 225.

But Condon, a scrappier, isn't tossing in the towel. She's ready to do battle again.

Although she had hoped to win the primary and campaigned hard and long to do it, she still thinks she did well in her first city wide bid for office.

"I would like to have won but we have eight more weeks to do that," she said. "One night doesn't change issues."

She has placed part of the blame for her less than expected showing on the new punched card voting machines.

She says some voters - especially senior citizens - were not made familiar with them, thought they would have trouble with them and didn't come out to vote.

That complaint is debatable, however.

The 30 per cent of the voters who did come didn't seem to have any problems and most of them voted for McCauley.

She has a long road to come back. Mission Impossible, say many.

But she has a fighting heart and you can really never tell. One sudden unexpected development can change what may appear to be the unchangeable.

Condon, however, is not going to get any help from McCauley.

Many observers now think he will figure he has it all wrapped up and will lay off, coast and spend little money.

But, says he, "I'm not going to let up. I'm going to run scared like I always do. It's not over until it's over."

McCauley isn't just looking to next Nov. 5. He's also thinking ahead to the next election two years from now.

A decisive victory this year will make potential challengers think twice before challenging him in 1987.

SQUANTUM LOOMS AS the major battleground for the Ward 6 City Council fight between Thomas Koch and Thomas Nutley in the November final showdown.

Koch edged Nutley by 57 votes in the ward and Nutley topped him by two votes in Precinct 5.

The Squantum precinct went for the two home candidates. Richard Sheridan, Jr. and John Walsh.

It gave Sheridan the biggest vote 461 and Walsh second most with 221. Nutley got 95 and Koch 93.

Question here is: Where will the Sheridan and Walsh votes go in November?

Walsh appears to be leaning his support toward Nutley and some observers think he will eventually make an official endorsement.

Sheridan hasn't indicated whether he will support either Koch or Nutley or stay neutral should he want to make another bid for office in the future.

Even if Walsh and Sheridan do officially endorse Koch or Nutley that still is no guarantee that their supporters will follow their lead.

But the right endorsement in a close fight could help make the difference.

NOTE OF CONFIDENCE: Tom Koch, a few weeks before the preliminary election had tickets printed for a fundraiser to be held Oct. 18.

The event will be held at the North Quincy Nights of Columbus Hall from 8 to midnight. Tickets are $10 per person.

FORMER Ward 6 Councillor Thomas Gilmartin ran into a stonewall in his political comeback bid finishing fifth with 183 votes in the six candidate field.

Gilmartin, who also likes to predict elections did so-so in that department in last week's mayoral and Ward 6 preliminary.

He had Koch topping Nutley but gave both bigger votes than they actually got. He gave Koch 1200 and Nutley 1050. They received 914 and 857 respectively.

He gave himself third place with 980 votes but finished fifth with 183. He had Sheridan in fourth spot with 640, Sheridan finished third with 607. He had Walsh down for fifth place with 350. Walsh got 342 for fourth place.

Gilmartin had Marilyn Hanabury in the bottom spot with 125 votes. She finished there with 86.

In the mayor's race, Gilmartin predicted incumbent Francis McCauley would get 54 per cent of the vote and Joanne Condon 38 per cent.

McCauley received 59 per cent and Condon 33.7 per cent.

Gilmartin was on the right track but still came out a miss as far as the Ward 6 vote for mayor was concerned.

Although most observers figured Condon would be strong in her home ward, Gilmartin gave her the ward by less than 100 votes. McCauley took it by 565 votes.

INCIDENTALLY, you might say the Koch family is now even with Gilmartin.

Some years ago Richard Koch, Sr. challenged Gilmartin who was then the Ward 6 councillor. Gilmartin won.

This year, Gilmartin challenged Koch's son, Tom, and the latter revenged his father's defeat.

LOOKING AHEAD 10 next year's state election, it looks like Rep. Michael Morrissey is a definite candidate for re-election.

The committee to re-elect him is sponsoring a fundraiser for him Friday, Sept. 27 from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy. Music by "Touch of Class" and a buffet. Tickets, $10 per person, may be obtained by calling Robert Ross at 773-6011.

the downtown area.
"The Campanelli and Sears Buildings are being constructed on the strength of the roadway."

Messina Enterprises, which is developing Quincy Fair, at a cost of more than $4 million, is scheduled to appear before the Industrial Development Finance Authority Wednesday, Sept. 25, seeking a $550,000 addition to the $2,100,000 in industrial revenue bonds.

"This is not an unusual situation," said Lydon, "the project has bumped into unanticipated costs. It's not unusual in a rehabilitation project."

"Sometimes you're surprised when you open a wall and find something there you didn't anticipate.

"I'm sure the committee will look favorably on the request."

The building is scheduled to have five to eight stores built around two major tenants, according to Lydon.

The major exterior work has been completed, he said.

Lydon said a final recommendation is expected to be made over the next 30 days on an architect for a $1 million parking garage behind Quincy Fair.

"The garage should be ready for a spring construction start," he said. "Parking might be a little tight until the garage is completed. Lydon said, but we'll get by."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Dennison Airport 8 Years Old

Dennis Airport in North Quincy celebrated its eighth anniversary with 10 planes based at the field, five of them used to rookie air travelers on brief spins around Boston Harbor.

"We have really been missionaries for the airlines," said Manager Hal Martin.

"Persons who have never flown before come down here for a short hop and then when they want to make a trip of any distance, they turn to the airlines without the slightest hint of hesitation.

"It's not unusual for us to fly 1,000 persons over a weekend on short hops."

LYONS REPORTED ON WAY OUT

Reports were prevalent that Lawrence W. Lyons' job as clerk of Quincy District Court, a post that he had held for 25 years, was in jeopardy when his term expired on Dec. 10.

Edward G. Morris, a former state senator from South Boston and a longtime supporter of Gov. James Michael Curley, was said to be in line for the job, which paid $4,000 a year.

COLD CLOSES SCHOOL

Some 870 pupils of the Central Junior High School were sent home at 9 a.m. when the temperature inside the school building was discovered to be between 52 and 55 degrees.

The school's boiler could not be turned on until the School Committee resolved its deadlock over a $25 difference in contract bids to fix the tubing on the boiler.

LABORERS REINSTATE

Quincy was ordered to reinstate 32 laborers who had been fired in violation of civil service regulations in May and the city was faced with the possibility of having to pay them $13,440 in back pay.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Oscar Wilde once said: "Children begin by loving their parents; as they grow older they judge them; sometimes they forgive them."

D. Scott Deware once said: "It takes a heap of living and a lot of loving to make a house a home."

Since the family is the basic unit of society there are not many problems in society that do not originate in the home. These problems may stem from over-protection or under-protection; too much discipline or too little discipline; too much money or not enough money. Young couples, who have hardly had the time to adjust to each other, are overwhelmed by the awesome responsibility of becoming parents. This is a job that would tax the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the courage of Daniel and the financial resources of King Midas...

To do what is right and to profit from our mistakes requires nothing less than divine guidance. The fifth commandment is "Honor thy father and mother." BUT does this not also ADD to parents the responsibility to honor, to discharge their duties as Christian fathers and mothers, and to establish a Christian home?...

South Shore Mental Health To Honor 5 Sept. 29

Four individuals and a business will be honored at the annual meeting of the South Shore Mental Health Center Sunday, Sept. 29 at noon, at Kemper Insurance, 150 Newport Ave., North Quincy.

CBS radio journalist, Dr. Lonnie Carton will be the keynote speaker. She will discuss the effects of unemployment on the employee, the family and the community.

Her program, "The Learning Center" is heard on WEEI and other CBS stations around the country.

Peter L. Eley, SSMH president, said Dr. Carton was selected as this year's speaker because of the coming impact of the closing of the General Dynamics shipyard in Quincy.

Preceding Dr. Carton's address, the South Shore Mental Health Center will present its annual distinguished service awards for civic and humanitarian service.

Awards will be presented to four individuals and a business. They are:

Ernest J. Montilio, who built one of the best known and most creative businesses in New England, and has been active in charitable and philanthropic efforts over the years. Montilio founded the Montilio Bake Shops which will celebrate their 40th anniversary in 1986.

John P. Comer of Quincy, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority, will receive the Center's award for his community service.

Arnold Rinkofsky of Milton, a recently retired employee of the Raytheon Company's industrial components division in Quincy receives the third award.

As a parent of a severely retarded daughter, Rinkofsky first became involved with the retarded in 1970 when he joined the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens. "For over 13 years, Arnold Rinkofsky has been the recreation chairman for the organization."

"He has organized bowling groups, dances, trips, cookouts and sports programs for retarded young people, and an annual dinner dance for the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens."

Pauline Hayes, R.N., of Randolph, mother of five children, who began a teenage parents program in her community which has resulted in helping many young parents adjust to their new role, will also be honored. Her efforts have also encouraged these parents to continue their education.

A special distinguished service award will be presented to The Kemper Group of Quincy, one of the first national companies to develop an alcohol rehabilitation program for employees. Because of Kemper's leadership in this field, many firms also initiated similar programs.

In Quincy, The Kemper Group "has been extremely generous to local organizations through the use of its facilities," said Eley. "When South Shore Mental Health was looking for an attractive location for its annual meeting several years ago, Kemper responded by opening its doors." The district manager of Kemper, Ivan O. Ace, will receive the award for his company.

Participation is free at the meetings.

O'Lindy's Has No Plans To Close

O'Lindy's, Quincy Avenue Lanes, 170 Quincy Ave., has no interest in closing whatsoever, according to owner John Mezzetti.

"We just completed $100,000 of remodeling and we're all set for the leagues," said Mezzetti of the family-run and family-owned business.

Last week's Quincy Sun printed information sent in by the Quincy Bowling Little Loop that incorrectly stated that O'Lindy's may close.

Recreation Swim Programs Set

THANK YOU!

I would like to express my thanks to you — the people of Ward 6 — for your strong support on Primary Day.

And now, before Election Day, November 5, it's important that you have ample opportunity to really get to know the two Ward 6 City Council finalists so that you can decide with certainty who is the best qualified candidate to represent the people of Ward 6.

Therefore, I will urge our community associations, Cable T.V., Radio Station WJDA, etc. to sponsor public debates between my opponent and me.

Additionally, I intend to visit every residence in Ward 6 and, hopefully, chat with you regarding the many serious problems confronting the various areas of our community and my qualifications to be the Ward 6 Councillor who can deal effectively with those complex issues.

I look forward to talking with you. Again — Thank you.

John Lydon, Jr. Seeks Re-election To Ward 3 Council Seat

John J. Lydon, Jr., announces his candidacy for re-election to the Ward 3 Council seat.

Lydon is seeking his seventh term as councillor and cites his experience in Quincy government as his strongest qualification.

"The neighborhoods are best served in government by one who knows them and is committed to them," said Lydon.

Lydon has served as president of the City Council, chairman of the Finance Committee, chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Services, chairman of the Committee of the Quincy Rent Grievance Board and the Capital Outlay Committee, member of the Montclair Men's Club, Past Grand Knight of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus, and a member of St. Ann's Holy Name Society.

A past director of the Wollaston Business and Professional Association, he is chairman of the Ward III Democratic City Committee and a member of the Quincy Lodge of Elks.

Lydon cites as significant his position as an advocate for balanced growth. "While we, as a city, began to build our work force of 'white collar' employees and reduce an unemployment rate from approximately 10% to less than 3%, we have, during this same historic period, rezoned more land as open space than during any other five year period in the city's history."

He states that his early council votes to Open Space of both the Wollaston Golf Course and the Furnace Brook Golf Course were forerunners and precedents for the city's latest activities for Open Space and preservation of neighborhoods.

Lydon states that his rezoning of almost 80 acres along Quarry St. and his petition to rezone the Quincy City Hospital were major achievements.

If elected to a new term, Lydon said he intends to expend a significant amount of time addressing traffic problems within his ward. "While I have supported new jobs for our community, I am aware that new businesses and development bring a series of related problems. And while growth is a significantly healthier position for a community than a status quo, we must always be prepared to defend our neighborhoods from inconvenience and encroachment."

Lydon went on to state that he has spoken with Mayor Francis McCauley about his Traffic Task Force and has offered his services to spearhead any council action needed to expedite the new traffic improvement program.

He has also stated his support for the creation of the position of Traffic Engineer within the municipal budget.

"We are no longer a small town which can handle its traffic problems with band-aids. We must have a professional person with analytical skills to address our current and future management techniques."

Regarding his position as chairman of the Committee on Elder Affairs, Lydon said he led the local fight to defeat the proposed increase on the "T" for Senior Citizen cards. He stated that attempts to balance a budget on the backs of our senior citizens is heartless and unfair.

During his tenure on the Quincy City Council, Lydon cites the following as some of his major accomplishments:

The Montclair flood abatement study; his constant monitoring and activities before the Board of License Commissioners representing the people of Ward III; his active role in defeating the proposed Sewer and Water Commission which would have cost Quincy taxpayers more money.

Also, as a member of the Cable T.V. Citizens Advisory Board, he initiated cable coverage of all City Council meetings, thus opening the process to more public scrutiny.

Lydon also lists his accomplishments as consistently advocating higher standards of public safety; the passage of an ordinance to prohibit drinking in public places; advocating and sponsoring the ICAP Program and the Neighborhood Crime Watch Program in Ward III; the introduction of the Federal Community Development Block Grant Program in both Montclair and the Hospital Hill areas. This program is responsible for housing rehabilitation, park and playground improvements (Bishop Field and Wollaston School) and various street resurfacing projects.

Lydon stated that he has been honored to serve the neighborhoods of Ward III in his tenure as City Councillor and he asks the people to consider his record as advocate and representative of Ward III when they cast their ballot on Election Day.

Nigro Asks For Student Participation

In a letter to School Supt. John Osterman and the Quincy School Committee, Margaret Nigro has asked that they consider a high school senior or young adult to sit on the soon to be formed school improvement councils.

The new Education Reform Bill neither includes or excludes a student from participation, said Nigro, who is a candidate for the School Committee.

"I am asking that the School Committee consider seeking out a high school senior or young adult to serve as the community representative in his/her community school."

"The new bill calls for school systems to set up school improvement councils in schools containing any grade K-6.

"They will be comprised of the building principal, three teachers elected yearly by the teachers in the building, two parents of children attending the school, and one person who is not a parent of a child attending said school, appointed by the School Committee," she said.

'Lord Of The Dance' Bethany Church Celebration

The reopening of the Church School will be celebrated this Sunday, Sept. 22, at the 10 a.m. service at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Centre.

Children will be welcomed and will participate in the celebration, the theme of which is 'Lord of the Dance'.

'Skyloom', a sacred dance group from the Lexington-Concord area, will dance to several Shaker songs, 'I Will Bow and Be Simple', 'Come Dance and Sing', 'Tis a Gift to Be Simple', and 'Lord of the Dance'.

The Bethany Folksingers, led by Tara Huntington and Margaret Fernald with guitars and recorders, will accompany the dancers and also present a special selection, 'The Dancing Heart'.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing an arrangement by Dawson of the spiritual, 'Everytime I Feel The Spirit'.

The two ministers, Rev. Joel F. Huntington and Rev. J. William Arnold, will share in comments on 'Dancing as Worship' and interpretations of dancing in the Bible.

Pastor Arnold will also have a story for the children, 'The Dancing Camel', and balloons will be distributed to all those in attendance near the close of the service.

Registration for the Church School will take place in the classrooms at 9 a.m. for returning and new students. Parents are invited to meet with the Church School Superintendent and Rev. Huntington at 9:20 in the social hall for an informal discussion of the 1985-1986 school year and the curriculum. Regular classes will begin the following Sunday, Sept. 29, at 10 a.m.

A fellowship hour with light refreshments will be held in the Allen Parlor this Sunday, beginning at 11 a.m. following the worship. Also, an all-church picnic will be held from 12 noon to 4 p.m. at Pageant Field, Quincy, to which members and friends are most welcome.

For additional information concerning the programs and ministries of Bethany Church, please call the church office, 479-7300.

'What Is Your Ministry' Squantum Church Topic

'What Is Your Ministry?' Was the title of the pastor's sermon Sunday morning at the second service at the First Church of Squantum.

The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on a text found in 1 Corinthians 12:4-6. His subject was the 'ministry' or service to be rendered to God by every Christian, lay or ordained.

Hymns sung during the service were 'O Worship the King, All Glorious Above,'

'Take My Life and Let It Be' and 'Christ for the World, We Sing!' The Chancel Choir sang 'Like As A Hart' by Vincent Novello and 'The Lord Bless You and Keep You.' Mary Ruth Scott was the organist.

Don and Barbara Frazer were greeters before the service, ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott, and the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Edna Swanson and Helen Miller.

At the early service, Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, 'Evolution and Creation: What a Christian Thinks.' Guitarists David Williams, Mary Ruth Scott and Andy Ogilvie provided the accompaniment for the hymns. Karen Reister and Kim Olson served as ushers.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Service Of Healing At St. Chrysostom's

A service of Healing will be held at St. Chrysostom's Church, Hancock St., Wollaston (Hancock and Linden St.), tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. William D. Underhill, rector, will be the celebrant at the Eucharist Service and the preacher.

The Laying on of Hands with prayer for healing will be offered to all who wish to receive that ministry; clergy and lay ministers will administer it.

Healing Services are held monthly at St. Chrysostom's Church on the third Thursday evenings and are open to one and all.

A fellowship time is held after the service. For further information call 472-0737.

'Who Is Jesus?'

Wollaston Congregational Topic

The Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will preach 'Who is Jesus?' on the text Mark 8:27-36 at the 10 a.m. Sunday worship service at Wollaston Congregational Church.

Paul Frazer will be the soloist, and the Senior Choir will sing 'Christ is the World's True Light'.

The High School Fellowship Group will have its first meeting at 7 p.m. A pizza and game party is planned. Church School classes for nursery through Grade 8 meet at 10 a.m. each Sunday morning.

Members and friends of the parish are invited to attend the Apple Picking Outing scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 29 at 1 p.m.

Anyone wishing further information on the church's activities can call the church office at 773-7432.

CHRISM Conference At St. John's Church Oct. 4

Christian Responsibility in Shared Ministry (CHRISM) of the Brocton region of the Archdiocese of Boston has announced the 6th Annual Day for Clergy and Pastoral Ministers of the Brocton region will be held Friday, Oct. 4, 4 to 9 p.m., at St.

John's Church, Quincy.

The conference will have 'Leadership Effectiveness In Church Ministry' as its topic this year.

Ann F. Morgan, Ed. D., Assistant Dean of Students at Boston College and the teacher of a graduate course in leadership styles and effective leader behavior, will be speaker.

Cost, which includes dinner, is $12.

For further information, contact the CHRISM office at 731-5111.

Openings At St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center

St. Chrysostom's Day Care Center, 1 Linden St., Wollaston, is still accepting registrations for the 1985-86 session.

The center operates from October to June from 9 to 11:30 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. This is a full program which includes free play, working with children with basic skills, experimentation with arts, crafts, cooking and music, with special emphasis on working with children in small groups within a caring context.

For further information call the church office, 472-0737 on Tuesday, Wednesdays or Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Fall Schedule Starts At Faith Lutheran

Faith Lutheran Church, 201 Granite St., Quincy, will resume its fall schedule Sunday.

All Sunday School classes are at 9 a.m., followed by morning worship at 10.

Prior to that service the series: 'Focus on the Family', by Dr. James Dobson will also begin at 9. This series consists of six video cassettes that will be shown to the Adult Education Class on six consecutive Sundays.

Dr. Dobson is the author of several books, one of which, 'Dare to Discipline', is known to many parents. Everyone is welcome to attend the series.

For more information call the church office at 472-1247.

Morgan Memorial Needs Your Help

Because of vandalism Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries is urging people to leave items only when there is an attendant on duty at their donation center trailer outside Star Market, 130 Granite St.

According to Goodwill spokesperson Joe Procter, too many people are leaving items outside the trailer after hours, and during the night and Sundays, others vandalize the bags and the donated goods become trash strewn around the parking lot.

'Goodwill gave up collection boxes seven or eight years ago in favor of staffed trailers because the vandalism became too much to manage. But people feel obliged to leave stuff when the trailer is closed anyway,' Procter said.

The donated used goods are sold for low prices in Morgies Thrift Stores, and the profit generated is used to help support Goodwill's human services.

Flea Market At St. Chrysostom's Sept. 28

A flea market will be held at St. Chrysostom's Church, Linden and Hancock Sts., Wollaston, Saturday, Sept. 28, rain or shine, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Youth Group of the Parish of St. Chrysostom is sponsoring the project as a fund raiser, and invites the public to attend, browse and shop. Dealers are welcome, and may arrange for a table or space by calling 472-0737.

There will be a snack bar serving throughout the day.

You are welcome . . .

Raymer Optimistic

Quincy Hosts Cambridge Friday Night

Jack Raymer begins his second season as Quincy's head football coach Friday night when the Presidents, coming off three tough scrimmages, host Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a 7 p.m. Suburban League game at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

This will be the first game for a Quincy team under the lights in Quincy and it is hoped the crowd will approach that which saw last Friday's North Quincy-Weymouth South game.

Raymer's debut as Quincy coach last fall was hampered by a number of key injuries, but the Presidents finished 5-4 and upset North Quincy on Thanksgiving, which made up for prior disappointments.

Quincy lost virtually all of its starters from last year's squad, but several of Friday night's starters saw a good deal of service in 1984 because of the many injuries.

"We had three very tough scrimmages (against Stoughton, Walpole and Arlington), and we improved in each one," Raymer said. "We moved the ball well and the defense looked good. I think we are ready for another tough schedule and I feel we will be very competitive."

"The boys have worked very hard. We will have a varied and balanced attack, which will be a lot different from a year ago. I can promise we will provide a few surprises."

On offense the Presidents will have Steve Gardner at tight end, Don Parry, a key to the offense, at wide receiver, Paul Lally and Dave Savage at tackle, John Bogan and Kevin Devonshire at guard and John Heath at center.

"I probably won't decide on the starting quarterback until game time," Raymer said. "Steve Austin and Larry Taglieri both look awfully good and it is difficult to choose between them. One thing is sure, both will see a lot of action."

Chris Veneto and Mark Porzio will be the halfbacks and Joe Inello the slot back. Ron Luisi also will play halfback.

Others who will see service on offense include Steve Picarski and Mike O'Connor in the backfield, Fran Garvey at wide receiver and Rick Smith at guard.

Defensively Quincy will have Savage, Paul Munafò, Lally and Jim Feeley at tackle, Devonshire, sophomore Frank Calabro and Smith at end, Picarski, Dave Murphy, Kevin Jolly (who has been out with an injury) and Ken Southwick as linebackers, Innello, Luisi and Taglieri at cornerback and Parry, O'Connor, Porzio, Veneto and sophomore Ernie Light at halfback.

"Parry is as fine a wide receiver as I've seen and we must get the ball to him," Raymer said. "Porzio and Veneto are fine running backs and I think you'll see us move the ball well."

Cambridge has been one of the Suburban League's weaker teams and is coming off a 1-9 season. The Cantabs were 0-10 two years ago, Quincy won, 20-0, last year.

Coach Wade Geragery has a tough job ahead but had his team working hard on blocking and tackling at its training camp at Otis Air Force Base. He has five returning starters and a number of other lettermen.

"We are going to make football come back to Cambridge Rindge and Latin," the coach promises.

Quincy Girls Open With Win Over Brockton

The Quincy girls' volleyball team was the state champion last fall for the second time in three years after winning the Suburban League and Eastern Mass. South titles.

The First Ladies, under new coach Tom Henderson opened the new season with a 2-0 (15-1, 15-2) victory over Suburban League rival Brockton.

Lauren Standing and Marlo LeVangie sparked Quincy with their serving and Terry Duggan spiked several winners as the First Ladies won handily.

Last Friday Quincy won its second match in a row, defeating Milford, 2-0 (15-9, 15-5) in a non-league match.

Quincy ran off nine points in a row to take the first game and had little trouble in the second.

LeVangie and Duggan served and spiked well and Ginny Duncan helped out considerably with her setting.

The Quincy girls played Brookline yesterday (Wednesday), will host Waltham Friday and will be at North Quincy Monday.

Henderson, last year's assistant coach, inherited a wealth of talent from Ray Whitehouse, whose championship team included many underclassmen. The First Ladies should be among the state's best again this fall.

Hip Pointer Slows Down Dudek

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, looking to break the great Walter Payton's NCAA all-division touchdown record of 66, had hoped for an injury-free season this fall.

However, a hip pointer will make his quest a bit harder.

After being held to 42 yards and no touchdowns in his opener against Div. 2 American International,

Youth Soccer Dance Saturday

The Quincy Youth Soccer League will hold a dance Saturday night at 8 p.m. at the Adams Heights Men's Club. Adults may attend together

Dudek's hip pointer limited his action against Nichols last Friday night and he was held to 34 yards and one touchdown as Plymouth State rolled over Nichols, 37-0, in opening defense of its New England Conference title.

It was the 55th touchdown for the Panther captain, leaving him 11 away from freshman and sophomore seasons, completed 13 of 23 passes for 230 yards and two touchdowns and scored the third touchdown himself.

Payton's record.

Dudek did surpass the 4000-yard running mark (4031) in his career. He is expected to break the Div. 3 rushing mark this year.

Despite an outstanding day by junior quarterback Bob Barrett of Quincy, Curry College, coming off its best season, was defeated by Westfield State, 33-20, last Saturday.

Barrett, who had brilliant freshman and sophomore seasons, completed 13 of 23 passes for 230 yards and two touchdowns and scored the third touchdown himself.

• Youth Football

Panthers, Elks Win

The Quincy Point Panthers opened their Quincy Youth Football League season with an impressive 26-8 victory over the Houghs Neck Manets Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Panthers, last year's runners-up and sporting the largest roster in the league, scored on the second play from scrimmage when Brian Taylor scampered 55 yards for the first touchdown.

The Panthers kicked off and stopped the Manets' cold. Taylor took the Manets' punt at the 50 and raced the distance to make it 12-0.

The ball changed hands four times until the two-minute warning sounded. The Manets drove deep into Panther territory with only seconds left in the half with Brian Saluchi catching passes to bring the Manets to the six-yard line. The Panthers' defense answered the call and stopped the Manets on the one-yard line as time ran out.

The Panthers took over on the Manets' 40 after the Manets were stopped following the second half kickoff and on first down Jay McLarnon broke through and raced the 40 yards for the third touchdown. Joey Russell passed to Brandon Farrell for the two-point conversion.

Early in the fourth quarter the Panthers took advantage of a Manet fumble on the Manets' 25. Two plays later Jim Sugrue took a Russell pass for the final Panther touchdown.

With the Panthers' junior varsity in action, the Manets' passing game put them on the Panther 30. On fourth down the Manets went for broke and scored on a pass to Jimbo Richardson. Brian Saluchi, who had a fine game, hauled in the two-point conversion pass.

Mike Srolaro, who played well both ways, led a strong Panther defense, while Mark Gunther and Monte Baker also stood out.

In the second game of the doubleheader the West Quincy Elks defeated the Squamitum Sailors, 18-6, for their second straight win. Ryan Hershey, Scott O'Brien and Chris Noble scored for the Elks, and Sailor quarterback David Hutchins had an outstanding game.

The Panthers' junior varsity topped the Manets Saturday morning with Stephen Feeley playing both ways.

Sunday the defending champion North Apaches will face the Sailors at 1 o'clock and the Panthers will meet the Elks at 2:30.

Olindy's Bowling Alleys at 170 Quincy Avenue, Quincy, is having a grand re-opening after being completely remodeled and modernized at a cost of nearly $100,000.

John Mezzetti, who is co-owner with his brother Jim, said that the alleys now have new modern seating arrangements, score tables and ball returns. The 16 lanes have been completely refinished with new pins and balls included.

Olindy's is now accepting league reservations for the 1985-86 season and the youth league, Olindy's Junior All-Stars, is now forming. Olindy's, a family business, dates back to 1928.

"We are looking forward to a bigger and better year with new leagues in addition to our regulars," John Mezzetti said. Further information can be obtained by calling 471-3597.

Mount Wins On Cadigan's Grand Slam

Paul Cadigan's grand slam home run in the last inning gave the Mount a come-from-behind 9-8 victory over the Boathouse at O'Rourke Field.

The win gave the Mount the championship trophy in the annual three-game series. The Boathouse had tied the series by defeating the Mount, 13-9, in the second game.

This was the 10th year for the annual event between the Save Gas and Money... Shop Locally.

two teams in which each team has won and lost five series.

Cadigan's grand slam overshadowed the stellar performances of his brothers Dennis, Kevin and Brian, each of whom had three hits. Brian was also outstanding defensively. The winning pitcher for the Mount was Ged Phelan, who received a lot of offensive help from Jim Hurley, Kevin Henry, Patrick Noonan, Steve Mele, John McKinnon and Tom Hanson.

The Boathouse was led by Paul Donoghue with two homers, pitcher Stan Radzik and Bruce Buckley, with 11 hits in the series. Rick Radzik's great defensive play, Rick Cobban, Barry Sullivan, Jim Doyle, George McCall, Joe Boyd, Al Bortolotti and Capt. Brian Buckley also aided the Boathouse cause.

The championship trophy and MVP award to Paul Cadigan were given out at the awards banquet that night. Tournament director Brian Buckley commented, "It was a great series. Even though we lost, I was happy that Paul Cadigan was the hero. He's getting married next week and this will probably be his last hurrah."

Weymouth South 33, North Quincy 6

Raiders Look For Rebound At Milton

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's young and inexperienced football team hopes to rebound from an error-filled 35-6 loss to Weymouth South when it plays oldtime rival Milton Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Milton.

Milton, coached by former North Quincy assistant Jack Bowes, holds a hex over the Raiders and has won the last three games between the old rivals, the latest a 7-0 decision a year ago.

North Quincy, which lost 32 players by graduation from last fall's 7-3 team, turned the ball over seven times -- four fumbles and three interceptions -- against Weymouth South last Friday night at Veterans Memorial Stadium in the first night schoolboy game ever played in Quincy.

Three of Weymouth's touchdowns were directly set up by two fumbles and an interception.

The largest crowd in many years (estimated at about 2000) watched the game.

"We just made too many mistakes and most of them were the result of our youth and inexperience," said North coach Ken McPhee. "But I saw a lot of things that pleased me. Chris Gray was under a lot of pressure but passed well and some of our younger players looked good.

"I am carrying three freshmen and two of them played extensively tonight and did very well. Bill McDougal looked excellent as a pass receiver and Mike Ainsley did well as a linebacker. Those kids will be heard from in the future. Mark Bilton also looked good as a receiver, Gary McNamara -- coming off a severe hand injury -- and Rob Bradley ran well and John Pacino, Angelo Kapetanakis, Steve Miller and Mike Cicerone all played fine games.

"Our offensive line needs a lot of work and we have to eliminate the many mistakes we made on defense. We tackled poorly and several times we should have stopped (Joe) Sylvester, who ran awfully well but should have been stopped several times. I don't feel nearly as bad as I have in other losses and I feel with a lot of work we'll come along."

Sylvester was a one-man gang for Weymouth as he gained 189 yards and scored the first four touchdowns. Weymouth had 257 net yards rushing to just 68 for North, which stuck mainly to a passing game. McNamara and Bradley were the leading ground gainers.

Gray completed nine of 23 passes for 115 yards but had three interceptions as he was pressured continually. McDougal had three receptions for 54 yards and Bilton three for 45. Weymouth had 12 first downs as did North.

North Quincy received to start the game and was stopped cold. Gray's punt went to Weymouth's 43 and the Wildcats marched the 57 yards in eight plays with Sylvester scoring from the three. He took a pitchout and skirted left end for the two-point conversion.

A few minutes later Weymouth's Joe Bognano recovered a North fumble on the Raider 24 and four plays later Sylvester raced 17 yards to make it 14-0.

The Raiders staged a good drive, clicking off four first downs, but Weymouth held and took over on its own 20. Gray completed three passes during the drive, one to Bilton for 15 yards, one to young McDougal for 12 and another to McDougal for 17.

Weymouth punted to North's 33 but on the first play another North fumble was recovered by Weymouth's Ken Healy on the Raider 35. Sylvester scored his third touchdown from the two and Keith Nastasia passed to Joe Fitzgerald for the two points and Weymouth led, 22-0, at the half.

North Quincy kicked off to open the second half and stopped the Wildcats, who punted to North's 42.

Here the Raiders staged their best drive of the game, going the 58 yards in nine plays with McNamara going 15 yards for the score. A pass for the conversion was no good.

Weymouth roared back and on the first play following the kickoff, Sylvester broke through a big hole and outran the North defenders, sprinting 75 yards for his fourth TD.

Rick Scanlon scored the game's final touchdown on a 41-yard run midway through the final quarter. Scott Brooks kicked the point.

Late in the game the teams swapped turnovers as North recovered two Weymouth fumbles and the Wildcats intercepted two North passes.

Estimated 2,000 Turn Out For First Night Game

Officials were extremely pleased with the turnout at last Friday's North Quincy-Weymouth South game, the first night schoolboy game ever in Quincy.

"This proved night ball will go over here," said Director of Athletics Marty Finnegan. "We estimated nearly 2000 were here and this is by far the biggest crowd in a good many years with the exception of Thanksgiving to see a game in Quincy.

"And we are proud of the way the students behaved. The police reported a couple of incidents but nothing serious developed and everyone did himself proud. There were a few complaints that the lighting wasn't the best and there were several spots on the field where it was hard to see. We hope to have more candlepower for Friday night's Quincy-Cambridge game. Of course, there is a big difference between temporary and permanent lights.

"Weymouth brought a good crowd. We don't expect as many from Cambridge and it will be up to the Quincy fans to make sure we have another big crowd. I know they will respond."

North-Milton Game On WJDA

Radio Station WJDA will begin its extensive coverage of schoolboy football games Saturday with Charlie Ross doing the play-by-play and Paul Carroll doing the color this fall.

The duo will do the play-by-play of the North Quincy at Milton game at 1:30 and the Columbus at Abp. Williams contest at 10 a.m. They also will bring in progress reports of Boston Latin at Hingham.

WJDA will do the play-by-play of 18 games this season as well as giving reports of 30 other contests.

Close Games Highlight Youth Soccer Action

The Quincy Youth Soccer League continues to afford the fans plenty of excitement and many more close and interesting games were played last weekend.

In Division I, boys under 8, Wood Building blanked H.P. Goodman, 3-2, as Eric Wood scored twice and Peter Connolly once. Pat Stedman, Dan Toland and Brian Schnable had assists. For Goodman Russell Corner, Dan DiPolo and William Sullivan played well.

North Girls Open X-Country Season

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team opened its season yesterday (Wednesday) and sought its 33rd straight dual meet victory when it met Cambridge Rindge and Latin over the Quincy course.

The Raiderettes, Eastern Mass. champions for the last five years and the perennial Suburban League champs, will face Brockton next Wednesday over the Quincy course. North was 8-0 in the league last fall.

"I have a new job as coordinator of special education for the Quincy schools and my assistant, John Furey, is handling much of the practice time, but the kids have been very understanding, especially since we usually practice at 5 o'clock," said Coach Lou Tozzi, who has had an amazing record since taking over the girls' reins.

Tozzi has six of last year's seven varsity runners back.

The top runner, junior Tricia Barrett, was a Herald, Globe and Patriot Ledger all-scholastic last season, was fourth in the Eastern Mass. Division 1 championships and seventh in the all-state meet. Tozzi feels she is still improving and should be one of the best in Eastern Mass. again.

Senior Mary Ann Keller, injured most of last year, was the Suburban League champion in 1983 and was fourth last fall. Currently recovering from mononucleosis, she will be ready in time for the late season big meets.

Senior Tricia Leary is much improved, was eighth in the league last fall and was an Eastern Mass. medalist in spring track last spring. "She could be the surprise runner in the league this year," said Tozzi.

Junior Leanne Fitzgerald is better known for her track performance, but is also an excellent cross-country runner, finishing fifth in the league in 1984.

Senior Sharon Barrett, a three-year veteran, is often overlooked because of her teammates' success, but is a solid performer.

Also trying for varsity spots are veteran sophomore Colleen Toland, sophomore Maureen Furey, John's sister; veteran sophomores Stacy Welch, Patti Feeney and Caryn Collings, senior Theresa Collings, getting in shape for track, freshman Bridget Toland and freshman Karen Cashman, also getting in shape for track.

"We should be very strong again this year," Tozzi said. "This is a hard working, motivated group of nice kids who aren't afraid to pay the price to be successful. We'll represent North Quincy High School well again."

Softball Marathon Raises $12,000 For Easter Seals

More than $12,000 was raised to benefit Easter Seals during the recent Bud Light Easter Seal softball marathon at Kincaide Park in Quincy.

The team raising the most money was Pearl Vision of Hanover, managed by Dottie Short. Its total contribution of $1060 entitled each player to commemorative marathon T-shirts, caps, sports wallets and a team dinner at a South Shore restaurant.

Numerous other prizes were awarded following the weekend action.

Quincy teams competing were South Shore Bank, Kemper Insurance, Osco Drug, the Patriot Ledger and Boston Financial Data.

The money raised by the marathon will be used to fund Easter Seal programs and services to persons with disabilities throughout Greater Boston.

Two Schools Share $3,250 In Arts Grants

Two Quincy schools will benefit by $3,250 in funding from the Cultural Education Collaborative's Institute for the Arts.

State Rep. Thomas P. Brownell (D-Quincy), said the Snug Harbor elementary school in Germantown and the Broad Meadows middle school will each receive a $1,625 grant from the Institute for the purpose of providing an Artist-in-Residence at the schools.

Snug Harbor will be receiving the services of a sculptor and Broad Meadows that of a theatre arts specialist.

Brownell said he was pleased that Quincy, and particularly two schools in his legislative district, have been acknowledged in this manner by the Cultural Education Collaborative's Institute for the Arts.

"In recognizing the essential role that arts education plays in the growth and development of our children, continued support is needed throughout the Commonwealth," Brownell said.

Gym/Swim Program Starts Oct. 1

Clare Answell

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 19, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
 Details are of the utmost importance. Be especially careful if filling out forms or signing on dotted lines. Romantic relationship becomes more carefree. Friends are outspoken but earnest.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
 Loved ones are hard to contact or hard to please - but you're preoccupied with career and/or academic activities. Travel planning is accentuated. Small financial gains highlight the period.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
 Avoid hasty decisions, especially if making a major purchase. Clash with relatives can be avoided thanks to diplomacy on your part. You're more creative than organized this week.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
 Much activity is happening behind the scenes as people in high places observe your manner and your abilities. Work hard to avoid missing deadlines. Children offer bright suggestions.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
 Leadership skills are at a peak, and gift of gab wins enthusiastic - and influential - admirers. Friend may indulge in petty arguments but the situation is strictly temporary.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
 Travel ideas benefit from discussion with a professional in the field. Self-confidence soars, but self-indulgent streak may surface. Good week for taking courses in the arts.

LEO - July 23-August 22
 Thursday/Monday may find you engaged in a battle of the wits. Romance offers new opportunity for friendship or romance. Freedom-loving friend becomes a little less independent.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
 Relationships with colleagues improve noticeably and romance takes a turn in a happier direction. Older relative is easy to please. Legal matters are spotlighted after weekend.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
 Creativity can lead to profit by the end of this period. Patience is stretched at work when a colleague appoints himself your critic. Personal project gets the green light.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
 Your influence is strong in areas where it matters. Companion shows a gentler side and is more receptive to your suggestions. Facts you've been waiting for arrive by Wednesday.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
 Domestic situation becomes more complicated, then eases up. Friends arrive early all weekend long. Plans are delayed after Monday. Older relative shows a more generous side.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
 Outspoken colleague becomes an important ally. Unconventional suggestions win the ear of an important higherup. Romantic partner may be frivolous. Mechanical difficulties need professional review.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
 You're a charming and gracious host, you adore the finer things in life, you are a born romantic. You tend to be glib too, which can prove a weakness in the coming months. Superb business opportunities present themselves, but you must be able to identify the truly realistic ones.

BORN THIS WEEK
 September 19th, actress Rosemary Harris; 20th, actress Sophia Loren; 21st, actor Larry Hagman; 22nd, actor Scott Baio; 23rd, singer Ray Charles; 24th, actor Anthony Newley; 25th, actor Aldo Ray.

CITY OF QUINCY, MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

Third Party Financing for Energy Efficiency Improvements

The City of Quincy acting through its Commissioner of Public Works requests proposals for the implementation of energy efficiency improvements and the service and management of all H.V.A.C. equipment in three city buildings on a performance contracting basis. Specifically, the contractor selected as a result of this Request for Proposals (RFP) will be expected to:

1. Provide comprehensive energy services for the three city buildings, including (a) the performance of energy audits, (b) the design, selection and installation of energy efficient equipment and systems, (c) the maintenance and servicing of the installed measures, and (d) the Provisions of financing for the transaction and
2. Structure the terms of the City's payment obligation for these improvements and services on a performance contracting basis. Payments from the City to the contractor should be based in some fashion on the level of energy savings achieved in the city's buildings and payments should not exceed energy savings during any given time period.
3. The proposal process will have two stages. During the first stage, respondents will be asked to submit a "Preliminary Proposal." Three respondents will be selected as finalists based on the Contractor's qualifications, experience, and general ability to provide services and maintain the energy efficiency improvements based on the contractor's bid on the hypothetical project described in this RFP. The three finalists will be asked to prepare a "final proposal." The City will then select a single contractor to provide energy efficiency improvements and services for three city buildings, based on the specific energy efficiency measures they prepare, the costs and benefits attributable to these measures and the terms of their transaction with the City.

4. Proposals must be received in the Commissioner's Office at 55 Sea Street, Quincy, MA on or before October 23, 1985 at 10:00 A.M.

All proposals are to be submitted in a sealed envelope or package marked Innovative Financing Proposal for October 23, 1985 at 10:00 A.M. At the time of contract award, the contractor will be required to provide a performance bond equal to 100% of the fixed fee, and will be required to sign and date an access to books and records addendum.

Preliminary and final proposals will be submitted in ten (10) copies as a deliverable item against the resulting contract.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of ten dollars ($10.00) for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 10 days of the bid opening. Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for ten dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover the mailing and handling.

The City of Quincy reserves the right to waive any informalities in, or reject any or all proposals, if it is in the City of Quincy's best interest to do so.

Mayor

City Wins Status Approval From Park Service

Mayor Francis McCauley announces that Quincy's application for certified local government status has received final approval from the National Park Service. The application was submitted by the Quincy Historical Commission and the City Planning Department last February.

The Certified Local Government (CLG) program is a federal program designed to extend the state and federal preservation partnership to the local level, said the mayor. CLG status provides Quincy with the opportunity to enhance the local government's role in preservation by formalizing and strengthening the local preservation program and its links with the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC), he said.

As a CLG, Quincy is eligible to apply to the State Historic Preservation Officer for matching funds earmarked for certified local governments. The MHC is required to set aside at least 10% of its federal operating funds for use by CLGs.

The opportunity for increased funding provides CLG communities with an advantage over uncertified communities, which must compete for funding through a particular grant cycle, according to McCauley.

The funds from this cycle vary from year to year while the CLG set-aside is a required annual allocation.

An example of the potential of this program is the $8,000 matching grant recently awarded to Quincy by the MHC, McCauley said. This survey and planning grant will fund a comprehensive survey and inventory of culturally and historically significant properties throughout Quincy.

Participation in the CLG program provides a useful mechanism for the clarification of the duties and responsibilities of the local historical district commission, and encourages coordinated communication with MHC, according to McCauley. Thus, CLG status represents a valuable opportunity for Quincy to strengthen and expand its local preservation program, he said.

As a certified local government, Quincy, along with the Quincy Historical Commission, will be responsible for assisting in the preparation of nominations of properties to the National Register of Historic Places.

In addition, they will now review the National Register nominations for local approval, and then present them to the State Review Board for final consideration, McCauley said.

Quincy Woman's Relatives Safe In Mexico Earthquake

By DAN CONNELLY

A Quincy woman who grew up in Mexico City has learned after hours of anguish that her three brothers are alive and well following last Thursday's two killer earthquakes.

Mrs. Dora Papile, 26, of 85 Quincy Shore Drive received the long-awaited telephone call Monday from her married sister who lives in Cordoba, on the other side of the country. With Dora when the news came was her husband, John, 27, a cook at the Wheelhouse Diner, North Quincy, and their two daughters, Aurora, 3, and Yesenia, 18 months.

"I had this inner feeling that they all were alive. I kept telling myself they were safe. But, as the days passed and we had no positive word, well, it was hard not giving in and fearing the worst. The uncertainty of not knowing what happened to them was consuming me. But that's all over now that Cecilia called," Dora said.

The day following the quakes, her sister and husband drove the three hours over the road to Mexico City to check on their relatives. After assuring themselves everyone was all right, they returned to Cordoba (Vera Cruz). But, efforts to make telephone or other communication contact were fruitless until after three days of trying.

Three of Dora's brothers live in Col Marte, a suburb just an eight minute drive from where the quake damage was most severe.

During the agonizing wait for news of her brothers safety, Dora at least knew that her parents and other sister were safe.

On their way to Europe from Mexico, her parents had visited the Papiles at their Quincy home before departing for Spain. A younger sister who had spent the summer with Dora and John, flew to Europe with her parents.

Four other brothers live in Acapulco. Seven of the 10 children are attorneys, as is Dora's father.

While the Papiles relaxed, knowing their relatives in Mexico City are safe, others not so fortunate continue to ask about friends and relatives who were there when disaster struck.

One Quincy agency keeping on top of this situation by continuing to keep a line of communication open with the cooperation of ham radio operators and the U.S. State Department, is the Quincy Civil Defense.

Anthony Siciliano, Deputy Director, said shortly after the disaster struck in Mexico City his agency established this hot line number-472-6118—and, it was broadcast each hour over Quincy radio station WJDA.

"When someone calls us seeking information, we make direct contact with the American Radio League of the South Shore," Siciliano said. "They then use their lines of communication. So far we have had over 400 responses back from Mexico," he said.

Siciliano said his agency will be accepting calls Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. if anyone is trying to contact relatives or friends in Mexico City.

Mrs. Papile, who moved to the Papiles in 1981 with her husband, whom she met in Mexico, accepts earthquakes as a part of life in Mexico.

Group Goes To Washington For Ship Work

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A group of Quincy and union officials travelled to Washington, D.C., Tuesday to lobby for contracts so that General Dynamics can keep its local shipyard open as a shipbuilding facility.

Mrs. Condon said the group was to meet with the Congressional leadership and administration officials.

She said she went "to persuade our national leaders of the importance of the shipbuilding industry to Quincy and to our nation's security."

McCauley said, "the success of the union and city officials' efforts really lie with the Reagan administration. It's a policy decision."

"The domestic shipbuilding market is dead - there's no subsidizing. The Navy has started to get to the point where it has enough ships. "The day may come where we may need yards that are shut down. We could find ourselves in trouble."

McCauley forwarded a letter to Reagan citing the shipyard's contribution to both national defense as well as the national economy.

He stated that the announced closing of the Quincy Shipyard is a devastating blow in terms of jobs and taxes, and cited its significance in a national sense.

However, Mrs. Condon characterized McCauley's letter as "too little, too late." "Once again, the Mayor is playing politics with the issue of the shipyard," she said.

"Anyone can write a letter. Since the shipyard announced the closing, I've been working with the union leaders and federal legislators, and the Governor in a united effort to keep the shipyard open as a shipbuilding facility."

"The last letter the Mayor wrote was to Toyota to have them take over the shipyard. I am pleased that the Mayor has finally come around to my point of view."

Board 'Choked' On Shelter Says McCauley

Mayor Francis McCauley says that the Quincy License Board "didn't really do the job" on deciding whether or not to locate a shelter for the homeless on Foster St. in Quincy Center.

"They choked on it, quite frankly. One of the members said it's up to the mayor," said McCauley last Friday at a meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association. "I said it's not my decision."

The License Board has voted to continue the matter to Oct. 22, at the request of Atty. Matthew J. McDonnell, who is representing the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition which would like to use the Knights of Columbus building at 25 Foster St.

McCauley was responding to a question from George Montillo of Montillo's Bakery who asked why the city is in favor of the shelter if the businessmen are against it.

"This group has raised some questions as to what will happen (if the shelter goes on Foster St.)," McCauley said.

"We would watch it very closely and expect the coalition to run it properly."

"It's a no-win situation," said the mayor, "we all recognize there is a problem in the area."

"But we don't want the solution right up the street from us."

"We voted against the shelter," said Montillo, "I feel the administration should've supported us, but it let us down.

"There are a lot of hard feelings, and that's bad business."

"I don't think (Foster St.) is the right place for a shelter."

Mrs. Helen Cook of Tag's Furniture asked whether the registry of Motor Vehicles on Broad St. might be available for use as a shelter.

The building is owned by the city, said McCauley, and could be considered as a site for a shelter if it became available. It is not available now though, he said.

McCauley also said that the Quincy City Hospital board of managers has voted to consider allowing the coalition to use Faxon House as a site for the homeless for the winter.

Tax Bills Prepared On City's Own Computer

Mayor Francis McCauley announces that Quincy is preparing the real estate and personal property tax bills this year on its own in-house computer system.

For the past six years, they have been prepared at a service bureau for approximately $35,000 per year, according to the mayor.

In addition to the preparation of the bills, the payments will also be processed on the in-house computer systems, said McCauley.

New teller terminals and receipt printers have been installed in the collector's office. These terminals will verify and record all transactions as they occur for daily updating of outstanding balancing, he said.

The new bill is a self-mailer, and it has its own envelope. The bills will be printed in zip code order so they can be mailed at 18 cents instead of 22 cents each. This alone will save the city $1,800 annually in postage, McCauley said.

Inside each mailer will be two copies of the tax bill. The taxpayer is requested to bring both copies of the tax bill, if payment is made in person, or to mail both copies to the mortgage holder, if taxes are in escrow (included with your monthly mortgage payment).

Payments via mail are to include one copy of your bill—your cancelled check will be your receipt. The collector's office will be unable to take payment unless you have at least one copy of your bill, McCauley said.

You will not be able to obtain a receipted copy of your bill unless you bring both copies of your bill, he said.

If your bill is lost before payment is made, you will have to go to the assessor's office to look up your bill number and then have a copy of your bill printed by the collector's office before payment is made, according to the mayor.

This new system has been developed and programmed by the city's data processing staff, under the direction of Robert Brennan, Director of Data Processing. A handout with a step by step payment procedure will be available.

Liberty Sq. Park To Be Rededicated Saturday

William Boverini, Majority Leader of the Massachusetts Senate, will be guest speaker at the rededication of the Liberty Square Park Memorial Saturday, Sept. 28, at 11 a.m. in South Quincy.

Sen. Boverini has served as the Senator from Lynn for over a decade. His leadership roles include not only his present position as Majority Whip, but he was also Chairman of the Senate Joint Committee on Education. He represents the city of Lynn and several North Shore communities.

Various veterans posts in Quincy will form a color guard. An honor guard will also participate, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps. The Eastern Nazarene College Brass Ensemble will provide the music.

Following the dedication ceremonies, the first South Quincy Italian Festival will begin at Malnati's Block. It will feature music, dancing and various kinds of Italian foods.

Following the rededication ceremony, there will be a children's program of games, prizes and refreshments at Grasso Park, Columbia St.

City officials have been challenged to a Bocce game by the Bocce Club at 2 p.m. Saturday. Councillors Joseph J. LaRaia and Theodore P. DeCristofaro have been asked to be co-captains of the city officials' Bocce team, according to council.

This is the first South Quincy Italian Festival. The committee, under the leadership of Alba Tocci and with the cooperation of the Bocce Club, hopes to make it an annual event.

Marilyn Sullivan Named Land Court Chief Justice

A Quincy resident has become the first woman chief justice of any Massachusetts court.

Marilyn M. Sullivan, 62, of Albion Road, was appointed chief justice of the state Land Court by the state Supreme Court. She will serve a five year term and replace retiring Chief Justice William R. Randall of Framingham.

"I think everyone is encouraged by the fact that the role of women jurists is being recognized," she said.

Born in Portsmouth, N.H., her family moved to Quincy in 1932. She grew up in Wollaston and was graduated first in her class from North Quincy High School in 1941.

A magna cum laude graduate of Radcliff College in 1944, she served for two years in the women's branch of the Navy.

After being graduated from Columbia Law School in 1949, she returned to Quincy. She passed the bar later that year and began working as a law clerk for the state Supreme Court.

Quincy Delegation Votes 2-1 Against Gay Rights Bill

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Quincy legislators voted 2 to 1 Monday against a gay rights bill which was rejected in the Massachusetts House by a vote of 88 to 65.

Reps. Michael Morrissey and Robert Cerasoli voted against the bill which would have extended state discrimination laws to protect homosexuals.

Rep. Thomas Brownell voted for it. "This is a position that I have long had," he said. "I firmly believe that a vote for discrimination is a bad vote."

The action, which reversed a close vote of two years ago, followed a debate with frequent references to AIDS.

"I didn't find it one of the easier votes to make," said Morrissey, who didn't vote on the bill two years ago, but voted against it four years ago.

"Proponents tried to raise it as a piece of civil rights legislation."

"But I am not in agreement that sexual preference should be put on the same level as race, religion and discrimination based on sex-male or female.

"Concern over AIDS was brought up numerous times in debate. A lot of people's votes may have been affected by their concern over the spread of AIDS. It wasn't a factor in my decision."

"The bill had passed by a close vote in prior years. I believe it didn't pass this year because of the AIDS controversy and the foster parent issue."

"Fear of AIDS could lead to discrimination. If it does, then the House will have to take another look at it."

Cerasoli, who voted for the bill two years ago, said he was very strongly opposed to the legislation that was brought on the floor. He also said the timing wasn't appropriate.

"I feel very strongly that the issue is more complicated than in the past. Some public health issues are of concern, and the bill in no way addressed any of those issues."

"I'm not for discrimination against anyone. I feel very strongly that people shouldn't be discriminated against because of sexual preference."

"But to take and put that into law and word it properly is another thing. The bill before us in no way properly deal with the issue."

"I voted 'no' because we have to explore the issue more."

Brownell said, "I don't think people should be discriminated against in terms of employment, housing and credit."

"It's a logical extension of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and dates back to 1871 regarding the unfettered, unalterable policy of the government to outlaw discrimination of all kinds."

"Gay rights legislation deals with a problem that exists. People do discriminate against gays. To say there is no problem is sticking your head in the sand."

"That's the issue as I've always seen it and there has been no new evidence that it is something other than discrimination. I didn't see where AIDS was connected."

Lodging House Gets Approval

Caritas Communities, Inc.'s plans for a lodging house at 6-8 Mechanic St., Quincy Center, will soon become a reality as the Licensing Board granted the group's request at its meeting Tuesday.

The board did stipulate, however, that there will be off-street parking and the house must meet the requirements of the inspection team.

"The number of cars should be limited to the number of parking spaces there," said Police Chief and board member Francis Finn.

There is a parking lot permit for 12 cars for the house which is zoned Business C.

According to Leo Corcoran, president of Caritas Communities, Inc., which is located at 21 Gay St., Quincy Center, the house has 13 rooms, which includes a three room apartment. There will be a live-in manager for supervision, he added.

Shared Living Home For Seniors Approved

By LINDA WILKINS
The Protestant Social Service Bureau (PSSB) was granted permission Tuesday by the License Board to have a shared living home for senior citizens at 49 Newcomb St., Quincy Point.

The board, in granting a lodging house license to the PSSB, stipulated that the house must meet all of the requirements of the inspection team and that a maximum of two cars be allowed for the residents.

The home would be a living space where five residents, each of whom have his or her own bedroom, would share household costs and responsibilities, said Robert Taylor, executive director of PSSB. Taylor added that PSSB hopes to have the first three residents moved in by Oct. 1.

"When we have all of the requirements met for a lodging house license, we'll move the others in," Taylor said. "Our goal is to have all of the residents moved in within a month."

The board had voted to continue the request so the building plans, zoning, and parking situation could be checked.

According to Taylor, the building, fire, and health departments did inspect the building, but Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald said he was still concerned with the parking situation and wanted to ascertain that the building was approved by the inspection team.

"We have to be reassured that anyone who has a car there isn't parking on the streets," MacDonald said.

Taylor said prospective residents must be 62 years old to qualify to live in the home. He added that they would all be single and able people who could do work for themselves.

The house consists of five bedrooms, a kitchen, which would be shared by the residents, two living rooms (one on each floor) and two bathrooms.

Linda Palmer, who joined PSSB last October, will be shared living coordinator for the home. She will not live on the premises, but "will meet with residents from time to time," Taylor said.

Some of the residents may be qualified for subsidized housing, Taylor said, adding that the PSSB is working closely with the Housing Authority.

"This is a great concept if it's done right, and I'm certain it will be," said City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis.

Special Celebration For John Adams' 250th Birthday

A committee has been formed to plan a celebration in honor of John Adams' 250th birthday.

It includes Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Sen. Paul D. Harold, Councillor Patricia M. Toland, Dr. Cynthia Edson, pastor, United First Parish Church; members of the Quincy Historical Society, the Quincy Historic District Commission, several members of the business community as well as staff members from the city's Department of Planning and Community Development.

The committee is planning festivities Sunday, Oct. 20, and Wednesday, Oct. 30.

Paul Nagel, author of "Descent from Glory" will speak from the pulpit at United First Parish Church Oct. 20, at 4 p.m. Nagel's topic will be "Historic Reflections".

Following his presentation, a reception will take place at the United First Parish Church Hall.

William Flavin, United First Parish Church historian, will speak at a wreath laying ceremony Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 10 a.m., also at the church. All are invited.

John Adams was born Oct. 19, 1735 in Braintree, which is now Quincy. He celebrated his 17th and ensuing birthdays Oct. 30.

The explanation is that Great Britain and all her colonies switched from the Julian calendar, (named for its sponsor, Julius Caesar), to the Gregorian calendar, (named for Pope Gregory), in September 1752, to pick up 11 days that had gradually become lost in time.

John Adams was the second President of the United States, a member of the Continental Congress and an author of the Massachusetts Constitution.

For further information, Peter Kenney, Executive Secretary to Mayor McCauley, can be contacted at 773-1380, ext. 304.

Other members of the committee are Charles Pearce, chairman of the board, Quincy Savings Bank; Robert Grant, president, National Fire Protection Association; H. Hobart Holly, historian, Quincy Historical Society; Joyce I. Baker, chairman, Quincy Historic District Commission; John Osterman, superintendent, Quincy Public Schools; Lawrence Yordon, executive director, Quincy Historical Society; Robert Brunwell, Braintree Town Clerk; Eric Memillo, Montilio's Bakery; Claire D. McGill, Roberta M. Fitzgerald, and Elizabeth A. McEleney, all of the Quincy Department of Planning and Community Development.

Reader's Forum Criticizes Mayor

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

In lieu of the fact that I serve on the Republican Quincy City Committee and the fact that the incumbent Mayor of Quincy, Frank McCauley, is Republican, I was asked by a number of the pro-life picketers at Quincy City Hospital to request from the mayor his present public position on abortion at that hospital.

A number of pro-lifers had written the mayor and received non-answers in return. No one knows either the personal opinion or public posture of this big city mayor who has a public hospital in his community.

I wrote the mayor a letter requesting information as to where he stood on this controversial issue back in August and received no reply. I wrote again after the recent election and received a terse acknowledgement of receipt of my correspondence. Two short paragraphs that told me nothing except my letters had been forwarded on to the City Solicitor.

As a Quincy resident, taxpayer and Republican, I believe a mayor should be more responsive to those who take the time to request information. Politicians rarely like to be put on the carpet and would rather people stay quiet in the background.

I guess I could be considered a Single-Issue Voter. If a politician remains evasive and non-responsive, then I won't vote for him or her. If a politician elected by the people won't take a stand one way or the other, then I consider that an overriding issue at election time.

As a Republican activist, I believe elected representatives of the people must listen and respond to issues that arise. It is bad enough when Democrats pull this sort of thing but when a member of your own party does it, that hurts.

I plan to vote in November and when I do I will remember the kind of courtesy I received from my mayor and that will be reflected in my choice for mayor.

Voting Machines Save $4,000

When the final results were in the night of the city preliminary election, City Clerk John Gillis put a match to a long cigar, blew a cloud of smoke into the air and smiled.

Like Red Auerbach when the Celtics win an NBA title in the seventh game, this was a big victory night for Gillis.

For 25 years he had been championing the use of voting machines in Quincy.

Finally, he had them and they had just passed their first test — with flying colors.

Despite a computer power problem at the outset and another bug with four precincts to go, the final results were official by 10:15 p.m.

A far cry from past election nights in Quincy when the final two or three precincts would drag in around 4, 5, or 6 a.m. — the next morning. And, sometimes, even later.

Without the two problem bugs, the election might have been completely wrapped up by 9 p.m.

Gillis had been after voting machines since 1960, contending they would not only speed up the vote count but would pay for themselves and then save the city money.

GILLIS

He went to several mayors but the machines didn't materialize. Finally, he played the tune to Mayor Francis McCauley, a former banker who appreciates computers and is all ears when someone has a suggestion for saving money . . . his or the city's.

The 500 punch card machines used in the preliminary election — the first non-paper ballot election in the city's history — cost $158,000.

Gillis says they are already on the way to paying for themselves.

He figures they saved the city roughly $4,000 in costs for the preliminary election and will save another $4,000 in the Nov. 5 final election. He expects the savings to be $15,000 in next year's state election.

Because of the machines some 312 election workers — about eight to each of the 39 precincts — were not needed.

The traditional warden, clerk and four inspectors were maintained in each precinct. And Gillis added for this year's elections a demonstrator in each precinct in case voters needed to be familiarized with the new machines.

Speeding up the tabulation by computer also reduced overtime pay to police and school custodians.

"In six years, these machines will have paid for themselves," says Gillis. "And then the savings after that will go to the city."

As he looks back on it now, he thinks maybe it is just as well the city didn't buy the lever type machine then in vogue in 1960.

"They would have cost about $400,000 then," he says. "Those same type machines today would cost nearly $1 million," he estimates.

price.

Not only do the punch card machines and computer speed up the tabulation, they also provide a running total, precinct by precinct.

Whatever other bows McCauley may take by the time he leaves office, he can say his administration modernized the voting process in Quincy.

On behalf of members of the working press who have spent many an election night watching the sun come up, we would like to add this comment:

McCauley and Gillis have taken the city out of the dark ages.

The Campaign to Re-elect Patricia Toland Councillor-at-Large will hold a dance Friday, Oct. 4, at 8 P.M. at Knights of Columbus Hall, North Quincy.

Alicia Gardner and Mario Traficante, are chairmen. Music will be by Speakeasy, which plays Dixie land, Swing and other type music.

Tickets are $10 apiece and may be obtained by calling Alicia Gardner at 328-9382 or Gloria Noble at 472-5613.

TOLAND

RON IACOBucci was at the White House the other day to present a portrait of President Ronald Reagan painted by Ottavio Peruzzi of West Quincy.

It was in appreciation of Reagan's effort in behalf of missing children. Iacobucci works with a non-profit group that tries to locate missing children.

Iacobucci gave the painting to former State Rep. Andrew Card of Holbrook, now a special assistant to Reagan, to give to the President.

It happened to be Iacobucci's birthday and Card, in turn, presented Iacobucci with a Presidential tie clip.

The tie clip is a sort of status symbol around Washington.

Incidentally, Iacobucci was named after Reagan who was his mother Elena's favorite actor.

SMILE DEPT: At the recent Houghs Neck Candidates Night, Councillor at-large Richard Koch, Jr. was asked what effect on the city might there be if he and his brother, Tom, candidate for the Ward 6 seat, were both on the City Council together.

Koch said there would be problems because they are two different people, with different ideas and don't always agree on everything.

Koch then added that Mayor Francis McCauley had kidded him about it.

"Dick," McCauley said, "it's too bad you don't also have a brother named Harry. Then you could have a Tom, Dick and Harry on the City Council."

It got a good laugh.

Low Interest Energy Loans Available

Applications are being taken for low interest energy loans for up to $5,000 to eligible homeowners living in southwest Quincy.

According to Gary O'Brien, Neighborhood Coordinator for the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services (NHS), 266 Water St., where applications for this program will be taken, the agency has been awarded money from The Riley Foundation to establish this type of revolving loan fund for energy conservation purposes.

To be eligible, one must live in a home in the agency's target area of southwest Quincy, and applicants must not exceed the following guidelines for family size and maximum gross income:

Size 1 - Gross Income -
$18,000; 2-$20,700; 3-$23,250;
4-$25,850; 5-$27,450; 6-$29,100; 7-$30,700, and 8-$32,300.

Landlords are also eligible if fifty percent of their tenants meet these guidelines.

These loans will be given at five percent interest for a period of five years. Homeowners participating in the program will see a significant fuel savings which will help them repay the loan, said O'Brien.

Quincy NHS also administers a low-interest revolving loan fund to residents in southwest Quincy in need of home rehabilitation. In an effort to revitalize neighborhood pride and confidence, a Community Relations Committee has been formed and is actively involved in community issues. It is open to any residents interested in the overall improvement of southwest Quincy.

The Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services office is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The pay phone near the ticket counter at the Greyhound Bus Terminal in downtown Chicago, is, according to phone company researchers, the most heavily used in the United States, averaging 270 calls a day. Most pay phones average about eighteen.

Hospital Plan Runs Into Snag

Plans for the $75 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital have hit a stumbling block.

The City Council, after a motion by Councilor John Lydon, voted to refer to its Ordinance Committee the mayor's veto of a Council order proposing rezoning of the hospital site from Residence C to Planned Unit Development.

"It puts the hospital on hold until the council acts, or doesn't act," said City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie.

"It leaves them up in the air because they don't know what zoning they will have to follow."

MacRitchie, noted that the council has until the end of its session in December to act or not act on the matter.

However, Councilor Ly-don said he hopes the council will act at its next meeting.

Lydon said he referred the matter to the Ordinance Committee because some of the language in the material was not understood by some of the councilors.

At the last council meeting, Lydon said he was offended by the tone of a Quincy City Hospital letter which he said alluded that the council may be obstructionists.

The council had passed the PUD for the hospital site so that it could have control over construction plans.

The mayor said he issued the first veto of his administration because "delays caused by the PUD process would significantly increase the overall cost of the project."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Della Chiesa Critical Of Taxpayers Group

Mayor Amelia Della Chiesa charged that the Quincy Taxpayers Association had become a "political organization" by endorsing candidates for the Plan F City Council.

"In the current issue of 'Tips on Taxes,' the monthly publication of the association, the organization has in substance done nothing less than endorse a slate of candidates," he said.

"Seven candidates are mentioned in a favorable light and no mention is made of the other 14 candidates seeking election to the City Council."

Della Chiesa was not one of those mentioned.

YACHT YARD GOES PRIVATE

Edward D. Whiting, president and general manager of the Quincy Adams Yacht yard, announced that the company will return to building pleasure crafts after 15 years of primarily government work.

Whiting said the yard had contracts to build a 68-foot diesel twin-screw power boat and an 85-foot auxiliary schooner and was negotiating to build two more luxury yachts.

Value of the four contracts would be $750,000.

CIVIL DEFENSE DEFICIENT

Major Franklin G. Woodward, Air Force coordinator for Massachusetts, told a Rotary luncheon that Quincy lacks air raid wardens and does not have enough volunteers for its Ground Observer Corps.

"If we are to preserve the American way of life, each one of us must find some place in the civil defense setup of our community," he said.

STUDY CITES CITY WORKERS

A study by the U.S. Census Bureau showed that Quincy had more municipal employees than most other cities in the over 10,000 population class.

The census figures showed that Quincy had 1,848 city workers, or 21.3 for every 1,000 population, compared to the average of 12.9 for a thousand other American big cities.

QJC's Future Still Undecided

The future of Quincy Junior College appears to still be undecided, but two state senate officials have said they will do whatever they can to ensure the continuation of QJC.

Gerald D'Amico, Senate Chairman of the Education Committee, said QJC has his full support, according to Senator Paul Harold.

Senate President William Bulger wants to be helpful in a resolution of the state's role in the future of QJC, whether that means as it currently exists or as an independent community college, Harold said.

Harold said he met with QJC president Clayton

Johnson last week in Boston to discuss the junior college's options with regard to funding and the long-range future.

At Harold's initiative, Sen. William Golden as well as D'Amico and Bulger joined the two in an impromptu meeting in the senate reception room.

Options were discussed which will be brought back to the school committee, the college's governing body, according to Harold.

Johnson has affirmed that his position on the matter remains the same as the school committee's—that the college ought to seek financial aid from the commonwealth but not that it merge.

McCauley's Letter On Shipyard

The following is a letter sent by the Mayor to President Reagan regarding the Quincy Shipyard closing.

"Recently, General Dynamics Shipbuilding Division announced the closing of its 180-acre facility in Quincy, Massachusetts. General Dynamics is both the city's largest employer as well as our single largest taxpayer. Needless to say, this is a devastating blow to our community in terms of both jobs and tax revenue.

"Being a former businessman and bank president, I share with you a deep appreciation for conservative economic principles. With this background I do not write this letter lightly. However, I do believe that shipbuilding is not a typical case of free market enterprise.

"Foreign shipyards, particularly those of Korea and Japan, with the assistance of their governments, have come to dominate the world shipbuilding industry. American shipping firms can and do regularly make purchases from these yards because their government assisted pricing structure is far more competitive than that of their American counterparts.

"All of the American subsidy programs which assisted our yards in world competition, unlike those of our foreign counterparts, have been cut. The results of this are that there are no private purchases being made and the United States Military is our yards only customer.

"Both Quincy and Massachusetts are heavily dependent upon the jobs and taxes provided by General Dynamics as are other states and municipalities that house shipbuilding facilities. Quincy is the first to announce a closing, but I feel certain that it will be followed by others unless a national policy is developed to foster shipbuilding.

"I ask for your help and intervention to keep the Quincy Yard open and shipbuilding as a competitive national industry. It is my belief that any active, competitive shipbuilding industry is essential for not only a healthy national economy but also for a sound national defense policy."

Francis X. McCauley

Emergency Medical Services Week

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed the week of Sept. 29 to Oct. 5 as Emergency Medical Services Week.

The ninth annual Emergency Medical Services Week is being sponsored by the Office of Emergency Medical Services of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health in cooperation with the American College of Emergency Physicians, said McCauley.

"Our emergency medical services system provides life-saving care for citizens in need in every city and town of Massachusetts and is a vital and essential service to the citizens of our communities," according to McCauley.

ELEPHANTS NEVER FORGET, especially special occasions like the 90th birthday of Nora Gosbee of Wollaston.

Nora Gosbee Celebrates 90th Birthday

It's not every day that a pink elephant arrives to wish you a happy birthday, but then it's not every day that people like Nora Gosbee of Wollaston celebrate their 90th birthday.

To mark the occasion, Delaney Realtors at 12 Beach St. held a surprise party for Mrs. Gosbee who is their tenant at 10 Beach

St. The pink elephant was a special surprise.

Mrs. Gosbee, was born Sept. 7, 1895 in Boston. She is the mother of four children, Leona Ramsey of Quincy, Barbara Blanchard, who with her husband, Vernon, lives with Mrs. Gosbee; Althea Erickson of Braintree and the late Gwen Hennebury.

"Nora is quite a whistler," said Stephen Downing, manager of Delaney Realtors. "She does many performances for Quincy Senior Citizens and has performed with Baron Hugo."

Mrs. Gosbee also participates in activities of the Quincy Senior Citizens, Drop-In Center, Quincy Sq., and Granite City Grange.

RITA KELIEHER and her committee have already cleaned, dressed and prepared these dolls for delivery by the Koch Club to boys and girls at Christmas.

Koch Club Readies For Christmas

The Koch Club Christmas Charity Committee are getting an early start on Christmas.

Rita Kelleher and her committee have already cleaned, dressed and prepared several dozen dolls for delivery to boys and girls during the yule season.

The Koch Club began its first Christmas Charity program back in 1957 when they delivered two food baskets to needy families in North Quincy. The project quickly expanded and today the Committee has provided food and clothing for hundreds during those years.

In 1971 the Club adopted its gifts for the needy as 300 toys were provided to families in Boston displaced by a pre-Christmas fire. That project was also expanded to include new and used toys and in the past 15 years, thousands of these gifts have been delivered to organizations in Quincy, other communities in the South Shore, Boston and Cambridge.

Richard J. Koch, executive director of the organization said that thousands of articles of used clothing have been distributed throughout the year to those in need of assistance in the needy sections of Boston.

However, none of these projects could have been successful without the co-operation and assistance of many people from Quincy and surrounding communities who have supported the endeavors of the Christmas Charity Committee for these many years, Koch said.

Montclair Men's Club To Meet Oct. 3

The regular monthly meeting of the Montclair Men's Club will be held Thursday, Oct. 3, at 8:30 p.m. in the clubhouse, 93 Holbrook Road.

WICKENS AND TROUPE FUNERAL HOME

Telephone (617) 472-5888

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director... cemetery or cremation charge... monuments or markers... newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Call the pre-need specialists of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By prearranging the desire and wishes of one's funeral, burial are expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-Arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.

Find Our Kids Group Visits White House

Representatives of Find Our Lost Kids, Inc., a non-profit, tax exempt Quincy based organization, traveled to Washington recently to meet with U.S. Justice Department officials.

The Justice Department will administer a new grant program to assist non-profit organizations dealing with the problem of missing children.

Find Our Lost Kids, a three-year-old organization with 500 members in Quincy and the South Shore, provides information and education to prevent the problem of missing children.

While in Washington, the local group stopped at the White House to present a portrait of President Ronald Reagan, painted by Ottawa "Tave" Peruzzi, a Quincy artist.

"It was our way of showing our appreciation for what the president has done on behalf of missing children, particularly signing the Missing Children Assistance Act," said Ronald Iacobucci, head of the delegation.

Participating in the White House presentation were Find Our Lost Kids president James Fox of Halifax, Emma Rogers of Hanson, who is a mother of a missing child, and Ricard Iacobucci of Quincy, volunteer executive director of Find Our Lost Kids.

The group also visited the National Center for Missing Children to reactivate the nation-wide search for Jimmy Rogers, Massachusetts most publicized missing children case, from October 1981, according to Iacobucci.

Find Our Lost Kids will apply in 60 days for the Justice Department monies and their funding prospects appear very good, Iacobucci said.

Fire Causes $110,000 Damage At Bargain Center

A two-alarm fire at the Bargain Center, Quincy Sq., caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the building and $100,000 damage to stock, according to Fire Department officials.

Cause of the fire Sunday afternoon at the building which has been located in Quincy since 1937 is undetermined. The Quincy Fire Prevention Bureau is investigating.

The store was open for business Monday, and all of the departments were open, according to a store representative.

According to Deputy Chief Thomas Gorman, the fire broke out on the second floor behind the lunch room.

There was heavy smoke damage to the second floor, and water damage to the second and first floors and basement, Gorman said.

One unidentified firefighter was injured, apparently not seriously.

Ten pieces of Quincy fire apparatus were at the scene from 5:17 p.m. to 6:40 p.m. Mutual aid from Boston and Weymouth covered the Wollaston and Quincy Point stations.

The second alarm was sounded due to heavy smoke and conditions on the second floor and the fact that the building was still occupied by shoppers, according to Gorman.

Jewish War Veterans To Honor Ralph Paull, Esther Sanger

The Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post No. 193 will pay tribute to a past post commander, and honor a Wollaston woman as their Citizen of the Year, at two separate ceremonies this fall.

On Oct. 13, 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, the post will honor past commander Ralph Paull at its annual "show of appreciation" breakfast to all past commanders; for their efforts in building the post to its present strength and their part in past achievements.

Program chairman is Past Commander Irving Isaacson who will emcee the breakfast.

Assisting in the arrangements are past commanders Jason Stone, Harvey Solomon, David Minkofsky, Ben Rudner, Herb Fine, Paul Bailey, Manny Haller and many members of the post.

On Nov. 3, also at Beth Israel Synagogue, and at a 9:30 a.m. breakfast, Mrs. Esther Sanger of 98 Phillips St., Wollaston, will be the recipient of the post's 35th Citizen of the Year award, given for her years of service and untiring efforts in helping people of all ages who have reached crisis stages in their lives.

Mrs. Sanger, a Quincy resident for over 30 years, is presently a guidance counselor at North Weymouth High School.

She is a former director of the Family Services for the Quincy Salvation Army, a registered nurse, licensed certified social worker, and holds a Masters Degree in Family Counseling.

She is the director of the Quincy Crisis Center and founder of Domestic Violence Ended (DOVE).

Mrs. Sanger is married to Lee Sanger. They have three children; Donita, David and Heather.

Beth Israel Synagogue is located at 33 Grafton St., Quincy.

'Love Is A Spendthrift' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon at both hours on the theme "Love Is A Spendthrift" based on the text from the Gospel of Matthew 20:1-16.

Scripture readers will be Marion Lockwood in the chapel and Clifford W. Evers in the sanctuary. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both services.

And Barbara Carr, Bonnie Franklin, and Gilbert Busch. At the 10 a.m. service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present two anthems, "Alleluia" by William Boyce at the offertory, and "O For a Closer Walk with God" by Charles Hutcheson as the second selection.

The Bethany Folksingers will offer a special baptismal selection, "Child of Blessing, Child of Promise" by Ronald S. Cole-Turner. Members of the folksinging group are Cathy Burke, Linda Devin, Margaret Fernald, Tora Huntington, and Shirley Pynce.

The worship service will be broadcast by delayed-tape over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes from pre-school through ninth grade. Nursery care for babies will be provided, as well as a Toddler Class for young children.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

An apple-picking picnic will be held Sunday afternoon with a chartered bus leaving from Bethany at 12 noon. The trip will be to Stow, MA for picking your own apples at $6.00 per half-bushel, eating a picnic lunch, and stopping for home-made ice-cream on the return trip which will arrive back in Quincy at 6 p.m. The bus is free and persons from the community are welcome to go along. For information call the church office, 479-7300.

'Lord, Teach Us To Pray' Squantum Church Topic

"Lord, Teach Us To Pray" was the title of the pastor's sermon during the second service Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

The Rev. Gene Langevin led the service.

Evelyn Ahearn and her daughter, Sandra, were greeters at the second service. Leon MacIntyre and Stewart Scott were ushers and Barbara Anderson and Genevieve Todd were in charge of the Fellowship Hour.

For the offertory, the Chancel Choir sang W. Glen Darst's "Stand Up and Bless the Lord."

The hymns were "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty," "If Thou but Suffer God to Guide Thee," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Now, O Lord, Go with Us."

In the earlier service, guitarists David Williams and Mary Ruth Scott accompanied the singing. Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "Adam's Fall and Ours." Marci Hurd and Sarah Mildred were ushers.

Youth groups now meeting at the church Sunday afternoon include Orange Crush (grades 6-8) at 5 p.m. and Seven-Up (grades 9-12) at 6:30 p.m.

On Sunday, Sept. 29, there will be an all-church breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a worship service for all at 10:30 a.m. Breakfast reservations can be called into the church office at 328-6649.

Monthly Event At Faith Lutheran Church

There will be a monthly special event at Faith Lutheran Church, 201 Granite St., Quincy, beginning Oct. 1 at 7:15 p.m. "Around the Table," a snack fellowship, Bible study and Communion will be shared every first Tuesday of each month.

The event is sponsored by the Evangelism Committee and everyone is welcome to attend. For further information, call the church office at 472-1247.

S.S. Mental Health Expands Outreach Sites

South Shore Mental Health is expanding its Quincy Outreach sites offering four new programs for the Germantown community.

The staff of the Child and Adolescent Unit of SSMH offers group programs at 77 Parkingway, as well as assessment and counseling on location in a cooperative effort with The Manet Community Health Center, Houghs Neck, The Manet Health Center, Snug Harbor, and The Snug Harbor School in Germantown.

Health care professionals at both of the community health centers refer individuals and families to the SSMH staff who deal with the emotional components of physical illness, stress, and weight problems.

The SSMH staff at the Snug Harbor School in Germantown obtain referrals for counseling individual students and their families on problems that affect school work. SSMH also offers group programs at the school to discuss children's problems and peer relations.

In addition to the ongoing counseling, specialized groups, parents groups, and activity therapy groups are available at the Quincy site. Specialized groups are offered for children of divorced or separated parents, children of alcoholics, and children with adjustment problems. The concerns of parents of adolescents, parents of preschoolers, and mothers with professional full-time responsibilities will be addressed by the parent's groups.

Activity therapy groups for children will discuss controlling tempers, co-operation, handling competition, and enhancing social skills.

The Child and Adolescent Unit's cooperative effort with the school and health care staff provides more comprehensive services to the Germantown community.

Services provided by the Developmental Unit of SSMH in Germantown include Early Intervention Services and a new infant/toddler day care program.

Early Intervention serves families with newborn babies to three year old toddlers by parental support groups, early childhood classes, home visits, and developmental evaluations.

The new infant/toddler day care program will operate in the Germantown Neighborhood Center Monday through Friday from 11:45 to 3:45 p.m. beginning Sept. 3. Vouchers will be accepted to that parents going back to school or employment training programs can have their day care subsidized.

These new programs will foster the total growth of infants and toddlers through the caring staff, enriching developmental activities, and close ties with parents.

Nine Quincy Residents Enter Notre Dame Academy

Nine Quincy residents were recently welcomed into the class of 1989 at Notre Dame Academy.

Principal Sister Anne Monica Ruane, S.N.D., welcomed Karyn Brownell, Rebecca Chiecino, Kerry Connor, Kathleen Fewer, Christine Kelley, Melanie Kovalski, Margaret Lennon, Lauren Morgan and Jeanne Nelson to the school during an orientation for the 104 members of the freshman class.

The Academy, under the direction of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur since its founding in 1853, has been located on Main St., Hingham, since 1965. Prior to that, the college preparatory school, which has graduated nearly 5,000 women, was situated at several locations in Boston.

Blood Pressure Screenings At Quincy Hospital

Quincy City Hospital, Whitwell St., will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the general public Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., in the Ambulatory Care Department.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable an individual to keep track of his blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician will be advised to do so.

These screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of every month, are free of charge.

Applications Available For Djerf Child Center

The Djerf Christian Child Center, 65 Roberts St., South Quincy, is still accepting applications for its program.

The program, which is now in its third year, is held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

30 Voting Precinct Plan Accepted By City Council

The City Council has voted to accept City Clerk John Gillis' redrawing of ward and precinct lines.

If all approvals are given, the plan would go into effect in about two years.

equal," according to Gillis. Each ward will have about 14,500 residents, and about 2,000 residents in each precinct. There will be five precincts per ward.

The plan will be forwarded to the Secretary of State for approval and then back to the City Council.

The action, which reduces the number of precincts from 39 to 30, is being taken so that "all of the precincts and wards in the city will be

Council Favors Toxic Waste Pickup Program

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City Council has gone on record as supporting a local toxic waste pickup program which includes a collection scheduled for next spring and paid for with private, state and city funds.

The council's action followed a presentation at a meeting of the Disposal and Sanitary Problems Committee whose chairman is Councilor Michael Cheney.

Speakers included a group formed by Cheney and comprised of Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson, Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti, Acting Health Coordinator Richard Stuart, who sent a representative to the meeting, and Mary Quinn of the Quincy League of Women Voters. Anderson said that hazardous substances, if disposed of at the local dump, will eventually poison ground water.

Anderson said that it makes more sense to spend $30,000-$35,000 for a collection day than to correct a problem years from now.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the average homeowner doesn't realize how dangerous household substances can be when they are picked up in the rubbish and mixed with other chemicals.

Valenti recounted how several Cheriton Road residents became ill from toxic fumes that were released when a B.F.I. truck compacted a can of toxic chemicals left at curbside for pick-up.

Miss Quinn said her group has been given the task of educating the public on this matter.

She said that the list of common household items which are hazardous includes lead and oil-based paint, paint thinner, insecticide, floor wax, and drain cleaners.

"It has become increasingly more evident that the city should take up this program, as has been done in 60 cities in the state," said Cheney.

"It is needed not only because of accidents, but because of damage to the environment."

Changes Seen As Raiders Host Medford

There could be some changes in the North Quincy offensive line and at defensive end after the Raiders suffered their second loss in a row, 28-0, to Milton last Saturday at Milton.

Coach Ken McPhee, whose team scored just six points and has had 63 scored against it, put most of the blame on the offensive line and the defensive ends and may make some changes as North hosts a strong Medford team Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Medford, a Greater Boston League team, was impressive last week in an 18-0 victory over favored Woburn. "Our offensive line and defensive ends are our big problems," said McPhee, who saw North lose to Milton for the fourth year in a row. "We have to work awfully hard on these spots. The line gave our quarterback, Chris Gray, no protection (he was sacked five times) and Milton picked up a lot of its yardage around our ends.

"After our loss to Weymouth South, we worked hard on the defense and the defense was much better today. We played a fine first half, trailing only 7-0, on a 59-yard run, and the defense did better than the score indicates. They were on the field an awful lot and naturally tired near the end."

North was held to just 60 yards on the ground and 54 yards through the air as Milton controlled the ball for most of the game. Leo LeMay was North's top ground gainer with only 25 yards. Gray completed five of 13 passes for 54 yards and, when he did get some protection, looked good. Freshman Billy McDougal, who caught three passes against Weymouth South, had two more receptions, Mike Ciccone caught two and Rob Bradley had the other reception.

Defensively Don Clancy and Marc Smith recovered Milton fumbles and Brian Flukes had a pass interception.

"We will improve and our young and inexperienced players will get better with more game experience," said McPhee. "We lost nearly everyone from last year's team and our inexperience has been noticeable.

Also, we are playing some of the strongest teams at the start, which hasn't helped."

In the opening quarter Milton's Jeff Parks broke loose for a 59-yard touchdown run and Pat Flaherty kicked the extra point. This was the only scoring in the first half.

In the third quarter Parks scored from the 11 and Steve Harrington passed to Rob Russell for 66 yards. Harrington passed to Greene for the two-point conversion following the second TD.

Milton, coached by former North Quincy assistant Jack Bowes, who has former North head coach Dave Burke as an assistant, finished off the scoring in the final quarter as Greene scored from the three and Flaherty kicked the point.

One of the big bright spots for North Quincy was the punting of Gray, who was forced to punt several times due to the team's inability to move the ball and got off some boomers.

Finn To Compete For National Sailing Title

Bill Finn of 168 West Elm Ave., Quincy, will compete against over 200 of America's top Hobie Cat skippers for the national Absolut Cup 18-foot sailing title Sept. 29 - Oct. 5 at Clearwater, Fla.

Finn earned the right to compete on the basis of his overall points total in local and regional competitions throughout the 1985 Hobie Cat season.

"Bill Finn has distinguished himself as an outstanding sailor in 18-foot competition this summer," said Sandy Banks, executive director of the World Hobie Class Association. "His participation in the Absolut Cup regatta at Clearwater will heighten the caliber of competition there."

North-Medford Game On WJDA

Former North Quincy High soccer player John Murphy has won a spot on the Massachusetts Community College team, announces Coach Nick Palantzas.

Murphy, winner of North's "Mr. Husile" honor, was named to the Suburban League all-star team.

"John is one of our three goalkeepers," said Palantzas. "He is in great condition and works 100 percent all the time. He will improve as the season progresses."

Station WJDA will cover the North Quincy-Medford game at 1:30 p.m. Saturday from Veterans Memorial Stadium with Charlie Ross doing the play-by-play and Paul Carroll the color.

Reports also will be brought in on the Quincy at Brookline, Taunton at Weymouth North and Weymouth South at Marshfield games.

On Sunday WJDA will present a play-by-play of the Abp. Williams at Matignon contest at 1:30.

Dudek Breaks N.E. Scoring Record

North Quincy's Joe Dudek broke the New England collegiate scoring record last week when he scored twice in Plymouth State College's 21-14 New England Conference victory over Western Connecticut.

Dudek scored his 56th and 57th career touchdowns to break the New England record set by Paul Lewis of Boston University.

The two scores (Dudek also passed for the third Panther touchdown) moved the former North Quincy star closer to the NCAA all-division touchdown mark set by Walter Payton. Dudek needs nine touchdowns to tie Payton.

The All-American scored on a 12-yard run and on a 42-yard pass from Chris Lyons. He also crossed up Western Connecticut by throwing a 43-yard scoring pass to Bill Troy.

Quincy's Bob Barrett had another big day as Curry edged Mass. Maritime Academy, 14-12, for its first win.

Barrett passed for 172 yards and a touchdown and set up the Colonels' other touchdown with a 22-yard run on a quarterback keep. His scoring pass went to Jamie Golden to give Curry an early lead.

North Girls Swimmers Win First Two Meets

The North Quincy girls' swim team is off to another good start with impressive victories in its first two meets.

Bill Walker's Raiderettes faced Brockton Tuesday and will host Weymouth South next Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

The North girls opened with a 108-57 victory over Weymouth North.

Stacy Quintiliani and Julie Killion were double winners to spark North. Quintiliani won the 200 freestyle in 2:23.4 and the 500 freestyle in 6:41.1. Killion won the 100 freestyle in 1:09.9 and the one-meter diving with 198.85 points.

Also winning for North were Stephanie Francis, 50 freestyle (31.13); Liz Harrington, 100 breaststroke (1:30.4), and the 400 freestyle relay team of Lisa Ramsden, Jennifer Rafferty, Diane Mullen and Debbie Brigette (5:15.7).

Taking seconds were Mullen, 50 freestyle; Francis, 100 freestyle; Lisa Rodriguez, 100 butterfly; Beth Hughes, 100 backstroke; Kristin McCready, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle, and Donna King, 200 individual medley.

Finishing third were Kara Fleicher, 50 freestyle; Mullen, 100 freestyle; Rafferty, 100 butterfly; Amy McGinness, 100 backstroke; Brigitte, 200 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley, and Ann O'Sullivan, diving.

North followed up with a 92-79 win over Stoughton with a 1-2 sweep in the 400-meter relay clinching the decision. Killion, McCready, King and Quintiliani made up the winning team which finished in 4:29.0.

Quintiliani, King and Killion were double winners for the Raiderettes.

Quintiliani won the 200 freestyle in 2:23.6 and the 500 freestyle in 6:27.9. King won the 200 individual medley in 2:52.5 and the 100 butterfly in 1:23.1, while Killion won the 100 freestyle in 1:08.5 and the diving with 183.05 points.

Taking second places were McCready in the 200 freestyle, Harrington in the 200 individual medley and 100 breaststroke, and Hughes in the 100 backstroke.

Finishing third were Francis in the 50 freestyle, O'Sullivan in diving, McCready in the 500 freestyle and Rodriguez in the 100 breaststroke.

Cross Country

North Girls Edge Cambridge Rindge

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team met its strongest competition in the opening Suburban League meet last week and came up with a slim 27-28 victory over league co-favorite Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

It was the 33rd straight dual meet victory for the North girls, who faced Brockton yesterday (Wednesday) and will run against the best looking Quincy team in some time next Wednesday.

It was generally felt that the winner of the North-Cambridge meet would win the league championship. The Raiderettes, the perennial league champs, were 8-0 last fall and have won the Eastern Mass. championship for the last five years. Cambridge, which, like North, has six of last year's seven varsity runners back, was given the best chance of upsetting the Raiderettes.

As expected, the teams' top runners, Tricia Barrett of North and Frances Jarvis of Cambridge, battled to the wire with Barrett coming in first in 13:50, the fourth fastest time on North's 2.35-mile course.

North's other scorers were Lianne Fitzgerald, fourth; Tricia Leary, fifth; Maryanne Kelleher, seventh, and Sharon Barrett, 10th.

Track Club Holds Hall Of Fame Inductions

The Quincy Track Club concluded its summer program with its annual awards picnic and Hall of Fame inductions at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Receiving awards for Outstanding Athlete of the Year were Paul McLellan and Regina Murphy. McLellan was outstanding in the 400 and 800, while Murphy was undefeated on the summer circuit and was a member of the Boston Youth Games team.

Frank Kelly Awards for dedication and excellence went to Sherrin Quintiliani and Chris DiGiacomo. Sherrin lowered her mile time over the summer from 6:19 to 5:58, while DiGiacomo made drastic improvements in the 400, 200 and shot put.

Coaches Awards went to Karen Cashman and Danny Hobin for a season of excellent performances. Cashman ran 2:39 for the 800, high jumped 4-6 and was a member of the N. E. Hershey team, while Hobin high jumped 5-4 and won all his competitions this summer.

Most Improved awards went to Sean McCarthy for his improvement in the 800 and to Lindsey McGovern, who runs the 800 as well as the mile.

Rookies of the Year awards went to Nat Lloyd, a Hershey semifinalist and Spring League MVP in only his first year, and Kim McGahan, who won many events her first time out with the club.

The club inducted two into its Hall of Fame.

Longtime supporter and official Jerry Libby has been with the club since 1977, daughters Janice and Sandra and son Steven were club members and Jerry has helped the club in many capacities over the years.

Lianne Supple, a 1981 graduate of Hingham High and a member from 1979 to 1983, was a state champion in the high jump and hurdles, for four years was a standout for Boston College and was N. E. collegiate champion in the pentathlon.

Sailors Upset Apaches, Panthers Stop Elks, 12-8

The Quincy Point Panthers' defense, led by Jim Peters and Mike Scolari, rose to the occasion last Sunday as the Panthers defeated the previously undefeated West Quincy Elks, 12-8, to improve to 2-0. The Elks are 2-1.

In the other half of the weekly doubleheader the Squantum Sailors, with their best squad in their 10-year history, upset the defending champion North Quincy Apaches, 18-14. The Sailors are 2-1 and the Apaches 0-2.

Sunday the Panthers will face the Sailors at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium and the Houghs Neck Manets (0-3) will meet the Apaches at 2:30. The Panthers' junior varsity will face the Sailors Saturday at 10 a.m. at Fore River field.

The Elks got on the scoreboard first against the Panthers when quarterback Chris Noble passed to Scott O'Brien for 75 yards and a touchdown, Noble rushed for the two-point conversion.

In the second quarter there was no scoring as both defenses were outstanding. Brian Taylor punted twice for 38 and 31 yards, while Brandon Farrell and Monte Baker leading the defense. Ken Staskyiwicz hit Noble and forced a fumble, but Noble later intercepted a Joe Russell pass.

Russell intercepted a Noble pass in the third quarter and returned it to the Elks' 16. Russell hit Farrell in the end zone for the touchdown, but the try for the tying points failed.

The final quarter belonged to the Panthers as Taylor, Baker and Jay McLarnon ate up big yardage, driving to the Elks' 11. On the next play Taylor went off right tackle for the game-winning touchdown.

The Sailors were sparked by quarterback Dave Hutchins, who turned in a superlative two-way performance.

The Panthers' jayvees shut out the Elks, 14-0, Saturday with Terry Hack and Joe Crespi scoring the touchdowns.

Braintree Club Hosts Gun Championship

The American Silhouette Association (ASA) state .22 caliber championship will be held Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Braintree Rifle and Pistol Club, Liberty St., Braintree. Spectators are welcome.

Presidents Look For Win At Brookline

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's young football team hopes to rebound from a disappointing 18-14 loss to Cambridge Rindge and Latin last Friday night when it goes to Brookline for a 1:30 p.m. game Saturday at Parsons Field.

Jack Raymer's Presidents pushed the best looking Cambridge team in years around the field and clicked off 18 first downs to nine (it was 17-5 at one time) but lost because of three big plays which Raymer attributed to "rookie mistakes".

It was the first opening day win for a Cambridge team in recent memory and the first win over Quincy in several seasons. Under first-year coach Wadie Geraghty, Cambridge's fortunes could be looking up after a 1-9 season in 1984 and an 0-10 season in 1983.

"This is a disappointing loss, but I was very pleased with the way we moved the ball tonight," said Raymer. "It might have been a different story if we hadn't fumbled the ball away on their seven-yard line after driving all the way from our 12 early in the second quarter. Defensively we looked sharp but three big plays killed us (a 44-yard touchdown run, a 40-yard pass to the one and a 59-yard return of a pass interception)."

Chris Veneto had a big night for the Presidents, running for 110 yards, and Mark Porzio and Ron Luisi also ran well. Quarterback Steve Austin, in his first varsity start, was only seven of 22 passes for 90 yards but two were for touchdowns and he showed he can throw a fine pass. He was under tremendous pressure most of the game. He had two interceptions, one returned for the deciding TD. "Like a lot of the others, he made some "rookie" mistakes, but I was pleased with the way he played," Raymer said.

Joe Innello had a big night, catching two passes from Austin for the Quincy touchdowns as well as a conversion pass and he made another outstanding catch.

"Penalties hurt us and forced us into third and long situations which made us pass instead of staying on the ground," the Quincy coach said. "Veneto and Porzio ran very well as did Luisi and we proved we can move the ball."

Quincy controlled the ball for most of the game and ran off nearly three times as many plays as Cambridge.

"The trouble we had with the lights didn't help any as it caused us to lose momentum. All in all, I was pleased with our performance but those three big plays did us in," Raymer concluded.

Quincy received to open the game and made two quick first downs and lost another when a holding penalty nullified a pass completion. Don Parry was forced to punt to Cambridge's 43 and on the second play Lance Dotten passed to Dave Frazier for 40 yards to Quincy's one. Jessie Turtle scored but a pass for the conversion was no good.

Veneto and Luisi running and a 28-yard pass from Austin to Parry moved Quincy all the way from its 12 to Cambridge's seven. However, Cambridge recovered a fumble.

Quincy continued to dominate the half but couldn't score and the 6-0 score held at halftime.

Quincy recovered a fumble on Cambridge's 36 early in the third quarter and the Presidents drove to their first score, clicking off three first downs. Austin passed to Innello in the end zone for 10 yards and a touchdown. The same duo combined for the conversion which gave Quincy an 8-6 lead.

The lead was short-lived, however, as Marino Carreiro broke through a big hole and raced 44 yards for a touchdown on the fifth play after the ensuing kickoff. A rush for the points fell short.

The back-breaker came a few minutes later when Jon Tymes intercepted an Austin pass and ran it back 59 yards for the touchdown.

Following the kickoff Quincy drove 67 yards, grinding out four first downs and Austin again passed to Innello for eight yards and a touchdown. A rush for the conversion failed.

The Presidents had one last chance but, following a 15-yard pass from Austin to Parry, four passes were incomplete as time ran out.

Finnegan Would Like To See Permanent Lights

Although the second night game in two weeks at Veterans Memorial Stadium last Friday night was marred by problems with the lights, Athletics Director Marty Finnegan was pleased with the turnout and the behavior of the fans.

"I think we had about 1700 to 1800 people in the stands and this crowd, as well as the nearly 2000 which watched the North Quincy-Weymouth South game, proves night football will go over here," Finnegan said.

"I think there probably were a few more Quincy fans than North fans the previous week, but Weymouth South brought a good crowd, while there were only a handful of fans tonight from Cambridge.

"The lights again were not too good, but I feel if we could get permanent lights in Quincy and played our games at night, we would start making money on the games. There is such a difference between these portable lights and the permanent ones, which many area schools now have. Braintree and Randolph are two of them.

The lighting crew was late in arriving and the game started 40 minutes late. Midway in the second quarter all the lights went out and it took several minutes to fix them.

Just as the second half was about to begin, the lights on one side went out and it again took several minutes to remedy the situation. When they came on, the end zone lights remained out and stayed that way for the third quarter before coming on again for the final quarter.

"Again we had no trouble with the crowd and I am proud of the way the students behaved," Finnegan said.

Flukes, Gillis, Cronin Lead Tennis Tourney Winners

Nancy Flukes and Hildy Gillis captured two titles each and Neil Cronin won the men's over 50 title for the fifth consecutive year to highlight the 15th annual all-Quincy Tennis Championship sponsored by the Granite Cooperative Bank and the Quincy Recreation Department.

After almost three weeks of tennis action, this year's finals saw a bright young star come upon the tennis scene and a seasoned veteran continue his dominance of the game.

Nancy Flukes, a 15-year-old sophomore at North Quincy High School, entered Saturday's finals and combined a solid serve with flawless ground strokes to beat a very tough defending champion, Sue Pacetti, 6-2, 6-1.

She then went on to pair up with Pacetti to defeat the team of Louise Durante and Hildy Gillis, 6-4, 6-2, to take the women's doubles crown. She was only one point away from being in her third final when she and partner John Franceschini were defeated in the semi-finals by Bill and Camille Courtney, 6-4, 2-6, 7-6. The tie-breaker in the third set went to the final point.

On the men's side, Neil Cronin may be one of the best to ever play in this tournament. Packed with a cannon forehand, Neil's 6-3, 6-1 victory over Vincent Kane made it five in a row for him in the men's 50 and over singles. Neil also teamed up with Rich Landi and lost a great match to champions Bill Courtney and Paul Berrini 6-2, 6-3, in the men's doubles. The great net play of Courtney and Berrini proved to be the difference in this one.

The men's singles final saw one of the most versatile young players in Quincy take his bag of tricks into the final and roll.

Steve Durante has it all, big serve, strong ground strokes and great quickness. He put them all together and it spelled trouble for a fine player, Joe Ryan. Durante went on to defeat Ryan 6-2, 6-1, and win the title.

But Ryan had his day in the sun too, as he went on to defeat Dana Chella 6-0, 6-3, in the men's 35 and over singles title match. Ryan's consistency proved to be a little too much for Chella, who had a great tournament.

On the lady's side of the 35 and over singles, the two best were at it again. Hildy Gillis and Louise Durante have had some great matches in the past and Sunday's final was no exception. Gillis' big serve was on, and in the end was the difference in her 6-2, 6-3 win over Louise Durante.

The men's "B" consolation singles championship saw Dan McDonnell put a fine two sets together to defeat one of the very best, Henry "The Master" McAuliffe, 6-2, 6-0, for his first title ever.

Quincy High School has to be proud of its young tennis stars as the boys 16 and under final saw sophomore Tom Savoie defeat freshman Oscar Jara 6-3, 6-2, to win his first title. Overall, the competition in the boys 16 and under was very exciting and it looks very good for the Presidents this year.

The final match of the tournament saw Rich Landi and Hildy Gillis defeat Bill and Camille Courtney 3-6, 6-4, 6-3 to win the William F. Ryan Cup, symbolic of the mixed doubles championship. Landi and Gillis continue to be for very solid every year and it's going to take a great team to dethrone them.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, presented the permanent bowls to the tournament champions in court-side ceremonies. There will be a formal presentation of awards to all winners and runners-up hosted by the Granite Cooperative Bank at the match end. Tournament director John Franceschini and assistant Steve Durante were surprised with a presentation of director's chairs—a gift from the tournament participants in recognition of the work and effort by the two in making the tournament an annual success for all who participated.

The finals and match results not reported are as follows:

Women's Singles: Nancy Flukes def. Sue Pacetti 6-2, 6-1;

Bowling

Koch Boys, Girls League To Open Oct. 5

The Koch Club Boys and Girl Bowling League will open its 23rd season of activity Saturday, Oct. 5, at 9 a.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys on Broad St.

Boys and girls 7 to 15 years are invited to join and participate and each will be assigned to the Junior or Senior Division according to age.

The league bowls each Saturday morning throughout the winter and closes with an Awards Night in April.

Anthony T. Delmonico, founder and director of the league, says that at least 40 bowlers will be required to form the league and that last year members returning should contact him at home and new members be at the Merrymount Alleys on Oct. 5.

Mr. Delmonico can be contacted for further information.

Olindy's Accepting League Reservations

Olindy's Bowling Alleys at 170 Quincy Avenue, Quincy are accepting league reservations for the 1985-86 season and the youth league, Olindy's Junior All-Stars, is now forming.

The alleys have been completely renovated and modernized at a cost of nearly $100,000.

Information can be obtained by calling the alleys at 472-3597.

Koch Men's League Has Openings

The Koch Club Men's Bowling League, enjoying its 36th season of activity, has a number of openings for men wishing to participate as regular or spare bowlers.

The league now bowls at the Wonder Bowl, 565 Southern Artery, and meets Tuesdays at 7 p.m.

New bowlers are welcome to observe a night of the league's activity or may join any Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. by contacting one of the officers at the bowling session.

Steve Mancuso is president of the league and may be contacted at the alleys by prospective members.

Smith Paces Quirk Bowlers

Dave Smith leads the Quirk Merchants Bowling League with a 122.6 average, followed by Bob Donahue at 117.4.

The rest of the Top Ten: Ron Johnson, 117.3; Peter Yngve, 116.9; Jim Boyd, 116.4; Dana Chella, 114.0; Peter Hartford, 111.0; Dave Eaton, 110.2; Tom McTaggart, 107.8, and George Johnson, 107.5.

Quincy JV's Breeze By Cambridge, 22-6

The Quincy High-Vo Tech Junior Varsity football team kicked off its season on a good note Monday, defeating Cambridge by a score of 22-6.

Quincy had fallen behind early in the first quarter on a broken pass play. A bootleg by the Cambridge quarterback turned the play into a 35-yard touchdown run. But that would be all that the Cambridge team could produce, as the Quincy defense came back to stop the point-after attempt. The Presidents would not allow Cambridge inside the Quincy thirty yard line for the rest of the game.

"The defensive unit was outstanding," praised defensive coach Kevin Kelley. "The entire unit played very well." Exceptional plays were turned in by Rick Smith (two sacks), Craig Bowlen (1 sack), and Wes Cowley (interception). "Ernie Light was also outstanding, shutting down the Cambridge passing game."

The Quincy offense was able to move the ball effectively, being forced to punt only on the first series of the game. "We had a few mistakes, such as an interception and a fumble," said offensive line coach Peter Chrisom.

"But overall, we were very successful in controlling the line and giving our backs room to run." Chrisom commended Jim Kane (right tackle), Rick Smith (left guard), and Paul Kirk (left tackle). "Eric Walorz also had a great game at left tackle, opening up some great holes," said Chrisom. "Ken Byrnes was also outstanding at center, especially considering that we had only moved him to that position on Saturday."

The Quincy offense made a quick comeback after the Cambridge score, capping a 70-yard drive with an 8-yard sweep by halfback Joel Rogers. Dennis DeCoste put Quincy ahead 8-6, with a run for the two point conversion.

The Presidents' next score came as the first half drew to a close. Taking the ball over on their own 40-yard line, the Presidents ran the ball twice, and then quarterback Jay Dennett unleashed a 45-yard pass to Sean Munroe, who went up and over a Cambridge defender to make a one-handed catch, and come down with the ball for another Quincy score. Dennett ran a sneak for the two points.

Quincy controlled the ball for most of the second half, combining effective passing with a bruising running game. The final Quincy score came on a 5-yard inside run by DeCoste. The point after attempt failed.

"We were very pleased with the effort of our entire team," said backfield coach Mitch Finnegan. "Jay Dennett ran the team with great poise, and our co-captains DeCoste and Rogers led by the example of their outstanding efforts on both offense and defense. The defense gave us the ball in good field position, and the offense capitalized on it. You can't ask for more of a team effort than that."

Finnegan, last year's freshmen coach, felt that this victory was particularly rewarding for some of the players.

"This was a nice win for us. Many of these boys played on last year's freshmen team, which went 0 and 7. 'It's a credit to them, and to the program that Coach Rayer (Varsity Coach Jack Rayer) is building, that almost every one of them has returned, and has worked so hard to earn this win today.'"

The junior Presidents play Brookline on Monday.

• Volleyball

First Ladies Win 27th Straight

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, state champions for two of the last three years, improved to 5-0 Monday with an easy 2-0 (15-2, 15-1) victory over rival North Quincy.

The First Ladies, who have now won 27 straight matches, will play at Newton South Friday, and will be at Boston Latin Monday. They will host Newton North Monday at 3:30.

The North girls, now 1-3, will be at Brookline Friday and will be home to Waltham Monday at 3:30.

All of the Quincy girls played excellent games against North, with twins

Ginny and Terry Duggan, Marlo LeVangi, Laura Standing, Pam Austin and Susan Parry all playing key roles in the victory.

In May of 1984, these six girls made up the AAU 15 and under team which won the state and New England championships.

Ironically, the coach of that team was the present North Quincy coach, Jim Rendle.

Last Friday the Quincy girls, coached this year by Tom Henderson, defeated Waltham, 2-0 (15-8, 15-3), breaking an 8-8 tie in the opening game behind the strong serving of Ginny Duggan. LeVangi and Lauren Standing also were standouts in the win.

Earlier in the week, Quincy topped Brookline, 2-1 (15-13, 13-15, 15-2) with the Duggan twins serving well and LeVangi having several key spikes.

The North girls defeated Cambridge Ridge and Latin, 2-0 (15-7, 15-9) for their first victory.

The Raiderettes were sparked by the consistent serving of Barbara Carroll and the power hitting of freshman Deidre Murphy. Jean Welby did some outstanding blocking.

• Executive League

Mullen's Hat Trick Sparks White's, 6-2

Dave Mullen had a hat trick to spark Bob White's Lounge to a 6-2 victory over Adams Sports in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Don Fawcett had two goals and Jack Duffy one. Steve Lewis and Kevin Lewis had two assists apiece and Duffy and Jack Valle one each. For Adams Paul Hurley and Bob Simonelli had the goals and Fred Ahearn and Simonelli had assists.

Dimattia Sailmakers walloped Grogan's Business Machines, 10-2, with Ed Lenihan having a hat trick and Al McKay and Bob Martell two goals each. Mark Matanes, Jim Conso and Ralph Gibbs had a goal apiece. Conso had four assists. McKay three, Matanes two and Martell, Gary DeCoste and Richie Fowkes one each. Jack Crowley had both Grogan goals with assists for John Emmott, Joe Vencio and Jay Powers.

South Shore Bearing topped Beacon Sports, 4-2, as Frankie Guest scored twice and assisted on another goal. Jack Aldred and Ken Gardiner had the other goals, while Bob Carroll, Bob Reardon and Steve Dymet had assists. Hank Dondero and Kevin Jago scored for Beacon with assists for Chuck Behenna, Joe Verlicco and Bobby Fowkes.

Roman, Royal Win In Merchants Loop

Roman Gardens edged Kelly's Pub, 5-4, and Royal Pizza rolled over Alexis Pizza, 6-1, in South Merchants Little Loop hockey action.

Joey Carlson scored with eight seconds left to lift Roman Gardens over Kelly's. Carlson, who also had two assists, took a pass from Rich Magan near the right face off circle and blasted a low shot to the far corner that beat goalie Charlie Simkoff. Jimmy Hogan, Bob Ranger, Joey Pugliese and Bill Wilson also scored for the winners.

Carlton McInnis had a hat trick and added an assist to pace Royal Pizza. Al Sheehan had a goal and an assist and

Paul Cavanaugh and Tom MacDonald a goal apiece. Ken Southwick had two assists to help Royal get off to a fast start in its first season in the league.

Thomas Koch Conducting Month Moratorium On Signs

Thomas P. Koch, candidate for the Ward Six City Council Seat, has requested his Committee conduct a one month moratorium on signs for his political candidacy in the North Quincy and Squantum area.

The action is taken despite the legality of the posting through the Nov. 5 election.

Koch had all signs removed Sept. 10 and 11 immediately following the Preliminary Election in both the business and residential districts to give the residents a respite from the sign intensive campaign in the Ward Six Area preceding the primary.

He stated that his committee had complied with the city zoning ordinances governing the location and dates allowed for posting.

Koch vowed not to locate signs on property without permission of the owners and urged all candidates to respect the marshes, open space and conservation land of the city and avoid posting signs on them indiscriminately.

He expressed thanks to those who would allow candidates a source of visibility and exposure for political office by business and residential posting.

Koch assured all residents in North Quincy and Squantum that his political signs would be removed immediately following Election Day as had been done in the primary and requested all candidates to respond accordingly.

Candidates Night Oct. 2 At Montclair's Men's Club

An old fashioned candidates' rally will be held Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. at the Montclair Men's Club, Holbrook Rd., Quincy.

According to Arthur Chandler, president of the Quincy Citizens Association, sponsors of the rally, candidates and their supporters will join in a parade through the hall prior to speaking.

All candidates seeking elective office in Quincy have been invited as are those whose office is not being contested in the Nov. 5 election.

A time period for speaking and questions and answers will be observed.

Everyone; candidates, their supporters and potential voters, will have an opportunity to enjoy themselves as well as seeing democracy in action, said Chandler, who hopes the rally will be one of the highlight events of this 1985 election campaign.

Brian O'Connell New Choral Society Conductor

Brian M. O'Connell, Chairman of the Voice Department at Berklee College of Music, has been selected as conductor of the Quincy Choral Society. He replaces Dr. Edward MacLary who resigned and is now Assistant Professor of Music at the State University of New York, Long Island.

O'Connell graduated from the University of Lowell with a bachelor of science degree in Music Education and is presently a candidate for a Master of Music in Choral Conducting at Boston Conservatory of Music.

He has directed a number of ensembles at Berklee, including the Concert Choir, Choral, and Jazz Choir. He has also served as conductor of the Cambridge Choral, Nashua Choral Society and Boston Conservatory Choral.

His first concert with the Quincy Choral Society will be held Dec. 6 and 8 at the Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy. O'Connell has chosen Haydn's Third Mass, the "Lord Nelson Mass," along with a number of international Christmas Carols for the musical selection.

The 85 member chorus rehearses Monday evenings at 8 p.m. at East Congregational Church, Milton.

A CLAMBAKE was held recently by the Houghs Neck Legion Post for hospitalized veterans. Richard Walsh of the Marine Corps League was among those who served the veterans. At right is Florence Veronneau.

Girl Scouts Attend Camping Weekend

Two Girl Scout troops from Quincy were among the area troops that attended a recent camping weekend at the Embassy Suites Hotel, Boston.

Cadet troop 4159, with leader Ruth Lutts, and Junior troop 4141, with leader Kathy Nicholas, started their camping weekend with dinner prepared by the hotel chefs.

They had a tour of the hotel suites, and visited with the kitchen staff.

After a swim in the hotel's pool, the girls and their leaders were entertained by a mime. They also gazed at stars from the hotel terrace, saw a movie and had a snack. They finished the night by sleeping in the hotel's grand ballroom.

Following breakfast on Saturday, the girls were taught folk dancing. They were also given a T-shirt with Camp Embassy Hotel printed on it as a souvenir of the weekend.

The hotel donated the weekend to the Girl Scouts while their camp at Cedar Hill is being renovated. The camp will not be opened until June 1986. The hotel also donated a sack donation to the Girl Scout Capital Campaign Fund.

A West Quincy man is the recipient of the Ruth Gordon Award for his contribution to community theatre.

Frank Santoro of 80 Haviland St., accepted the award presented by producer John McDonald of the Quincy Community Theatre Group following last Friday evening's performance of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Santoro thanked Quincy Mayor Francis McCauley for appointing him to the Arts Lottery Council which enabled him to help the theatre group. He also recognized Quincy City Councilor-at-Large Joseph LaRaia for helping to make the city a thriving cultural community through Summerfest and the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre.

He also paid tribute to producer McDonald for giving Quincy an active theatre group.

"The award will always hold a special place in my heart," he said, "and I will continue to work closely with the group so that the community has the opportunity to perform, hopefully, producing actors and actresses with the same drive and enthusiasm as Ruth Gordon."

The Quincy born actress Ruth Gordon died in her sleep Aug. 28 at her summer home in Edgartown, Martha's Vineyard. She was 88.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 26, 1985

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Competitor becomes more friendly, but remain on your guard. Partner's affections are seemingly limitless. Career path begins to take a turn in a more interesting direction.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Domestic and financial responsibilities gradually increase this week. Freedom-loving relative becomes more responsive to your suggestions. Creative ideas are uncommonly bright.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Avoid tendency to overextend yourself, it's tempting to volunteer for too many major assignments. Delays are scattered through the weekend. Surprise announcement can catch you off guard.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Homefront begins to buzz with new arrivals — relatives, friends from faraway, and perhaps pets. Romantic situation stabilizes, the time may be right to bring a fresh approach to the relationship.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Earning money in your spare time is a possibility this week and can help offset some recent expenses. Frankness is all important if expressing your concerns, opinions, observations.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Extravagant surface and it may be wise to hide the credit cards. Romantic intuition is strong — but only where your own situation is concerned. Hosting events is a current strength.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Sports and recreation are accentuated, you find yourself enjoying the role of participant. You may be spending additional time with ailing friend or relative. Don't ignore your own health needs.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Think of long term gains when making work-related decisions. Career may interfere briefly with romantic situation. Warm, earthy colors are favored if planning a fall wardrobe.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Mechanical problems should be corrected before they become major headaches. Weekend accents buying, selling and even bartending. Change of setting helps you accomplish tasks on schedule.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Finances dominate the week, you may be spending extra hours sifting through budgets. New friendships are accentuated, you find that a common interest is shared with a recent acquaintance.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Be sure that you stand on firm ground if making a pitch for a favorite cause. Meetings may take up much of the weekend. Bright ideas can be implemented.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Friends are generous with advice, but don't feel that you must heed all suggestions. Your own ideas — especially on romance — are just fine. Weekend discussion is unusually enlightening.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You take a diplomatic approach and in your quiet way solve disputes and remedy injustices. Sometimes you're too changeable for your own good — you enjoy variety a little too much. Travel and education are the themes of the week with both activities blending well.

BORN THIS WEEK
September 26th, actress Melissa Sue Anderson; 27th, actress Sada Thompson; 28th, singer Olivia Newton-John; 29th, actress Madeline Kahn; 30th, singer Johnny Mathis; October 1st, actress Julie Andrews; 2nd, actor Moses Gunn.

Fireman Says Time To Trade With China

SIMON C. FIREMAN

Businessman Simon C. Fireman of Quincy feels there is a golden opportunity today for U.S. business to crack open a multi-billion dollar trade market as a result of the recent visit here of the president of China.

Fireman, a former president of Temple Beth El in Quincy, and the only New England member of the Presidential Advisory Council on Trade Negotiations, made this observation after he met the ministers who accompanied Li Xianbian on his tour to America.

Fireman, who is Chairman of the Board of the Avon-based Aqua-Leisure, was a guest of Secretary of State George Shultz at the State Department luncheon for the People's Republic delegation and later attended the White House dinner honoring President Li.

Fireman said, "China, which has long been a sleeping giant in world trade, is now flexing its economic muscles and actively seeking to engage in commerce with the West.

"There is a golden opportunity for American businessmen to crack open a consumer market that encompasses a billion people and a commercial-industrial market that is avid to snap up all of the electronic business aids that we produce," he said. Fireman was formerly associated with Quincy City Hospital and was chairman of the Quincy celebration weekend saluting the late actress Ruth Gordon, on her 80th birthday.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

REAL ESTATE INSTALLMENT SALE

QUESTION: I want to sell a commercial building which I own free and clear. The problem is that the buyer does not want to take out a bank loan at today's high rates. Also, I don't care to have a big capital gains tax during this calendar year. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: Serious consideration should be given to structuring transaction for the installment method of reporting the gain. This would allow you to report the gain proportionately over the years in which you actually receive cash payments from the buyer. Installment sale reporting has been simplified. There are no longer any dollar or time restrictions to qualify any sale as an installment sale.

THE RULES for selling real estate by the installment method have been simplified.

IN COUNCIL

September 18, 1985

ORDERED:

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Quincy as follows: That the Revised Ordinances of the City of Quincy, 1976, as amended, are further amended by adding in Chapter 18, the following:

Article IV - Private Ways.
Section 31. Temporary Repairs to Private Ways.

In accordance with the provisions of M.G.L. Ch. 40, S. 6N the Commissioner of Public Works may make such temporary repairs to private ways as in his judgment may be required by the public necessity.

The Commissioner of Public Works shall determine the type and extent of the repairs to be made, and whether drainage shall be included.

There shall be no minimum number of abutters who must petition for repairs nor shall any betterment charge be assessed, nor shall any cash deposit be required.

It shall be necessary that the private way be opened to public use, but not for any term of years.

The City of Quincy shall assume no liability on account of damages caused by such repairs except to the extent required by law.

Child Care Center To Reopen At NQHS

Quincy's Health Assisting Aide Program of the Vocational-Technical School will reopen its Child Care Center next month at North Quincy High School.

The three-day a week program is free and available to 3 and 4 year olds living in Quincy.

Semester One is Oct. 22 to Feb. 5; Semester Two, March 6 to June 11.

Candidates will pre-register for both semesters on Oct. 3 and 4 from 8 to 10:30 a.m. in Room 106 at North Quincy High School.

Children will be selected from this pre-registration by lottery. Final registration for accepted applicants will be held Oct. 7 from 8 to 10:30 a.m. at the same location.

2 Firms Bid $300-M For Howard Johnson's

Two nationally known firms have reportedly signed final agreements to buy the Quincy-based Howard Johnson Co. for $300-million, returning the chain of orange-roofed hotels and lodges back to American ownership.

Marriott Corp. and Prime Motor Inns Inc. will be purchasing the chain from the Imperial Group of London.

According to Robert T. Souers, Marriott spokesman, it is too early to tell what effect the deal will have on the Quincy operation of Howard Johnson.

He said no layoffs are planned but he would not rule out the possibility.

State Sen. Paul Harold of Quincy, said there has been no indication that Howard Johnson plans to move their headquarters out of Quincy. They plan to continue with meat processing and candy making in Quincy, and ice cream in Brockton. That part of the operation will remain intact, that was my main concern as a state senator from the district.

More than 1000 people work for Howard Johnson locally: 600 at the corporate headquarters in North Quincy, 80 at the Quincy meat packing plant, 70 at its Quincy Candy and condiments plant, and another 260 at a manufacturing and distribution facility in Brockton.

In a statement released Tuesday (Sept. 24), Howard Johnson's president, G. Michael Hestage, said "the return of Howard Johnson and its tradition of service to the traveling public back home under American ownership means increasingly effective implementation of our continuing upgrading of lodging facilities and services.

While the company will be radically transformed by this sale, each of our operating divisions will be put in a dramatically improved position to maximize its potential."

The transaction, which includes assumption of Howard Johnson's outstanding debt, is subject to the approval of the Imperial Group shareholders and should be completed by year's end.

Once finished, the deal will entail splitting the Howard Johnson Company.

Prime Motor Inns will pay Marriott $235 million to take over the 125 hotels and lodges operated by Howard Johnson and 375 motor lodges and 199 restaurants operated as Howard Johnson franchises. Prime also will assume the Howard Johnson trademarks and trade names.

Marriott will retain 350 company operated restaurants and 68 turnpike restaurants. It also will keep the vending manufacturing and distribution operations.

Souers said most of Howard Johnson's restaurants, a Howard Johnson subsidiary, will be retained by the Imperial Group.

Howard Johnson Co. was founded in 1925 as a small patent medicine store and soda fountain in Quincy's Wollaston section. It grew into one of the best known food and lodging chains in the United States, and was acquired by Imperial in 1980 for $630 million.

Quincy Cafe License Suspended 22 Days

The Quincy License Board has been notified by the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission (ABCC) that it has suspended the license of Conway & Nally, 35 Washington St., Quincy, for 22 days.

The license will be delivered to the Quincy Licensing Board Nov. 4 and returned to Conway & Nally Nov. 26.

A letter sent to the License Board states that the matter came before the commission Sept. 10 on alleged violations of tampering, diluting or changing the composition of alcoholic beverages; failing to post a license; and permitting an illegality to take place on the premises in failing to post ABCC warning signs. Conway & Nally holds an all alcoholic restaurant license.

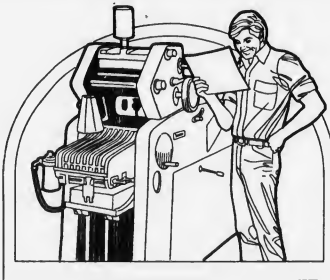

According to the ABCC. "At the hearing, an ABCC investigator testified that two investigators visited the licensed premises on Feb. 13, 1985, at approximately 9:45 a.m.

"They found two bottles of Kahlua in bar stock which had been tampered with; they found no Kahlua in back up stock.

"They found one bottle in bar stock of Caffee Lolita Coffee Liqueur and nine empty bottles of the latter in back up stock. No ABCC warning signs were posted. The bartender could not produce the 1985 license upon request."

The license of Conway & Nally was suspended 20 days for tampering, one day for failure to post a license, and one day for failure to post ABCC warning signs, the letter further stated.

Gloria's Cleanup Bill To Cost City Over $100,000 Power Restored In 10,000 Homes

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Power has been restored in virtually all of the estimated 10,000 Quincy homes that were plunged into darkness when Hurricane Gloria whipped Quincy with 97 m.p.h. winds.

Fortunately a predicted five to 10 inches of rain never came eliminating what would have been severe flooding problems.

Numerous trees were uprooted or snapped off or limbs and branches strewn about by the powerful winds.

It will cost the city an estimated $100,000 to clear the trees and clean up the debris.

At the height of the storm, more than 10,000 Mass Electric customers in Quincy were without power, according to Carl B. Herrmann, Mass Electric district manager.

Crews from as far away as Ontario, Canada, New York State, Tennessee, North Carolina and New Hampshire assisted Mass Electric in restoring power, Herrmann said.

Wollaston, with numerous heavy trees down or their branches strewn, was a major problem, Herrmann said.

By Tuesday, about 1,000 customers, scattered throughout Quincy, were still without power, according to Herrmann.

Forecasters had feared that Hurricane Gloria could be the worst storm to hit New England since 1938.

But although Gov. Michael Dukakis proclaimed a state of emergency in Massachusetts Friday, forecasters' worst fears failed to materialize.

In addition to the storm's weakened punch, advance warning of the hurricane allowed cities such as Quincy to map out strategies.

"We had time to plan, and the plans worked out very well," said Mayor Francis McCauley.

Quincy Civil Defense began tracking the storm early in the week, according to the mayor. Meetings between heads of the Police, Fire, Civil Defense, Public Works, Health and School Departments as well as Quincy City Hospital were held before, during and after the hurricane hit, he said.

"Emergency plans were made to hold Fire and Police Department shifts over," said McCauley. "The Fire Department had more activity because of downed lines, and the police department had potential problems with looting and vandalism."

Shelters were set up at the Atlantic, Atherton Hough, Snug Harbor, Vocational Technical, Lincoln Hancock, North Quincy High and Squantum Schools, he said, as well as at the National Guard Armory.

Emergency clearing work went into effect after the hurricane peaked, McCauley said. The first priority was to clear roadways of fallen trees and limbs, the second to clear limbs that weren't blocking roadways.

"We were lucky that there wasn't a lot of rain," said McCauley. "There was no flooding, and no damage to boats that I know of."

"I don't know of any damage to any city buildings."

He noted that the large sign

7-11 Store Robbed By Gunman

A clerk at the 7-11 Store, Copeland St., West Quincy, was robbed of $33 by a man she said showed a gun.

Majia T. Jones of Quincy told police a man came into the store Sunday morning and handed her a note which said, "This is a hold-up—give me all the money in the register."

He showed a black-handled hand gun, she said.

After taking back the note, he fled on foot on Copeland

St. towards Brewer's Corner, Miss Jones said.

She described the man as about 5-feet 6-inches or 5-feet 7-inches tall, weighing about 160 pounds, with dark brown or black curly hair, moustache, with green eyes, about 28 to 32 years old.

He was wearing red pants, a brown suede jacket, blue baseball hat, and white T-shirt, she told police.

Mother, Son Charged With Landlord's Murder

A Quincy woman and her son have been charged with murder in connection with the death of their landlord.

The landlord, Ferdinand Kalmbach, 49, of 115 Elmwood Ave., Wollaston, died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital.

Charged with his murder were Catherine M. Carson, 41, and her son, Michael C. Carson, 17, both of 321 Granite St.

Both Carsons pleaded innocent Monday in Quincy District Court. Their cases were continued to Oct. 9, at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Carson was released on $20,000 cash bail and her son was released on $5,000 cash bail.

Mrs. Carson said that she is a secretary. Her son is listed as a student at Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Police responding to a report of a fight said they found Mr. Kalmbach lying on his back in the basement of the house, bleeding from the chest area and not breathing. An EMT crew began administering first aid to Mr. Kalmbach, who police said had been stabbed three times.

Two knives were found at the scene, according to Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives.

Funeral services for Mr. Kalmbach will be held today (Thursday) at 11 a.m. at Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St.

Mr. Kalmbach, a former pipefitter for General Dynamics and the Fore River shipyard, died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a stabbing in Quincy.

He was born in Rumania and lived in Quincy for 26 years.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn (Mangalo) Kalmbach; a son, Freddy Kalmbach of Quincy; a daughter, Michelle Kalmbach of Quincy; his mother, Rose (Arnte) Kalmbach of Germany; a brother, Karl Kalmbach of Germany; and two sisters, Maria Sok Huor Christina of Texas and Christina Kesdrosky of California.

Visiting hours were scheduled from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) at the funeral home.

Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Flu Clinics

Rescheduled For Saturday

The flu clinic scheduled to be held Sept. 28, at the John F. Kennedy Health Center, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy, has been postponed until Saturday, Oct. 5, from 1 to 4 p.m. due to the hurricane.

The Pagnano Tower Clinic has been rescheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 2, from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Sweet Tooth Thief

A thief with a sweet tooth broke into the Farmer's Exchange, Faxon Ave., Quincy Center, took a quantity of candy and spilled it on the floor, according to police.

Police followed a trail of candy wrappers from the store through the rear parking lot to Saville Ave.

They found a man parked in a car he said had run out of gas, but there was no evidence to connect him with the crime, police said.

Condon Blasts McCauley On Storm Aftermath

Quincy mayoral candidate Joanne Condon has blasted Mayor Francis X. McCauley for what she says was lack of response in dealing with the aftermath of Hurricane Gloria.

"People in the north end of the city were particularly hard hit with downed power lines and fallen trees," Condon said.

"I went down to the Public Works Building myself on Saturday and could receive no information as to who was in charge," she said. "The left hand did not know what the right hand was doing."

As late as Tuesday night, people were still without power. "If I were Mayor, I'd be living at Massachusetts Electric's doorstep until I got service for Quincy," Condon said.

"People have been without power for four nights in parts of the city. The Mayor should have had Mass. Electric on the phone constantly to address this," Condon said.

McCauley Calls Condon Remarks 'Political'

Mayor Francis McCauley responded to mayoral challenger Joanne Condon's charges of lack of response in dealing with Hurricane Gloria's aftermath by calling her remarks "political and ill-timed."

"The criticism from the Ward 6 Councilor is not warranted," said McCauley, "she hasn't had a good thing to say about the city since she began to run for mayor. "There was no loss of life in the city, no one was killed or seriously injured.

"There was a team effort from beginning to end, and everyone worked well together."

"It's too bad she couldn't have risen above the situation and given credit when credit was due, not to much to me, but to the many people who did a good job, especially city employees who have been working 12 hour shifts."

McCauley said he held meetings with city department heads before, during and after the storm, was on the street surveying the situation, and maintained very close contact with Mass. Electric.

"After the hurricane, Mass. Electric couldn't restore power to everyone in one day. It's very delicate work."

"But considering all the factors, I think they did an excellent job."

6 Fire Dept. Promotions

Mayor Francis McCauley announces the promotions of six members of the Quincy Fire Department.

The six, who will be sworn in at ceremonies Friday at 11 a.m. in the City Hall Council Chambers, are Fire Captain Francis X. O'Hare, Fire Lieutenants Anthony J. Innello and Joseph O. Walsh, and Firefighters Michael J. Hobin, Henry T. Bishop and Paul L. Cuddy.

O'Hare, of 59 Hamden Circle, Quincy, will be promoted to the position of Deputy Fire Chief. He is a 28 year veteran of the Quincy Fire Department.

Innello and Walsh will be promoted to Fire Captains.

Innello, of 57 Harris St., Quincy, has been a member of the Quincy Fire Department for 15 years.

Walsh, of 25 Braintree Ave., Quincy, has been a member of the Quincy Fire Department for 10 years.

Hobin, Bishop and Cuddy will be promoted to Fire Lieutenants.

Hobin, of 189 Foster Ave.,

Ocean Bluff, is an eight year veteran. Bishop, of 42 Charles St., Hingham, is a 15 year veteran and Cuddy, of 78 Sunset Way, Pembroke, is a seven year veteran of the Quincy Fire Department.

All of the appointments are to be made from the top of the Civil Service list as supplied

If In Doubt Throw Food Away

Many people who lost their electricity during Hurricane Gloria are now wondering whether or not to use food that was in their refrigerator.

The advice of the Quincy Health Department is to be very cautious in deciding what to keep and what to throw away.

"We're telling people that any food that is off-color or has an off-odor should not be used," said Richard Stuart, Public Health Coordinator.

"It's better to be safe than sorry. We're also cautioning residents not to taste food to see if it is still good. Even a small taste of food that has gone bad can make them sick."

"The key thing is how the food looks and smells. Items such as milk spoil easily and there is a difference in the odor."

"Frozen meats change color if they are not good, or if the freezer has not been as cold as it should be."

"If there is the slightest doubt, people should throw the food away," Stuart advised.

"Meat which still has ice crystals present and has been maintained at 40-degrees Fahrenheit or lower for less than two days may be safely refrozen."

"Some quality may be lost, but the product should still be wholesome."

"Vegetables can also be refrozen. The taste might not be as good."

"Refrozen foods should be used quickly."

Brownell Files Bill To Increase Elderly Abatement

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) has filed legislation to increase the amount and eligibility of the elderly property tax abatement.

Under current state law, elderly taxpayers are allowed abatements equal to $4,000 of the taxable valuation of their real property or $500, whichever is greater, against their property tax bill, said Brownell.

However, due to revaluation and the recent surge in property values in Greater Boston, for all practical purposes the value of the abatement has been capped at the lower amount of $500, he said.

Rep. Brownell's legislation raises the elderly abatement to $750 for that reason.

To account for inflation, the legislation also updates the eligibility requirements for the abatement, Brownell said. Under current law, single taxpayers earning less than $6,000 and couples earning less than $7,000 are eligible. Brownell's bill increases those amounts to $13,000 and $15,000 respectively.

Explaining his reasons for filing the legislation, Rep. Brownell said, "The impacts of revaluation and rising property values have caused real problems for elderly property taxpayers."

"Many of my elderly constituents on limited incomes are seeing their property tax bills rise. For them, owning a home is becoming more and more difficult."

"I hope the Taxation Committee will do something along the lines of what I've proposed."

Brownell's bill also appropriates $12 million for the purpose of reimbursing cities and towns for incurring the cost of the increased abatements.

Kerry Aides Here Thursday

U.S. Sen. John Kerry will send staff aides to Quincy today (Thursday) to hold "office hours" in the Conference Room of the new City Hall from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The visit is part of a statewide program designed to make the services of Kerry's office more available and accessible, he said.

People are encouraged to stop by and discuss whatever they like, including Social Security, housing, health, veterans programs, personal taxes, student aid and immigration.

No appointment is necessary. People will be served on a first-come, first-served basis.

Burgin Remembers '38

"It was a terrible storm," says former Mayor Thomas Burgin. "I wouldn't want to experience it again."

Gloria?

No, the Hurricane of 1938.

That storm came sneaking into Quincy and New England Sept. 21. No one knew it was coming.

It claimed 600 lives in the New England area and caused millions of dollars of damage at a time when you could buy a house for $3,000 or $4,000.

"It came in around 5:30 p.m.," recalls Burgin. "We had no advance warning. It just arrived unannounced."

Burgin now 83, watched Gloria on television in his Quarry St. apartment. But back in 1938 he was out in the middle of that storm.

"The trees and wires came crashing down," he remembers. "Windows were blown in at the stores on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy. Boats were torn loose off the yacht clubs."

Burgin called in the National Guard — the first time ever here during peace time.

"We were afraid of the stores being looted," Burgin said. "And we needed extra help and patrols in other areas."

Burgin went 48 hours without sleep as the City's Commander during the storm. He was assisted by a friend, Frank Mitchell, a colonel in the National Guard and former football coach at Quincy High School.

Before it was over some 3,900 trees were uprooted or snapped off here in Quincy — some 200 of them in Mount Wollaston Cemetery alone.

All of the city's fire alarm boxes and police boxes were out of commission. Utility poles were all over the place.

Quantum, Houghs Neck and Germantown were cut off by roaring high tides from the rest of the city.

Winds reached 90 to 100 miles per hour — and more. "As I remember," says Burgin, "the eye of that hurricane came right over Quincy."

"It took us weeks to recover and get back to normal. It was a terrible storm and certainly left a lasting impression on me. I will never forget it."

Gloria, he says, "was bad enough. But '38 was a lot worse."

Burgin says he is thankful Gloria changed course and developed an elongated eye to keep the damage figure well under what was anticipated.

"If it had ever followed the 1938 route exactly, we would have had an awful scene."

Burgin thinks everyone should be grateful that hurricanes can now be spotted so far away and tracked mile by mile. Gloria was born off Africa.

"At least it gives you a chance to get ready — to store up on food, to get your boat out of the water, to stay off the roads and to stay home.

"That wasn't the story in 1938."

INCIDENTALLY, Burgin called Mayor Francis McCauley the day before Gloria was due to reach here and offered to do anything he could do to help.

McCAULEY

At that time, Gloria was on the exact course the 1938 storm took and Burgin wanted McCauley to know what devastation could be in store for Quincy and how he faced it.

"I was happy to hear from him and get some of his advice," says McCauley who doesn't remember the 1938 storm that well. "It was nice of him to do it."

OF COURSE, anyone still without electric power doesn't care how bad the Hurricane of 1938 was. As far as they are concerned, Gloria was more than tough enough.

But regardless of how bad it affected you, things could have been worse.

Take a family on Tyler St., North Quincy, for example. Tyler St. looked like it was bombed out with trees down everywhere.

But at this particular house a tree came down with a big honeycomb in it and "thousands of bees."

The honeycomb spilled honey all over the tree and branches and ground and the bees were buzzing around trying to retrieve the honey. And went after anyone who came near them or the honey.

The bees made the family virtually prisoners. Wouldn't let them out the door.

ON THE LIGHTER side, you might say that City Councilor Ted DeCristofaro had the right touch.

Power went out in his Murdock Ave. neighborhood like so many others. By Sunday, he and neighbors were still trying to be good natured about it and someone suggested DeCristofaro might get the power back if he kicked the light pole.

DeCristofaro, as a joke, went out to the sidewalk and gave the pole a couple of good kicks.

And, on came the power. Honest. (You might invite him to your neighborhood.)

THE FORECAST ON Gloria was ominous. It was following the Hurricane of 1938's course and if it stayed on course would be a disaster of equal — if not more — stature. Someone likened its potential punch to an atomic bomb.

Apparently the owner of a car parked on Franklin St. Friday morning — a few hours before Gloria was due to arrive — was expecting the worse.

He spelled out with duct tape on the rear window: "Gloria U Bitch."

A lot of people will agree she was. Others think she was more of a lady.

All depends on how she treated you individually.

Diabetes Screening At Ward 2 Center

A free sugar screening to detect symptoms of diabetes will be held Thursday, Oct. 10, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Ward 2 Community Center, 16 Nevada Rd., Quincy.

Quincy City Hospital Diabetic Education Nurse Arleen Ferretti will do the testing which is a simple procedure and results are immediate. A finger-stick blood smear is all the test involves.

During the screening the regular Thursday blood pressure clinic will be held.

For further information call Phyllis Bagen at 773-2133.

Pack 14 Registration Friday

Due to Hurricane Gloria, last week's registration night for Pack 14 was postponed until this Friday, Oct. 4, at 7 p.m. at the Wollaston Congregational Church.

Boys in grades 2 through 5 are invited to join. For more information call Cubmaster Gus Oster at 471-3121.

Always Enjoyed Storms ... Until Hurricane Gloria

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN
I've always enjoyed storms. When other people would frown and complain as the weatherman forecasted a "real nor'easter", I would smile and anticipate an exciting change in routine or respite from everyday life. Maybe it dates back to my younger days when a snow storm meant a possible "no school day" freeing me from doing homework or taking tests. But the feeling has continued even though I've long since learned that they don't often announce "no work days" for adults. I was in my glory for the Blizzard of '78. There was no place I had to go, nothing I had to do. I could sit by my window, warmed by an afghan, and watch the snow fall, listen to the radio, watch TV, read, or just think. Lovely. But Hurricane Gloria was different—because when she hit, we were left with NO ELECTRICITY. A few hours without power isn't bad. Especially if it's daylight. But as the hours go on and darkness falls, it becomes a different story, punctuated with "YOU CAN'TS." YOU CAN'T make a hot meal if you have an electric stove. YOU CAN'T turn on the TV and watch the news. YOU CAN'T walk from one room to the next without a flashlight. YOU CAN'T easily read by candlelight. And perhaps worst of all, YOU CAN'T take a hot shower when you wake up in the morning if you have an electric water heater, and

YOU CAN'T make a cup of hot tea to help you meet the day. One Quincy public servant who worked during Hurricane Gloria reported getting calls from people having psychological problems after being without power for a few days, cut off from their normal routine. That's not hard to understand. About the only bright spot after Hurricane Gloria was the magical moment when Mass Electric declared "Let there be light" and the lights came on again. So, the next time the weatherman points excitedly at the weather maps and talks about a big storm coming, I'll still start to smile in anticipation. But my smile will be just a little less bright after Hurricane Gloria.

Foreign Service Candidates Sought

Quincy area residents interested in a career with the U.S. State Department can apply for an application form for a written examination as a foreign service candidate, announces U.S. Cong. Brian Donnelly.

Deadline for the return of the completed applications to the Educational Testing Service is Oct. 25. The written examination will be administered in approximately 150 locations across the U.S.

Positions are available in all major areas of foreign service work, including administrative, consular, economic, commercial, political, and cultural/informational.

According to Donnelly, application forms and other information may be obtained by writing to the Recruitment Division, Department of State, Box 9317, Rosslyn Station, Arlington, VA 22209.

Delcevere King Protests Yale Colors At Harvard

Delcevere King of Quincy (Harvard '98) protested to the Harvard Student Council against the use of colors other than Harvard crimson at the various class reunions.

It was embarrassing, he said, to attend his class dinner in June and find the colors most in evidence to be blue and white right after Yale had beaten Harvard in baseball.

King was fresh from an intensive campaign to introduce the word "scofflaw" into the English language to define someone who defied the American prohibition laws.

ZONING SURVEY UNDERWAY

President Scott of Technical Advisory Corp. of New York told the Quincy Planning Board that a field survey, the first step in the zoning of Quincy, had been finished and new maps made.

Scott said the preliminary survey had shown that the city was especially rich in playground areas, which he called a "most fortunate condition."

"I don't know who has been responsible," he said, "but it is an indication of most remarkable foresight on the part of some governing body."

SAFETY RECORD HAILED

The city of Quincy drew praise from the State Department of Motor Vehicles for a highway safety record that showed only four auto deaths in 1924 compared to 11 in 1923.

"The record in Quincy is a remarkably good one," said DMV Statistician C.B. Hubbell. "Quincy is what may be called a 'through route' city, many thousands of tourists passing through it."

NICHOLS SCORED TWICE

Nate Nichols scored two touchdowns as the Quincy High School football team, the most promising in many years, trampled Melrose by a score of 30-0 in the mud and rain.

Quincy starters: Lindholm, Anderson, ends; Hebert, MacLean, tackles; Martell, Bussler, guards; Hayes, center; LeCain, Granai, Nichols, Parrish, backs.

MARRIED 50 YEARS — Kae and Ed Spargo of Wollaston celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a party held at the Quincy Neighborhood Club and given by their daughter, Nancy.

Mr., Mrs. Ed Spargo Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Kae and Ed Spargo of 17 Sherman St., Wollaston, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a party held at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

The dinner dance was organized by the couple's daughter, Nancy, and attended by 100 relatives and friends.

Among those attending was the couple's maid of honor, Katherine Berggren of Sandwich.

Also on hand were Mr. Spargo's two sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gherardi of Wollaston and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walp of Brewster and Mariett, Ohio, who were all married the same year as the Spargos.

Sen. Paul Harold and Mayor Francis McCauley presented citations to the Spargos who were married Sept. 25, 1935 at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mrs. Spargo, the former Kae Sheridan, was born in Allston.

Mr. Spargo was born in Quincy. Managing editor of The Quincy Evening News in the 1930s, he later worked in the composition room at the Boston Globe and retired 13 years ago.

He is a frequent contributor of letters and articles to The Quincy Sun, Boston Globe, Boston Herald, and Yankee Magazine.

The Spargos have lived in Quincy all their married life.

Susan F. Allen, 44

DPW Executive Secretary

A funeral service for Susan Frances Allen, 44, of Quincy was held Sept. 20 at Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Miss Allen, head administrative clerk in the city's department of public works, office of the commissioner, died at home Sept. 17 after a long illness.

Born in Boston, she had lived in Amherst before moving to Quincy 25 years ago.

Miss Allen was employed by the City of Quincy for 10 years. Last year she won the Mayor's Appreciation Award as employee of the year.

According to Stephen Aluisi, energy coordinator with the commissioner's office, "Susan was a real dedicated employee and had an outstanding personality."

A former employee of The Patriot Ledger and Delta Airlines, she was a member of the National Association of Female Executives, Daughters of the American Revolution, Boston, and Daughters of the Veterans of the Civil War, Boston.

She is survived by her mother, Muriel (Fields) Allen of Quincy and two sisters, her twin, Sandra Leet of Plymouth, and Jane Morrison of Rockville, Md.

Burial was private. Donations may be made to the Visiting Nurse Association, 1116 Hancock St., Quincy 02169.

Beatrice M. McShane, 70

A memorial service for Beatrice M. (Clark) McShane, 70, of Quincy, was held Tuesday at Bethany Congregational Church, 18 Spear St.

Mrs. McShane, a lifelong resident of Quincy, died Sept. 25 at her home after a brief illness.

She is survived by a son, John C. McShane of Quincy; a sister, Jeanne P. Hibbard of Norfolk, Va., and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Memorial donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 247 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, 02116.

Edna E. Crandall, 90

A private graveside funeral service for Edna E. (McClure) Crandall, 90, will be held (Thursday) at Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Mrs. Crandall, a native of Hampton, Prince Edward Island, died Sept. 29 at her home after a brief illness.

Mrs. Crandall lived in Quincy more than 80 years and was a member of the Union Congregational Church of Wollaston.

Wife of the late Courtland S. Crandall, she is survived by a daughter, Beverly Oliver of Weymouth; a twin sister, Alice Foster of Weymouth, and five grandchildren.

She was the mother of the late Joyce M. Copeland.

Funeral arrangements were by the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Anthony DiNicholantonio, Stricken During Hurricane

A funeral Mass for Anthony M. DiNicholantonio, 48, of Quincy, was said Tuesday in St. John's Church.

Mr. DiNicholantonio, who was stricken while protecting his new restaurant in Brockton against Hurricane Gloria, died Sept. 27 at Cardinal Cushing Hospital, Brockton.

He was in the process of opening his own restaurant, Robena's, after working as a chef at Susanne's Ocean Inn in Scituate for two years.

Mr. DiNicholantonio was a lifelong resident of Quincy and a member of the Quincy Auxiliary Police.

He is survived by his wife, Janet (Carumbo) DiNicholantonio; two daughters, Dawn DiNicholantonio and Nichole DiNicholantonio, both of Quincy; his mother, Adeline DiNicholantonio; and two sisters, Josephine Stewart of Braintree and Rose William of Hull. He was the son of the late Guy DiNicholantonio.

Burial was at Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements made by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St.

Emily Murphy, 72, Retired Realtor

A funeral service for Emily (Morgan) Murphy, 72, will be said Friday at 10 a.m. in the Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mrs. Murphy, 72, formerly of Quincy, retired real estate agent and broker, and retired partner in the former B.C. Realty Company, Wollaston, died Sept. 21 in Cairnes, Australia while on vacation.

Born in South Boston, she lived in Quincy most of her life and in Sandwich for 10 years.

She was a member of Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church, North Quincy.

Wife of the late Richard F. Murphy, she is survived by a son, Richard K. Murphy of Quincy; a daughter Marilyn Pierce of Sandwich; two brothers, James Morgan of Sagamore and William Morgan of Norwood; two sisters, Gladys Schult of Maryland and Jessie Smith of South Dartmouth; three grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery, Quincy.

Frederick H. Black, 77

A funeral service for Frederick H. Black, 77, was held Sept. 30 in Deware Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mr. Black, a lifelong resident of Wollaston, and a retired employee of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., died Sept. 27 at the Colonial Nursing Home, Weymouth.

An amateur radio operator, known by the name of "Jet," Mr. Black made regular contacts with hams in more than 130 countries. He traveled world-wide with his late wife, Gladys (Foley)

Black, to visit fellow radio operators.

Mr. Black retired at 65 after many years in the records department of John Hancock.

He was a member of the Quarter Century Wireless Association, the American Radio Relay League, Wollaston Masonic Lodge, Taleb Grotto, Aleppo Shrine Temple and Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite, both in Boston and United Commercial Travel Council No. 594, Wollaston.

Mr. Black was a charter member of the Goodyear Blimp Club, and member of First Baptist Church of Wollaston, and Boston Baptist Social Union.

He is survived by a nephew, Robert Black of Belmont. He was the uncle of the late Hollis Black.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Donations may be made to the Memorial Fund of First Baptist Church of Wollaston, 81 Prospect Ave., Wollaston, 02170.

Elizabeth Mitchell, 95

A funeral service for Elizabeth (Hughes) Mitchell, 95, of Quincy, was held Sept. 26 at the Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., Quincy.

She died Sept. 24 at home after a brief illness. Educated in England, Mrs. Mitchell came to the United States when she was 25 years old and settled in Brockton. She later lived in Quincy for 23 years.

Mrs. Mitchell is survived by two nieces, Muriel Donovan of East Dennis and Doris Ahearne of West Yarmouth, and a nephew, Arden Swanson of Halifax.

Burial was in Melrose Cemetery, Brockton.

Donations may be made to a favorite charity.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind...

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By prearranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-Arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers
the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

SOME THOUGHTS ON FRIENDSHIP... Someone said: "God gave us our relatives; thank God we can choose our friends." No man is an island. We need each other. It is this give and take, the interactions between personalities that flies down the rough edges and hones human nature into an amiable versatility. As the song says, "People who need people are the luckiest people in the world." Relatives die or move away, but friendships are formed wherever compatible souls find mutual trust and common interests. Lasting friendships are not negotiated, they are forged on the anvil of time. The tie that binds becomes deeper and stronger with the passing of years. Other relationships are damaged or destroyed either by time or distance. A young person comes home after college and finds that high school friendships have cooled. They have grown in different directions and there isn't anything to talk about anymore... Then there are some people who use their friends. They exploit friendships instead of cultivating them. Often a relationship is shattered by the violation of a confidence, a betrayal, a broken trust. This is not the kind of friendship we are interested in; a friend is a person with whom you dare to be yourself...

We like this poem by an unknown author on friendship:
Life is sweet because of the friends we have made and the things which in common we share;
We want to live on, not because of ourselves, but because of the ones who would care.
It's the living and doing for somebody else
On that all of life's splendor depends,
And the joy of it all, when we come to it all up, is found in the making of friends.

McCauley, Sheets To Submit Multi-Family Density Zoning Change

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and City Council President James A. Sheets have announced that they will introduce a proposed zoning change to the City Council at its meeting Monday night, Oct. 7, which is designed to reduce the density for any future multi-family residential projects.

In addition, McCauley and Sheets will submit another zoning proposal which will require developers of residential projects to provide additional on-site parking for visitors and guests.

With the first proposal, the density for multi-family construction in Residence B and Residence C districts will be reduced through an increase in the minimum lot area per dwelling unit; thus reducing some of the congestion in the City's neighborhoods.

In Residence B districts, the lot area per dwelling unit will be increased from the present 2000 square feet to 3000 square feet per dwelling unit, and in Residence C districts, the requirement will be increased from 1000 square feet to 1250 square feet per dwelling unit.

The second zoning change

McCauley and Sheets are proposing will require a developer of a residential project to provide .25 spaces for each dwelling unit on the site for the exclusive use of guests and visitors.

These spaces must be over and above the required 1.5 spaces for each dwelling unit and must be properly marked or striped as visitor or guest parking.

After these proposed changes are introduced at Monday night's City Council meeting, they will be forwarded to the Planning Board for a public hearing and a recommendation.

Mail Early For The Holidays

Now is the time for Quincy residents with relatives in the armed services stationed overseas, and those who wish to mail holiday greetings and packages to foreign countries, to plan for holiday mailings.

According to the U.S. Postal Service parcels sent to military personnel in Australia, the Far East and Southeast Asia have to be mailed by Oct. 18 if shipped by surface mail, the least expensive form of shipment. November is the month when most parcels shipped via Parcel Airlift Mail (PAL) should be sent. PAL packages are airlifted domestically to a gateway facility, then airlifted on a space available basis from the gateway to the APO (Army or Air Force Post Office).

Packages up to 30 pounds and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by PAL. Mailers pay the regular Parcel Post rate to the U.S. exit port or from the port of entry plus a fee for air service. The air service fee is 30 cents for parcels weighing two pounds or less, 60 cents for two to three pounds, 90 cents for three to four pounds, and $1.20 for four to 30 pounds.

'Why Not Boast?' Sermon At Bethany

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Oct. 6, by Bethany Congregational Church, Coddingdon and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and the 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

This will also be observed as Anniversary Sunday marking the 153rd year of Bethany Church which was founded in 1832.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled, "Why Not Boast?" based on scripture texts from 1 Corinthians 1:26-31 and Luke 18:9-14. The scripture readers will be Jean C. Smart in the chapel, and Louise B. Forsyth, moderator of the congregation, at the 10 o'clock sanctuary service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both services.

The chancel choir, under the direction of organist Peter

E. Krasinski, will sing as the offertory anthem, "God Be In My Head" by Nicholson.

The worship service will be broadcast by delayed-tape over WJDA, 1300 kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through 8th grade. Nursery care and a toddlers group will also be provided for babies and children under 3 years of age.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship time in the Allen Parlor, with a special Bethany Birthday Cake.

Families and individuals from the South Shore area are most welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For information concerning any of Bethany's services or programs, please contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

HONORED—Robert Almquist of Almquist Flowerland of Quincy, accepts the Norfolk County-Newton Lung Association's Community Service Award from George S. Bennett, president of that association. Almquist has supported many fund-raising efforts by donating plants to the Lung Association's annual auction. Presentation was made at Quincy Neighborhood Club.

'U.S. Foreign Policy' S.S. Council Topic

The 41st season of the United Nations Council of the South Shore will open Thursday, Oct. 10, with a lecture on "U.S. Foreign Policy and the Protection of Human Rights: the example of Chile, South Korea, and the Philippines."

Speaker will be Jonathan E. Fine, M.D. president, American Committee for Human Rights, and National Speaking Fellow for Physicians for Social Responsibility.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq. Admission is free, and all are welcome.

Dr. Fine has been chairman of the National Executive Committee for the Physicians and has traveled on human rights missions to South and Central America as well as the Far East, testifying before the U.S. Congress and the Second U.N. Session on Disarmament.

In the 1960s, Dr. Fine was Health Advisor for Latin America under the U.S. Agency for International Development, and Chief Health Advisor, U.S. Economic Mission to Peru.

Returning in 1968, he became Director of Public Health and Community Health Services for the city of Boston, leaving in 1983 to head the American Committee for Human Rights.

Before the meeting, a catered supper will be served in the Parish Hall at 6:30 p.m. For reservations and information about the charge, call Rachel Grover, 472-2334, or Mrs. Viola Ellis, 773-5019.

'Divine Plan' Topic At St. Joseph's

The first presentation of the Spiritual Development Program at St. Joseph's Church, Quincy Point, will take place in the church Friday, Oct. 4, at 7:45 p.m. Theme for this year will be: "I am loved; therefore, I am."

The Rev. Joseph Raek, associate pastor, will speak on the "Divine Plan."

Frances McDonald, a music teacher in the Quincy school system, will continue as director of the program.

Mass And Conference At St. John's

Rev. Ray Bourque, O.M.I., of the Truth Will Set You Free TV & Radio Ministry of Dedham, invites the public to attend a Mass and conference at St. John's Church, School St., Quincy, Saturday, Oct. 5, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Coffee and donuts will be served.

Jim Pansullo Receives 'Good Neighbor' Award

Radio personality Jim Pansullo of Wollaston, anchor and host/producer of WEEI's "Topic Religion" is the 1985 recipient of the Brotherhood of Congregation Mishkan Tefila's "Good Neighbor Award."

The presentation will be made Nov. 21 on the 25th anniversary of Congregation Mishkan Tefila's Annual Good Neighbor Night in Newton.

The award is given to those who have contributed to improving relations between people of different faiths, religions, and political backgrounds. Pansullo's radio show addresses a diverse spectrum of issues from abortion to religious education, to nuclear armament, to Jewish-Christian dialogue.

Pansullo, a 20-year resident of Wollaston, joins a select group of past recipients which include the late Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, John Cardinal Wright of Pittsburgh, Bishop John Burgess of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, Speaker of the U.S. House of Representative Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., and U.S. Senator Edward M. Kennedy.

In addition to "Topic Religion," which is now in its 16th year, is the oldest continuous broadcast of a religious program in New England. Pansullo also produces and anchors "Religion In The News," heard twice each Sunday.

Mary Carroll, Legislative Representative for COAMP, will speak on "Is There Participation With The Alliance For The Mentally III Of Massachusetts In The Mental Health Action Pact."

President Gwen Senger will report on "New England Community 1985 Support System Conference," held at Hartford, Conn.

Relatives and friends of those afflicted with long term mental illness are welcome.

Candlelight Service At Squantum Church

Left without electric power by Hurricane Gloria, the congregation of the First Church of Squantum met by candlelight Sunday morning for an all-church breakfast and the morning worship service.

Young people of the church assisted the pastor in leading the service, Chris Dixey and Sarah Midlram gave the call to worship, Susan Scott gave the opening prayer, Mindi Hurd led the congregation in the 23rd Psalm, Andrew Ogilvie read the scripture and Robert Dixey gave the prayer of dedication.

The church pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, preached on the topic, "Called To Go Out," taking his text from Genesis 12:1-9.

Organist Mary Ruth Scott had to use the piano rather than the organ which required electricity. The Chancel Choir sang "Now Let Us All Praise God and Sing" by Gordon Young.

Luther and Ruth Swenson were the greeters, Stewart Scott and Tore Wallin were the ushers and Ida Von-Reigers and Del Dougherty hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

In the afternoon the various Sunday youth groups met as usual: Orange Crush at 5 p.m., Seven-Up at 6:30 p.m., the Church Membership Class at 7:30 p.m. and The Way Up at 7:45 p.m. Other youth groups met throughout the week.

This Sunday, which is World Communion Sunday, there will be two worship services at the church, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. The Lord's Supper will be celebrated at both services.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST 20 Greenleaf St., Quincy

Cordially invites you and your family to attend Sunday Services at 10:45 a.m. Sunday School is held at the same time. Wednesday Evening Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. Child care is available both Sunday and Wednesday.

McCauley To Submit Flood Zoning Amendment To Council

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces he will submit a series of zoning amendments to the City Council at its Monday night meeting.

The amendments are designed to provide adequate flood plain management so the city can continue to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, McCauley said.

According to the Mayor, the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) has completed the revised Flood Insurance maps for Quincy which will become effective Dec. 4, 1985.

In addition to delineating areas that are considered flood plain, the revised maps also show areas that are extremely hazardous due to high velocity water from tidal surge and hurricane wave wash, McCauley said.

They also designate areas as floodways or channels of a river or brook that must be reserved in order to discharge flood waters without increasing water levels more than the 100-year occurrence, he said.

The proposed changes would require that any new construction or substantial improvement in a designated high velocity area must be located landward of the reach of the mean high tide, McCauley said.

These velocity areas are located along the water in Houghs Neck, Germantown, Wollaston, North Quincy and Squantum, he said.

The proposed zoning change will also require that all new construction, alteration and/or filling be prohibited in a designated floodway area unless certification by a registered professional engineer is provided demonstrating that such activity will not result in any increase in flood levels during the 100-year flood.

The floodway areas are located along Furnace Brook and portions of Town Brook.

The Mayor stated that those zoning changes must be approved by the City Council prior to Dec. 4, 1985 in order to have the Flood Insurance Program continue in the City. There are presently over 900 flood insurance policies in force within the City which insure against losses resulting from physical damage to or loss of real property arising from any flood occurring in the community.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE at Adams Field, Quincy, was caused by a tree that crashed across a chain link fence and buried itself into a section of the field's wooden bleachers.

Also bent was a 73-foot steel light pole. Richard Koch, executive secretary of the city's park and recreation board, said the damage here is close to $15,000.

Power Back In 10,000 Homes

on South Shore Bank in Quincy Square was blown away.

"There were no major problems with looting."

"Very few injuries were reported. A man on Quincy Shore Drive was reportedly hit by a limb but he was treated at the hospital and released," said McCauley.

McCauley commended Tony Siciliano, Civil Defense Deputy Director, Police Chief Francis Finn, Civil Air Patrol and Civil Defense workers, city employees, the Massachusetts National Guard and Sheriff Clifford Marshall's office for their help in the storm.

David Colton, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Public Works, estimated that labor costs alone would be in excess of $100,000 before the storm cleanup is completed in about two weeks.

"The money will come out of the department's budget," said Colton, "when everything settles down, we'll have to take a look at the budget to make sure we have enough money to finish the year."

Colton said DPW personnel were out working in the middle of the storm responding to emergencies such as city trees falling on private homes and on main roads.

Since then, the majority of DPW employees have been working 12-hour shifts on tree removal duty, he said.

City trucks are following behind rubbish trucks on collection days to pick up trees and limbs which residents have brought to the sidewalk, Colton said.

"What the crews don't clean up on the routes this week, they'll finish next week," according to Colton.

"Our guys have been out there working hard, doing an excellent job," he said. "We're lucky we didn't get the brunt of the storm, and we're lucky we have the people working here that we do."

Civil Defense Deputy Director Tony Siciliano took an aerial view of the city Monday in a helicopter made available by O'Connell Management and termed the damage substantial.

A disaster assessment will be compiled by departments in the city and forwarded to the mayor who will send it to the Mass. Civil Defense Agency, he said, in case funds become available.

Civil Defense received a steady stream of calls beginning last Thursday night when some coastal residents wondered if they should evacuate their homes, according to Siciliano.

At one point, 11 operators were manning the phones, he said.

Siciliano said the calls ranged from people who used oxygen powered by electricity to others who had electric can openers and couldn't open cans.

Poeple should always have items such as flashlights with batteries, portable radios, and hand-operated can openers for such a situation, Siciliano said.

Civil Defense personnel also provided a myriad of services including assisting residents of 353 Sea St. where an apartment building roof blew off in the storm.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said his department received a tremendous amount of calls during and after the hurricane.

"It was a tough week-end for the Fire Department," Valenti said, "but there were minor problems, nothing major. The city was well protected at all times."

Valenti said a double shift was held over Friday during the day and night.

"It was more a precautionary measure to make sure we had adequate protection."

"If a street became impassable and there was a fire, firefighters would have had an extremely difficult time and would have had to hand lay lines."

Fire Department apparatus was kept busy standing downed wires, some of which were alive, until Mass. Electric arrived, Valenti said.

The city's homeless were also protected during the storm, according to Nancy Powers, executive director of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition.

A temporary shelter was opened at St. John's School, Quincy Center, from Thursday at midnight to Saturday at 7 a.m., she said.

Fifteen homeless men had a safe place to sleep and food to eat, which was supplied by Esther Sanger, founder of the Quincy Crisis Center.

Earlier in the week, the coalition arranged to have other homeless people placed with families and friends in anticipation of the storm, Miss Powers said.

"We covered the majority of people who wanted shelter," she said.

"We're very indebted to St. John's for allowing us to open the shelter for the weekend."

"If there hadn't been a place to open up, these people would have been in serious jeopardy."

"If not for Fr. William McCarthy, St. John's pastor, there could have been 15 fatalities."

CLEARING AWAY this debris will require some delicate cutting. Tree limbs are entangled in power lines on Willow St., off Newport Ave.

Medford, 14, North Quincy 12

Raiders Brace For Brockton Powerhouse

By TOM SULLIVAN
As expected, North Quincy football coach Ken McPhee made some changes in his line up last week after being outscored, 63-6, in the first two games.

The changes paid off but the Raiders, despite a superlative effort, were edged by favored Medford, 14-12, Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium, dropping them to 0-3. Medford is 2-0 and is one of the favorites in the Greater Boston League.

Saturday, following its heartbreaking loss, North must face Brockton (2-0), the defending Suburban League and Super Bowl champions, at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Brockton is a huge favorite to repeat for the league title and make another Super Bowl appearance.

"This was a really tough loss," McPhee said. "I am very proud of the way the boys came back from two one-sided losses and I feel we can make a respectable showing against Brockton. This is a great group of kids who feel they can play against anyone and I know we will get better and better. We are still very green and we are going to give the other teams plenty of trouble before the season is over."

McPhee gave Ted Shionis, whose only previous appearances were as backup quarterback and defensive back, his first start at halfback on offense and what a day he had!

Shionis set a school record (also believed to be a record for either North or Quincy) with a 98-yard touchdown run from scrimmage and finished the day with 156 yards rushing.

With Gary McNamara out of the lineup with a knee injury, McPhee decided at the last minute to give Marc Smith his first start at fullback and he also ran well, picking up 48 yards on seven carries. Needless to say, both these players will continue as running backs.

Medford stuck entirely to the ground without a pass being thrown. Although the Mustangs ground up a net of 232 yards on the ground, North's defense played well. North had 237 net yards, by far its best offensive showing this year. Quarterback Chris Gray completed only four of 14 passes for 42 yards with two interceptions, the second ending any hopes North had of pulling out a win. Each team had 12 first downs.

"Our defensive ends, Don Clancy and Brian Flukes, were vastly improved today," said assistant coach Mark Mulvaney.

"Flukes recovered two fumbles, the first setting up our first touchdown. Angelo Kapetanakis also played strong defense. The offensive line, which had a bad day at Milton, also was greatly improved and the interior men, Ed Bagley, Kevin McCarthy and Kevin Kemp, played very well."

McPhee had good words for the secondary, singling out Shionis, John Pacino and Kemp.

Two freshmen, Mike Ainsley and Bill MacDougal, again turned in top performances. Ainsley was outstanding as a line backer and MacDougal played well on offense. He scored the second touchdown on an end-around play that caught the Medford defense napping.

Medford had a well-balanced running attack with Marc Bartolini, Sean Connor, John Hunt, Scott Pynn and Bob Ferrante all running well. Bartolini led the Mustangs with 84 yards.

North received to open the game and drove Medford's

Sailors Defeat Panthers, Move Into First Place

The Squantum Sailors, with their finest squad in years, took over first place in the Quincy Youth Football League with a 36-12 victory over the previously unbeaten Quincy Point Panthers, last year's runners-up, last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

In the other half of the doubleheader, the defending champion North Quincy Apaches easily defeated the Houghton Neck Manets for their first win.

The Sailors are 3-1 and the Panthers and West Quincy

Elks are 2-1.

The Panthers will meet the Apaches Sunday at 1 p.m. and the Manets will face the Elks at 2:30.

Dave Hutchins, Dan Hobin and Mike Gates paced the Sailors to their victory over the Panthers.

The Sailors struck first, taking the opening kickoff and driving to the Panther 10. Hutchins passed to Hobin for the first touchdown.

Squantum took advantage of a fumble on the Panther 37. Derrick Goodson scored in a 35-yard sweep and Hutchins passed to Hobin for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers got on the board with two minutes left in the half when Joey Russell passed to Brandon Farrell for 29 yards and the score.

The Panthers took the second half kickoff and drove to the Sailors' 20. Russell passed to Jim Sugrue for the touchdown. For the second time the try for the extra points failed and the Sailors still led, 14-12.

24, but on fourth down and one, failed to make it and the Mustangs took over.

Medford ground out three first downs and marched all the way to North's 15. Here Flukes fell on a fumble on the two and, on the first play, Shionis started to the right, cut back to the left, found a hole and outran everyone as he galloped 98 yards for a touchdown. A rush for the two-point conversion was no good.

North's previous longest runs from scrimmage were 90 yards by current assistant coach Pete Zoia in the mid-thirties and 93 yards by his son, Dean, a few years back. It is believed no Quincy runner ever went that distance.

Medford came back a few minutes later and drove 80 yards in seven plays for a touchdown. The march was featured by a 34-yard run by Ferrante and a 20-yard run by Bartolini. Hunt scored from the six and Bartolini passed to Geoff Stokes for the go-ahead points.

With 50 seconds left in the half, Flukes recovered another fumble on Medford's 34. Gray completed a pass in the flat to Shionis for eight yards and Smith made a first down on the 20 with 14 seconds left. Following an incomplete pass, Clancy tried a field goal but failed.

Following another fine punt by Gray to Medford's 19 early in the third quarter, the Mustangs methodically drove 81 yards in 12 plays, eating up six minutes and Hunt scored his second TD from the five.

The Raiders came right back and drove 75 yards in 12 plays, their finest drive of the season, and MacDougall, on fourth down and five, raced around left end on an end-around for eight yards and a touchdown.

Gray had a receiver wide open in the end zone but underthrew him on the try for tying points. One official called the pass complete but another overruled him and his call appeared correct.

The North defense rose up and held the Mustangs, giving the Raiders another chance to pull it out with 2:55 remaining.

Gray hit Shionis for 13 yards and hit Mike Cicerone for 11 yards. Cicerone lateraled to Shionis, who couldn't quite catch up with it, but North had a first down on the Medford 24 with 28 seconds left. Gray again passed to Cicerone for 10 yards but Gray's next pass was intercepted by Connor on the five and the game ended one play later.

College Spotlight

Dudek, Barrett Continue To Shine

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who has already broken his New England scoring record, continued his march toward the NCAA all-division mark of Walter Payton as he scored two touchdowns last Saturday in Plymouth State's 20-0 win over Westfield State, Plymouth, seeking its fifth straight New England Conference title, is ranked No. 1 in N.E. in Div. 3.

Dudek scored on a 38-yard run and a one-yard plunge for his 58th and 59th career touchdowns. The senior All-American needs seven to tie Payton and he is expected to break the mark before his final season is over.

Dudek ran for 182 yards against highly-regarded Westfield State, his finest performance of the year, and now has rushed for 4213 career yards.

Quincy's Bob Barrett had another good day as Curry

College, trailing, 28-0, rebounded to top Framingham State, 35-28, improving to 2-1.

Barrett completed 15 of 27 passes for 300 yards, one for a touchdown, and also scored himself on a 27-yard run. One of his favorite receivers continues to be Quincy wide receiver Jack Brown, who the previous week caught four passes to lead the NEFC in receiving.

Sailors Defeat Panthers

out the Panthers in the second half, with Scott Kemp, Dorsey Dugan, Greg Clifford, Sean Mulkern, Goodson and Jeff Calvert standing out.

The Sailors increased their lead to 22-12 when they drove downfield, aided by Panther penalties, and Gates scored from the two. Goodson added the two-point conversion.

Hutchins scored the next touchdown on a keeper to make it 28-12, and, with the Panther junior varsity playing, Sailors took over on their 47 and Hutchins raced 40 yards for the final touchdown and Steve Wysocki added the final two points.

The Sailors' jayvees battled the Panthers' jayvees over the final three minutes.

Dave Kiley, Wayne Foley, Wysocki and Dave McClood all played well for the Sailors. In the other game the Manets (0-4) struck first on a Mark Bogan touchdown but Keith Gott, with an outstanding game; Dave Murphy and Billy Early sparked the Apaches' comeback as they won going away.

The Panthers' junior varsity remained unbeaten and unscored upon with a 26-0 win over the Sailors last Saturday.

Saturday the Panther jayvees will meet the Apaches at 10 a.m. at Fore River Field.

Jaehnig Club Bounces Back

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club of Quincy bounced back from its first-game upset loss with a resounding 66-54 win over SSOB in the South Shore Sports Center Basketball League.

Using a full-court man-to-man defense, Jaehnig forced many turnovers, resulting in layups.

Mark and Steven Jaehnig combined for 33 points. Mike Jaehnig scored nine while playing an excellent floor game. Jim Timmins and Pete Grey seven each. Paul Principato six and Dan Jaehnig four.

The standings: D.C. South, 2-0; J.B. Heating, 2-0; John Hancock, 2-0; Jaehnig, 1-1; Hawks, 1-1; SSOB, 1-1; Volt Buster, 1-1; Bank of N.E., 0-2; Weymouth Maroons, 0-2; Germantown Bangers, 0-2.

Auxiliary Plans Free Boat Course

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary is accepting applications for a free course on basic boat handling and navigation.

The course will be held Oct. 20 at 10 a.m. at the Metropolitan Yacht Club, foot of Arborway Drive, East Braintree.

Cocce Playing At Bentley

Mike Cocce, a freshman from North Quincy, is having a fine season at defense for the Bentley College varsity soccer team.

Cocce was a standout at North Quincy and captained the Raiders.

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Brookline 35, Quincy 0

Presidents At Waltham Friday Night

With a stiff wind blowing at Brookline's Parsons Field Saturday, the Indians won the toss but preferred to let Quincy receive and to have the wind behind their backs in the first quarter.

The strategy paid off as the Presidents had all sorts of trouble going against the wind and Brookline quickly pulled away to a 21-0 first quarter lead and went on to bomb Quincy, 35-0.

Jack Raymer's Presidents (0-2) hope for better things Friday night when they go to Waltham for a 7 p.m. game under the lights.

"The wind was really blowing and they were smart to kick off and go with the wind," Raymer said. "They blocked a punt and got the ball on our 10 and we fumbled the ball away on our own 15. We couldn't do anything against the wind and Steve Austin wasn't able to pass. Our offensive line gave him no protection today and I'm surprised he is able to stand after taking a hammering. After that first quarter we didn't do badly but it was far too much of a deficit to come back from."

Quincy had one 50-yard pass from Austin to Don Parry for an apparent touchdown called back by a penalty, except for that play, the Presidents were unable to penetrate beyond the Brookline 30.

"Chris Veneto had another good day running the ball but, all in all, our offense was pretty much stymied," said Raymer. "Defensively, Steve Picarski, Mike O'Connor, who completely bottled up their wide receiver, and Tony Venturelli, who played well for the first time, played well.

"We are young and the kids kept fighting but it was just too much. You have to give Austin credit, he plugged all day with little or no protection."

Uthman Cazzalo scored three touchdowns for Brookline.

He scored the first touchdown on a 19-yard run and Phil Polshuk threw two touchdown passes to complete the first quarter scoring. They threw both to Ron Shelburne for 26 and 22 yards.

Quincy played the home team pretty even over the next two quarters but the Indians scored twice more in the final session.

Cazzalo scored from the four, then raced 70 yards for the final touchdown of the afternoon. Rene Elseye kicked all five extra points for the Indians.

CHRIS VENETO, left, and Mark Porzio are two of Quincy's best running backs and they will try to lead the Presidents back on the win trail Friday night at Waltham.

North Girls Off To Best Start In Years

The North Quincy girls' volleyball team, under first-year coach Jim Rendle, is off to its best start in some time. Marnell, Yvonne Chan and Kelly Naser have turned in some strong performances.

The Raiderettes will play at Boston Latin next Wednesday.

The North girls defeated Waltham, 2-1 (15-7, 13-15, 15-4) Monday at the North gym. "All things considered, I am very pleased with our progress," said Rendle. "We have been working on a defense that is totally new to the girls and much more complicated than anything they had in the past. In the few short weeks we have been together, I feel the girls can hold their own defensively with just about any team in our league."

Co-Captain Jean Welby has been the leader in the new defense, and Eileen Campbell, Christine Venezia, Denise Marnell, Yvonne Chan and Kelly Naser have turned in some strong performances.

"We have four wins and haven't even started working on the offense," Rendle said. "We believe that in volleyball, a good defense will create good offensive opportunities."

"We have been concentrating on playing that good defense and hoping we can take advantage of the offensive opportunities when they come."

Karen Runge has been the most successful offensive opportunist, hitting with power all over the court. Kathy Stark, Stacey Cavahlo, Jill Caldwell and freshman Deirdre Murphy have also done well offensively. Barbara Carroll and Co-Capt. Noreen Connolly have done a fine job of converting the good defense into offensive chances with their setting.

North's junior varsity team is undefeated. The players are Amy Drain, Kerry Gearin, Brenda Campbell, Angela Venezia, Teresa Gray and Yuenman Fung.

North's freshman team is also unbeaten with a 6-0 record. This outstanding group includes Julie Detwiler, Robin Guilfoyle, Heather Harford, Jennifer Killea, Kara Lentine, Debbie Panaro and Holly Rendle. The freshmen have outscored the opposition, 90-6.

Quincy Girls Win 6th

The Quincy girls' volleyball team defeated Boston Latin 2-1 (15-11, 14-16, 15-2) Monday to improve to 6-0 on the season. It was the 28th straight win for the First Ladies, the defending state champions.

The Quincy girls faced Newton North yesterday (Wednesday), will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday and will be at Brookline next Wednesday.

Lauren Standing served nine straight points in the First Ladies' easy win in the opening game. Quincy fell behind by nine points in the second game, then took a 14-13 lead before bowing in overtime.

In the deciding game Pam Austin served 13 consecutive points. Quincy had easy sailing.

Raiderettes Blank Brockton

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team, after squeezing by Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the Suburban League co-favorite with North, had easy sailing last week as it shut out Brockton, 15-50, to run its win streak in dual meets to 34 in a row.

The Raiderettes faced Quincy yesterday (Wednesday) and will run at Newton North next Tuesday.

North's Patricia Barrett was the individual winner against Brockton, covering the North course in 14:56. She was followed by teammates Tricia Leary, Sharon Barrett, Leanne Fitzgerald, Ann Toland, Maureen Furey and Caryn Collings, before Brockton's first finisher in eighth place. North's Colleen Toland placed 10th.

• Cross Country

Quincy Girls Defeat Brookline

The Quincy girls' cross-country team took a 1-1 record into the big meet with unbeaten North Quincy yesterday (Wednesday) and Coach John Franceschini was confident the First Ladies, with their best squad in years, would make a good showing.

Quincy, following an opening day win over Brookline, lost to a strong Waltham team 21-32, last week. The First Ladies will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin, the Suburban League co-favorite with North Quincy, next Tuesday.

In the Waltham meet Quincy's Kris Mullaney finished fourth and Sharon Steen fifth. They stayed with the first three Waltham runners all the way and finished only seconds behind.

Quincy's other scorers were Julie Coste, sixth, and freshmen Michelle Thacker, eighth, and Erika Lemos, ninth.

Sarah Lemos, Kathy Cahill and Janine Quigley missed the meet but were expected to face North Quincy yesterday.

"The distance events have been our big weakness in winter and spring track, but this cross-country team works extremely hard and should fill the holes nicely," said Franceschini.

"We are progressing well and will get better in each meet. We are looking forward to the league meet in November."

Gloria Blacks Out 10,000 Cable TV Homes

Quincy Cablesystems was also a casualty of Hurricane Gloria when some 10,000 subscribers got blacked out.

But according to General Manager John King, half of Quincy Cablesystems 20,000 customers whose sets went dead when power lines were zapped last Friday by the storm, got their television sets working again on Saturday; others in time for the Pat's football game Sunday.

"There are still small pockets of customers around the city who are still without their cable televisions working," said King, "but these are individual subscribers who lost use of their sets when utility poles were snapped off by the winds or when uprooted trees tore down electric wires."

King said cable television had another plus in their favor—sub power stations located in sections of the city that are accessible to repair crews in the event of storm-related breakdowns of the system, and standby batteries that are installed in transformers atop utility poles and kick over and generate power while line trouble is corrected.

David J. Keefe of Scituate, executive vice president of American Cablesystems, parent company of Quincy Cablesystems, said "this storm will cost us hundreds of thousands of dollars."

American Cablesystems holds franchises in Quincy, Hingham, Hull, Norwell, Hanover, Milton, Randolph, Dedham, Scituate and Cohasset.

NFPA Sponsoring National Fire Safety Poster Contest

Over $6,000 in prizes will be awarded to children in kindergarten through the eighth grade—and their schools, who participate in a National Fire Safety Poster Contest.

Announcement was made by Robert W. Grant, president of the National Fire Protection Association, (NFPA) headquartered at Batterymarch Park, Quincy.

"We want to involve school children throughout North America in this unique contest," Grant said, "and invite teachers, parents, and the fire service to encourage children to participate."

This year's contest theme is "What Keeps Me Safe From Fire." This theme was chosen to produce many different kinds of images by children of all ages.

To allow children of the same age to compete with each other, the contest has three age-specific categories: kindergarten through the second grade; third through the fifth grade; and sixth through the eighth grades.

First, second and third place winners in each category will be selected from all entries. In addition, a grand prize winner will be selected, with this winning poster published by NFPA for the 1986 National Fire Prevention Week observance.

NFPA will showcase all winning posters during its annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia May 19-22.

The winners will receive U.S. Savings bonds and their school will receive fire safety educational materials.

Entries must be postmarked by January 15, 1986, and all entries become the property of NFPA.

HAPPENING FOR THE HOMELESS filled St. John's Parish Hall with people who contributed to a worthy cause and enjoyed crafts, games and food.

John Adams Topic For Historical Society

The next "Quincy Remembers" program of the Quincy Historical Society will be a lecture Thursday, Oct. 10, at 1:30 p.m. by Professor Alan Rogers, of the history department at Boston College.

The title of his lecture is "John Adams, Boston's Truest Son."

The program will celebrate and commemorate John Adams' 250th birthday.

Rogers has been at Boston College for the past 11 years. His specialty is early American history.

He was awarded his Ph.D. at the University of California.

Rogers is the author of three books: "Empire and Liberty," "From Revolution to Republic" and last year, "Boston, City on the Hill."

The lecture will be held at Adams Academy, home of the Quincy Historical Society, 8 Adams St., Quincy.

The public is invited. There is no admission charge. Refreshments will be served.

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 3

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You enjoy a round of applause for work well done—then it's time to get on with the next major project. Romancewise this is a quiet week, given to introspection.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Your sympathetic approach enhances a new friendship. There's forward mood to this period; perhaps you're studying a new language, or experimenting with exotic cuisines.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Accent is on health; spend ample time reviewing needs of your family, and consider a commonsense fitness program. Memories are rekindled when a friend from long ago returns.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Debate at work peaks before it subsides. Apologies may come your way... accept them with grace. Tact is all-important if selling an idea. Romance is on the upswing.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
If making home improvements or shopping for major items, research is all-important. Avoid impulsive action in romance as well. Small pets may figure in the picture.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Small financial windfall may arrive by the end of the period. Arguments are not resolved too readily—it's probably fruitless to persist. Intriguing correspondence arrives by Wednesday.

LEO - July 23-August 22
You enjoy the successes of those dearest to you—and they in turn appreciate your respect and encouragement. Financial news-brightener may arrive now. Culture is present theme.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Your charm and sophistication make you the life of one party at least this week. Entertainment is your present strength... your social adeptness can win you points on the job.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Reading between the lines and looking for current trends can elevate your status at work or in the community. Your secret lies in the ability to interpret events.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Gradual development of plans can lead to unique accomplishment by Tuesday-Wednesday. Stubborn streak may surface toward the weekend. Partnership activities are generally favored.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
You and your favorite person may choose to agree to disagree... leading to an enhancement of the relationship. Plans are subject to last-minute revision, especially on weekend.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Recent project benefits from revision. Innovative ideas win you applause on the job. Romance focuses on the sentimental side of your relationship. Acting abilities are excellent.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Venus rules your sign, and love and beauty are essential elements in your life. Indeed, the arts are featured throughout the coming year—a wonderful period for painting, sculpting, writing or performing. Practical matters are important too; you must learn to take a more forceful position in general.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 3rd, singer Chubby Checker; 4th, actor Charlton Heston; 5th, actress Glynnis Johns; 6th, songwriter Arthur Hastings; 7th, actress June Allyson; 8th, actor Chevy Chase; 9th, actor Edward Andrews.

H.N., Adams Shore Centers Plan Trip

The Houghs Neck and Adams Shore Community Centers are planning a bus trip to the Shiner's Rodeo, Wilmington Saturday, Oct. 12 at 11:30 a.m. or noon for a 1:30 p.m. show. Return time will be about 4:30 p.m.

Those interested must sign up in advance.

The Houghs Neck Center has five adult tickets and 18

tickets to children.

Tickets will be given out on a first come first served basis.

Call Mrs. Patricia Ridenat at 471-8251 to sign up for the trip.

Therapy Group At Mental Health Center

The South Shore Mental Health Center, 460 Quincy Ave., will offer a therapy group for men and women in their early 40s to late 50s Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The group is geared to helping people who are having difficulty handling mid-life issues such as changing social life or family or work roles, and those experiencing difficulty managing relationships. Insurance is accepted and fees are reasonable.

For a confidential individual meeting with the group leaders, call Bill Clark or Susan Maynard at 770-4000, ext. 201.

Merrymount Park Exposer

Three young girls reported to police that a man exposed himself to them while they were playing at the Merrymount Park playground.

The girls, two age 12 and one age 7, said the man was in the bushes watching them as they played on the swings when he exposed himself.

When he started to come out of the bushes, the girls fled, according to police.

The girls said the man was about 20 years old, white, about 5-feet 8-inches tall, with brown hair and was wearing blue sweat pants with a stripe, and white T-shirt with a blue emblem.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

ENJOY YOUR INFLATION HEDGE

QUESTION: Inflation seems to be this nation's number one problem. How can I protect myself and my family from this menace?

ANSWER: If you are a homeowner, you are doing it already - because one of the safest and surest hedges against inflation is the ownership of real estate. Your mortgage expenses will stay fairly steady, even in times of rising prices. With a fixed mortgage the monthly payments for principal and interest don't change.

If you decide to sell, you can be confident of getting back more money than when you bought. So, if you're a homeowner, you've been an effective economist all along and didn't know it.

AS A HOMEOWNER, you are protecting yourself from inflation to a great degree.

Condon Opposes Abortion At Hospital

Quincy mayoral candidate Joanne Condon announces her opposition to medically unnecessary abortions being performed at Quincy City Hospital.

Councillor Condon, who has made this position known to hospital personnel, indicated she has long been on record as being opposed to abortion.

She said she objects to any abortions being performed at the City Hospital, except those medically necessary to save the life of the mother.

"Although Quincy City Hospital is run by HCA, it is still a city facility and as such should not permit these abortions to take place at the facility," said Condon.

"Mayor McCauley has repeatedly refused to state his position on the performance of abortions at Quincy City Hospital, hiding behind the legalities of federal funding," Condon said.

"This is not just a moral issue when we are talking about the involvement of a city facility. Let there be no mistake as to my position on this subject. I am pro-life and opposed to these operations at Quincy City Hospital."

McCauley To Seek Grant For Burgin Walkway

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces he will apply for a State Department of Public Works Economic Development grant to secure funds to construct a pedestrian walkway over the Burgin Parkway and the MBTA tracks in the vicinity of Star Market and Paperama, Quincy Center.

The old walkway was removed because of the construction of the Burgin Parkway Extension, McCauley said.

Estimated cost of the walkway will be close to $1 million. Funding for a project of this type will be contained in a $2 billion state bond proposal, he said.

McCauley said he had been informed by Senator Paul Harold that passage of the bond issue is expected shortly.

Construction of the walkway will facilitate the movement of pedestrian traffic between the Granite St. shopping area and downtown Quincy.

McCauley said he has directed Planning Director James Lydon to prepare the grant application for submission to state authorities as soon as the bond issue is passed.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off laundry costs with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories before you eat them? Take control with a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

Couple To Renew Vows After Gloria Interruption

Most couples put a lot of time and energy into making their wedding day special and memorable.

But Mother Nature decided to take matters into her own hands for the wedding of Karen O'Toole of Quincy and Michael Bissett of Brockton.

For the two, both age 25, had an uninvited guest at their wedding - Hurricane Gloria.

Karen and Michael were to have been married Friday evening, Sept. 27 at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

But the ceremony ended up taking place that afternoon in the living room of the bride's parents before 30 family members, friends, and the family dog, Shana. The electricity had been lost hours before.

"At 11 a.m., Lombardo's called to cancel the reception because they didn't know if they could guarantee power," said the mother of the bride, Mrs. Edward O'Toole.

"Once we knew we wouldn't be able to have the reception, we used our phone and that of our neighbor to tell the 160 invited guests the news," she said.

But the couple decided to go ahead with the ceremony so that they would be married when they flew to Miami the next day for a honeymoon cruise to Bermuda, said Mrs. O'Toole.

"It was kind of hairy for a while," she said, "we knew it was going to be a wedding we'd never forget."

In the midst of the storm, the O'Tooles were able to buy luncheon meats for sand-wiches and a cake with "Karen and Michael - Go For It" written on it. The parents of the bride and groom, the bridesmaids, some close relatives and friends from the neighborhood joined the couple in the living room/dining room area.

The bride, bridesmaids, and mothers of the bride and groom all wore dungarees.

"We couldn't put on the dresses we had for the wedding because the house was so warm," she explained.

Nevertheless, the wedding which the couple had begun planning nine months before, finally took place with Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's, officiating. One of the guests held a flashlight so that he could see.

At the close of the ceremony, Fr. McCarthy commented on the intimacy of the wedding ceremony.

"It was a little sad, because of all the planning that had gone on beforehand," said Mrs. O'Toole, "but when Karen was leaving I told her she had all of her family together and her closest friends here."

"It was an experience and everyone said how they enjoyed it."

Karen and Michael will renew their vows at a 6:30 p.m. Mass Friday at St. John's. A reception will follow at Lombardo's.

She and her bridesmaids will finally get to wear the beautiful gowns they picked out months ago.

And where had they bought the dresses? At Gloria's of Weymouth.

Gloria May Cost City Up To $1.2-M

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Hurricane Gloria may have left the city of Quincy with a $1.2 million tab for damage to municipal property, debris cleanup and other storm-related costs.

According to Principal Planner Richard Meade, who was designated as disaster assessment officer by Mayor Francis McCauley, key departments in the city submitted their best estimate of damage Tuesday.

The estimates were forwarded to Robert J. Boulay, director of the Civil Defense Agency in the Office of Emergency Preparedness.

"Boulay was looking for an estimate of cost so that they can pursue every available avenue of assistance for communities in Massachusetts," said Meade.

The departments of police, fire, public works, parks and forestry, school, housing authority and civil defense as well as the hospital have been working on the estimates since last Thursday, said Meade.

Figured in the estimates are costs for public property damage, personnel-overtime and temporary help, housing and feeding, and cleanup, Meade said.

There are no figures available yet on private property damage, said Meade.

Mayor Francis McCauley said that the city hopes to have just about all of the streets cleared of the storm's aftermath by Friday of this week.

Paul Anderson, Department of Public Works commissioner, said that costs for his department will exceed an earlier estimate of $100,000.

Anderson said that his employees have been working 12-hour shifts since the hurricane struck, with the exception of last weekend when they worked 10-hour shifts.

"It's not easy work," said Anderson. "I'm really pleased with the performance of our people."

Anderson said DPW crews, which are supplementing the work of the Park, Recreation and Forestry Department in the cleanup, have been following BFL trucks on rubbish removal day.

But the department fell behind in the heavily hit areas of Wollaston, North Quincy and the peninsula, Anderson said.

"We'd clean streets one day, and the next day we'd see trees and branches out again," said Anderson.

Anderson asked local residents to assist the city in its cleanup efforts by making sure all of their trees, brush and branches are ready for pickup this week.

Council Overrides McCauley On Hospital Veto

Mayor Francis McCauley said he doesn't think the City Council's action Monday night to override his veto and rezone the Quincy City Hospital site as Planned Unit Development was really necessary.

But if PUD hearings can be held and the council can give its approval for a special permit at the Nov. 18 meeting, "that would be utopia," said the mayor.

At a crowded City Hall meeting, the council voted 6 to 3 to override the mayor's veto of an earlier order to rezone the hospital site as PUD.

Voting against the override were City Councillors Richard Koch, Jr., Joseph LaRaia and Patricia Toland.

The rezoning means that the council will have more control over the $75 million replacement of a major portion of the hospital.

Instead of just applying for a building permit, the hospital must now submit its plans to the City Council which can issue a special permit under Planned Unit Development.

Hearings must be held, jointly or separately, by the Planning Board and City Council.

When a special permit is issued by the council, there is a 20 day waiting period to allow anyone to file a challenge in court.

If that does not happen, the hospital can then apply for a building permit.

Debate involved whether the council originally intended the PUD process to affect current or future construction at the hospital when it approved the rezoning.

McCauley said he didn't think the council meant for the PUD process to apply to the current reconstruction project.

He issued the first veto of his administration because he felt delays caused by the PUD process would "significantly increase the overall cost of the project."

However, the majority of City Councillors disagreed with McCauley.

"Why should they (Quincy City Hospital) be allowed to be beyond the public process," asked Councillor John Lydon, who made the motion to override the veto.

Computers Speed Up Tax Bill Payments

The long lines of Quincy residents waiting to pay property tax bills at City Hall could be a thing of the past, thanks to the city's own computer system.

Robert Brennan, director of data processing, said that, in years past, lines of taxpayers have extended from City Hall as far as Hancock Cemetery.

But the new computer system, and consolidation of two lines into one in the collector's office, resulted in an average of seven to eight minutes for a resident to pay a bill Monday, said Brennan.

A total of $124,660.86, was collected Monday, the first business day since the tax bills went in the mail Friday, according to Mayor Francis McCauley. They are due Nov. 4, he said.

"It's a new process, but it seems to be working pretty well," said McCauley.

Brennan explained that taxpayers used to wait in line in the collector's office to obtain a duplicate of their bill, and in a second line to pay it. Now residents receive two copies of the bill when they receive it in the mail, so one line has been eliminated, he said.

"It's a tremendous labor saver," said Brennan, who explained that up to three employees would be assigned to give out duplicate bills at

A Quincy woman's car was damaged when another motorist hit it with a club after he apparently became angry with her when her motor vehicle got stuck in traffic at Sea St. and Southern Artery.

Jeanne Sharples of Wollaston said the man driving the other car started waving a club at her through her car window when her car got stuck in traffic after leaving Stop & Shop.

After she progressed through a set of lights, he pulled up alongside her car, and hit it with the club leaving a dent in the rear quarter panel, according to police.

Death Of Quincy Man Still Under Investigation

Police are still investigating the death of William J. Sheffler, 29 whose body was found Oct. 1, about 60 feet in the woods off South St., which intersects with Edinboro Rd., Quincy Point. They are treating the case as a homicide, according to Capt. David Rowell, chief of Detectives. There are no suspects, he said.

Sheffler lived at 1015 Southern Artery, not too far from where his body was found, Tuesday afternoon, Rowell said.

Autopsy reports are incomplete but they indicate extensive injuries to the chest area, broken ribs, a broken sternum, and severed spinal cord, Rowell said.

According to the pathologist, Rowell said, the injuries are consistent with motor vehicle type accidents.

"We think the body was carried off the roadway and deposited where it was found," Rowell said, "but there is no way for us to prove that."

"Where he met his untimely death or where his injuries occurred, we don't have any idea right now."

Rowell said Sheffler was clad in running shorts, track shirt and soccer shoes.

The Quincy Police Detective Unit is investigating the case, with assistance from the Norfolk County District Attorney's Office.

TONY SICILIANO

City Council Commends Siciliano

Tony Siciliano, deputy director of Quincy Civil Defense, was commended by the City Council Monday night for his work before, during and after Hurricane Gloria struck.

"He did a superb job," said Council president James Sheets.

Ironically, noted Sheets, Siciliano, whose agency assisted many who had lost power to their homes, was among the last in the city to receive electricity at his house.

Parking Lot Vandalism

Kinney Systems reported vandalism to its Hancock parking lot over the weekend.

A white male, about 20 years old, with blond hair, blue jacket and white pants broke into two gate machines, Kinney told police.

One machine gate was broken, another had its cover torn off and wires ripped out, according to Kinney.

North Quincy Channel To Be Dredged

A two-month project to deepen the North Quincy Channel and attract larger boats to its boating community is expected to get underway this month.

According to State Rep. Michael W. Morrissey of Quincy, work is expected to begin Oct. 15 on the channel that leads into Squantum and Wollaston Yacht Clubs and should take up to 60 days to complete.

"Quincy Bay has historically been the nucleus of a strong boating community, Morrissey said. "Over the last few years the bay has lost many larger boats to deeper ports, while smaller boats were restricted to use during higher tides only."

$56,034 For NQHS Gym Floor

North Quincy High School should have a new gym floor in time for the basketball season.

The City Council voted unanimously Monday night to appropriate $56,034 to the North Quincy High School Bond Account. It will be transferred from the Della Chiesa Parking Bond Account.

Auditor Robert E. Foy III told the council that the appropriation, and money already available, amounts to $128,000 which is the cost to lay a new floor.

Foy said work on the floor can begin immediately.

John Brown, superintendent of maintenance for the schools, said that the new floor will come with a one year guarantee on labor and maintenance.

He said the problem with the old floor was that the resin hardened.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro commented on "how easily we can get money for a gym floor, but we don't have books, papers and pencils."

Restaurant License Suspended 3 Days

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy Licensing Board voted Tuesday to suspend for three days the liquor license of Bob White's Restaurant, 211 Sea St., for an alleged violation of its license.

The suspension will be from Oct. 29 to 31, said Police Chief and board member Francis Finn. Finn had originally suggested a 10 day suspension. Later, he recommended that the suspension be suspended.

The action by the board was attributed to the fact that Bob White's had no prior licensing problems. Atty. George Burke, who represented the establishment at the meeting, did say, however, that he will appeal the decision to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission (ABCC).

"I think we have to back the police," said City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis, "we just can't slap their hands."

The establishment was brought before the board after an incident which took place Sept. 21.

According to the police report, officer Paul Quinn noticed the lights on and cars in the parking lot of Bob White's at 3:25 a.m.

"The juke box was playing loudly, patrons were at the bar with drinks, the bartender was behind the bar," the report stated.

Sgt. Normand Goyette, one of the reporting officers, said at the meeting that there were "six to eight people at the bar drinking and the bartender failed to open the door for five to ten minutes."

Goyette said one man had passed out on the floor. He added that the bartender said the man was not drinking there but came into the establishment in that condition and she was keeping him from driving.

"I also found a man and two women hiding in the ladies room," he said.

According to the police report, when the officers ordered the patrons to leave, the bartender verbally attacked them.

"The officers responded to the matter correctly in trying to resolve it," Burke said. He added that Robert White, owner of Bob White's, "fired the girl immediately because of the police report."

"I would be sadly disappointed if the only reason this was before the licensing board was because of insults to the police," said Finn. "This is here because the establishment was open at that late hour."

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney contacted the board and voiced his concern about this problem.

Chief Finn said the suspension will be held through the appeals period.

Thanks Civil Defense For Hurricane Help

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would like you to place a thank you to the Civil Defense of Quincy.

I called them Monday,
Sept. 30 at 10 a.m. to tell them that we were still without power since Friday afternoon, and also telling them of all the elderly on my street, and my sick son who was at home.

She called me back periodically to see if we were restored our power.

We received our power
Tuesday at 2 a.m.

What a great feeling having our power back on.

I would really think Civil Defense deserves the credit.

I truly thank them muchly.
Please if possible, place an article thanking them, so they will know it was muchly appreciated.

Coastweek Focuses Attention On Value Of Our Shores

Editor, The Quincy Sun
Coastweek is being observed nationwide during the week of Oct. 7 through 14.
Coastweek is a citizen's network of organizations, agencies and individuals who annually focus attention on the salt and fresh water shores of our nation.

The emphasis is on activities that foster the public's awareness of the great value of the nation's coasts and shores, the great diversity of their uses, the increasing pressure and conflicting activities and the urgent need for improved planning and management. This brings people of diverse interests together to work for their collective and individual goals.

Coastweek activities in Quincy are low key but significant as should be every citizen's awareness of his or her individual responsibility to be informed and to take an active part in effecting balanced and equitable use of our 16 miles of coastline.

There is an exhibit at the Crane Memorial Library of materials relating to coastal matters. The schools will emphasize coastal studies during the week. There will be a walk on Quincy's Salt Marsh Trail Saturday, Oct. 12 at 10 a.m., meeting at the corner of Quincy Shore Drive and Fenno St. The activities have been fostered by the League of Women Voters in Quincy, one of the supporting organizations.

The importance of bringing the coast to mind for a week each year is to foster public awareness of the responsibility of each citizen in protecting our coast in Quincy. With the push for development in Quincy, public access to the shore is threatened. Each thinking citizen should look at the zoning ordinances to insure that a balance of development and public access can be effected on the coast. The zoning ordinances exist to protect the public health, welfare and safety; they are not etched in stone, they can be amended.

There's not much comfort or pleasure in having 16 miles of coastline if you have to live in a luxury condominium to enjoy it.

Control Commission Endorses Coast Week

Chairman Leo J. Kelly, announces the city's Environmental Control Commission, has voted to endorse Coastweek 85, Oct.
7-14.

Coastweek is a nationwide celebration of coastal resources.

Coastweek is a citizen's network or organizations and agencies and individuals who annually focus attention on the salt and fresh water shores of our nation, said Kelly.

The emphasis is on activities that foster public awareness of the great value of our nation's coasts and shores, the great diversity of their uses, the increasing pressure and conflicting activities and urgent need for improved planning and management, according to Kelly.

Kelly said that the theme of Coastweek is to bring fishermen, scientists, teachers and elected officials together to work for the collective good.

"Coastweek encompasses activities from beach parties to educational seminars," Kelly said.

Raymondi For Treasurer?

Former City Councillor Daniel Raymondi may be coming out of political retirement.

He reportedly is sizing up a possible move for the Norfolk County treasurer's job.

Sources close to him say Raymondi is interested in the post if embattled incumbent James Collins resigns or is forced out of office.

Collins' successor would be either appointed by the Norfolk County Commissioners or elected in a special election on next year's election ballot.

Collins, who has a laundry-like list of charges against him to which he has pleaded innocent, is under an agreement with the office of Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti not to operate as county treasurer while the charges are pending.

He has about five years to go on his term, having been re-elected just last year. The job pays about $43,000.

But others are interested in the job. Among them, reportedly, is County Commissioner George McDonald of Quincy.

If Collins' successor were to be appointed by the commissioners, it would seem that McDonald might have an edge.

But Raymondi reportedly has some strong backing for the job including former Dist. Atty. George Burke, former First Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard Barry, former Mayor Arthur Tobin and James (Pete) Ricciuti, public works commissioner and right arm aide under Mayor James McIntyre and Walter Hannon.

ONE OF THE photos in our coverage of Hurricane Gloria in last week's Quincy Sun kicked up a bit of a storm itself.

There were a number of phone calls from readers who didn't like the photo on Page 1 that showed the rear window of an auto with a brief, but to the point message in duct tape: Gloria U B - - -

Some callers were quite indignant, insisting the five letter word was terrible in a community, family newspaper. Others thought it was just a little too strong.
Some were surprised that The Sun would use the photo instead of just keeping it in the office.

We discovered that different people — like dictionaries — have different definitions for this word.

We confessed to the callers that we did do some mental wrestling over whether or not to use the photo.

We decided to go with it after consulting dictionaries and finding these definitions: "a malicious, selfish woman," and "a spiteful woman."

Like, we said as an illustration, the role of Alexis that Joan Collins plays on Dynasty. She certainly gives a five-letter word performance on that show.

Well, Gloria was certainly all that.

Anyone who had a tree down on a house or spent several days without electric power unable to cook, watch TV, or take a hot shower would probably agree.
So would anyone with a deep freezer full of meat going bad.

One caller who said she felt offended by the photo was, coincidentally, Gloria. Not the hurricane but a 64-year-old woman and long-time faithful reader of The Sun.

She said she had been taking ribbing from friends who were calling her to tell her that her picture was in The Sun.

We hastened to assure her that the photo had nothing to do with her — that it was the hurricane that was the five letter word.

She was good natured about it and we shared a laugh.
"By the way, how do you feel about having a hurricane named after you?" she was asked.

She said it seemed strange to keep hearing and seeing her name on every television channel.

RAYMONDI

And, she was happy that Gloria turned out to be more of lady than at first expected, but she thought she was bad enough.

Anyway, we apologize if we offended anyone.

But, really, it was one of those rare photos that is hard to pass up when you're trying to cover an event like a hurricane that affects so many people in so many different ways.

Gloria at the very least was a witch.

SPORTS DESK: A Quincy Sun reader thought our reference to this season's North Quincy-Weymouth South game as the first high school night football game ever played in Quincy was in error. He recalled the night game between Quincy and Lawrence, Long Island, N.Y.
"in the late 1930's or 1940's."

LUBARSKY

But Dave Lubarsky, the walking sports encyclopedia, says the reader is wrong.

Quincy, says Lubarsky, did play Lawrence, Long Island under the lights in 1939 but in New York, not here. The second game was played here in 1940 but it was an afternoon game.

Quincy, continues Lubarsky, played its first night game in 1938 but that was at Somerville.

Give Dave a cigar.

SPEAKING OF NIGHT football games, North Assistant Coach Pete Zoia has been involved in all three of them, all of which were a first.

The first night school game ever played in Massachusetts was in 1935 when North played New Bedford Vocational to a scoreless tie at New Bedford. Zoia was captain of that North team.

The first night game ever played in Quincy was between the North Quincy Alumni and Presidents City Club in the old City League in 1938 which also ended in a scoreless tie. Zoia was captain of the Alumni team and still has the ball from that game.

And, of course, he was assistant coach at the North Quincy-Weymouth South game — the first schoolboy night football game played in Quincy.

MABEL BIAGINI, popular Quincy accordionist and teacher, will play at the wedding of Massachusetts' first heart transplant patient, John Faragi, 36, of Saugus.

Faragi will wed Barbara Hennessey of Arlington Oct.
12 at Blessed Sacrament Church, Saugus. The couple work for New England Telephone.

Wonder if Mabel will play "Heart Of My Heart?"

WELL, you might say that Rep. Tom Brownell got the bird the other day.
A really big bird.

Brownell turned onto Quincy
Shore Drive to take his son to school and had to slow down because, there ahead of him, strolling down the busy thoroughfare was an honest to goodness crane.

Brownell came to an almost stop while motorists behind him, not seeing the crane, tooted at Brownell to get going.

Then the crane, apparently tired of walking, jumped up on the hood of the car for a little ride. And then up on to the roof before finally taking off like a plane.

A girl jogger who witnessed it, called over to Brownell: "That's a different way to start your day."

and a cash bar.

NQHS Student Top Winner In Anti-Prejudice Poster Contest

If you are driving along and notice a billboard that says "Prejudice Hurts," take a second look the artwork was designed by a Quincy student.

Eddie Liu, 15, a North Quincy High School sophomore, was the super grand prize winner in a World of Difference anti-prejudice contest sponsored by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, the Greater Boston Civil Rights Coalition, Shawmut Bank and WCVB-TV (Channel 5).

He and the other grand prize winners each won a free trip for four to Disneyworld and Epcot Center, Florida.

Liu will take the trip with his parents and young brother. He emigrated from Hong Kong with his family when he was 4.

His prize-winning art work features splashes of red paint on a white illustration board with the words "prejudice hurts" in black lettering.

Liu explained that the splashes of paint represent bloodshed and "that prejudice hurts and hurts feeling."

He was told that he had won the contest by Gov. Michael Dukakis during a ceremony at the State House.

His poster will be used on billboards owned by Ackerley Communications and in a calendar that Channel 5 plans to produce.

Liu was among 70 ninth grade students in art teacher Brian Doherty's class at NQHS to make posters for the contest last spring.

Liu's poster was very effective said State Sen. Paul Harold. "It was not only good art, but had a strong message as well."

Liu said that in the past, people have made fun of him. But the level of prejudice has dropped, Liu thinks.

He hopes projects like the poster contest might help stop it.

Statute On Child Sex Assaults Extended

Under new legislation the statute of limitations for sexual assaults on children has been extended 10 years.

According to State Sen. Paul Harold of Quincy, referring to Chapter 123, Acts of 1985, effective Sept. 20, indictments for rape of a child under 16, statutory rape, assault with intent to rape a child and incest, as well as assault with intent to rape regardless of the victim's age, can be filed within 10 years of the date of crime was committed.

Harold, who heads the legislative Criminal Justice Committee, said these crimes formerly came under the general criminal statute of limitations of six years.

Also on the list of 10-year crimes are: armed robbery, assault with intent to rob, or murder, unarmed robbery and extortion.

Senator Harold noted that the time under the statute does not run during any period when the defendant is not "usually and publicly resident" in Massachusetts.

The statute also applies to any conspiracy to commit any of the crimes and to any accessory to such crimes, Harold added.

NLRB Election Postponed At FR Shipyard

The National Labor Relations Board in Washington postponed for the third time an election at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River shipyard to see if workers wanted to be represented in collective bargaining by the CIO's International Union of Marine and Ship Workers of America.

The deal was sought by the CIO union so that some 1,445 workers who had been furloughed for lack of work in July could be brought back on the payroll in time to cast their votes.

The rival Independent union of Fore River Workers fired off telegrams to Rep. Richard Wigglesworth and Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire complaining that the NLRB was "pro-CIO" and that the postponement would seriously endanger national defense.

The postponement was also protested by Dr. A. Howard Myers, regional NLRB director, over whose head the union took its case directly to Washington.

The election originally was scheduled for 1939, then postponed to Aug. 11, 1941, then to Oct. 22 and now to Nov. 19.

DEFENSE HOUSING

Edwin J. MacEwan, secretary of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, blamed criticism of local efforts to block a defense housing project in the city on a feud between two high officials in Washington.

John Carmody, public works administrator, had testified in Washington that Quincy banks and real estate interests had unduly influenced Charles F. Palmer, federal housing coordinator, in an effort to defeat the project.

STADIUM ADMISSION

The City Council voted to confer with the superintendent of park, the mayor and the chief of police about the problem of admission charged for events at Municipal Stadium.

Councillor Laurence J. Curtin brought the matter up after the father of a boy who injured his back scaling the stadium wall complained that private interests were making money from public property.

Mayor's Commission Seeks New Members

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women in Quincy is seeking new members for the 1985-1986 session. Applicants must live and/or work in Quincy and attend one meeting a month at City Hall.

Purpose of the commission is to address the needs of women, encourage women to participate more fully in activities within the city and to further women's roles in shaping the future of the city.

The commission's objective is to support women's issues on the local, state and national level. However, the commission is a non-political entity and shall not endorse individuals for political or appointment positions.

Initiated in 1974, task forces were formed on education, employment, the Bicentennial and the Women's Center at Quincy Junior College.

Over the years, activities have included DOVE, (Domestic Violence Ended), lobbying for legislation and publishing information booklets.

In addition, the commission has sponsored programs on topics such as financial management, parenting, women's health and discrimination.

To involve both current and new members, each woman will select a standing committee or task force on which to serve. Using this team approach, every member will have an active, rewarding experience, according to the commission.

Women of all ages are invited to join the commission by sending a cover letter and resume to Mayor Francis X. McCauley, City Hall, Hancock St., Quincy, MA 02169.

QHS-Vo-Tech Student Council To Fund Scholarship

A student council scholarship fund tops an agenda of events planned by The Quincy High and Vocational-Technical student body for the 1985-86 academic year.

The council recently established a breakfast facility in the high school cafeteria to raise funds for a college Student Council Scholarship Fund for one of its future graduates.

The impromptu facility offers fresh doughnuts, orange juice, and milk from 7:30 to 7:50 a.m. Students and school staff are urged to patronize the refreshment stand.

A Homecoming Dance is being planned prior to the Thanksgiving Day football game. Students, cheerleaders, and athletes will join in promoting this event.

The council announced that Goldenrod staff is seeking volunteers to work on the 1986 yearbook. Those interested should contact Mr. Gliniewicz in Room 303.

YOU'VE BEEN GLORIOUS!

We thank you, our customers, for your patience and understanding during Hurricane Gloria. And many thanks to the crews from Pennsylvania Power & Light, New York Electric & Gas, Hydro Quebec, Ontario Hydro and Central Vermont Public Service who came to help us out. Also, our fleet of helicopters looking for trouble spots from the air.

And trouble spots there were. At the height of the storm, there were 238,000 Massachusetts Electric customers without power. Downed trees and downed lines were everywhere. We'd like to thank the 110 tree trimming crews who came from as far away as Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee, South Carolina and Ontario for responding so promptly. State and local government agencies were also quick to respond, and we'd like to thank them for their efforts.

Our 1800 employees also have our thanks. They came to work Friday morning with their bags packed and have been on the job ever since.

From all of us at Massachusetts Electric to all you, thank you.

'Is God A Feminist?'

Sermon Topic

At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both hours answering the question "Is God A Feminist?" based on the texts Genesis 2:18-24 and Galatians 3:23-29.

Scripture readers will be Helen Cole in the chapel and Jean Ann MacLean in the sanctuary. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will serve as liturgist at both services.

During the sanctuary service, the sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to Brian Kevin Crosby, infant son of Stephen L. Crosby and Barbara (Hulbert) Crosby. The godparents will be Judy Hulbert and Douglas Crosby.

At the 10 a.m. service, the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present the anthem "Like As the Hart" by Vincent Novello as the offertory. Paul David Johnson, baritone soloist, will also sing the solo "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" by O'Hara.

The worship service will be broadcast by delayed-tape over WJDA, 1300kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes from pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies will be provided, as well as a Toddler Class for young children.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Church School.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, West Quincy, celebrated its 145th anniversary recently with a Mass and dinner which followed in Mullarkey Hall. From left, front, are Leo F. Meady, toastmaster; the Rev. Robert Daley, head of the theology department at Boston College; and the Rev. John McMahon, church pastor. At rear are Cong. Brian Donnelly, and the Rev. Richard Lennon, associate pastor.

Covenant Congregational

To Mark End Of Centennial Year

The weekend of Oct. 12 culminates the celebration of the centennial year of Covenant Congregational Church of Quincy, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

The pastor is Rev. Fred Lawson.

On Saturday, Oct. 12, a banquet will be held at Anthony's Pier 4, 140 Northern Ave., Boston, at 1 p.m. All present and former members, families, and friends have been invited to attend. Guest speaker will be Rev. Robert Erickson, superintendent of the East Coast Conference of the Evangelical Covenant Church. There will also be a short musical program. Special greetings will be given by Senator Paul Harold and Rev. Paul Sparrman, a former minister, and a letter from the King of Sweden will be read. The church, when founded, was called the Swedish Congregational Church. On Oct. 13, Centennial Anniversary Sunday, Rev. Erickson will once again be guest speaker for the 10:45 a.m. worship service. The choir, under the direction of Richard Smith, will provide special music.

At 4 p.m. the same day the Anniversary Service will be held. The choir will offer special music. The speaker will be Dr. Milton Engebretson, president of the Evangelical Covenant Church of America. Officials from the city will be among the invited guests. Greetings will be offered by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Rabbi David Jacobs as the representative of Quincy clergy, and Rev. James Anderson, chairman of the East Coast Conference Board, on behalf of the other conference churches.

A coffee hour will follow the service in the church fellowship hall.

Blood Pressure Screening

At QCH Oct. 15

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the public Tuesday, Oct. 15, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., in the Ambulatory Care Department.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure. Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings will take place in the first and third Tuesday of every month.

A service of thanksgiving and prayer for persons in the healing professions will be held in the Parish of St. Chrysostom, Episcopal, corner of Hancock and Linden Sts., Wollaston, Thursday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m.

The service is in celebration of the Feast of St. Luke, the Physician.

Guest speaker for the occasion is Elisabeth McSherry, M.D. MPH, a staff member at West Roxbury Veterans Administration Medical Center.

The public is welcome to attend. Doctors, nurses, technicians, therapists, counsellors and all others involved in any aspect of healing work are especially invited.

St. Luke, author of the third Gospel for the Book of Acts in the New Testament, is traditionally regarded as the Patron Saint of Doctors and others in the healing profession. St. Paul, who was also a doctor, referred to St.

Luke as "The Beloved Physician."

Dr. McSherry is involved in a research project on the role of the spiritual dimension in patient care, sponsored by the Boston Council of Teaching Hospitals Chaplains. She is National Director of Clinical Management of V.A. Hospitals.

Joseph Donahue Installed Rotary Club President

Joseph A. Donahue, president of Donahue Associates Architects, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy, is the new president of the Quincy Rotary Club.

Following his installation Donahue told members that they are the key to the rotary by actively participating in projects and urged them to become involved. He said Quincy Rotary is "a sleeping giant," and "too often most people think of us as the Tuesday lunch gang. This will change if we all work together."

Rotary District Governor John McCarthy, who attended Donahue's installation, said Dr. Edmund Dempsey, 70 Dimmock St., and past president of Quincy Rotary, has been appointed to the Rotary International Institute Committee.

'Infant Saver/Child Saver' Program At QCH

"Infant Saver/Child Saver," a new program which is one of the first of its kind in the South Shore Area, will be held Tuesday and Thursday, Oct. 22 and 24, 7 to 10 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

The six-hour, intensive course is designed to educate parents and persons working with children in life-saving techniques for children.

According to the hospital, statistics show that most people, including parents, would not know how to help an infant or child who had stopped breathing, or who had a serious injury.

Four times as many infants and children die from accidents as they do from medical illnesses, according to QCH.

The course will aim to teach participants such things as cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques using infant and child size recognition and treatment of common childhood injuries, and manikins, general first aid preventative measures.

The course will be taught by a certified Basic Cardiac Life Support instructor accredited by the American Heart Association. Advance registration is required. There is a fee.

Class size is limited to assure individual instruction.

For more information, or a brochure and registration form, call 773-6100, ext. 3017.

Lions Club Plans Free Glaucoma Screening Clinics

The Quincy Lions Club announces two free Glaucoma Screening Clinics which will be held Wednesday, Oct. 16, and Wednesday, Oct. 23, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Appointments must be made at the J.F.K. Health Center, Hancock St., Quincy, by calling 773-1380, ext. 219.

Dr. James Will, Chairman, Glaucoma Screening Clinics for the Quincy Lions Club, said all Quincy residents are eligible for a screening and anyone over 40 years of age is urged to take advantage of this free service.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Fate seems sometimes to delight in making strange combinations among the pieces of the game it plays through the centuries... Did you know that Queen Isabella of Spain and Christopher Columbus were born in the same year... 1451? Queen Isabella was born on April 22 at Madrigal de Las Altas Torres and Columbus in Genoa between August and October... It is also believed by some historians that Amerigo Vesputci was born in the same year.

Fate or coincidence? Who knows! But one thing we do know is that these three protagonists of the great oceanic adventure changed the face of the world... The discoverer, his noble patron and man from whom the new world was to take its name were all born in the first year of the second half of the 15th century, which was to open a new period of history...

Obituaries

Frederick S. Breen, 83, Retired Shop Owner

A funeral Mass for Frederick S. Breen, 83, of West Quincy, will be celebrated at 9 a.m. today (Thursday) in St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Breen, a former owner and proprietor of Fred Breen's Sharp Shop, died Oct. 7 at John Scott Nursing Home, Braintree.

Born in Nova Scotia, he had lived in West Quincy for most of his life.

He was a 4th Degree Knight with the North Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus and a charter member of the St. Moritz Horse Shoe Association.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude (Fahey) Breen; three brothers, Peter Breen, Eugene Breen, and Michael Breen, all of Nova Scotia; and five sisters, Mary MacDonald, Florence Porrier, Loretta McKinnon and L. Crittendon, all of Nova Scotia and Viola DeCoste of Quincy. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 326 Copeland St., West Quincy.

Thelma S. Shwom, 54, Former Telephone Manager

A funeral service for Thelma S. Shwom, 54, of Quincy, was held Sunday at the Schlossberg, Goldman Solomon Memorial Chapel, Canton.

Memorial observance followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Paul, 19 Lansdowne St., North Quincy, ending today (Thursday).

A former manager for New England Telephone Co., she died Oct. 4, at University Hospital, Boston.

She was born in Plymouth. She is survived by two brothers, Solomon Shwom and Sidney Shwom; two sisters, Dallas Paull and Ethel Herman; 12 nieces and nephews and 10 grandchildren and nephews.

Donations may be made to the Cancer Fund, care of Dr. Peter Mozdien, University Hospital, 75 East Newton St., Boston.

Margaret E. Grant, 79, Retired Teacher

A funeral Mass for Margaret E. Grant, 79, of Quincy, was said Sept. 17 in Sacred Heart church, Quincy.

She died Sept. 14 at Quincy City Hospital. Born in Boston, Miss Grant was a former resident of Dorchester and had lived in Quincy for the past five years.

She taught in the Boston school system for about 40 years, retiring in 1968.

She was a member of the Sacred Heart Senior citizens and St. Brendan's Senior Citizens of Dorchester and an alumnae of Rockport Lodge.

Miss Grant is survived by many nephews, nieces, grandnieces and grand-nephews.

Burial was in Mt. Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Quincy.

Peter MacFarlane

A funeral service for Peter MacFarlane of Quincy was held Oct. 4 at the Dewar Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Mr. MacFarlane died Oct. 1.

Husband of Isabella (Semerjian) Stirling-MacFarlane, he is also survived by a daughter, Evelyn Owens of Florida, and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery, Quincy.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Quincy Point Congregational Church Memorial Fund, 444 Washington St., Quincy 02169.

Keohane Funeral Homes Add Professional Grief Counselor To Staff

The Keohane Funeral Service of Quincy and Hingham has added Dr. Sherry Johnson of Hingham to its staff, announces Edward J. Keohane, president.

A professionally trained grief counselor, Dr. Johnson will be available for consultation with families served by the three Keohane funeral homes.

"We are very pleased to be the first funeral homes in New England to offer the services of a grief counselor," Keohane states. "Although family members, clergy and friends are most helpful at the time of the death of a loved one, there are times when talking with someone outside the immediate support group can be helpful."

A trained nurse, Dr. Johnson holds a Ph.D. degree from the University of Michigan where her study and research focused on death and bereavement. She has also conducted many educational seminars for both professional and community groups.

In announcing Dr. Johnson's appointment to his staff, Keohane indicates that he and his funeral directors have recognized the need for the services of a grief counselor for several years. "It was important to us and our families to find the right professional person. Along with her excellent training and experience, Dr. Johnson is a warm, caring person and those are important qualities for our families."

The Keohane Funeral Homes are located at 333 Hancock St. and 785 Hancock St., Quincy. The Pyne Funeral Home, 21 Emerald St., Hingham, is also owned and operated by the Keohane Funeral Service.

Nursing, Rest Home Residents To Be Included On Registrars List

Administrators of nursing and rest homes are now required by law to submit lists of residents for city and town street listings.

State Sen. Paul D. Harold of Quincy, said that under the new legislation, effective Sept. 30, administrators must provide the name and date of birth of each person living in their homes as of January 1 each year, on a form provided by the city or town board of registrars of voters.

The law provides that anyone required to submit the listings who refuses or fails to do so may be fined up to $500 or sentenced to up to a year in jail, Harold said.

The old law required the lists to be submitted by only owners of lodging houses, apartment complexes and other multi-unit dwellings, and managers of condominiums, school dormitories and fraternity houses.

Information gathered by the voter registrars is used to make street listings or residents and prepare voting lists. The data gathered on children enables school boards to anticipate enrollments.

Thomas Barrett Appointed To Handicapped Affairs Commission

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that he has appointed Atty. Thomas S. Barrett of 24 Nilsen Ave., Quincy, to fill an unexpired term on the Commission on Handicapped Affairs.

He succeeds Atty. Robert Quinn who resigned recently. Barrett is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and Suffolk University Law School. He is a partner in the law firm of Fleming and Langlois, Quincy.

A member of the Massachusetts and Norfolk County Bar Associations, he is a former president of the Ward Two Civic Association and a member of the Quincy Youth Commission.

Barrett's term will expire the first Monday of February, 1987.

Morrisette Installation Saturday

The Morrisette Legion Post will hold its installation of officers Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Post Home, 54 Miller St.,

West Quincy. The installation will be followed by dancing and refreshments.

For those times when the darkness lingers

With the loss of a loved one through death, it is helpful to be able to share the feelings and emotions which we all experience.

For most of us, there are family members, clergy, and friends who are ready to listen in a caring way.

Yet, there are those who find it helpful to share their grief with someone outside their immediate circle of support.

Because of our continuing commitment to the families we serve, Keohane Funeral Service is pleased to announce that Dr.

Sherry Johnson has joined our staff as a Grief Counselor. Her educational background, professional experience and understanding manner can be particularly helpful.

We are the first funeral home in New England to offer the service of a Grief Counselor.

Nutley To Meet With Ward 6 Residents

Thomas J. Nutley, candidate for Ward 6 City Councillor, says he has begun a new pre-election campaign to meet with all of the voters of Ward 6.

Nutley said he wants to speak to residents "whether it be at the voters' doors when I visit, at coffee hours which I am requesting citizens to sponsor, at candidates nights such as that of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association's Oct. 9, or at area community meetings which I will sponsor.

"I want to hear the concerns of the people of the various areas such as Squantum, mid-Atlantic, Bay State Road, Walnut St., Billings Rd., Channing St., and other areas of Ward 6.

"Also, it is important that all of the voters of Ward 6 really know the relative qualifications of the two city council finalists and the candidates' opinions on the many diverse and serious problems affecting the people of the various areas of Ward 6.

"I look forward to a month of intense communication with the people," said Nutley. "I trust that my opponent will do the same so that we and our constituents will be thoroughly informed before Nov. 5."

QHS Guidance Staff Evening Hours Oct. 16

The Guidance Staff of Quincy High School will hold evening office hours Wednesday, Oct. 16 from 6 to 9 p.m. for students, parents, and members of the community.

Appointments may be made by calling 786-8757.

Concern For Ward 3 Motivating Factor Says MacKay

Howard MacKay says his decision to run for City Council was primarily motivated by his concern for Ward 3.

MacKay, in his first attempt at elective office, emphasizes availability as his strongest qualification.

"Any ward is best served in city government by a councilor who knows his constituents and their needs and is committed to doing his best to serve them," said MacKay.

Traffic conditions are another important problem, he says. The streets of this ward were not constructed for the present volume of traffic, according to MacKay.

He said he would like to see the report written by the Mayor's Task Force on traffic released now and some of the recommendations of this report implemented immediately.

MacKay says he is in full support of the pedestrian ramp proposed for the Burgin Extension. He is also in favor of the proposed new exit ramp northbound on the expressway into Newport Ave. and State Street south.

MacKay cites as important his advocacy for balanced growth. He is committed to maintaining open space and the preservation of neighborhoods. "We need larger buffer zones between business and residential neighborhoods," says MacKay.

He acknowledges the needs of the senior citizens and pledges his support of issues which are important to them. "We need a Ward 3 community center. The lack of a common meeting place has prevented us, the residents of Ward 3, from knowing and helping each other," says MacKay.

MacKay says other areas of concern are public safety, hospital expansion, drinking in public places, housing rehabilitation, improvement of recreation facilities, street resurfacing, and renovation of the Beal St. fire station. MacKay states that availability and accountability are the major issues in this campaign, and he asks the voters to consider these when they cast their ballots on election day.

MacKay says, "The time has come for a new Councilor in Ward 3. As the city has been revitalized through new business, Howard MacKay, (as their new councilor), will revitalize Ward 3."

MacKay, a resident of Ward 3 for 15 years, lives at 19 Ardell St. with his wife, Ginny, and three sons who attend the Quincy Public Schools.

He has been active with Boy Scout Troup 19 in Wollaston for seven years. He is also a member of the North Quincy Swim Team Boosters' Club and the Montclair Men's Club.

MacKay, a chemist, is an Army veteran.

Nigro Says Linkage Could Improve School Conditions

School Committee candidate Margaret Nigro would like to see if the Linkage concept could be used to get monies needed to improve the conditions of schools.

The concept is to get developers with projects in Quincy to give something back, says Mrs. Nigro.

One way to get the developers attention would be to point out the conditions that exist at the Quincy Vocational Technical School, she says.

The conditions include lack of updated materials and equipment to train the students in their chosen field for which contractors and developers are the direct recipients, according to Mrs. Nigro.

"Since improvements to our schools are definitely needed, this concept would not only improve the quality of education, but would also save tax dollars," says Mrs. Nigro.

Candidates' Night Oct. 15 At H.N. Community Center

A Candidate's Night will be held by the Houghs Neck Community Council Tuesday Oct. 15, at 8 p.m. at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St.

Invited to speak are Mayor

Francis X. McCauley and his challenger, Joanne Condon.

School Committee candidates invited are Margaret Nigro and Frank Santoro, who are opposing incumbents Mary Collins, Joan Picard and Nicholas Varenis.

Daniel Bythrow, council president, will be moderator.

The program is open to the public.

Lincoln-Hancock Grounds Clean-Up

The parents and children of the Lincoln-Hancock School, 300 Granite St., Quincy, will hold a Columbus Day Cleanup, Oct. 14, from 10 a.m. to noon.

According to Joyce Romeri, President, Lincoln-Hancock P.T.C., those participating will be doing a general clean-up of the school grounds as well as planting shrubs and bulbs.

All who plan to help are urged to return their sign-up slip or call the school office on or before Oct. 10.

Koch Thanks DPW For Gravel Removal

Thomas P. Koch, candidate for the Ward Six City Council Seat, has expressed his thanks to the Quincy Commissioner of Public Works and his assistant for having the pile of gravel removed at the corner of Hancock St. and Glover Ave.

The removal preceded the opening of school and was in response to Koch's request.

Koch asked in a letter that work on the water line restoration on Hancock St. be expedited as quickly as possible in an area that has the intense traffic problems by daily commuters of the North Quincy area.

Koch requested improvement of daily cleanup of the area by the contractor following the construction activity when loose gravel, dirt and rock is left on the roadway surface.

He asked that the asphalt covering over the temporary water lines be improved, especially at intersections and Hancock Street adjacent to hayward St.

"I realize that the longterm project goal is for the betterment of all residents," said Koch. "However, during the interim, the inconvenience caused to the drivers and pedestrians should be of major concern to the contractor responsible for the construction."

Koch states that a number of residents have complained of damage to their vehicles caused by the existing conditions.

Understanding Teenagers Seminar Starts Oct. 15

Family Service of Greater Boston in Quincy will offer a six part seminar, "Understanding and Communicating with your Teenagers," Tuesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. beginning Oct. 15 at the Center for Counseling, One Clivedon St.

Topics for discussion will include talking and listening to teenagers, building self-esteem, developing problem solving skills, and adolescent sexuality and substance abuse.

Susan Coles, LICSW,

Family Life Education Specialist and Counselor, will lead the workshops.

For more information, contact Coles or Howard Garval, District Office Manager of Family Service, at 471-0630.

James Sheets On ENC Freshman Council

James Sheets, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Sheets of Quincy, has been elected to the Freshman Class Council at Eastern Nazarene College for the academic year of 1985-86.

Sheets, a 1985 graduate of North Quincy High School, will serve as Chaplain of the Freshman Class.

Eastern Nazarene College is a Christian liberal arts college located in Wollaston.

Founded in 1918, the college is sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene, an evangelical Protestant denomination in the Wesleyan tradition.

Nine hundred students pursue degrees in thirty undergraduate majors and ten graduate degree programs.

4 Teenagers Make Discipleship Covenant At Squantum Church

At a special early morning worship service at the First Church of Squantum, four teenagers made a Covenant of Discipleship with Christ to use the months and the years ahead to deepen their relationship with him.

They were Chris Dixey, Sarah Mildram, Andrew Ogilvie and Deborah Stahlberg.

The young people joined four others who are already a part of that Covenant community: Bonnie Adams, Mindi Hurd, Susan Scott and David Williams.

All of them will meet together on a regular basis with the church pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, to prepare themselves for the next step in their Christian lives, the public confession of their faith in Christ either by confirmation or by believer's baptism.

Young people are given the choice as to which form they will use.

Members of the Covenant of Discipleship may renew their tentative status as "apprentice" Christians from time to time until they join the church, reach the age of 19 or drop out of the covenant.

Bible study, prayer, thinking and talking about their Christian faith and actually engaging in ministry of some sort will be a part of all of their lives in the months ahead as they seek to discover exactly what it means to be a follower of Christ.

"Entering the Covenant of Discipleship is more than just joining a church membership class," Dr. Langevin explained. "These young people are now part of a community of seekers, all of whom are trying very hard to prepare themselves to answer Christ's call."

In the service, Mindi Hurd gave the call to worship; Deacons Stewart Scott, Hazel Mayne and Mary Ruth Scott assisted the pastor in the covenanting portion of the service at the Lord's Supper. Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie played their guitars to accompany the singing.

Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject, "A Covenant to Grow in Christ." The Youth Choir sang "Go Ye Into the World" as the anthem. Bonnie Adams and Susan Mildram were ushers. David Williams and Katherine Hansen were in charge of the refreshments after the service.

In the evening, the new members were welcomed into the Covenant community with a special dinner held at the church and prepared by Evelyn Ahearn, Ruth Swenson and Patti Hurd.

The Lord's Supper was observed at both Sunday morning services because it was World Communion Sunday. During the second service, Deacons Evelyn Ahearn, Stewart Scott, Grace Holmes, Cliff Mason and Katherine Hansen sat with the pastor at the Lord's Table and assisted him in distributing the elements of bread and wine.

The pastor's sermon in the second service was entitled, "One Great Fellowship of Love." The Chancel Choir sang "Once More, My Soul," an American folk hymn as arranged by Robert A. Roesch. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Joan and Katherine Hansen greeted worshippers as they arrived. Leon MacIntyre and Tore Wallin were ushers. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Adelaide Nelson.

At the Church Council meeting after the service, a Nominating Committee was chosen for the remainder of 1985 and 1986.

There will be two services again next Sunday morning: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. Sunday School for children through the fourth grade is provided during the second service.

Young Presidents Host Strong Malden

Sometimes scores can be deceiving.

Quincy's football team lost to unbeaten Waltham (3-0) 40-15, last Friday night at Waltham, the score is not indicative of how the Presidents (0-3) played.

Quincy fumbled the ball away four times and each time Waltham scored. The Presidents, paced by Chris Veneto, moved the ball well all during the game, only to turn the ball over.

Quincy coach Jack Raymer hopes the young Presidents will remedy the many mistakes they have made in their first three games when they host a strong Malden team, co-favorite in the Greater Boston League, Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"The score at Waltham does not begin to show the way we played," said Raymer. "They have a big, veteran team but they certainly are not that much better than us. We moved the ball awfully well, but you can't turn the ball over like we did against a team like that."

"I was very pleased with the way we moved the ball and the way we hit on defense. Waltham's coach said we hit harder than either Lexington or Arlington, their first two victims."

"These kids are still making rookie mistakes but they haven't once given up. Their hard work is due to pay off sometime and I just hope it will be against Malden, which is another big, veteran team picked by many to win the Greater Boston League championship."

Veneto had another big night and had his second 100-yard plus game as he ran for 134 yards and scored both Quincy touchdowns. Mark Porzio also ran well again. Joe Inello again played a fine game and quarterback Steve Austin, still not given the best of pass protection and under pressure all night, again played his heart out.

On defense Steve Picarski, Dave Murphy and Ken Southwick played well and hit hard.

Quincy kicked off to open the game and forced a Waltham fumble on the first play. Austin hit Veneto with a 27-yard scoring pass to stun the home crowd. Porzio rushed for the two-point conversion for a quick 8-0 lead.

Waltham got on the board when Jim Falzone returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown. The try for points failed and Quincy still led, 8-6, after a quarter.

The Presidents moved the ball well again but another fumble set up a Waltham touchdown with Falzone going 17 yards for the score. Again the point try failed.

Next John Logue, who had a good night at quarterback, hit Steve Duffy with a 38-yard scoring pass and Scott Giusti rushed for the two points.

The Presidents were the victims of a tough break as the half ended. With no time remaining, a Logue pass was deflected by two Quincy players and went into the hands of Jim Labbe for the touchdown. Dave Brown kicked the extra point and it was 27-8 at the half.

"We could have been leading, 8-6, at the half and shouldn't have trailed by more than 12-8," Raymer said. "When they scored again in the third quarter following another turnover, it was all over."

Giusti ran 29 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and Brown kicked the point. Waltham added another touchdown in the final quarter on a seven-yard run by Sau Richards.

Quincy added a consolation touchdown when Veneto raced 49 yards and Mike Venturelli kicked the point.—

First Ladies Run Streak To 30

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, defending Suburban League and state champions, continued to roll merrily along last week with two wins, improving to 8-0 and winning its 30th straight match.

The First Ladies played Brockton yesterday (Wednesday), and will host Brookline next Wednesday. Last Friday Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0 (15-4, 15-13). Freshman Nancy Latinen and Corinne Fichtner turned in strong defensive games and Lauren Standing and Marlo LeVangie each served five points in the first game.

Earlier in the week the First Ladies topped Newton North, 2-0 (15-7, 15-9).

Quincy won behind the defense of Pam Austin, the timely spiking of LeVangie, Standing and Terry Duggan and the setting of Ginny Duggan.

Quincy Track Club Runners Dominate

Quincy Track Club runners dominated the Wafers Cross Country Invitational held at Wayland High School, taking 14 medals and one team title.

In girls 8-10, Regina Murphy and Kerry McGahan finished 1-2 and in the boys' race Nat Lloyd took third with teammates Jerry Marshall and Tony McGahan finishing fourth and fifth.

In girls' 11-12 Lindsey McGovern led from start to finish, leading teammates Kim McGahan, Katie O'Shea and Amanda Young to a sweep of the first four places. Newcomer Gennie Lloyd and Rachel Marshall took sixth and seventh as the team captured its second team trophy in as many meets with 16 points.

In girls 13-14 Sherrin Quintiliani placed first over the 4-kilometer distance with Karen Cashman second and Elizabeth Renda fifth.

The club will next run in the Providence Cobras Invitational Saturday, Oct. 19, at Slater Park in Pawtucket.

QYHA Girls Bow To Cape Cod

The Quincy Youth Hockey girls' team is playing this season in the South Shore Girls B League with Mary Ellen Riordan, former Providence College standout, as coach.

The girls lost their opener to the defending league champions, Cape Cod Aces, 2-1, despite a fine team effort.

Goalie Jill Rennie had an outstanding game with 37 saves. Also playing well were Stephanie O'Sullivan, Lisa Steen, Heidi Maguire, Sheila Graham and Colby Mahoney. Graham had the only goal unassisted.

Other team members are Christine Barrett, Lisa Bent, Jean Gill, Andrea LaPierre, Marisa Zona, Sally Curley and Marcia Zanardelli.

Six players from the team participated in the TV 38-sponsored mini one-on-one, finishing second to the Assabet Valley Pee Wee team. Quincy was undefeated throughout the series, losing by total points.

The girls from the Quincy team were Graham, Zona, O'Sullivan, Zanardelli, Bent and Rennie. Jill had a particularly outstanding day in goal.

The game will be televised between periods of a Bruins game later in the season.

Apaches Down Panthers Elks Defeat Manets

The defending champion North Quincy Apaches, coming on strong after two losses, defeated the Quincy Point Panthers, last year's runnersup, 22-8, in Quincy Youth Football League action Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Both teams are now 2-2. In the other half of the doubleheader the West Quincy Elks defeated the Houghs Neck Manets, 14-0, to tie the idle Squantum Sailors for the league lead with 3-1 records.

Sunday the Elks will face the Apaches at 1 p.m. and the Manets will meet the Sailors at 2:30.

The Panthers, who had suffered their first loss the previous week, were blanked in the first half as the Apaches took a 16-0 lead.

The Apaches controlled the ball in the first quarter but neither team scored. The Panthers' defense was outstanding in the quarter with three sacks and they had seven in the game.

Keith Gott scored from the nine-yard line at the start of the second quarter and the rush for the two points was good.

With two minutes left in the half Gott scored again from the 15 and a pass for the two points was good.

There was no scoring in the third quarter but the Apaches had one good scoring chance after recovering a Panther fumble.

Dave Murphy scored the Apaches' final touchdown in the last quarter on a 45-yard run. The Panthers' Jay McLarnon stopped the conversion attempt.

Joe Russell passed to Jim Sugrue, who raced 50 yards untouched for the lone Panther touchdown. Russell added the two points on a keeper.

Chris Noble returned a pass interception for the first Elks' score and that was all they needed in their win over the Manets.

The Panthers' junior varsity remained undefeated with a 28-6 victory over the Apaches as they were scored upon for the first time.

Joe Crespi, Jeremy Burm, Stephen Feeley and Dennis Carroll scored for the Panthers. The defense was led by Ralph Bevilacqua and Feeley.

Swim Club Seeks Members

The Greater Boston Swim Club is seeking new members for its competitive team. The team is open to swimmers ages six to 18.

The team, which includes top swimmers from many Greater Boston communities, including Quincy, practices Monday through Thursday evenings from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Murphy School in Neponset, and Friday evening and Saturday morning at UMass, Boston.

The winter season will include trips to meets throughout New England, ending with a championship meet in March.

Registration will be held Monday through Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. through October at the Murphy School. To register by phone call Carl Cederquist at 335-3824 or Steve Quimby at 583-6581.

Seasonal dues and a non-refundable $20 registration fee offset the cost of pool time, training equipment and coaching salaries.

Prize winners in the club's recent fund-raising raffle were Mrs. Elmer Janson and Martha Davis of Wollaston and Faith Bowker of Scituate.

William O'Connell Named MDC Sergeant

William F. O'Connell of Quincy, has been sworn in as a new sergeant on the Metropolitan Police force.

Supt. Nelson Barner noted that O'Connell has served Massachusetts well, has extensive street experience, and is an expert in his field.

Sergeant O'Connell transferred to the MDC in 1982 after serving 14 years with the Scituate Police, where he served as court prosecutor.

O'Connell will be assigned to MDC headquarters and will supervise the day-to-day operations of the MDC telecommunications system.

Raiders Hope For Win At Newton N.

By TOM SULLIVAN

Brockton's defending Suburban League and Div. I Super Bowl champions showed no mercy last Saturday as they rolled over a younger and much smaller North Quincy team, 41-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium for their third straight win.

Ken McPhee's Raiders (0-4) hope for better things Saturday when they play Newton North at 1:30 p.m. at Newton. North Quincy hasn't lost to Newton since McPhee took over as head coach.

"Brockton has so many weapons it is almost impossible to defense against them," said McPhee who, although disappointed at the score, was not upset. "These kids never quit and I am pleased with the way they keep battling against tremendous odds. They have a lot of players back from their Super Bowl champions and they were far bigger than us. We took away their deep weapons pretty well, but with a speedster like (Greg) McMurtry, they can explode at any time.

"Our offensive line didn't play badly and Ed Bagley, Ken Kemp, Kevin McCarthy, Mike Huguo and Steve Miller all played well."

Gary McNamara, who returned after missing the Medford game with an injury, ran well for the Raiders as did Marc Smith and Rob Bradley.

Brockton, which had touchdown runs of 82, 60 and 27 yards and scoring passes of 49 and 25 yards, gained nearly 500 yards overall. The Boxers had 296 net yards on the ground and quarterback Tom Colombo, son of coach Armand Colombo, passed for an additional 194 yards on 10 of 18 and three scores. Brockton had 22 first downs.

North Quincy had 86 net yards on the ground and quarterback Chris Gray completed only two of eight passes for 22 yards and one interception. The Raiders had only six first downs.

North kicked off and recovered a Brockton fumble on the second play on the Raider 43. Brockton held and Gray, who did some more outstanding punting, kicked to Brockton's 25.

The Boxers clicked off four first downs and Colombo passed to McMurtry for 25 yards and a score. It was the first of McMurtry's three touchdowns. Sal Gonsalves kicked the extra point.

North drove to Brockton's 38 with Bradley having a 20-yard run and McNamara an 11-yard run, but Brockton again held, spilling the North ball carrier for a 15-yard loss on a reverse play.

Gray kicked to the Boxers' 11. The quarter ended with Brockton on its own 35 and on the second play of the second quarter Colombo, apparently stopped behind the line of scrimmage by a horde of raiders, somehow broke loose and galloped 60 yards for a touchdown. The kick for the point was blocked.

North's Ted Shionis made a spectacular 71-yard kickoff return all the way to Brockton's 23 but once again the huge Brockton line held and took over on the 18. After an incomplete pass, McMurtry broke through a big hole, shook over several defenders and went 82 yards for the third touchdown. On a fake kick, Colombo passed to Pat Joyce for the two points.

North again could not move and another fine Gray punt went to Brockton's 30. Colombo hit Rocco Marciano for 10 yards and Joe Ingergiola for 22. After Colombo was sacked by Miller, he found Dave McCormack all alone and hit him for a 49-yard scoring play. Gonsalves kicked the 28th point.

After North took the kickoff, the hungry Boxers, determined to get the ball back with 1:10 left, called two timeouts. Gray kicked to Brockton's 29 and, not satisfied with a 28-0 halftime lead, the Boxers took to the air with time running out and Colombo hit Mark Dombrosky for 22 yards, Ingergiola for 19, McCormack for 20 and finally, with just 16 seconds left, McMurtry for 10 and the score. Gonsalves again kicked the point.

Starting the second half,

Brockton recovered a fumble on the third play on North's 27 and Tim McCoy went the distance for the final Boxer touchdown. This time Gonsalves' kick was no good. Only a minute and 50 seconds had elapsed in the quarter.

A Gray pass was intercepted and Brockton drove all the way to the North three as the third quarter ended.

North recovered a fumble on the six and, with the shock troops playing for both teams, North made three first downs and reached its 45 but the drive ended when the Boxers recovered a fumble on the 44.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Parker Third Graders Remember Gloria

"Yesterday there was a hurricane...the hurricane's name was Gloria...it was really bad, I liked it!" said Julie Wismar, a third grade student at the Francis W. Parker School, 148 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

Julie's comments were among those submitted by students who provided their own written impressions of their first storm as part of a language session in teacher Mrs. Frances McHugh's creative writing class.

The hurricane is gone, but the memory of it still lingers on for these children and is evident in their prose.

Other students had comments such as these:

Lee McLean: "My grandmother and grandfather's backyard has a pool in it. The fence on the deck of the pool was bent during Gloria. One part came off. A big tree is in the next yard. A half fell in the yard. It is terrible. At my house I was at the table with my Mom. I said it would be funny if the lights came on. Then the lights came on."

Jan Sinclair: "I was watching a tape on the V.C.R. when the electricity went out. The tape was stuck in the V.C.R. We got our electricity back Sunday night. We watched the ending of the movie Sunday night."

Leah Wright: "Hurricane Gloria was not bad. But it was bad in a way. Bad in a way that many trees came down and because we had no electricity. We lost our electricity Friday at 2 o'clock p.m. We got it back Sunday at 7 o'clock p.m. I had to take a cold shower. My grandmother put the shower all over me. I couldn't stand it. But when the electricity came on I was relieved. I mean I had to take a cold shower before the electricity came on. I was freezing and it wasn't fun. My mother did the same thing in the morning. She came out frozen stiff. My brother and I had to cover my mother with two blankets."

Phil Spera: "Gloria knocked down a tree nearby. It fell. The road was blocked off with the tree. After the hurricane I went out and rode my bike and looked at the damage."

Maria Levin: "Gloria was very bad this year. She knocked down a bunch of trees. Some people lost their electricity. I lost mine at 1:00 Friday and got it back Sunday night at 8:30. It wasn't fun!"

Jeremy Conley: "The hurricane was dangerous to go outside, I was very scared that a tree was going to fall threw my room."

Julie McDonald: "On Sept. 27 in my driveway was a pole from my yard. It just missed my car by inches. My neighbors had a lot of branches in their yard. We did not lose our electricity."

Angela Bohi: "I was in the house and a big branch fell. Then the rest of the tree fell on the 'side roof. I got my electricity on Sunday, during late afternoon. We don't have the cable on the television."

Vivian Kam: "Last Friday there was a hurricane and it blew off a big part of a tree! My mother told me to play quietly as I did yesterday, so I did. My electricity didn't go out. I was watching T.V. I heard lots of banging around my yard. I knew lots of trees were falling. Then suddenly I heard a big bang. I was scared. When it was night the hurricane stopped. I went to sleep."

Amy Detwiler: "The night before Gloria hit everyone was rushing around. When I went to bed I was scared because I thought it was going to come at night. Gloria was a mess. After she left I was happy."

Amy Riley: "It was sunny in the morning but about 5 hours later it got windy. I lost power at 4:30 in the afternoon on Friday. I got it back at 10:30 in the morning on Sunday. The hurricane wasn't bad. It was kind of fun."

Shelly Spaulding: "When the hurricane started there were high winds. It was very bad. In our yard a lot of branches fell down. Across the street a tree fell down. I was scared. A lot of trees fell down on wires."

Robert Callow: "I was on my porch. Right in front a tree fell over. Then our electricity went out."

Ken Goon: "On Friday, Sept. 27th, 1985 the hurricane hit a tree. It almost landed on my house. My electricity went out at 3:30. It did not come on yet."

William Beazley: "I lost my electricity and trees fell down. I got scared and worried and my mom was sad. I was working at a store on Sunday. When I got home the electricity was on."

Bradley Gray: "My electricity went off on Friday at three thirty and then came on at 11:00 o'clock on Sunday. I saw this tree fall. It's still on the house."

Patrick J. Teahan: "Friday Sept. 27th a hurricane came to my house. We had no electricity. The tree in my backyard broke. The winds were 60 miles per hour."

Frankie Chin: "On September 27th my yard had some of the trees fall down. In the afternoon we lost the power, and at 7:00 at night we got back the power."

Jason Fell: "I was in my house when the electricity went off. I saw a tree fall down on our neighbors green house. We didn't have electricity for two days."

Laura Walty: "On Friday September 27th a hurricane came. It did a lot of damage. At my grandmother's house two huge trees fell on it. At our house a big branch fell out of the tree. We lost our power at 9 a.m. Friday and got it back at 9 a.m. Saturday."

Keith Kabilian: "On Friday, a hurricane hit a wire and my electricity went out. It was dark. Two trees fell on my street. Both sides were blocked off. I couldn't see anything but it was okay."

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 10, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Observation is the keyword. Paying attention to happenings in your environment can give you the edge right now. Romance accents spontaneous relationships. Offbeat travel is highlighted.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Tact is all-important as you inch closer to important professional goal. Letter may remain unanswered—it's time for a follow-up. Romance picture brightens after the weekend.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Schedules are subject to last minute change while travel is fraught with detours and distractions. Career or academic plan can be advanced.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Week sees you expanding social circle and arranging a major event. Behind-the-scenes, higherups are observing your warmth and your wit. Psychic powers are unexpectedly strong.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Creative ideas are bright and may lead to advances at workplace. Financial advice may not be as sharp as you first believe. Bargain hunting may be fruitful.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

A lively week that features introductions to fascinating people and opportunities for local travel. At work, selectivity is all-important. Home improvements may be delayed.

LEO - July 23-August 22

It's hard to tie down colleagues or neighbors. This is not the week to request a commitment. Rather, it's a favorable time for launching projects and making friends.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Excellent week for catching up on family obligations and getting ahead of yourself at work. Friend may be uncomfortably meddlesome. Financial arrangements require prompt, careful review.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Relationships in general are spotlighted; this is a fine week for launching or cementing a friendship. In money matters, avoid acting on impulses and ignoring any warnings.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

You lean toward optimism this week, which could be near-disastrous if shopping for a wardrobe or redecorating a room. Wit sparkles. This is a prime time for creative writing.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

First part of this period is rich with activity; after the weekend, solo endeavors are favored. You learn from this introspective period—and understand what the next move should be.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Popularity is high as you mingle with an assortment of interesting and influential people. Romance is on the upswing, though you have a tendency to misinterpret trends.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Ruled by the planet of love and beauty, you have splendid taste and a passion for life's lovely things. Sometimes you're an escapist, and sometimes you tend to bend the rules. These traits are both negative and positive—put them to positive use over the coming months.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 10th, actor Ben Vereen; 11th, choreographer Jerome Robbins; 12th, comedian Dick Gregory; 13th, singer Marie Osmond; 14th, actor Roger Moore; 15th, actress Linda Lavin; 16th, actress Angela Lansbury.

Willard St. Transfer Bill Passed

Legislation filed by Rep. Michael Morrissey regarding transfer of a portion of Willard St. from the Department of Public Works to the MDC was passed in the House of Representatives Monday.

The legislation involving a section of Willard St. from West St. to the Braintree line, will now go to the Senate for consideration in the next few weeks, said Morrissey.

Morrissey said the legislation was filed at the request of many local residents and some elected officials concerned about the amount of traffic, especially trucks, on the street.

If the legislation is passed by the Senate, said Morrissey, the Blue Hills Division of the MDC will be responsible for patrolling that section of the street.

"I've always been confident in the MDC," said Morrissey, "they've done an excellent job with Quincy Shore Drive and Furnace Brook Parkway.

Cable TV To Get Hurricane Rebate

"We have decided not to wait for any ruling from the state cable commission to issue credits. It seems appropriate to us to issue credits for lost service because of the extraordinary circumstances of the hurricane and the tremendous support and co-operation shown by our subscribers during this difficult time," said King, whose responsibilities also include supervision of the parent company, American Cable-systems in Milton, Randolph and Dedham.

"People were inconvenienced in our communities because of Gloria and we intend to make it up to them as best we can," said Thomas Walsh, who supervises American System in 14 other South Shore and Cape Cod communities.

While American also serves cable subscribers in other communities north and west of Quincy, King and Walsh said the South Shore systems were hardest hit by Gloria.

repair extensive damage to trunk line.

King said most service on 550 miles of cable plant in the Quincy area was restored by Sunday, Sept. 29.

In some cases, in areas where power was not restored, the cable company used more than 30 portable generators to power cable service to areas not affected by loss of electricity.

"Our technicians and contractors worked around the clock after Gloria passed to restore service as quickly as possible," said King. "They deserve a lot of praise for their hard work," said Walsh of American Cablesystems employees.

DECISION FOR NEWLYWEDS

QUESTION: I am engaged to be married. We have about $18,000 in the bank between us. Our question is whether to invest our savings in a home or rent an apartment until we are ready to have children.

ANSWER: Apartment rents are climbing as available space is less. On top of this, the monthly rent checks represent money that is gone forever. On the other hand, house payments are a form of forced savings and actually build an equity for you while allowing you to deduct the interest and property taxes from your income. Also, you can probably look forward to a good profit when you eventually sell. Either way you decide - have a happy honeymoon!

IF YOU CAN AFFORD IT, the best investment newlyweds can make is the purchase of a home.

Stasha's Hair Care In South Quincy

A grand opening was held recently for Stasha's Hair Care, a new, full-service beauty salon at 143 Water St., South Quincy.

Mayor Francis McCauley cut the ceremonial ribbon to officially open the salon which is owned and operated by Jim and Stasha Crehan.

Champagne and wine were served at the festivities which followed.

The Crehans have lived on the South Shore for 16 years. They have a daughter, Michelle, 15, who attends Sacred Heart School, Weymouth.

Stasha has been a successful hairstylist for 11 years in Cambridge.

The Crehans say they combined courage, determination and the help and love of relatives and friends to fulfill a lifelong dream - opening Stasha's Hair Care of Quincy. Friends and relatives toasted their success at the grand opening celebration.

A Quincy resident was named "Executive of the Year" by the Boston Chapter of the National Association of Women in Construction (NAWIC).

C. Charles Sewell of Quincy, who operates a general contracting firm in Weymouth, was honored at a NAWIC meeting at The Marriott, Newton.

His firm, C.C. Sewell Inc. of Weymouth, has been in operation since 1951.

The award was presented to Sewell by Anita Green, Chairman of the Executive Night Committee of the Boston Chapter 15 of NAWIC, for his support of the association.

Kenneth Fallon Named President Of Zimmer Division

Kenneth P. Fallon, III, formerly of Quincy, has been promoted to President of the Orthopaedic Implant Division of Zimmer, Inc.

Zimmer, a division of Bristol-Myers, is the world's leading manufacturer of orthopaedic implants.

Fallon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. Fallon Jr. of Quincy.

In his new position, Fallon is responsible for the research and development, manufacturing and marketing functions of the Zimmer orthopaedic implant business in Warsaw. The Warsaw plant is the company's largest facility.

Since 1983, Fallon has been vice president of marketing at Zimmer. Prior to that, he has been an independent consultant and marketing director for Johnson &

Quincy Resident Opens Reupholstery, Interior Shop

Faize Abouzeid, a Quincy resident, recently opened Faize Interiors, a reupholstery and interior service shop serving the residential and commercial community, at 290 Washington St., Weymouth.

The shop offers services in reupholstery, refinishing, custom made draperies, carpeting, wallpaper, custom slipcovers and bedspreads, office furniture, and furniture for the home.

Although it is a new shop, Faize has been in business for over 15 years. She was decorator for the J.C. Hillary's restaurants in Dedham and Boston, and Joseph's Restaurant on Dartmouth St., Boston.

Faize stresses that the company has the know-how to save time from start to finish regardless of the scope of the project.

Faize Interiors offers pickup and delivery, free estimates, and a 20% discount on its products.

"We're here to serve you, and we'll be happy to answer your questions regarding reupholstery and other interior services," Faize said.

QCA Schedules Interviews For Fuel Assistance

Quincy's fuel assistance program officials are taking telephone calls to set up appointments for interviews beginning Oct. 15 for those eligible to receive heating support this winter.

According to fuel assistance director Charlotte Jolle' of the Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., 1495 Hancock St., you may be eligible if you pay for your own heat or heat is included in your rent. This on-going fuel assistance program ends next April 31.

Jolle' said eligibility is determined by the size of your household and total income received by all those 18 years and older. This income is to be documented for not more than 12 months or not less than 90 days prior to application date and presented at the time of interview.

As part of the application process the agency is required to ask the social security numbers of all members of the household.

By scheduling appointments, telephone 471-4025 (26) or (27), those eligible, especially elderly and handicapped, will not need to wait in line for long periods of time.

Council Overrides McCauley On Veto

(Cont'd from Page 1)

"What's so wrong with a mandated public hearing? What's so wrong with airing the plans in a city-wide public hearing?" asked Lydon, in whose ward the hospital is located.

Councillor Joanne Condon, who seconded Lydon's motion, said she was "appalled" by a notice at Quincy City Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Condon read the notice which stated in part, "The City Council is at it again! (At least 75% of them) are trying to destroy our building project! Now they want to force PUD (Planned Unit Development) on us which will cost a lot of our $ and will ultimately eliminate our new building's financing. "Alert: 75% of the City Council members may not be able to read since they had all the facts in writing and know the consequences. It couldn't be that they're polking in this election year."

Later in the meeting, Gerald Marquis, chairman of the hospital's board of managers, denied that the notice was a product of the administration or hospital board.

Councillor Patricia Toland led off the opposition by explaining that she understood that the original PUD zoning vote was to affect all future construction at the hospital.

"We have had a PUD situation for the last seven to eight months," said Mrs. Toland, "with much public input. Everyone has had his or her say."

"If we vote PUD (to be effective now) we'll go through the whole scenario again."

"We've been through that part. Now we're on the brink of the next step."

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., said, "The need for the council to go through the process again is absurd."

"We need a new hospital. I support PUD for future projects."

"I don't want to hold up the project."

Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia said that if the mayor's veto was overridden, there would be a risk of raising the reconstruction costs.

LaRaia said he intended to scrutinize, as a public official, the building of the hospital.

James Sheets, chairman of the City Council, had the last word before the vote was taken.

Sheets explained that he had supported the revolving fund which first allowed Quincy City Hospital to exist separately from the city.

"We created you-the hospital board of managers. We gave you the power that you have."

"...I'm deeply concerned that we are being extricated from the process at Quincy City Hospital."

"I don't accept that PUD will destroy or delay the project."

"...The issue is whether the City Council is involved in the oversight process."

"Historically, we have given you power. I would have thought that you would have welcomed us to the process."

the height of the tax paying season in the past.

Teller terminals verify and record all transactions as they occur for daily updating of outstanding balancing, McCauley noted.

"We urge taxpayers to pay their bills as soon as possible," said the mayor, "so that the city can avoid borrowing money."

The tax rates are $20.63 per $1,000 valuation for residential property and $30.49 for commercial, industrial and personal property.

Police Raises Go To Council Monday

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Mayor Francis McCauley said he will submit to the City Council at its meeting Monday an amendment to the city ordinance to include the recently negotiated raises for the police department.

"No appropriation will be needed, because we have already appropriated $600,000 in the budget," said McCauley.

"These are raises which we can afford."

McCauley said he expected the council to pass the amendment which calls for a 1½% raise effective July 1, 1984; 1½% January, 1985; 6% July 1, 1985; 4% July 1, 1986; and 2% Jan. 1, 1987.

Unions who have yet to settle with the city are the Fire Department, Police Superior Officers, Hospital, Library and Public Employees and School Maintenance.

McCauley said he would like to have all of the contracts settled before the end of the year.

Among the other items on the agenda will be:

- Appropriation of $2,000 at the request of Tony Siciliano, deputy director of Civil Defense, and Police Chief Francis Finn, for an emergency generator for Civil Defense to replace the current generator.

Siciliano said that the organization's main generator on the Rescue Truck gave about after being used beyond its capacity during Hurricane Gloria.

All that is left is a small, 4,000 watt generator, said Siciliano.

McCauley also said he is considering buying generators for some of the schools, such as Atlantic and Atherton Hough.

- Request from Police Chief Francis Finn to transfer for Appropriation $53,368 for five Chevrolet vehicles to be used as unmarked cars in the Quincy Police Department Investigative Services.

The new vehicles will replace cars purchased in 1977 which have travelled over 100,000 miles, McCauley said.

- Request from the Fire Chief for Appropriation of $169,587 for a UHF radio system.

- Request from the mayor for $15,000 to be appropriated to the Manet Community Health Center.

The sum is to fund utilities and maintenance of buildings and grounds for the facilities at 1193 Sea St. and 9 Bicknell St. which serve all of Quincy, McCauley said.

McCauley stressed that the funding is for one year only.

225 Condos, Shops Office Building

$55 Million Second Phase At Marina Bay

By DAN CONNELLY

A price tag of at least $55 million has been earmarked over the next two years for phase II of Marina Bay in Squantum which will include the construction of 225 condominiums, a six story office building and new shops.

But some neighbors to the proposed construction aren't too happy with the prospects of the size of the project.

The plans are the second phase of O'Connell Development Company's $250 million project on 74 acres overlooking Quincy Bay.

"There has been no change in the total scope of the project," developer Peter O'Connell said.

The $55 million to be spent is more than double the Quincy firm's investment in the first phase of the project, which included construction of condominium units, boat storage buildings and restaurants and shops.

Maureen Mazrimas, a Squantum resident and former president of Save Our Shores of Quincy, said:

"I am not an obstructionist, but I would like to see the overall development plan." She said her concern is with the magnitude of the project and the impact on sewer, water, and traffic for Squantum.

The complete project -- to be built over the next five to 10 years -- is to include nearly 1,000 housing units, 850,000 square feet of office space and a 300-room hotel.

The developers plan to meet with Squantum residents soon to discuss these new construction plans. A date has not been set. The developer also needs approval from the planning board and the zoning board of appeals. The planning board will hold a hearing at a later date.

The developer's plans include:

- Building a 150,000 square foot six story office building at a cost of about $15 million. This structure will be on the west side of the property, near the Jordan Marsh warehouse.

- Building 225 additional condominium units at a cost of $40 million to $50 million. The units, expected to be sold for between $185,000 and $300,000, will be in two adjacent buildings. The pyramid-shaped structures will be up to 10 stories in height. Currently, there are 101 townhouse units at Marina Bay. More than 60 are occupied and all but a few are sold.

- Demolishing the hanger building to make room for one of the new condominium buildings. The hanger was built when Squantum was a World War II Navy base.

- Rehabilitating the 600-slip marina. Work will include improving some of the docks and installing new plumbing and electrical lines.

- Building three additional store buildings in the boardwalk area of Marina Bay, which now has nine shops and three restaurants, including a recently opened 165-seat Amelia's.

- Installing rack storage facilities inside the boat storage buildings. This will allow the marina to hold an additional 200 small boats, which would all be stored inside. A new boat "well" for putting the boats in the water also will be installed.

- Construction on an extension of Victory Road. Most of the work is done and the two-lane road will be completed by next summer.

The plan also includes construction of a new access road to connect Victory Rd. with Jordan Marsh Rd.

Hurricane Gloria Costs Park Dept. $97,507

Hurricane Gloria cost the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Departments $97,507.34 in personnel cleanup expenditures, repairs and replacements, according to executive director Richard J. Koch.

That is the total cost submitted for reimbursement if federal funds become available, he said.

Two hundred twenty-five city owned trees were felled by the hurricane including 165 on city streets and 40 in municipal parks and playgrounds according to Koch.

The total did not include the hundreds of tree sections, limbs and branches that were also blown down in the storm that reeked havoc throughout the Eastern Massachusetts area, he said.

Approximately 50 more trees weakened by the storm will be removed at a later date, according to Koch.

The most extensive damage caused to recreational areas occurred at Adams Regulation baseball field where a large tree from Southern Artery felled a 73' light tower and damaged the bleachers on the third base side of the field, Koch said.

An estimate of cost to replace the damaged light tower and repair the bleachers is $27,500. Several large chainlink baseball backstops were with a $10,000 estimate for repairs.

Cost to replace the 250 trees felled or requiring removal is $37,500 for Norway Maples and Crimson Kings.

ing the new system.

He also asked all taxpayers to pay their bills as soon as possible to help the city with its cash flow so that it will not have to borrow money.

Over $1 Million Collected In Taxes

The city has collected $1,044,296.53 in taxes since it began collecting the bills two weeks ago, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

"That's better than last year," said the mayor, who noted there have been no major problems with the new computerized system.

McCauley thanked all those involved in implement-

Contract To Paint 6 Fire Stations

Mayor Francis McCauley has signed three contracts totalling $18,480 to paint the outside of six Quincy fire stations.

The contracts were awarded to low bidder H.M. Horton Co. of Walpole, said McCauley, who noted that the work will begin almost immediately.

The stations to be painted, and the cost are: North Quincy and Wollaston, $8,400; Houghs Neck and Germantown, $5,500; West Quincy and Quincy Point, $4,580.

AS VETERANS GROUPS plan appropriate exercises for the coming Veterans Day observance, city and MDC officials are busy sprucing up veterans memorials, tableaux, squares, and markers dedicated to those who died for their country. One such memorial honoring Congressional Medal of Honor winner William R. Caddy at Caddy Memorial Park, Quincy Shore Drive, needs a lot of scrubbing to completely erase the graffiti scrawled on its facade by some unthinking or unfeeling unpatriotic individual or individuals.

Spear St. Lodging House License Approved

By LINDA WILKINS

The city License Board granted a request Tuesday from Louis A. Delpidio of Hingham for transfer of the lodging house license at 60-62 Spear St., Quincy Center, as held by Joseph A. Baglione of Quincy.

The new license will be subject to approval by the city's health, fire, and building departments.

Atty. Robert Fleming, who represented Delpidio at the meeting, said Delpidio plans to complete an addition to the house which Baglione had received a license for one year ago. The addition, which will be to the front of the house, will expand the lodging house from 10 rooms to 22.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, who was present at last year's License Board meeting, attended Tuesday's meeting to once again voice his concerns about traffic in the area.

"I was here one year ago when Baglione's plans were okayed and I was assured then that there was ample parking," DeCristofaro said. "Some of the neighbors are concerned about a rooming house and I assured them that this would be a good, clean project."

Fleming said that since the lodging house is located near the MBTA, he did not anticipate all 22 roomers having cars.

The license was granted, however, with the stipulation that there be no offstreet parking.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action Tuesday at its meeting at City Hall:

- Withdrew without prejudice a request from Richard MacKenzie of East Wareham for a permit to store 165 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of vehicles being repaired at 94 Franklin St., South Quincy (about a total of 10 vehicles.)

- Granted a request from Quincy High School Girls Volleyball Team for a one day all alcoholic license for a 50's dance to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall

Nov. 8 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

- Granted a request from The Parent's Club of Woodward School for a one day all alcoholic license for a 50's dance Saturday, Nov. 2, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Woodward School, Hancock St., Quincy.

- Granted a request from the Committee to Elect Thomas P. Koch for a one day all alcoholic license for Friday, Oct. 18, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted a request from Robert Nugent for a one day all alcoholic license for a Spaghetti Dinner Night to be held at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall Tuesday, Oct. 29, from 5:30 p.m. to midnight.

- Granted a request from the Marine Corps League for a one day all alcoholic license for an annual installation Oct. 19, 7:30 p.m. to midnight.

- Granted a request from Boy Scout Troop 25 for a canning drive Nov. 8 from 5:30 to 9 p.m. and Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Police Issue Warning On Flim Flam Artists

Quincy police are again cautioning residents, especially the elderly, to beware of flim flam artists who offer services.

This recent warning comes after police were notified by a South Quincy man who began getting strange calls from a girl who wanted to clean his apartment about two weeks after he retired.

The girl asked the man if he kept money in the apartment or in the bank. She also asked for his telephone number even though she had called him.

The man notified his former employer and the social security office that there was a leak concerning his retirement. He suggested that they advise retirees living alone to be careful about telephone calls from unknowns.

The man said he was not concerned about himself, but he wrote to Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti asking that he prod various agencies to alert citizens who are old and alone to these situations.

Stereo Equipment Stolen

Salvatore Gentile of Kemper St., Wollaston, reported to police that a Sony stereo, amplifier and speakers worth $1,400 were stolen from his car in the General Dynamics parking lot.

Firm Given 30 Days To Clean Up Area

By LINDA WILKINS
The License Board has given Joseph H. Vissa & Sons, 18-20 Furnace Ave., West Quincy, 30 days to clear its surrounding area and screen its property or face losing its repair service and gasoline license.

At its meeting Tuesday at City Hall, the board voted to give Vissa an opportunity to clean trucks and debris allegedly placed on land beyond Vissa's licensed lot.

"There is unlicensed parking, junk and some trucks beyond what was licensed," said Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald in reference to property located beside Vissa's lot.

MacDonald also said Vissa's original license stipulated that the company screen its land as requested by the zoning ordinance. "They should screen the land the way they agreed to," he said.

The matter came before the board through a letter written by Joseph R. Valente of Valente Mechanical Contractors, Inc.

The letter stated that:

"Vissa Construction has created an eyesore in what is basically a residential area. Partially dismantled trucks, road equipment, debris such as oil tanks, plows, tires, and many other metal materials are strewn on his property and also property not belonging to him. He is also trucking in gravel, loam, mulch and stock piling it on flood plain land."

According to Robert Vissa, the company has already begun cleaning the land.

The License Board will view the area Nov. 19.

Progress Being Made In Man's Death Probe

Quincy Police say they are making progress in the investigation into the death of William J. Sheffler, 29, whose body was found Oct. 1, about 60 feet in the woods off South St., which intersects with Edinboro Rd., Quincy Point.

According to Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives, police are still treating the case as a homicide. There are no suspects, he said.

Sheffler lived at 1015 Southern Artery, not too far from where his body was found, Rowell said.

Autopsy reports indicated extensive injuries to the chest area, broken ribs, a broken sternum and severed spinal cord, according to Rowell, who said the injuries are consistent with motor vehicle type accidents.

The coroner's report also showed alcohol in Sheffler's blood, said Rowell, but he was not legally intoxicated.

Rowell theorized that the body was carried off the roadway and deposited where it was found.

Working on the case are Lt. Det. Neil MacDonald, and Detectives Robert Curtis and William Lanegan, Rowell said.

Local Fall Foliage To Peak On Weekend

Richard J. Koch, Executive Director of the Quincy Park, Forestry and Cemetery Department, announces that fall foliage is peaking this weekend in the local area. Despite the winds of Hurricane Gloria, an excellent array of colors can be viewed in the greater Quincy area, Koch said.

Those unable to travel any distance because of health or other reasons may observe excellent fall colors within several miles of their home, he said.

Pageant Field in Merry-mount Park off Southern Artery provides a beautiful array of the fall changing colors of the season and a view of the Black's Creek Basin and Quincy Shore Waterfront, Koch said.

Faxon Park in South Quincy offers a heavily wooded 50 acre park site with a large number of oak trees and geological rock formations. Adjacent to the picnic site is an overlook focusing on the Quincy Point and Town River areas with trees and waterways in sight, according to Koch.

Squaw Rock in Squantum Squaw Rock in the Squantum section is an island-type setting with a large number of birch trees that provided a settlement for the American Indians several hundred years ago, Koch explained.

The variety of heights at the location results in a view of the Boston skyline, University of Massachusetts and Kennedy Library in one direction, Koch said, and the Quincy Harbor Islands and Quincy Bay in the other.

Streaker Streaks

A streaker wearing only a T-shirt ran past the 7-11 store, Franklin St., towards Water St., South Quincy, it was reported to police.

Sawyer Playground To Be Dedicated Oct. 26

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that the playground and field next to the Massachusetts Fields School will be dedicated in memory of Merle C. Sawyer Saturday, Oct. 26, at 10:30 a.m.

Sawyer was principal of the Massachusetts Fields School for 20 years and an educator in Quincy for 45 years, according to the mayor.

The school has been sold but the memory of Merle and the many other fine members of the staff who served before and after her, will live on in the hearts of the neighbors of the school, the mayor added.

The mayor also announced that he joins with the Massachusetts Fields School Parent Teacher Organization in inviting the public to attend the dedication.

Reader's Forum City Needs Master Plan For Development

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a Quincy resident, I found the recent primary election a sad commentary on the issues facing the City of Quincy as we head toward the 90's and beyond.

In the time since the Sept. 10 election until now, I have not heard either candidate for mayor discuss the establishment of a sound rational policy on growth.

Does Quincy have a comprehensive master plan for economic development? How does our present conservative Republican mayor stand on such a master plan and how does his more liberal opponent differ from him on this issue?

For both mayoral candidates to either write letters to Reagan or visit Washington D.C. at this late date over the closing of the Quincy Shipyard is an exercise in futility. The shipyard issue is out of the hands of City Hall and that institution should be dealing with things within their grasp. I am concerned about the Houstonization of Quincy. Seemingly endless overdevelopment in this city can do more damage than too little growth. Condo plan after condo plan is proposed. How much thought is given the basic services which now must be given the residents of newly built condominium developments? How many additional residents can Quincy afford to have before the capacity to service them is overlooked?

Can Quincy increase their population up to a 100,000 and still maintain the same level of expected city services or will services need to be curtailed or taxes raised to meet the new expectations?

Quincy has grown much over the last few years and the newest industry appears to be condos. At one of the first pre-primary candidates nights, Mayor McCauley was reported to have said he favored the problems surrounding overdevelopment rather than the problems surrounding a recession. I have never heard much from Councilor Joanne Condon on this Overdevelopment issue and would like to know how her stance addresses this issue.

Quincy needs to address the issue of Economic Overgrowth with a master plan. Perhaps, the city could learn from other cities which have faced up to problems surrounding prosperity like Nashua, New Hampshire. That city deals with the issues caused by rapid growth in a rational and planned manner.

Quincy's policy on growth should be consistent and planned soundly, not just for the immediate benefits but for the long haul and future of the city.

What About The Other Side?

Well, let's give Quincy another boot.

That seems to be The Boston Globe's attitude as it once again tries to paint Quincy as a city full of bigots. A recent news story and editorial regarding a black single mother and daughter tearfully leaving Quincy in "fear" lack a major ingredient: fairness.

They are pretty much one-sided.

Doris Gardner, 30, and her daughter, Lisa, 11, "will attempt to leave the fear and the sickness behind when they move today from Quincy," the story said.

Relating problems she says she has had entering the driveway to the Germantown public housing facility where she lived a little more than a year, she is quoted:

"The grown people along with their children and even their dogs would not move so I could get into the driveway. They would say nigger this and nigger that. And then when I would finally get into the parking space, then I would have to prepare myself for more remarks. I had to prepare myself emotionally for that. Then after I closed the car door, walked up the steps, I had to prepare myself for what could be in this apartment. Was all the furniture gone? Were the windows broken?"

A basic principle of good journalism is that there are two sides to a story but little effort is made in the Globe article to get the other side on this one.

Everything Gardner says is accepted by the Globe as exactly the way it happened. Those people who reportedly harassed her in the driveway are not given a chance to give their version.

And, not much effort is made to talk with neighbors and other residents of the area to respond to other Gardner charges.

And, of course, Alex Rodriguez, chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination who has always been trigger-happy when it comes to firing at Quincy, pops up with an inevitable quote: "Once again we have the racists of the world winning a small victory. I don't think it speaks for the good citizens of Quincy who would find this abhorrent."

Thank you for "the good citizens." Mr. Rodriguez because there are far many more good citizens in Quincy than bigots even though the Globe seems to like to tell it the other way around.

Gardner tells the Globe that many of her neighbors have been cruel.

And, the Globe found an unidentified neighbor who reportedly admits calling her names and lurking outside her kitchen window "just to aggravate her. If I could turn the clock back, I never would have done things to her."

The Globe did come up with a one-inch paragraph in an otherwise completely negative story reporting that other residents complained that Gardner was unfriendly and brought hardships on herself.

"She fights with everybody," a next door neighbor is quoted. "Her color is her problem. She hates being black."

Gardner not only had problems with white neighbors, she had them with at least one black, too. But an incident involving them is not reported in The Globe.

Gardner, who came from Virginia, has also had problems with neighbors in Weymouth and Braintree before moving into Germantown.

Some of the incidents she has complained about in Quincy are strictly her version—her own accounts of things that have allegedly been done and words allegedly spoken. Substantiating witnesses appear to be scarce.

Gardner and her daughter have moved to Mattapan. Perhaps there they will find the happiness that has eluded them in Weymouth, Braintree and Quincy. Time will tell.

In a followup editorial, "Fighting against bigotry," the Globe took another swipe at Quincy.

"The harassment and fear that led a black woman and her 11-year-old daughter to move from a Quincy housing project is undeniably a victory for the bigots in that city."

It goes on to comment:

"A black visitor to Quincy finds little of a live-and-let-live attitude. Anti-black feelings can be found among people in almost any part of the city. One day last week, a black woman walking around downtown was met with nasty looks and derogatory comments from passersby. She was brushed against by a group of teenage boys and by a man who voiced his opinion of 'niggers.' Her experience, according to other blacks who have occasion to go into the city, was not unusual."

One incident—if it actually happened the way the Globe tells it—and they would have you believe harassment of blacks is a common occurrence in the downtown area.

And, if it did happen, were the offenders Quincy residents or someone from out of town. Many out-of-town shoppers still come to Quincy.

But the Globe obviously doesn't consider that possibility as it jumps to the conclusion that they were Quincy residents and therefore the whole downtown area is anti-black.

Well, the Globe may know all and see all from over there on Morrissey Blvd. but that's not the view we get here from The Sun office on Hancock St. in the heart of downtown Quincy.

We see blacks strolling the downtown area every day and especially on Saturdays. None of them look like they are in fear or feel they are unwelcomed as they walk along the sidewalks, shop in stores, eat ice cream cones.

They walk alone, in pairs or in small family groups with frolicking children.

We have not seen one incident or heard one insulting word.

And, if there has been a now and then incident or word, does that make the downtown area infested with bigots and racists?

There are bigots here in Quincy to be sure. No one is proud of that. Unfortunately, there are some in every community and they aren't always white.

But why is it that when an incident does happen in Quincy, it's an automatic headline in the Globe?

The Globe editorial goes on to observe:

"It is both disgraceful and sorrowful that there is no public outcry over acts of racial violence in Quincy. Residents seldom step forward to condemn such acts or demand that justice be done. The notable exception were those persons who bravely testified following an assault on five sailors at Houghs Neck."

The Globe neglects to point out one of those five sailors was white.

The Globe doesn't mention the appointment by the School Committee of Dr. Clayton Johnson, a black, as president of Quincy Junior College.

The Globe doesn't mention the black and white youngsters riding tricycles and bicycles together in Germantown. Or black and white teenagers playing basketball together in Germantown. And, yes, black and white youngsters sometimes getting into mischief together.

There might be fewer racial incidents and problems if someone wasn't always ready to stir things up.

Maybe there hasn't been that kind of public outcry because incidents have been isolated and most people in Quincy know it.

The Globe takes one incident, mixes it with past isolated incidents, editorially re-hashes them until it appears these are everyday occurrences.

It's like taking a couple of housebreaks, a shoplifting, a couple of stolen cars, lacing them together and proclaiming in a bold headline: "Crime Wave Hits City."

If Quincy is so hostile to minorities, how come so many Orientals are buying homes and other property here. Check the real estate transactions.

Right now there are 87 Cantonese speaking students in Quincy for whom the city is trying to find a bilingual teacher.

There are and always will be neighbors who have trouble getting along with one another and it has nothing to do with the color of their skin.

Frankly, we're a little tired of Quincy being condemned because of a now-and-then incident that similarly happens in just about every community.

These incidents should never be condoned, regardless of how often they occur.

Branding an entire community or sections of a community as racist because of an ignorant bigot may sell a few newspapers but it isn't fair.

The Commission's Corner

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women has been busy all summer making plans for the coming year.

At the September meeting three Task Forces were initiated: Comparable Worth, Status of Women in Quincy and Housing and the Homeless. Committees will be working on the Commission's history, legislature information concerning women and, of course, next year's Woman to Woman Day. Also watch for special programs on Quincy cable.

Anyone living or working in Quincy who would like to join this active group is asked to contact the Mayor's office

$12.4 Million Returned To Quincy By Mass. State Lottery

By NANCY McCLAUGHLIN

Five local residents have received a total $5,706,086 as Megabucks winners over the past two years.

But the real winner has been Quincy which received more than $12.4 million from the Massachusetts State Lottery last year.

The money was received in the form of lottery fund distribution, prizes, and sales agents commissions and bonuses.

"Total lottery game sales in Quincy were $13,550,000 and the amount returned to the local economy was $12,427,000," reported James E. Hosker, executive director of the Massachusetts State Lottery in a recent visit to The Quincy Sun.

"The primary purpose of the lottery is to generate revenues for the cities and towns," said Hosker.

"In our first 13 years, we generated more than $1.5 billion toward that objective...money that has gone to support public schools, libraries, police and fire departments, senior citizens' programs and countless other activities undertaken by the public interest by the state's 351 cities and towns."

"That's a billion and a half dollars that didn't have to be raised through property taxes."

Hosker said that over $7.8 million was paid to residents of Quincy in lottery prizes during 1984.

In addition, the Quincy city treasury received over $2.8 million in lottery funds, he said.

The total amount received by the city since the lottery began amounts to over $12.3 million.

Commissions and bonuses earned by Quincy's 53 sales agents amounted to $813,000 last year, Hosker said.

MASSACHUSETTS STATE LOTTERY director James E. Hosker, left, and State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane look over figures which show that the lottery is in the best shape it's ever been in and is one of the most successful lotteries in the United States.

Sixteen charitable organizations in Quincy earned over $921,000 in 1984 from Beano games licensed and overseen by the Lottery Commission, he said.

Hosker said that the Massachusetts State Lottery's significant achievements over the years include the nation's first Instant Game and Megabucks, the most successful lotto-type game in the nation.

Hosker attributed Megabucks' popularity to the large prizes.

He added that "Europe has had lotto (on which Megabucks is based) for 500 years."

Some of the upcoming innovations proposed by the lottery include a Megabucks season ticket, which will enable Megabucks players to play for up to a year with one transaction, and a new sales agent identification program that will increase the visibility and accessibility of lottery games at retail locations.

"The season tickets should be available around Nov. 15," said Hosker. "New vending terminals will be tested in mid-November. We'll start to place them Jan. 1."

"They'll also help the peak volume agent."

Among Hosker's more pleasant responsibilities is handing the first check to Megabucks' winners.

He said he conducts an amateur study of the winners and finds that winners under age 35 have already bought a car by 9 a.m. of the day they picked up the check.

Those over age 35 are "kind of blasé," he says.

"They don't tend to change their ways. They might buy a Cape house or take a trip, but they keep the same lifestyle

"One winner is receiving $500,000 a year and is still a secretary," said Hosker.

He advises all of the winners to bring a lawyer with them when they claim their prize.

All of the winners have to adjust to having a large income, said Hosker, "but also to realize that the winnings aren't a bottomless pit."

"The first year, they tend to spend it quickly," said Hosker. "All of the winners are fairly happy that the money is spread out over 20 years."

Adjusting to a larger income is a problem most people would like to have. Included among that group are previous Megabucks winners.

"Most of them still buy tickets," Hosker smiles, "they figure that lightning might strike again."

Edwards Meadow Proposed For City Parking Lot

Reuben Grossman, head of the Hia Pearl Corp., proposed that the city purchase the 107,000 square foot Edwards Meadow on the east side of the Hancock St. business area for use as a parking area. The offer was referred to the City Council's Finance Committee.

Councillor William M. Edmonston, chairman of the Council's Traffic Committee, said that inasmuch as the city was already paying a rental fee of $2,000 a year for the land it was time that something be voted on the matter.

"Let's get rid of it or do something with it," he said.

SLOOP STOLEN, WRECKED

The sloop Duffer II, stolen in Quincy last summer, was found wrecked on the shores of the North Sea in Europe and police believed that the pirates who heisted the vessel also were implicated in the slaying of a New York yachtman on Long Island Sound.

Duffer II, owned by Clark Saville of 34 Greenwood St., Wollaston, was stolen from its moorings off the Quincy Yacht Club July 29. The wreckage was found in the North Sea nearly three months later and the three men aboard were presumed to have perished.

In the meantime, Benjamin P. Collings was drowned when he was thrown overboard by two strange men who boarded his yacht, Penguin, while it was anchored off Oyster Bay, N.Y. Collings wife, Lillian, was abducted and assaulted.

STREET CAR MISHAP

Four men were injured, one seriously, when a Houghs Neck-bound street car struck a city ash truck in front of 305 Sea St., Adams Shore, dragged the vehicle about 80 feet and crushed it against a utility pole.

Patrick Connolly, 55, of 240 South St., Quincy Point, a passenger on the bus headed for work at the Metropolitan sewer plant in Houghs Neck, suffered a fractured spine and internal injuries.

Students, Host Families Wanted For Program

Students and host families are wanted from Quincy for a German-American Exchange program in the summer of 1986. The program includes a three week stay in Munich by American students followed by a three week visit to the greater Boston area by the German students.

The program is run by the Goethe Institute of Boston, the German Cultural Center of New England. This is the sixth year for the program.

Students are chaperoned and live in homes. In Germany they tour places like the Lowenbrau brewery, Dachau and the BMW plant. Side trips to castles, Berchtesgaden and Salzburg are part of the itinerary.

In America both the American and German students visit the Freedom Trail, Sturbridge Village, New York City, Plum Island and other areas of local culture and history.

"Even more important than the cultural events, young people get a chance to live in each others homes. This sharing of families often leads to lifelong friendships," said Jorg Frey, head of the Goethe Institute.

To find out how to become a student and/or a host family contact the Goethe Institute, 170 Beacon St., Boston, 02116 or call 262-6050. Knowledge of German is not required.

'Stilling Storms' Sermon Topic At Bethany

There will be two worship services Sunday, Oct. 20, in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at 9 a.m. in the chapel and 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach at both hours. The sermon topic will be "Stilling Storms" based on the text from the Gospel of Mark 4:35-41 and 5:1-20.

Scripture readings will be William F. Greene at the early service and Olive Hodgkins at the late service. Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will be the liturgist at both services.

The worship service will be broadcast over WJDA, 1300 kc, by delayed-tape at 11 a.m.

The chancel choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory, "I Sing the Mighty Power of God" by Lipscomb, and as a second anthem, "And Now, O Father, Mindful of the Love" by Gibbons.

Sunday Church School will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pupils from pre-school through 8th grade. Nursery care is also provided for babies and a toddler group for two and three year olds, during the 10 a.m. service.

Following the late service, a coffee and fellowship time will be held in the Allen Parlor at 11 a.m. Individuals and families from the area are most welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For more detailed information concerning the services, ministries and programs of Bethany Church, contact Pastor Arnold or the church office at 479-7300.

United Nations Sunday At First Parish Church

The United First Parish Unitarian Church, 1308 Hancock St., Quincy Center, will hold a United Nations Sunday Service at 10:30 a.m., Nov. 3, to mark the 40th anniversary of the founding of that international organization.

Guest speaker will be Donald Snyder, former Chief of Manpower Planning and Organization of the International Labor Organization in Geneva. His topic will be "The Importance of the U.N. in Today's World."

There will be readings from

Dr. Martin Luther King, the Declaration of the International Association for Religious Freedom, and Brock Chisolm, first Director of the World Health Organization.

Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson, Carol Pickel, and Mark Schwegel will be leaders of the service; Barbara Wiggins will lead the Unison Affirmation; Anita Savelle, Faye Baglioni, Sue Dwyer, and Church School representatives Jenny Currie and Alanna Keto will light the symbolic candles; Ed Costello will light the flaming chalice; Edith Howlett, U.N. representative, will arrange the international flags centerpiece; Dr. Linda Williams from Massachusetts College of Art will arrange the candle altar piece; and Brenda Powers will deliver the closing words.

The service will be followed at 11:30 a.m. by a social hour in the Parish Hall, at which time the Church School children will have a Bake-Plant Sale to raise money for UNICEF.

Members of the community are invited to attend the service.

Bible Reading Topic At Squantum Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum heard a sermon Sunday morning about the importance of Bible reading as a discipline of the Christian life.

In a sermon entitled "Our Bread of Life," church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin explained once again how to do devotional Bible reading.

The greeters for the morning were Ruth and Wallace Danforth, the ushers were Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott and the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Lorraine Josselyn and Gloria Lester.

For the offertory anthem the Chancel Choir sang an arrangement of Samuel Wesley's "Lead Me, Lord."

At the early service, Dr. Langevin spoke about "The Story of the Old Testament." Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the congregational singing. Michael and Melissa Stamos were the ushers.

On Columbus Day, persons of all ages from the church spent the day together at Grottonwood, a Christian camp in Grotton.

There will be two services again this Sunday: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

City To Observe Adams' 250th Birthday

Plans are being finalized for a public celebration in honor of John Adams' 250th birthday to be held Oct. 20 and 30 in Quincy.

The birthplace of Adams, the second president of the United States, will be open for guided tours from noon to 3 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 20. Also Adams' birth certificate, on loan for the day from Braintree, will be displayed.

At 4 p.m. Paul C. Nagel, author of "Descent from Glory" will speak at the United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St. His topic will be "historic reflections."

Immediately following his address there will be a reception and formal cutting of the birthday cake in observance of the anniversary.

On Oct. 30 there will be a 10 a.m. wreath laying ceremony at the church where Adams is buried. The local commanding officer of the Naval Reserve will be officiating and representing President Ronald Reagan.

PAUL C. NAGEL

The Ancient and Honorable, a period honorary military group, will be present as will the Weymouth Naval Air Station Color Guard.

Three musical groups will also perform for the occasion: the North Quincy High School Band, the Quincy High School Chorus and the Braintree High School Corale. Historian William Flavin of the United Parish Church will also be speaking.

The Richard T. LaBrecque History Essay Contest, sponsored by the Education Committee of the Quincy Historical Society will be awarded at that time. The history essay contest honors the memory of Newspaperman Richard T. LaBrecque whose interest in Quincy's rich history was evidenced by his numerous articles on the subject. This year's essay topic is, quite appropriately, John Adams: Man of Law.

Esther Sanger To Receive JWV 'Citizen Of Year' Award

The Quincy Jewish War Veterans will honor Esther Sanger at the 35th annual "Citizen of the Year," at the Beth Israel Synagogue, Quincy, Sunday, Nov. 3 at 9:30 a.m.

MEGABUCKS SEASON TICKET

It plays when you can't.

It's hard to stay on top of everything that's happening these days. Take Megabucks, for example. With two big drawings every week, there may be times when you're just too busy to get in the game.

But now you can make sure your Megabucks number is always playing for you. Because now you can purchase a full year of twice-a-week Megabucks for $100 or a half year for $50.

Introducing the Megabucks Season Ticket.

A Season Ticket is the perfect way to keep up with your Megabucks number. And what's more, it makes a very special gift.

You can purchase Megabucks Season Tickets directly from your Lottery Agent. Just decide whether you want the full or half year ticket and then pick six numbers. Your Megabucks number will be logged into the Lottery's computer system immediately.

Keep your Megabucks bet covered.

Your Lottery Agent will then hand you your Season Ticket. Pay special attention to the effective date on the ticket and remember to keep playing your Megabucks number until then.

You'll also receive a registration card from your Lottery Agent. Return it to the Lottery and you'll be sure to have your name and address registered along with your Megabucks number.

Then, when you receive your confirmation card in the mail, you can sit back and relax. Because your Megabucks number will always be playing to win millions of dollars every Wednesday and Saturday.

A Season Ticket makes Megabucks easier to play than ever.

With your Megabucks number on file at the Lottery, you'll never have to worry about missing a drawing.

In fact, if you hit the jackpot or any other Megabucks cash prizes, we'll send you a check right away. And any time you get three out of six numbers, we'll automatically extend the life of your Season Ticket by one extra drawing. We'll even let you know when it's time to renew.

So keep up with your Megabucks number with a Season Ticket. It plays when you can't.

Odds available at all Lottery Sales Agents.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

General William C. Westmoreland once said: "Every month is Red Cross month" ... The words are true ... Ever since Henri Dunant, the Swiss philanthropist, founded the world-wide humanitarian movement in 1863, Red Cross workers have been constantly providing help and comfort to uncountable millions of people.

Service men know how the Red Cross is dedicated to humanitarian service on battle fields 24 hours a day ... Millions of civilians know how the Red Cross is dedicated to help victims whenever disaster occurs, night or day. Actually, volunteers outnumber the Red Cross career staff by more than 100 to one.

It should be remembered that without ample funds Red Cross activity would be stymied ... Their help in times of disaster is freely given; an outright gift. One fact is elementary. They cannot give these gifts of help unless all of us give a gift of help to them ...

Thomas M. Maloney, 61, Former Seafood President

A funeral Mass for Thomas M. Maloney, 61, of Quincy, former president of the Maloney Seafood Corp. of Boston, will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mr. Maloney died Monday at the New England Medical Center, Boston, after a long illness.

He was a lifelong Quincy resident.

Mr. Maloney attended Quincy schools and was graduated from Boston College in 1947 and from the Boston University Law School in 1949.

An Army veteran of World War II, Mr. Maloney was a member of the Quincy Council Knights of Columbus, a director in the Boston Rotary Club, and a past president of the former Quincy Community Chest Drive.

He is survived by his wife, Alice C. (Cassidy) Maloney; four sons, Thomas M. Maloney Jr., Francis C. Maloney, Richard G. Maloney II and Joseph P. Maloney, all of Quincy; a daughter, Lisa P. Maloney of Quincy; three brothers, Dr. James A. Maloney of Waban, Richard G. Maloney of Boston and Dr. Phillip L. Maloney of Quincy; three sisters, Mary A. Maloney of Boston, Sr. Kathleen Mary, S.C., of Hoboken, N.J., and Therese A. Maloney of Boston; two grandchildren and many nephews and nieces.

Visiting hours were scheduled for 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. yesterday (Wednesday) at Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, One Independence Ave.

Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the Renovation Fund at the Chapel of Our Lady of Good Voyage, 65 Northern Ave., Boston.

Claude A. Gordon, 84, Retired Salesman

A funeral service for Claude A. Gordon, 84, of Quincy, was held Sunday in the East Milton Congregational Church, 610 Adams St.

Mr. Gordon, a retired salesman, died Oct. 11 in Milton Health Care Facility after a long illness.

Mr. Gordon lived in South Carolina before moving to Quincy 40 years ago.

He had been employed by the Denney Rey Burn Co. before retiring.

Mr. Gordon was a member of East Milton Congregational Church and Wollaston Council 594 of the United Commercial Travelers.

He served in the Marine Corps during the 1920s when he was stationed in Nicaragua.

Husband of the late Helen A. (Johnson) Gordon, he is survived by a daughter, Joanne Murphy of Wollaston; a brother, Clarence Gordon of South Carolina; a sister, Katherine Baxley of South Carolina; two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A private burial was held in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Dorchester.

Funeral arrangements were by the DeWare Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

New Low Interest Mortgage Loan Program

State Reps. Thomas Brownell, Michael Morrissey, Robert Cerasoli and Senator Paul Harold announce a new state-sponsored low interest home mortgage loan program.

The program will aid families in the purchase and rehabilitation of one to four family homes in Quincy.

The program, offered by the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA), is making $17.7 million available, statewide, for neighborhood rehabilitation loans.

Funds are offered at a fixed-rate of 9.9 percent for a term of 30 years. A minimum downpayment of only five percent is required.

Rep. Brownell said, "This is an excellent state program aimed at making home ownership affordable for many low and moderate income families. I strongly encourage those interested in buying a home to contact the city's Planning Department."

Rep. Morrissey said, "This is a great opportunity for first time homebuyers who might otherwise be unable to compete in today's escalating housing market."

Said Sen. Harold, "The continued funding of this program provides many middle income wage earners the only opportunity to purchase a home, since this area continues to be one of the most expensive real estate markets in the country."

The mortgage funds are available to households buying and rehabilitating homes in specially targeted neighborhoods.

Locally, the loans will be made in conjunction with Quincy's Department of Planning and Community Development. Contact is Elizabeth McElaney, 773-1380.

To qualify for a loan, homebuyers must meet MHFA income guidelines and other program requirements. The homes being purchased must meet certain acquisition cost limits and must require at least $3,000 worth of rehabilitation work.

The MHFA also has $19 million in home mortgage funds available through a new construction set-aside and $49.3 million available for general lending.

General lending funds will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis to Vietnam Era Veterans, and lower income, minority, and physically handicapped borrowers. Mortgage funds not requested by these borrowers during a 60 day reserve period will be made available to other qualified homebuyers through lotteries to be held Dec. 3, 1985.

For a program brochure, interested homebuyers should contact the MHFA Office of Single Family Programs, 50 Milk St., Boston, 02109, 451-2766.

Schools Receive $6500 Art Grant

The Quincy Public Schools is the recipient of a $6500 grant from the city's Arts Lottery.

Students in kindergarten through the eighth grade will participate in performances by well known artists in the field of theater arts, storytelling and music.

Among the artists included in the cultural event are the Mystic Paper Beasts of Storrington, Ct., as well as Bay State artists Bart McCarthy, Li Min Mo, the Troubadours, and Bartholomew's Fair.

The events are to be scheduled during the next three months in the city's nine elementary schools and five middle schools.

Small Claims Damages Increased To $1500

Actions for damages in small claims court have been increased to $1500.

The new law went into effect Sept. 19 and increases the jurisdictional limit from $1200 set in 1982.

State Senator Paul Harold of Quincy noted that under the small claims law, the $1500 limit does not apply to claims for damage caused by motor vehicles.

Harold said the law is intended to provide for a simple, informal and inexpensive procedure for settling disputes.

Therapy Group At Mental Health Center

The South Shore Mental Health Center has scheduled three therapy groups to deal with problems related to alcoholism and mid-life issues - all to be conducted at the center, 460 Quincy Ave., Quincy.

A group comprised of spouses of alcoholics or other chemically dependent persons meets Tuesday from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

An on-going session for adult children of alcoholics meets also on Tuesday, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

On Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. the center offers a therapy group for men and women in their early 40's to late 50's who are having difficulty handling mid-life issues: changing social, family or work roles, or experiencing difficulty managing relationships.

For more information about the programs call 770-4000, extension 201.

For those times when the darkness lingers

With the loss of a loved one through death, it is helpful to be able to share the feelings and emotions which we all experience.

For most of us, there are family members, clergy, and friends who are ready to listen in a caring way.

Yet, there are those who find it helpful to share their grief with someone outside their immediate circle of support.

Because of our continuing commitment to the families we serve, Keohane Funeral Service is pleased to announce that Dr.

Sherry Johnson has joined our staff as a Grief

Counselor. Her educational background, professional experience and understanding manner can be particularly helpful.

We are the first funeral home in New England to offer the service of a Grief Counselor.

Living With Your Loss

Over the years, much has been written about what people experience when someone they love dies. However, one thing we've learned is that grief is a very individual process a person goes through.

There are no rules to go by, but there are some helpful guidelines. Many of these are discussed in our unique brochure entitled, "Living With Your Loss" written by noted bereavement expert and author, Dr. Earl A. Grollman.

Rosemary Wahlberg Honored With QJC Degree

Mrs. Rosemary Wahlberg was cited as a positive force in education at all levels in Quincy as she was awarded an Associate in Human Letters degree Oct. 8 from Quincy Junior College.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley made the presentation on behalf of the Quincy School Committee upon the recommendation of Quincy Junior College President O. Clayton Johnson.

More than 80 guests were in attendance at the school including School Committee persons Mary Collins, Christopher Kennedy and Nicholas Verenis, and City Councillor-at-Large Pat Toland.

Verenis read a number of expressions of praise which were then presented to Mrs. Wahlberg by Committeeman Kennedy.

Mrs. Wahlberg was cited as a positive force in education at all levels in Quincy. She was further recognized for her work with the Quincy Housing Authority, and as Mayor McCauley's appointee to the Private Industry Council.

McCauley spoke of her years of public service in Quincy as did Superintendent of Schools John Osterman who lauded her for her work with the school system as a concerned citizen and parent.

Colonial American Songs For John Adams' 250th Birthday

Margaret MacArthur of Marlboro, VT, will perform songs of Colonial America to kick off two weeks of celebration of John Adams 250th birthday Saturday, Oct. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at United First Parish Church (Unitarian), Quincy Center.

Last year named "One of New England's Living Art Treasures" by New England Arts Biennial officials, she first began performing on folk instruments, including a restored small harp found derelict in a country barn, in the 1940s.

Her repertoire includes things she has uncovered from the wealth of New England traditions as well as numbers from modern writers.

Although some numbers are done a capella, other accompaniment includes Appalachian dulcimer and guitar.

Her interest in Anglo-American ballad began in childhood in the Ozarks of Missouri, and her collecting has included Kentucky as well as the Green Mountain state, to which she moved in 1948.

MARGARET MACARTHUR

Sunday morning, Oct. 20, she will share the service with the Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson, interim minister of the Church of Presidents. The children will present a giant birthday card they have made to hang on the columns in front of the building at that time.

That afternoon, the Adams birthplace will be open courtesy of the National Parks Service. The birth certificates will be on display from Braintree.

At 4 p.m., Dr. Paul Nagel, author of "Descent From Glory," a biography of four generations of the Adams family, will give the keynote address.

Sunday morning, Oct. 27, Dr. Edson will preach a sermon on Adams' religion and its contrast to that of today.

The traditional wreath-laying will conclude the celebrations Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 10 a.m. with a color guard from the South Weymouth Naval Air Station, a band from Quincy schools, chorus from Braintree High School and distinguished visitors.

First day covers of the Abigail Adams stamp, issued in the spring, will be available for purchase.

For more events information, contact First Parish Church at 783-1290.

Math SAT Review Classes For QHS Students

The Math Department at Quincy High School will conduct two six-day intensive Math SAT review classes Oct. 22 to 24 and Oct. 29 to 31.

The classes, for Quincy High School students, will be held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of the two weeks prior to the November SATs.

A morning session will run from 7:15 - 7:50 a.m. and an afternoon session from 2:30 - 3 p.m., Oct. 22 to 24 and Oct. 29 to 31.

Test taking techniques and pertinent information will be discussed. Sample tests will be administered and necessary concepts of algebra and geometry will be reviewed.

Materials used in the morning sessions will be different from those used in the afternoon sessions. Therefore, a student may attend the morning or the afternoon sessions, or both for maximum benefit.

Similar sessions were run last year. Both were well attended and beneficial to a large number of students, according to the school.

Iacobucci Disappointed In Council On Hospital Rezoning

Ronald Iacobucci, candidate for councillor at large, said he is disappointed that the councillors at large voted against rezoning the Quincy City Hospital site as Planned Unit Development.

"They voted against giving people in the neighborhood a voice in the future development of Quincy City Hospital," said Iacobucci. "Their argument that time is a factor and that delay will be costly is ridiculous in view of the following facts:

- The State Legislature has not approved the bonding legislation. It is now in the Senate for a third reading and according to the House Clerk's Office, it will take at least three weeks before approval and then three months before it becomes law. There is no emergency preamble attached.
- The State Public Health

Council has not issued the license for the revised development project. According to a spokesman for Public Health, it may take one to three months before this process is completed.

- The PUD process which will allow public input and participation can be initiated immediately. In fact, within 14 days of the hospital submitting its plans, a joint City Council-Planning Board Meeting can be held and a decision announced shortly thereafter.

- The Colonial/Heritage Neighborhood Association has agreed in principle to the need for a replacement facility. The president of the association has indicated that the association will not file an appeal and subsequent law suit to delay the process and that its concern for PUD Zoning involves the future development of the site.

"Clearly," said Iacobucci, "while we are waiting for state approvals there is time to protect the public interest."

"The people of this city, whether it is this neighborhood or any other neighborhood in the city, have a right to be involved."

"Neighborhoods must have a say in the development that impacts their area."

"For this reason, I stand with the ward councillors and commend their vote for PUD zoning."

"The fact that one is a councillor-at-large looking at the total picture, does not remove responsibility to protect the citizens in the neighborhood."

"Everyone is for a new replacement facility, but the neighborhood should be protected when the hospital is rebuilt."

Nutley Seeks Curb On Speeders

Safer streets that are free of irresponsible motorists is a concerned issue with Thomas J. Nutley, candidate for Ward 6 City Councillor.

Nutley recently attended a coffee hour at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Shields of 71 South Bayfield Rd., North Quincy, where he spoke with area residents about this problem.

In a prepared statement Nutley said: "Based on that community meeting and the strong feelings of the area residents I am going to call again upon the mayor and chief of police to implement frequent speed traps on East Squantum St. and moving speed traps on the side streets leading from Quincy Shore Drive to East Squantum St.

"The people in this area are also concerned, like the rest of us, about the so-called major issues of Quincy Bay pollution, over development but their most immediate concern is now and the problem closest to them the frequent speeding cars that bypass the highly effective MDC speed traps on Quincy Shore Drive and roar up and down this area's streets."

"According to residents this problem has reached the point where they are afraid to let their children play out on the sidewalk for fear the children might be struck by one of the many thoughtless speeders that use these streets."

"Since we have the same problems and fears on nearby Billings St., I understand their fears and concerns. I think it is high time that some arrests were made and stiff fines imposed and, in the case of repeaters, suspensions of licenses take place before a serious accident happens."

"These thoughtless and reckless drivers have clearly demonstrated that they don't deserve the privilege of a driver's license. I'll be seeking an immediate response from the Quincy police department."

Santoro Criticizes Attendance

At a gathering of supporters, Frank Santoro, candidate for Quincy School Committee, criticized the current committee members on their attendance record throughout the past year. Santoro expressed his concern as he reminded the audience, "we are constantly reinforcing to our students the importance of being on time." He added that a slack attitude towards attendance only builds poor work habits.

He also said he was glad to see that the long overdue discipline policy has finally begun to address the problem.

Santoro charged that the committee sets a poor example. He mentioned that in the 20 meetings during the past school year the committee as a whole were present and on time on only four occasions.

Included in Santoro's criticism was poor attendance during a special budget meeting held for input from the committee.

"Only three of the seven members were present for most of the meeting."

Santoro stated that as a result not one recommendation for spending was made by the committee for this year's budget.

Santoro added that during teacher negotiations poor attendance by the committee negotiators was partly responsible for the one-day strike action by teachers with one member not coming to the most crucial meeting.

Santoro, who lost by 44 votes in his last election bid, concluded:

"As elected officials, the committee, should be more responsible for their actions and that if the new discipline policy penalizes tardy students with grade deductions then the committee too should lose points on their performance."

FALL HOME IMPROVEMENT

Getting homes, in shape, a favorite fall pursuit

Myriad of home improvement projects perfect for autumn

Improving our homes, from renovating to remodeling to interior designing, is quickly becoming a great American pastime. Home ownership has always been desirable. However, today, young professional singles, not just young families, are discovering the many benefits and joys of owning a home.

The addition of this new group has broadened the homeowners market, creating a growing demand for goods and services related to home care.

People of all ages are spackling, painting, remodeling, furnishing, roofing, tiling, designing and redesigning their homes not just out of obligation, but because it's enjoyable!

Home improvement has become a hobby, while remaining an investment.

With the high cost of homes today, maintaining a home is a necessary step in protecting that investment. Americans are keenly aware that it is not as easy to purchase a home today as it was, say, 10 years ago. Therefore, they are spending more time and money to maintain their present homes.

Fall is the perfect time to start home improvement projects. Now that the lazy days of summer have passed, it's time for new undertakings. A good way to get started is to make a checklist of projects that are pending.

Begin first with major projects — those that will take more research, time and money. Total renovations, exterior house painting, new siding or such additions as a room, patio, pool or tennis court fall into this category.

Research the people who are doing the work for you, as well as the products that they use. Make sure that deadlines, costs, materials and procedures are spelled out before you make any firm commitments.

With today's high cost of fuel, conserving heat by employing energy-saving devices should be uppermost in every homeowner's mind. Installing new windows and doors can help cut down on heat loss, which is sure to ease your fuel bills.

Even if your home doesn't require major repairs, a little face-lift can never hurt. Wallcoverings and paint are both inexpensive tools that can produce some very creative results.

Covering one wall in a room with wallpaper can add just the right amount of color, as well as provide a theme. Painting the moldings in a room a different color from the walls can add that finished touch with a relatively small amount of work.

Coordinating wallcoverings with bed linens and paint can really pull a room together.

Small details such as fixtures, tiles and special moldings go a long way in creating a certain mood.

Caring for your home produces satisfying results; it's a wonderful way to turn your creativity loose, and a smart way to protect your investment.

AWNINGS THAT RUN ON AUTOMATIC

Window treatments should be a treat to behold rather than a treatment to endure. To ensure that they are, shift the gears that run them from manual to automatic.

Somfy Systems, Inc., a worldwide manufacturer of motorized window systems, has a brochure that tells you how. Whether it's for a home, business or industry, Somfy has a motorized system designed to take the labor out of raising and lowering awnings, shades, screens, rolling shutters and interior shades for greenhouses, atriums and skylights.

For a free copy of the consumer booklet, "Beauty With Brains," write to Somfy Systems, Inc., 2 Sutton Place, Edison, NJ 08817.

Skylight gives vent to dark, stuffy rooms

It's hard to love a room without windows and outside views. Interior rooms and spaces are often unpopular and underutilized. And many homes have dark, stuffy attics that represent living space gone to waste.

One solution is to install a venting skylight, one whose window section opens and closes.

Whether it's called a roof window, venting skylight, or other descriptive name, the idea is the same. A venting skylight brings fresh air as well as sunshine into dark, inner spaces. Moreover, it provides a window on nature without sacrificing privacy.

It makes a room more livable. It provides an outside exposure, even for rooms located away from exterior walls. Venting skylights are an attractive way to meet building codes. They provide ventilation without noisy exhaust fans.

Breezes blowing across the outside of the open skylight create a suction effect. This draws stale air up and out through the skylight while drawing fresh air into the room.

Venting skylights are commonly used in bathrooms, kitchens and other areas that can benefit from ventilation as well as free natural light. They help get rid of steam, odors and smoke.

In summer, venting skylights can help reduce cooling costs. Turning off the air conditioning and opening a venting skylight and some windows will help keep the house comfortable, at least on all but the hottest days. This is especially helpful in houses with low ceilings that trap hot air.

According to experts at Wasco Products, a leading maker of premium skylights, you should look for several features in a venting skylight. It should have a snap-in screen; you should be able to open and close the skylight without removing the screen.

If the skylight will be placed in a high ceiling or other difficult-to-reach location, you should be able to open and close it by using a special, long pole. Some venting skylights have motorized modules controlled by a convenient electric wall switch. Either way, you avoid climbing a ladder.

The skylight frame should be made of strong, insulating material. New high-technology thermoplastics insulate better than aluminum, and resist moisture and other punishment better than wood. If the skylight will be placed in a humid area, such as a bathroom, look for deep, built-in condensation gutters to catch moisture.

Some skylight companies offer free, full-color literature to consumers. Wasco Products has brochures about venting skylights and also offers a 36-page skylight handbook, all free of charge. Write to Wasco Products, Inc., Dept. M, P.O. Box 351, Sanford, ME 04073.

Guide to buying new food waste disposers

On days when you're extra busy, perhaps getting ready for a big dinner party or weekend guests, the last thing you need to do is stop and clean out a sink filled with water and food scraps, thanks to a "cranky" food waste disposer. If this has happened to you lately — perhaps once too often — now might be the time to buy a new disposer.

As with most other product categories, disposers look fairly similar on the outside. But shop around, and you'll soon discover how very different they can be on the inside.

According to the engineers at KitchenAid, a disposer should be capable of grinding food waste quickly and efficiently into small particles so they can be easily flushed through the household drain system without any problems.

Differences in features and construction materials account for the performance differences that exist between a strong, problem-free disposer and one that requires a lot of pampering and periodic service.

When shopping for a new disposer, they advise you keep these points in mind:

• Motor Size. Many disposers limit what you can grind because they aren't equipped with a motor strong enough to handle all food wastes.

Look for a motor rated at ½ horsepower or above. It will have the power to handle even the toughest food wastes such as steak bones, corn cobs and stringy vegetables.

Consider, too, a motor which is capacitor-start versus induction. A capacitor start motor comes up to full running speed almost immediately, providing extra power to break through jams which commonly occur in the start position.

• Grind System. The shredder ring which surrounds the grind wheel is lined with a series of cutting teeth. It can have as many as 48 teeth or as few as six. Obviously, the more teeth there are, the faster the disposer is at grinding food waste.

KitchenAid is the only manufacturer that makes a line of disposers with a series of upper and lower cutting teeth cast into the grind wheel. These double-edged cutters greatly increase the number of additional cuttings and the overall efficiency of the disposer.

• Heavy-Duty Components. A grind wheel made from solid cast material and/or stainless steel will resist corrosion and last a lot longer than a wheel made of lightweight material and rivet construction. The same holds true for the drain chamber which sits above the motor. A failure in the drain chamber can cause the motor to burn out.

Often used for commercial applications, cast iron resists chemical attack by

DO-IT-YOURSELFERS can save on the cost of an outside installer with the patented KitchenAid Quick-Click disposer installation system. Once the disposer clicks in place, it won't change vertical dimension and can be rotated 360° to align with plumbing. Available on Model KWD-200 and other heavy-duty KitchenAid Disposers.

food acids, detergents and other household cleaners that will corrode lesser materials.

• Anti-Jam Features. Automatic reversing, a feature not found on all disposer models, greatly reduces potential jams. The grind wheel rotates in the opposite direction each time the disposer is turned on or encounters a very heavy load.

Should a piece of hard food such as a bone or fruit pit become lodged between the grind wheel and shredder ring, the grind wheel will reverse again and again, helping to break through the jam.

• Continuous Feed vs. Batch Feed. Your previous disposer installation will likely determine the type disposer you select.

Batch feed disposers use a cover control to activate a switch in the throat of the disposer that turns the unit on.

Look for a batch feed unit in which the start switch is located outside the throat of the disposer, away from contact with moisture and food waste. On many units, the switch is just an exposed pin inside the throat, which in time, can corrode open or closed.

Batch feed units are usually preferred in households with small children because the disposer cannot be started without the cover control properly in place. In position, the cover control will prevent food waste from flying out of the disposer and unwanted items, such as spoons, from getting into the grind area.

Continuous feed disposers are set up to run from a wall switch connected directly to the motor. The cover does not have to be in place for the unit to operate. Placed in the throat of the disposer, the cover can act as a sink stopper or can be positioned for a free flow of water.

• Do-It-Yourself Installation. If you are handy around the house, look for a disposer that has rough-in dimensions which allow you to replace your current disposer without costly plumbing changes.

The fewer pieces you have to work with and the less special equipment needed, the faster and easier the installation.

Condon Questions McCauley's Financial Expertise

The "financial expertise" of Mayor Francis McCauley was questioned by mayoral candidate Joanne Condon who pointed to the city's receiving one of the lowest municipal bond ratings in the commonwealth.

"McCauley is supposed to be right on top of things financially," said City Councillor Condon. "He's the businessman, the banker, yet, he's been in office four years and we have one of the lowest bond ratings in the state.

"Quincy's Moody bond rating is Ba, a fifth-place rating behind top Aaa rating. Only Haverhill and Somerville have a similar rating and no city or town has a lower one."

The city pays more to borrow money because of the low bond rating, noted Councillor Condon.

One reason for the low bond rating is the McCauley administration's handling of the General Dynamics shipyard tax payback, she said.

"If this city was as well managed as the mayor would have us believe," said Councillor Condon, "that rating would be higher and we could pay banks less to borrow money."

"One of the first priorities of my administration would be to work to improve our bond rating."

$345,000 In Low Interest Mortgage Money

The City of Quincy, through the Department of Planning and Community Development, has been awarded $345,000 in low interest mortgage money by the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency for the Neighborhood Rehabilitation Set-Aside Program.

The interest rate will be 9.90%, fixed, over a period of 30 years.

The Department of Planning and Community Development will be scheduling appointments on a first come, first serve basis, with those first time home buyers who have a signed Purchase and Sale agreement and conform to the following qualifying criterion set forth by MFHA - Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency:

Household Income Limits: Family Size 1, Income Limit, $34,000; Family Size 2, $37,000.

Three thousand dollars can be added for each additional dependent in households of more than two persons.

Acquisition Cost Limits: One-Family, existing, including condominiums, $109,000; Two-Family existing, $122,000; Three-Family existing, $148,000; Four-Family existing, $173,000.

Acquisition cost is defined as the Purchase and Sale Price and Rehab.

Target Areas: Borrowers must purchase a home which is located in a target area. They are: Houghs Neck, Southwest Quincy, South Quincy, Quincy Point, Atlantic and Germantown.

Eligible streets within these target areas are available at the Department of Planning and Community Development.

Rehabilitation: Borrowers must be doing at least $3,000 rehabilitation to the property and for multi-family housing: Two-Family - $4,000 or 10% of the loan amount, whichever is less; Three-Family - $5,000 or 10% of the loan amount whichever is less.

Four-Family - $6,000 or 10% of the loan amount whichever is less.

First Time Home Buyer: A first time home buyer is defined by the MHFA as someone who has not had an ownership interest in a principal residence in the past three years.

Household Income is defined as the total gross household income of all persons who earn more than $2,000 per year, intending to occupy a resident, less adjustments reported on federal tax returns for alimony and business expenses.

General: Borrowers must be creditworthy. All homes purchased through this program must be occupied by the borrower as his/her principal residence within 60 days of the date of their MHFA loan closing.

For an information package, additional information, and to schedule an appointment, contact Elizabeth A. McLaney, 773-1380, ext. 444.

Lodging House License Request Continued Indefinitely

The city License Board has continued indefinitely a request for a lodging house license at 3 McGrath Highway, Quincy.

The board voted for the continuance so it can review the building and parking plans brought forth by Mrs. Hikmet Abraham, owner of the lodging house.

The license for the lodging house was revoked by the board for public safety and public health reasons after a fire in March.

Six tenants of the lodging house were left homeless and one was slightly injured in the fire. At an earlier meeting, then Fire Chief Edward Barry said he believed the lodging house was licensed for 12 lodgers and he was told there were 18 in the house the morning of the fire.

"Nobody knew what was going on down there and if there wasn't a fire, we never would have known," said City Clerk John Gillis, chairman of the License Board.

Gillis said the lodging house was a disgrace. "The way you had it before," he said to Mrs. Abrahams, "could have caused someone's death."

Building Inspector and board member Allan

MacDonald said he viewed the lodging house Oct. 11 and "there were some problems there." He added that the parking area may not suffice and the building needs "a lot of work."

"I want a plan on file of exactly how the building's going to be in the future and on the parking situation," he said. "We want plans that are going to work."

Malden 13, Quincy 12

Presidents Continue Win Quest At Everett

By TOM SULLIVAN

With less than two minutes left in the game last Saturday, Quincy's football team had a 12-7 lead and had a first down on Malden's 11-yard line.

It appeared that the Presidents were on the verge of their first victory of the season. However, following an unsuccessful field goal try, Malden, a big Greater Boston League team, had the ball on its own 20 with 1:41 remaining. The Golden Tornado then took to the air and scored with 30 seconds left to win, 13-12, and hand Quincy as tough a defeat as it has suffered in some time.

Jack Raymer's Presidents (0-4) hope to shake off that heart-breaking loss when they go to Everett Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. game with another GBL power.

"This was a devastating loss and I feel awfully sorry for the kids, they played such an outstanding game," said the disappointed Raymer. "We finally gave Steve Austin some protection and he had a great day passing, and the defense was just incredible after Malden's opening touchdown drive."

"John Taglieri has done a terrific job coaching our defense and it was at its best today. We had them where we wanted them but let them get away. They had so many pass receivers out there during the last minute drive we had trouble covering them. They had an awfully good quarterback (Steve Monaco) and he threw some fine passes on that winning drive. We had our chances and it was a really tough loss to take."

"But, I continue to look on the positive side. This is a young team and it is coming along every week. I still feel we will win a few games before the season is over."

Austin, who has been under tremendous pressure all season, completed his first five passes and finished up with 12 of 26 for 212 yards and a touchdown. Quincy caught Malden by surprise on its second touchdown as Austin flipped to Joe Innello, who passed to Ron Luisi in the end zone.

Quincy had only one turnover in the game and that was on Austin's final pass of the day with 15 seconds left.

Chris Veneto, the Presidents' top runner who had two 100-plus games in the first three, was injured midway in the final quarter and was taken to the hospital for observation.

Raymer expects him back for Saturday's game at Everett. "Chris was stopped in the first half (four yards) but was having a fine second half (47 yards) before getting hurt. We really missed him and I feel we could have scored that insurance touchdown in the final two minutes if he was in there. We would have given him the ball and I think we could have put it in there. I don't know if I should have called for the field goal or not, but I thought it was worth the try."

Ron Parry, Quincy's number one wide receiver, had five pass receptions, making a fantastic catch for the first touchdown. He took the ball out of the hands of two defenders for the score. Steve Gardner and Innello had two receptions, sophomore Sean Munroe, who will see more action in the future, had a nice catch and Luisi, Veneto and Mark Porzio had the other receptions.

"The entire defense was just fantastic," said Raymer, who singled out sophomore Frank Calabro, Steve Picarski, brother John Picarski, who blocked a punt to set up the second touchdown; Paul Munafa, Norm Hassan, Mike Eastwick and Larry Taglieri.

Quincy entered the game with five players, Ken Southwick, Mike O'Connor, Kevin Jolley, John Bogan and Eric Walorz, sidelined with injuries.

Malden received to open the game and drove from its 25 to a touchdown, led by the running of Reggie Hayes and Mark Elliot. With the ball on Quincy's 38, Monaco passed to big end Bill Roderick in the flat. He appeared to be stopped but broke loose and raced 35 yards for the score. Monaco kicked what was to

Quincy Girls Run Win Streak To 32

The Quincy girls' volleyball team continued to roll over everyone last week with two more victories, bringing its season record to 10-0 and running its winning streak to 32 straight matches.

The First Ladies played Brookline yesterday (Wednesday), will be at Waltham Friday and will be home to North Quincy next Wednesday.

The Quincy girls defeated Brockton, 2-0 (15-4, 15-6) as Marlo LeVangie served for seven points in the first game and contributed solid spiking in the second game.

Lauren Standing and freshman Nancy Laitinen turned in solid performances for Quincy.

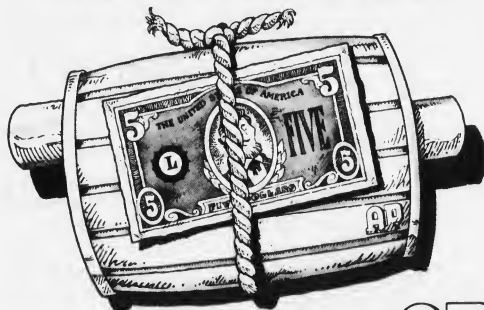

Quincy also topped

Newton South, 2-0 (15-3, 15-8), receiving more strong serving from LeVangie, who served for 12 points in the first game, and from Freshman Amy Guidice, who served for seven points in the second game. Ginny Duggan did an excellent job of spiking and setting.

be the deciding extra point. Quincy came right back. Austin threw a bomb to Parry on the first play to bring the Presidents all the way to Malden's 32. He then hit Gardner for 16 yards, found Innello for 12 and finally passed to Parry, who made his brilliant catch in the end zone for the final 15 yards. Austin's pass for the two-point conversion was intercepted.

John Picarski blocked Monaco's punt on the next to the last play of the opening quarter and Quincy had the ball on Malden's 27.

Austin passed to Innello for 17 yards and three plays later came the Innello to Luisi pass from the four to put Quincy up, 12-7. Mike Venturilli's kick for the point was blocked.

Quincy drove from its 46 late in the half and a 26-yard pass from Austin to Munroe gave the Presidents a first down on Malden's 10. Two Austin passes barely missed as the half ended.

Quincy received to open the second half and, led by Veneto, picked up two first downs but was stopped at midfield. A fine Parry punt rolled to Malden's eight. Paul Miller made an outstanding catch of a Monaco pass for 28 yards and three plays later Hayes made an unbelievable catch which carried to the Quincy 25. But a penalty called the play back.

On the first play of the third quarter Monaco kicked out on Quincy's 15 and the Presidents drove down field and reached Malden's 32. Two plays later Veneto was hurt and was carried off the field. Malden held and took

Quincy-Everett Game On WJDA

Station WJDA will do the play-by-play of Saturday's Quincy-Everett football game at Everett at 1:30 p.m. with Charlie Ross and Paul Carroll at the mike.

Reports will be brought in over on its 22 with 527 remaining.

The Presidents held and Monaco punted to Quincy's 31. Austin passed down the middle to Parry, who ran 40 yards and nearly went all the way but was brought down on Malden's 11. The play covered 57 yards.

Two running plays and an incomplete pass left Quincy still on the 11 and Venturilli's field goal try fell way short.

Malden took over on the 20 and, after staying mainly on the ground up to that point, took to the air.

seconds left, found Gouvalaris in the corner of the end zone for the winning score. Monaco kicked off into the end zone and two Austin incompletions and the interception ended it.

Malden had a net of 128 yards on the ground to Quincy's 93. Monaco was seven of 16 passing for 142 yards and Quincy had 14 first downs and Malden 13.

It was reported last week that Veneto scored both touchdowns in the loss at Waltham. Innello scored the first touchdown on a pass from Austin.

64-58, but came back to defeat the Hawks, 63-50.

Bank of New England, playing with only four players, were led by Joe Shields, Jim Conboy and Steve Belcastro with 17, 16 and 15 points respectively, while Brian Cox played a steady floor game. Bob Dacey paced Jaehnig with 16 points.

Against the Hawks Mark Jaehnig scored 21 points, Chuck Jaehnig 13, Mike Jaehnig nine, Pete Grey eight, Mike Venna six and Jim Timmins, Steve Jaehnig and Paul Principato two each.

Jaehnig and the Hawks both sport 2-2 records.

Quincy Girls Outswim Weymouth

The Quincy Girls' swim team, undermanned as usual, topped Weymouth North, 86-75, last week for the first win of the season. The First Ladies are 1-4.

The Quincy Girls will be at Waltham next Tuesday.

Pat Morrell won the 100 breaststroke, placed second in the 200 individual medley and was on the winning 200 medley relay team.

Other Quincy winners were Terry Mortimer, 50 freestyle; Rene Gaura, diving; and Keri Mortimer, 100 freestyle. Morrell was joined by Gail Morrell, Gaura and Mortimer in the winning 200 medley relay team.

Placing second were Janet Morrell, 200 freestyle; Karen Craig, 50 freestyle; Craig, 100 butterfly; Sandy Wysocki, 500, freestyle, and Gail Morrell, 100 backstroke.

Taking third places were Gaura, 200 individual medley; Liz Fortin, 100 butterfly; Diane Young, 100 freestyle; Jackie Mina, 500 freestyle, and Janet Morrell, 100 backstroke.

North Girls Defeat Brookline

The North Quincy girls' swim team, which includes 17 freshmen, is enjoying one of its best seasons and improved to 5-1 last week with a 91-81 win over Brookline, the first win ever for a North team over Brookline.

Bill Walker's Raiderettes will host Newton North Friday at the Lincoln-Hancock school pool and will be at Cambridge Rindge and Latin Tuesday.

North trailed by two points going into the 100-meter breaststroke, but a win for Liz Harrington and second place by Lisa Rodrigues clinched the Suburban League win.

Other Raiderette winners were Stacey Quintiliani, 200 freestyle; Harrington, 200 individual medley; Julie Killon, diving; Quintiliani, 500 freestyle, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Donna King, Quintiliani, and Kristen McCreedy.

Taking second places were McCreedy, 200 freestyle; King, 200 individual medley; Killon, 100 butterfly; Killon, 100 freestyle; McCreedy, 500 freestyle, and Rodrigues, 100 breaststroke.

Placing third were Beth Hughes, 50 freestyle; Anne O'Sullivan, diving; Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly; and Hughes, 100 backstroke.

Youth Football Elks, Sailors Win

Sparked by a solid defense that allowed the North Quincy Apaches cross midfield only twice, the West Quincy Elks defeated the Apaches, 6-0, Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium to remain tied with the Squantum Sailors for first place in the Quincy Youth Football League. Each has a 4-1 record. The Apaches, defending champions, fell to 2-3.

The Sailors kept pace by topping the Houghs Neck Manets, 8-0, in the other half of the doubleheader.

This Sunday the Elks and Sailors meet for sole possession of first place at 1 p.m. while the Quincy Point Panthers meet the Manets at 2:30.

The Apaches were hampered by poor field position much of the day. The only touchdown came in the third quarter after the Apaches were backed up on their 12 following an excellent kickoff by Ryan Hersey.

The Apaches fumbled on the second play and the Elks recovered on the 10. Quarterback Chris Noble bootlegged around right end from eight yards out for the score.

Late in the fourth quarter the Apaches mounted their only sustained drive of the game, moving to the Elks' 36. On fourth down and nine, Keith Gott was stopped short of a first down. The Elks then ran out the clock.

The Elks were led by their outstanding defense. Scott O'Brien, Noble, Jim Munroe and David Nourse all played well for the Elks, while Gott, Dave Murphy and Bill Earley stood out for the Apaches.

Newton North 28, North Quincy 6 • Bantam House

Raiders Get Day Off, McPhee Plans Changes

The football season is at the midway point and North Quincy is 0-5.

The Raiders are idle Saturday and Coach Ken McPhee has an extra week to get the team ready for its next game at Somerville Oct. 26.

And you can be sure there will be some changes made before that game.

The Raiders last Saturday made things easy for Newton North, which took advantage of many North mistakes to win, 28-6, at Newton.

In their five games the Raiders have scored just 24 points, while the opposition has scored 146.

"I don't know what to say, we are just not doing the job," said a disappointed McPhee.

"Today we helped them a lot with fumbles and a key interception. The defense did a good job but we handed them a touchdown by fumbling on our own five-yard line, drove deep into their territory only to have a pass intercepted, and two other good drives ended in fumbles. You can't give the ball away like that and expect to win.

"I am considering some changes. We have to do something if we want to win a few games. I'll definitely make some changes, but right now I can't say what they will be."

Ted Shionis continues to be a bright light for North. Three weeks ago he started his first game at halfback and broke a school record with a 98-yard touchdown run. Two weeks ago he returned a kickoff 71 yards in a losing cause against Brockton and last week he rushed for 79 yards at Newton, scored the only touchdown and caught two passes for an additional 33 yards.

CHRIS GRAY has been under a lot of pressure this season but has been doing well at quarterback for North Quincy. He is one of the premier punters in the Suburban League. (Quincy Sun photo by Charles Flagg)

"Ted is doing a tremendous job for us," McPhee said. "In addition to his great work on offense, he is playing some fine defense."

Fullback Gary McNamara, a fine runner, was sidelined again last week. Mark Smith continued to run well and picked up 41 yards as the Raiders gained 125 yards on the ground.

Although quarterback Chris Gray completed eight of 17 passes for 102 yards, he had another rough afternoon. He did continue his fine punting, which has been one of North's bright spots.

Mike Cicerone had a good game and caught three passes for 41 yards, freshman Bill MacDougal, who continues to shine, had one for 13 yards and Mark Bilton had one reception for 10 yards.

Freshman Mike Ainsley continued to sparkle as a linebacker and had another outstanding game. Also on defense Rob Bradley, Ciderone, Ed Bagley, Bobby Alfano and Dan Coway played excellent games.

After a scoreless first quarter, Newton took the lead in the second quarter when Mark Adams raced 57 yards for the touchdown and Dave Redmond kicked the extra point.

"We played a good first half and the defense was especially strong," McPhee said.

In the third quarter John Flynn went over from the two and Mike Ryan passed to Ron Coppola for nine yards and the same duo hooked up for the two extra points and a 21-0 lead.

Later in the quarter Shionis scored from the two for North Quincy's lone score. A pass for the two-point conversion was incomplete.

Newton North added its final touchdown in the fourth quarter when Adams scored from the two and Redmond kicked the final point of the game.

Suburban Edges Firefighters

Suburban Dispatch edged Quincy Fire Dept., 7-6, as the Midge House League got under way.

Jamie McArdle and Paul Connolly had two goals apiece for Suburban and Mike Leonard, Billy Lynch and Terry McKinnon one each.

Baskin Robbins got by Caddy Marines, 3-2, on goals by Mark Seghezzi, Bob Bubencik and Scott Hohmann. Kevin McDonnell and Ed Mortell scored for Caddy and Steve Brooks had an assist.

Kane Paces Sun, Burgin, Johnson Tie

The Bantam House League opened its season with the Quincy Sun topping Doran & Horrigan, 6-4.

Bob Kane had a hat trick, Mark Rudnisky two goals and Chris DeNatale one. Jeff Connor, Scott Raptelis and Rudnisky had two assists apiece and DeNatale, Dave Healy and Jeff Hemphill one each.

Burgin Platner and Johnson Motor Parts played to a wild 7-7 tie.

Mike Bertrand, Kevin Lynch and Chris LaForest had two goals each and Bob Thomas one for Burgin, while Bertrand and Thomas had four assists each, Lynch three and LaForest one. For Johnson Bob Loughlin and Sean Hunter scored two goals apiece and Tom McGovern, Hank Miller and Bob Miller one each, Hunter, Sean Glennon, Mike Dunning and Gerry Dunning had assists.

Keohane's Tops Colonial, M&M Edges Bersani

Keohane's defeated Colonial Federal, 6-2, as the Pee Wee House League opened its season.

Jim Mahoney, Bob Ford, Dave Melly, Mark McMillen, Joe Shea and Jeff

Freeman scored the goals. Ford had three assists and McMillen and Shea two each. Mike Bamber and Steve Feeney scored for Colonial and Carrie Hughes had an assist.

Mug 'n' Muffin edged Bersani Brothers, 6-5, with Pat O'Donoghue scoring two goals and Sean McCarthy, Mark Kelleher, Shane Young and Scott Curtin one each. McCarthy, O'Donoghue and John Bertrand had two assists apiece and Curtin, Mike O'Brien, Jamie Tapper, Frank Mogan and Mike Stevens one each. Jason Swan scored twice for Bersani and Richie Brooks, Jason Radzevich and Steve Keady one each. Kevin Morris had two assists and David Santosuosso, Swan, Eric Backman and Todd Melver one each.

Manet Health

Halloween Dance Oct. 26

A Halloween Dance to benefit the Manet Community Health Center will be held Oct. 26, from 8 p.m. to 12 midnight at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, Darrow St., Houghs Neck.

There will be a disc jockey and buffet. Donation is $10.

Tickets may be obtained at Manet Community Health Center, 1193 Sea St., or at the door.

Wollaston Girl Wins

'Summertime' Poster Contest

A Wollaston girl's award-winning art work was selected from among 88 entries to be the focal point of a poster celebrating "Summertime" in Quincy.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley presented Karen Leonard of 139 Waterston Ave. with a framed copy of the poster and a $25 gift certificate to the General Cinema complex.

The art search contest, conducted in conjunction with the city Park and Recreation Department and the various Neighborhood Centers, was designed as a way of discovering what the city's younger residents enjoy most about summertime in their city and incorporating that idea into a poster.

Karen was accompanied at the award ceremony by her parents, brother and grandmother. Representatives of the Department of Planning and Community Development, which sponsored the Art Search contest, as well as members of the Mayor's staff were also present to congratulate Karen on her achievement.

Copies of the "Summertime" poster are available free to the public and may be acquired at Quincy City Hall in the office of the Department of Planning and Community Development.

Festival Meeting

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee was scheduled to meet last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Patriot Ledger, Temple St., Quincy Center.

Among the agenda items scheduled to be reviewed were the progress to date on the floats, bands, and security, as well as vendor, costume activity, and the George C. Fay Memorial Award.

Historical Society Library Meeting Topic Oct. 22

The first in a series of lectures presented by the Writanen Library of the Quincy Historical Society will be presented Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Edward Hanson, Director of Publications at the New England Historical Genealogical Society, will be the speaker. His topic will be "The Local Historical Society Library and Family History."

Hanson will discuss genealogical resources available in local historical society libraries. He will illustrate his lecture with examples from the Quincy Historical Society's library.

The program is free and open to the public.

Halloween Costume Party At Wollaston Baptist

The First Baptist Church of Wollaston will sponsor its second annual Halloween Costume Party Oct. 26, for children of all ages.

Those planning to attend the party and enjoy a 'Beans & Franks' supper at 5:30 p.m. are urged to make reservations.

The church is located at 81 Prospect Ave.

McCauley, Condon Debate On Cabeltalk

Mayoral candidates Joanne Condon and Francis X. McCauley will debate the issues facing the city of Quincy tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. live on Quincy Community Television Ch. 3. The one-hour debate will be hosted by John King, general manager of Quincy Cablesystems, and by long time Cabeltalk host, John Noonan.

The candidates will have opening and closing statements and will be asked questions concerning city development, public safety, public education, public housing, rent control, the hospital expansion issue and the Quincy shipyard problem.

Cabeltalk is produced by Bob Gohli.

Quality Service Topic On 'Psychology Tonight'

Cynthia Hargrove, a business consultant with Hargrove Associates & Relationships, joins "Psychology Tonight" host Tim Lynch, Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m. on Quincy Cable Ch. 3. She and Lynch will explore service in America; covering how a customer can get good service, how he or she should respond to poor service and how companies can assure proper service to maintain customer satisfaction.

STARSCOPE

Clare Annaswell

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 17, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Family reunions and/or reconciliations are highlighted. Sports are in the picture—you may enjoy the role of competitor. New responsibilities come your way at the workplace.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
At work, you understand the meaning of "method in one's madness". Family responsibilities are shared. Friend is surprisingly generous—there may be some strings attached.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
You may be vulnerable, possibly in area of romance; avoid acting on impulse. Academic ventures are favorable, but don't overextend yourself. At work, systems are most important.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Younger relative takes you into his/her confidence and learns from your example. Good week for learning skills that help you adapt with rapidly changing techniques.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
You're in a competitive mood and excel especially in mental challenges. Visits to new places are highlighted. Correspondence from abroad may arrive after the weekend.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
New forms of relaxation are the focus of the week. Romance and cultural activities blend well. New hobbies can be surprisingly costly. Important information arrives by Tuesday.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Flexibility is important if a new relationship is to expand. Relative may be surprisingly mysterious. Colleague is outspoken but is not necessarily a threat. Financial favor is returned.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
You're uncommonly shrewd and can make some clever professional decisions now. In personal matters however you may be vulnerable. Relative may be unusually possessive this weekend.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
You're surprisingly unrealistic, living in a dreamworld where practical matters are involved. Financial situation needs thorough review, but in romance you have every reason to be dreamy.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Moderation is the keyword this week; take a lesson in "balance" from a Libra friend. Taste is impeccable, and you can make excellent choices in the friendship department.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Local travel, foreign correspondence, and exotic entertainments all may figure in the week's agenda. Home maintenance is a high priority. Health inventory is an even higher one.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Firmly rely on you for a modest but important ration of moral support. Some experimentation may lead to the solution of a career puzzle. Romantic intuition peaks.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Fairminded and optimistic, you're noted for diplomacy. You sometimes tend to be mysterious, and you can deliberate much too long before making a decision. Partnerships are highlighted in the coming months. Unusual travel may also be on the year's agenda.

BORN THIS WEEK
October 17th, actress Jerry Garland; 18th, actor George C. Scott; 19th, actress La Wanda Page; 20th, actor Jerry Orbach; 21st, musician Alexander Schneider; 22nd, actress Catherine Deneuve; 23rd, poet Oscar Turnbull.

North Girls Defeat Newton North

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team improved to a 4-0 record and handed Newton North its first defeat, 21-37, last week as it continued its drive toward another Suburban League title. It was the Raiderettes' 36th straight dual meet victory.

The North girls were idle yesterday (Wednesday) and will run at Waltham next Wednesday.

Patricia Barrett remained undefeated as she set a new 3.1 mile Newton course record of 19:01 in again leading the Raiderettes.

North's other scorers were Maryanne Kelleher, third;

Tricia Leary, fourth; Leanne Fitzgerald, fifth; and Sharon Barrett, eighth. Ann Toland finished ninth.

The Quincy girls, shut out by Cambridge Rindge and Latin last week, hosted Newton North yesterday (Wednesday) and will be idle next Wednesday.

Dudek Scores 3 TD's Breaks Rushing Record

He played only a half and carried only 10 times, but North Quincy's Joe Dudek ran for 126 yards and scored three touchdowns, last Saturday as Plymouth State College mauled Framingham State, 58-16, in a New England Conference game.

Dudek broke the New England all-division rushing record with his career 4531 yards, passing Boston University's Paul Lewis.

His touchdowns on runs of 46, 30 and three yards give him 63 for his career and leaves him just three short of the NCAA all-division record of Walter Payton.

The former North Quincy star is expected to break Payton's mark Saturday at Maine Maritime Academy or the following week at home against Bridgewater State.

Quincy-North Hall-Of-Fame Dinner Nov. 26

The second annual Quincy-North Quincy Football Hall-Of-Fame Dinner will be held Tuesday night, Nov. 26, at the Quincy Lodge of Elks Hall on East Squantum St.

The committee is accepting nominations for this year's induction into the Hall.

Players nominated must be former Quincy and North Quincy players and be out of school for 10 years, having played prior to the 1976 season.

Nominations should be sent to Football Hall-Of-Fame Committee, c/o Quincy Lodge of Elks, 250 East Squantum St., Quincy 02171.

'Once A Year Day' At Sacred Heart

North Quincy's Sacred Heart Parish will present "Once A Year Day," the 1985 edition of the annual musical extravaganza, Oct. 19 and 20 at the parish auditorium, Hancock St.

This year's production, which has a cast of 160 parishoners of all ages, is probably one of the most spectacular to day with its theme touching on happenings and holidays of the year set against a background of colorful costumes, unusual scenic and special effects, lively music and lots of comedy.

Rev. Charles Higgins is serving as Producer of the show with Ed Rooney doing the staging and directing. Marianne Dennis is in charge of the choreography.

Tickets may be purchased at the box-office prior to each performance. Curtain time is set for 8 p.m. each evening with a matinee on Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Juvenile Arrested

A juvenile was arrested and charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime after an incident at Wollaston Amoco, Quincy Shore Drive and Vassal St., police said. A coke machine was also tipped over, according to police.

Agoraphobics Support Group Talk Oct. 22

Agoraphobics Get Out, a support group for people who suffer from agoraphobia, will be sponsoring a talk on "How your phobia can affect your marriage and other relationships" Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. at the Sacred Heart School, 384 Hancock St., (corner of Glover Ave.), North Quincy.

The phobic person is greatly affected by stress in relationships. About 87 percent of phobics say that marital stress or conflict make their phobic condition worse. Upsetting events, such as death in the family or the loss of a partner's job, are known to increase the occurrence of panic.

And, the phobic condition itself is known to bring stress to a marriage or other relationships, wearing down the relation. Impatience, either toward the phobic person or the partner, frustration, hurt, and resentment can grow and have serious effects on a relationship.

The discussion will cover different aspects of phobic relationships and steps which can be taken to avoid or improve some of the most common problems. Questions and answers will follow.

The meeting is open to the public and there is no admission charge. Partners are encouraged to attend.

Parking is available and those who attend may leave at any time.

For more information, call the Fear Clinic, 670 Washington St., Braintree, at 843-7550.

Quincy Professor Speaker At Modern Literature Conference

Joan F. Hallisey, Ph.D., of Quincy, and professor of English at Aquinas Junior College, Milton, delivered a presentation, "Denise Levertov---...forever a stranger and pilgrim," at "The Politics of Experience"

Twentieth-Century Conference in Modern Literature.

The conference was sponsored by the Department of English and Romance and Classical Languages at Michigan State University.

Dr. Hallisey's study will be published in a special issue of Centennial Review.

The participants in the program were scholars from throughout the country who were examining literature of both Americas.

DON'T HELP REALTOR SELL

QUESTION: We have just listed our home for sale. Should we stay out of the Realtor's way when he shows prospects around?

ANSWER: One of the best ways to sell your house is to keep out of it when it is being shown! If you MUST be around when the house is being shown, greet the prospect graciously, take the children and the pets and retire.

This may sound uncharitable but, believe me, it's sound. The Realtor is a skilled negotiator; he has the experience and know-how to bring a buyer to an acceptable price without showing the emotional involvement which could put the seller at a disadvantage.

IT MAKES SENSE to clear out and let the Realtor sell the home on his or her own.

Mount Wollaston Loses 15 Trees In Hurricane

Mount Wollaston Cemetery lost 15 large trees as a result of Hurricane Gloria and another six left in a precarious condition were removed, according to Richard J. Koch, Executive Director of the Park, Forestry and Cemetery Department.

The tree removal and cleanup was accomplished completely by Cemetery Department personnel who were still performing the duties of preparing for burials and services scheduled at the Southern Artery location.

Two hundred truckloads of branches and tree debris was cleaned and removed to the dump from the 50 acre site.

Three trees were also downed at Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy, while another was blown down at the Hall Cemetery, Crescent St.

Koch stated that the municipal employees did an outstanding job in accomplishing the cleanup and were also assigned to remove the debris from the abutting streets.

Fortunately no monuments were damaged at any of the Public Burial Sites, Koch added.

Quincy Man Named To Top USDA Post

Former Quincy resident John Magnarelli has been named Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Special Nutrition Programs.

Magnarelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Magnarelli of Wollaston, will administer the national school lunch and breakfast programs, the child care and summer feeding programs and the commodity distribution programs for schools and charitable institutions within the six New England states and New York.

Magnarelli graduated from North Quincy High School in 1967 where he was captain of that year's undefeated state champion football squad.

After military service with the 82nd Airborne Division in Vietnam, he returned to Quincy where he enrolled and graduated from Quincy Junior College and Suffolk University. During that time Magnarelli was active in high school sports as an assistant coach for North Quincy's football and basketball teams.

After graduating from college in 1975, he began his federal service as a financial specialist reviewing the Food Stamp Program.

Magnarelli and his wife Pam presently live in Waltham.

Dr. Rapoport Memorial Dedicated At Hospital

A dedication ceremony honoring the memory of Dr. Arthur Rapoport was recently held at Quincy City Hospital.

A plaque, with the inscription, "Dr. Arthur Rapoport, February 13, 1905 - May 7, 1985" was presented.

It will be placed under Dr. Rapoport's portrait, which hangs in the Heart Station/EKG Department Laboratory at the hospital.

Participating in the dedication ceremonies were Dr. William Helfrich, president of the QCH Medical Staff; Dr. Leon Jacobs; Dr. Saul Altman; Dr. Fred Costanza; Dr. Norman Wilson; Rabbi David Jacobs of Temple Beth El of Quincy; and Mark J. Mundy, Director of Quincy City Hospital.

Also in attendance were Dr. Rapoport's widow, Mrs. Rose Rapoport, family and friends of the Rapoport Family, and several members of the Quincy City Hospital Medical Staff.

Dr. Arthur Rapoport was a member of the QCH Medical Staff for over 50 years.

He served as Chief of Medicine, and is credited with introducing the use of electrocardiography to Quincy City Hospital in 1932.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off laundry costs with a new gas dryer.

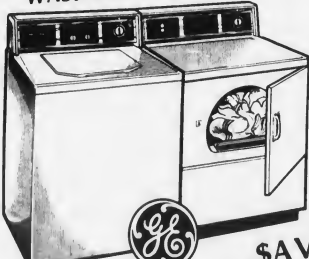

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories before you eat them? Take control with a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

Pier 1 Imports Signs 10-Year Lease

Quincy Fair First Tenant May Open Nov. 15

Pier 1 Imports could be open for business by Nov. 15 at Quincy Fair, located at the former Sears building, downtown Quincy.

Developer Francis X. Messina of Braintree told Planning Director James Lydon Tuesday he hopes to move the opening from early December to mid November to take advantage of the Christmas shopping season.

Pier 1 Imports, Quincy Fair's first tenant, recently signed a 10-year lease.

Lydon said he was "quite happy" with that business coming to Quincy.

"Pier 1 Imports is one of the premier retailers in the Greater Boston Area," he said.

"They do a good volume of business at their Route 1 store in Dedham, and they are in a quality and expansion mode."

"I'm happy that they chose a Quincy location. They'll set the tone for the building."

"Businesses try to sign large tenants, before smaller ones," said Lydon.

Prices at Pier 1 are generally moderate, said Lydon, who added that the store's merchandise should appeal to Quincy shoppers.

Headquartered in Fort Worth, Texas, Pier 1 Imports' estimated 300 stores offer home furnishings, housewares, decorative accessories and gourmet utensils, according to a spokesman for Messina.

Pier 1 will occupy 7,000 square feet on the street level of Quincy Fair which is 90% completed. It will probably have five to eight stores built around two major tenants, according to Lydon.

A national catalogue store had been interested in locating at Quincy Fair, said Lydon, but it decided against the move.

The building has been vacant since 1979, said Lydon, when Sears moved to the South Shore Plaza, Braintree.

Messina acquired the property in 1984, according to Lydon, and is developing the property at a cost of more than $4 million.

A $1 million parking garage behind Quincy Fair, funded by a UDAG grant, should be ready for a spring construction start, Lydon said.

Condon Downplays Importance

First Free Cash Surplus In 10 Years

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

For the first time in 10 years, the city's "Free Cash" account has a surplus.

In a recent letter to Mayor Francis McCauley, the State Department of Revenue certified a free cash surplus balance of $217,299 as of July 1, 1985.

Free cash is money that is appropriated but not spent, less unpaid back taxes. It is money that the community raised to spend for a particular item but was left over because the full appropriation was not expended.

"I'm very pleased with it," said Mayor Francis McCauley, who attributed the improvement in the free cash position to the success of a city drive to collect delinquent real estate taxes.

However, Mayoral candidate Joanne Condon downplayed the importance of the development in light of what she says have been reductions in services.

McCauley said that since he took office in January, 1982, $5,827,952 in back taxes and interest have been collected.

Elimination of the deficit has been a major goal of his administration, said McCauley.

McCauley said that this is the first time the free cash account has had a surplus balance since July 1, 1975.

The account showed a deficit of $10,969,000 as of July 1, 1982, he said.

Surplus funds in the "free cash" account are available for appropriation for any municipal purpose, McCauley said, but he doesn't intend to use them right away.

McCauley also noted that the city's overall financial condition continues to show steady improvement.

Short term borrowing in anticipation of the collection of property taxes declined to $18,000,000 in fiscal 1985, the lowest borrowing since $17,300,000 was borrowed in fiscal 1976, he said. As recently as fiscal 1982, $45,000,000 was borrowed, McCauley said.

Interest charges on short term borrowing have also decreased sharply, according to the mayor.

Total interest charges in fiscal 1985 amounted to $481,178, a decrease of $1,006,645 from the $1,587,823 spent for interest charges in fiscal 1982.

McCauley also said that he and other city officials plan to meet in mid-November with officials of Standard & Poors and Moody's, the firms that determine credit ratings.

"Certainly, it is important that we are in a free cash position and have the ability to spend that money," countered, Councillor Condon.

"But it is not uncommon (Cont'd on Page 9)

Friday Last Day For Hurricane Pickup

Hurricane Gloria is just a memory to most residents, but to the Department of Public Works it still remains a headache.

Removing trees, brush and other debris from the storm "has turned into a task harder than the snow," DPW Commissioner Paul Anderson told the City Council Monday night.

It has also cost the department $100-125,000 in overtime and $120,000 in equipment costs, he said.

City trucks will cease following BFI trucks on rubbish collection days to collect debris on streets as of Friday, said Anderson.

But collections will still be made at locations already called in by residents requesting service, he said.

"We've been down every street at least a couple of times," said Anderson, "a lot of things are put out after we've gone down the street."

"We went down Dimmock St. at least four times, and there was still stuff out over the weekend."

One problem, as Councillor Michael Cheney pointed out, is that some residents are pruning their trees and shrubs and putting that material out to be collected.

Another is that Mass. Electric is still doing some repairs, cutting trees and leaving them in front of homes, Anderson said.

Anderson noted that the dump is open, free of charge, for residents to dispose of trees and brush.

He also said he will make an announcement next week regarding residents chopping wood at the dump to use for woodburning stoves.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro praised the department's work, but said the trucks have not been down streets such as Atherton and Dartmouth in Quincy Point.

"It's very important that this be completed before Halloween," advised DeCristofaro.

Councillor Stephen McGrath, whose ward includes Wollaston, which was one of those hardest hit by the hurricane, said that some older trees should be taken down before they fall on people's houses.

The north end of the city was also hit very hard, said Councillor Joanne Condon, who was concerned about youngsters setting fire to loose trees and brush.

Councillor John Lydon asked that Anderson monitor the cleanup on the Quincy/Milton line.

Sidewalk Parking Crackdown

If you've been in the habit of parking your car on sidewalks of Quincy streets, it's time to change your routine.

Day and night uniformed policemen have been instructed by Police Chief Francis Finn to strictly enforce the ordinance against parking on the sidewalk.

"We've received a lot of complaints from senior citizens and mothers of young children who have to walk on the street, endangering their lives, when a car is on the sidewalk," said Lt. Walter Frazier of the Traffic Division.

The violation carries with it a $5 fine and the motor vehicle is subject to be towed, said Frazier.

He noted that most of the complaints have been in regard to main streets, such as East and West Squantum Sts., which carry a high volume of traffic, and narrow streets where elderly citizens must walk or the road.

Candidates Night At Our Lady

A candidates night sponsored jointly by the Merrymount and Adams Shore Associations will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. at Our Lady of Good

Condon Complains About Water Main Project Conditions

Councillor Joanne Condon conveyed to DPW Commissioner Paul Anderson Monday night the condition of a section of Hancock St. in North Quincy where a water main is being installed.

"Can't they (the contractor) clean up at the end of the work day?" asked Condon. "The debris is damaging cars, people are tripping and injuring themselves, especially at the North Quincy MBTA station."

Councillor Condon said she was also concerned about students at North Quincy High and Sacred Heart Schools, those attending Sunday Mass and shoppers in the area who have to walk across the street.

"There's no need for it to be left in such deplorable condition at the end of the day," said Councillor Condon.

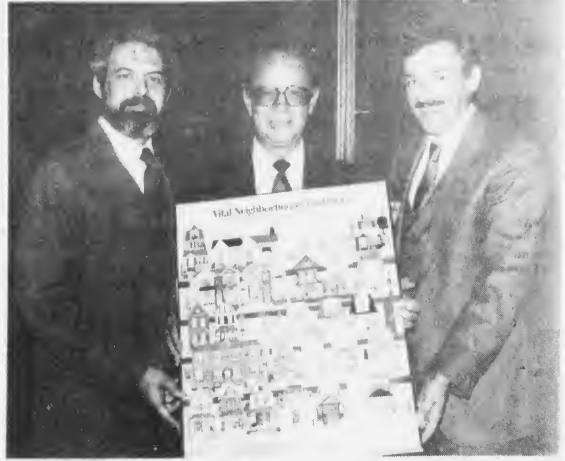

Anderson said he would continue to keep an eye on the situation, but that there has been a problem with the contractor.

"Thirty percent of the job has been done in 100 percent of the contract time," said Anderson, "it's a very difficult situation."

"An unusually large number of pedestrians use the street."

"If the job went the way it was supposed to go, we wouldn't have these problems."

Licenses Granted To Cathay Cafe

The Cathay Cafe Restaurant, 100 Hancock St., was granted a common victualer and all alcoholic license by the city's Licensing Board Tuesday, but before the restaurant opens it will need the approval of the building, fire and health departments.

The manager of the restaurant will be David Chu, who also operates the Cathay Pacific, which is across the street from the proposed cafe's location, and Cathay Marina, 542 East Squantum St.

Steve Gillig, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association (QCBPA), and Kenneth Fallon, executive director of QCBPA, were present at the board's meeting to voice their support for the restaurant, which is located in the Harbor South Tower, North Quincy.

Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon also gave her support through a letter sent to the board.

Atty. Rocco V. DiFazio, who represented Chu at the meeting, said the Cathay Cafe will be located on the first floor of the building, and its hours will be from 7 a.m. to 1 a.m.

The restaurant will serve American and Chinese food, DiFazio said.

Oil Complaints At Auto Agency Continued

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy License Board voted Tuesday to continue until Oct. 29 a hearing regarding conditions at Hassan Bros., Inc., 290 Washington St., Quincy Point.

According to a report by members of the Environmental Inspection Unit (E.I.U.) of the city's Department of Public Works, waste crankcase oil from a holding tank at the Hassan Bros. dealership "was spilling over an extended time" and "the oils collected in the catchbasins on Pond St., after flowing downhill from their backlot through the parking lot at 39 Pond St."

"We can't allow any overflow to come out of the tank," said Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti. Valenti added that the holding tank at Hassan Bros. should be tested and capped.

"In order to avoid this situation from happening again, they need to make alterations," he said.

Robert Michelson of the E.I.U. said the oil spilled "10 days too long." He added, however, that Hassan Bros. had cleaned up the land and "cooperated to the fullest."

"This is the first time to our knowledge that this has ever happened," he said.

John Hassan, president of Hassan Bros., told the board he had a professional company clean the spill.

"It's all cleaned up," he said. "My employees attempted to arrest the problem and when I found out about it, I handled it within 24 hours."

But Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said there were other problems at the site besides the oil spill, such as an overflowing dumpster. "They're running a junkyard up there," he said.

Hassan said he has requested a larger dumpster. However, the board voted to continue the hearing so Hassan can have the holding tank tested and capped. A copy of the test results will be sent to the city's fire and building departments.

Council Appropriates $15,000 For Manet Health Center

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The City Council voted 9-0 Monday to appropriate $15,000 for the financially troubled Manet Community Health Center.

The appropriation, at the request of Mayor Francis McCauley, will be transferred from the reserve for appropriation account.

That account is for expenses not anticipated in the budget.

The mayor made the request after meeting with Ellen Hafer, executive director of the center which has facilities at 1193 Sea St., Houghs Neck, as well as 9 Bicknell St., Germantown.

"The facilities have been successful in bringing medical care not only to residents of the Germantown-Houghs Neck area, but to other residents of Quincy as well," said McCauley, who noted the funding is for one year only.

The money will fund operation costs of the center in the areas of utilities and maintenance of buildings and grounds for both facilities, according to McCauley.

The center is a non-profit corporation which provides primary family medical care, nutrition services and mental health services, according to Miss Hafer.

The Houghs Neck site opened in October 1979, the Snug Harbor site in October 1983, she said.

Councillor Michael Cheney, in whose ward the center is located, said the appropriation is needed because "costs to run the center have increased significantly and federal aid has decreased significantly."

"It is the only community health center in the city," said Cheney. "It has served many people in Quincy and provided free care for those who can't afford it."

"It has done untold good, and it is in financial trouble."

Council president James Sheets agreed that the center has "done an outstanding job."

"The Manet Center is one of the city's greatest assets," said Councillor Patricia Toland.

Councillor Joseph LaRaia added that "we ought to do as much as we can to see that it can survive."

Councillor Richard Koch, Jr., also supported the center.

Flu Make-up Clinic Oct. 29

A flu make-up clinic will be held Tuesday, Oct. 29, from 2 to 3 p.m. at the John F. Kennedy Health Center.

Quincy City public health coordinator Richard Stuart programmed the clinic to accommodate those who have been unable to attend any of the previous held clinics.

Dedication Saturday For Sawyer Playground

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that the playground and field next to the Massachusetts Fields School will be dedicated in memory of Merle C. Sawyer Oct. 26, at 10:30 a.m.

Many Quincy residents will remember that Merle Sawyer was principal of the Massachusetts Fields School for 20 years and an educator in Quincy for 45 years, said the mayor.

The school has been sold but the memory of Merle and the many other fine members of the staff who served before and after her, will live on in the hearts of the neighbors of the school, the mayor added.

McCauley also said that he joins with the Massachusetts Fields School Parent Teacher Organization in inviting the public to attend the dedication.

Reader's Forum Sheltering Coalition Grateful For Help

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
I am writing to express my personal, and that of the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition's, gratitude to the many individuals, agencies, and businesses who worked together to make our "Happening for the Homeless" a tremendous success. We were able to well surpass our financial goal for the event.

We owe a great debt to O'Connell Management Company who gave the greatest resource, Diane D'Olimpio. Diane's leadership in organizing and supervising the event was largely responsible for its success. O'Connell Management Company also donated the use of their bus and driver for two hours and a gift certificate to the Gazette.

Many individuals and organizations sponsored from one to four booths. We particularly want to thank them for their tireless efforts. They include:

Quincy Social Security, St. Boniface Parish, St. John's Parish, Farmer's Market, Quincy Crisis Center, Q.C.A.O. Southwest Community Center, Brian Donnelly's office staff, Paul Harold, Catholic Charitable Bureau, Quincy Dept. of Public Welfare, Jim Sheets and family, Capt. and Mrs. William Murphy, Rev. Elden D.J. Zuern, George Donahue, Our Lady of Good Counsel, Balloon Tycoon, Richard and Greta Conant, and Bethany Congregational Church.

We would also like to thank the many people who worked in the booths during the festival.

Although space won't permit us to name each contributor, we do want to express our appreciation to the 25 area businesses who donated raffle items. There was at least a $1,000 worth of prizes, including cash, jewelry, original oil paintings, brassware, restaurant gift certificates, and a week's vacation.

The entertainment for the festival was donated by the performers. We danced with the Pinewoods Morris Men, swung with the Pro Dixie Jazz Band, and sang with the Singing Priests. Altogether it made an exciting day for young and old alike. Thank you all.

More than the money raised, the tremendous support we felt for the Coalition was heartwarming. At times, one couldn't get through the aisles because of the crowd.

Therefore, our thanks must also be expressed to everyone who attended the festival. Thank you to all who contributed of their time, talents, and resources to make the "Happening for the Homeless" a dream come true!

McGrath Eyes President Bid

The city election is still nearly two weeks away but already the Speculation Corps is looking ahead to another one: City Council president.

The name being mentioned most prominently is Ward 5 Councillor Steve McGrath.

McGrath confirms reports that he is considering making a bid for what is the second most powerful elective office in the city.

"Yes, I am interested," he says. "I would like to be council president."

He has talked to "some councillors," he frankly admits.

That would be interpreted by political observers that he is moving early to line up votes or, at least, testing the waters.

But, McGrath says: "It really is a little premature to be talking about the council presidency when we haven't even had the final city election yet."

McGrath can afford to look ahead, though.

He is seeking his fifth term and is running unopposed. So he is virtually already re-elected.

McGrath is now chairman of the Transportation and Veterans Services Committees and was chairman of the Finance and Ordinance Committees. He is a practicing attorney.

McGRATH

SHEETS

James Sheets, current council president is ineligible to succeed himself after serving two one-year terms.

The city council presidency is considered a springboard to the mayor's office but not an automatic one. There have been a number of council presidents who couldn't get enough mayoral bounce and just faded away once they put the gavel down.

But is a prestigious job and carries a lot of political clout including the appointments of council committees chairmen.

Health, Safety Tips For Halloween

Halloween's miniature ghosts, goblins, and gypsy princesses will be tricking-or-treating again in Quincy on Oct. 31.

According to the Massachusetts Dental Society, there are several steps Quincy residents can take to ensure a healthy, safe, and fun

Halloween:

- Food treats should be low in sugar: popcorn, nuts, sugarless candies, cheese, potato chips, crackers, peanuts, and pretzels are ideal.

- Avoid giving out soft, sticky foods, such as raisins, and caramels, which remain on and between teeth surfaces and are harmful.

Make sure costumes are free of dangling ends that may cause a fall.

- Check that masks allow vision clearly in all directions.

- Encourage trick-or-treaters to go out in a group, pick well-lit streets, and to cross the streets only at corners and never between parked cars or in the middle of the block.

- Impress on the children that they should wait until arriving at home to check and eat their treats, discarding anything unwrapped or damaged.

Oversee that teeth are thoroughly brushed after eating the treats and before going to bed.

Quincy Man Heads Security For Ringling Bros. Circus

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The circus is in town and a Quincy native is among the cast and crew of "The Greatest Show on Earth."

Norman (Shorty) McLennan, of Quincy, is director of security for Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus which is appearing at Boston Garden through Sunday, Oct. 27.

A former employee of General Dynamics Shipyard, Quincy, his job at the circus is to assure that only working employees of the circus are allowed backstage during a performance.

McLennan joined the circus March 29, 1948.

"I was the assistant manager of a restaurant in New York City, and, quite frankly, I was getting tired of the job," he said. "So I went to the circus, determined to get a job."

McLennan was told to come back the next day to observe all the working men, and how they handled their jobs. He watched for the next two weeks until he knew what every man did and when he did it.

"At the end of five weeks, one man quit and they offered me the job. I've been with the circus ever since," he said.

Primarily a rigger, then a rigging boss for most of his career, McLennan has rigged every major arena, and many smaller ones, throughout the country.

Prior to 1956, he helped put up the Big Top Tent.

"We moved by train then, but during the 1960s, we switched to trucks. It took 11 trucks just for the equipment and we had to load and unload each one by hand to get set up," he recalled.

McLennan also helped construct the Circus Arena in Venice, Fla., which now serves as winter quarters for the circus.

"There is no telling how many times I've set up and taken down the circus," he said. "But after I rigged the Superdome in New Orleans, I knew I had done it all. We hung the rigging from the roof on special cables. I knew I couldn't get any higher except by airplane."

After a bad fall which left him in the hospital for 96 days and on crutches for three years, McLennan returned to the circus as a backstage security man.

"I like it here," he said. "I have met hundreds of people that I would not have met had I stayed a rigger. But I've had to kick a lot of people out the back door."

"One of the funniest things I've ever seen was some kids who hid in empty garbage cans to try to get in. I stopped them, but admired their creativity."

Shipyard Workers Have Trouble Finding Jobs

James F. McGonnigal, executive secretary of the Shipbuilders' Union Local 5, said that laid off workers at the Fore River Shipyard are having difficulty finding jobs because prospective employers believe they will be called back to work at the yard within a few months.

By the end of November, he said, employment at the shipyard will be down to 800 hourly workers and prospects for the entire year of 1955 are that there will be no more than 1,000.

Still, he said, unemployed union members have been coming to him with reports that employers will not hire them because Fore River has contracts to build five destroyers with work staggered over a period of four to five years. First delivery date is November, 1956.

Meanwhile, the Atomic Energy Commission announced that Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s central technical department at Fore River will undertake a one-year study of the use of atomic power to drive commercial ships.

OUTLAW DRINKS

The Rev. Robert L. Treece, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church and chairman of the Social Action Committee of the Quincy Council of Churches, urged voters in the November election to outlaw all liquor establishments in the city that serve beverages to be drunk on premises.

"We are asking that voters close the open saloon and the tap room but retain the package store," he said. "Quincy is not yet a bad city but there are definite signs of decay because of the open saloon."

$60 TAX RATE

The Quincy Taxpayers Association predicted that the city will be faced with a $60 tax rate in five years "unless a miracle appears." City Manager William J. Dregan, on the other hand, forecast an increase of only $5 over the current tax rate of $52 by 1960.

BOYS' TOWN OPPOSED

The Squantum Community Association voted to oppose a proposal to construct a Boys' Town of Massachusetts on the site of the former Squantum Naval Air Station. President Harry W. Chandler said the vote was unanimous.

Wreath From Reagan To Be Placed At John Adams Crypt

A wreath sent by President Ronald Reagan will be placed at the crypt of John Adams Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 10 a.m. in honor of his 250th birthday.

The second president, and his wife, Abigail, are buried at United First Parish Church, 1306 Hancock St.

Nov. 6 Deadline For Legislation

Legislative proposals intended for consideration by the 1986 session of the General Court must be filed with the Clerk of the House or Senate by Wednesday, Nov. 6. Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) advises.

"Under the rules of the House and Senate, measures must be filed by the first Wednesday of November," Rep. Morrissey said. "Constituents who have matters which they believe ought to be considered by the Legislature should contact my office as soon as possible."

for that morning will be a presentation by William Flavin, United First Parish Church historian.

The North Quincy High School Band, the Quincy High School Chorus and the Braintree High School Chorus will also participate in the festivities.

The Ancient and Honorable, an honorary military group, the South Weymouth Naval Air Station Color Guard, and officials from the Quincy Naval Reserve Center will participate as well.

The Richard T. LaBrecque History Essay Contest, sponsored by the Education Committee of the Quincy Historical Society, will be awarded that morning as well.

The history essay contest honors the memory of Richard T. LaBrecque, a local newspaper writer, whose interest in Quincy's history was evidenced by his numerous articles on the subject. This year's essay topic is titled, "John Adams: Man of Law."

All are invited to attend the celebration.

John Adams was born Oct. 19, 1735 in Braintree, and both the Town of Braintree and the City of Quincy share the honor of John Adams' association with both communities.

Robert Bruynell, Braintree Town Clerk, recently brought the Adams birth certificate to Quincy. It will be displayed at the Adams birthplace.

The Braintree High School Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Dewey, will also participate in the festivities.

For more information, contact Peter Kenney, executive secretary to Mayor Francis McCauley, at 773-1380, ext. 304.

While some legislative proposals are introduced beyond the deadline each year, such "late-filed matters" usually have a more difficult road toward enactment, he said.

"In 1984, there were 5,908 timely-filed measures in the House for 1985 action," said Morrissey. "Together with the matters timely filed in the Senate, and with matters considered later in the year, the annual workload will be from approximately 9,000 to 10,000 bills."

"We are the only state in the Union providing for this direct form of citizen input," Morrissey said. "The legislation must be given a public hearing and be acted upon, according to our rules and tradition."

Lupus Week

Mayor Francis McCauley recently proclaimed Oct. 20-26 as Lupus Awareness Week.

Lupus Erythematosus is a disease of unknown cause which may cause inflammation and destruction of the skin, joints, lungs, kidneys, brain and virtually all other systems of the body, according to the proclamation.

It occurs primarily in women of child-bearing age, the proclamation states, and the public lacks awareness of the disease, which may often result in unnecessary hardship and suffering.

YOU ARE WHAT YOU EAT

Q: Since I was a small child, I've heard, "You are what you eat." But I wonder, how much credence does this statement carry?

A: It's true; you are what you eat! Junk food, quick stop restaurants and hectic lifestyles combine to create a nation of obese individuals.

For the many millions of busy people, prepackaged foods seem to be an easy solution. However, many of these foods are highly refined and quickly digested, leaving one feeling hungry shortly after a meal.

Preparing nutritious foods ahead of time will help combat this problem, and will also help ensure the family of good nutrition.

Clean vegetables and prepare salads ahead of time. At serving time, broil lean meat, toss salad and heat vegetables in a microwave oven. Serve fresh fruit for dessert. Your family will have a nutritious meal that will contribute to good health and high energy.

Consult your local Diet Center at 770-3442... for more ideas on how to make good nutrition a way of life.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

No one welcomes adversity. Nor should they. But in one way or another, at one time or another, it can come to all of us. When it happens, it is easy to fold up, to give up perhaps with bitterness and anger.

If and when adversity comes it is an excellent time to remember all the water in the world can never sink a ship—unless it gets on the inside. When Robert Louis Stevenson was desperately ill and almost dead from a hemorrhage, he wrote: "I refuse to let the medicine bottles on my mantelpiece be the limit of my horizon, or the blood on my handkerchief be the chief fact of my life."

It should never be forgotten that through the ages, many, many thousands of people discovered superhuman strength and resources through the supernatural help from God. It is well to remember the promise—"I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Many people through the ages have profited from that promise. . .

WICKENS AND TROUPE FUNERAL HOME

26 Adams Street, Quincy, Massachusetts 02169
Telephone (617) 472-5888

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director . . . cemetery or cremation charge . . . monuments or markers . . . newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. Call the pre-need specialists of Quincy and the South Shore, Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home at 472-5888. That's 472-5888.

Robert Parker Installed Kiwanis Club President

New membership growth, further development of the major emphasis program and establishment of a second fund raising activity were outlined as the goals of the new president of the Quincy Kiwanis Club, Robert W. Parker.

Parker succeeds outgoing president Richard T. Sweeney. His remarks were made during installation ceremonies at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Parker noted that 15 new members joined the club last year, and he would like to see that duplicated this year.

He also said he would like to see the club's program for underprivileged children in Quincy developed further.

The last major goal of his term will be the establishment of a second fund raising activity to go along with the international youth hockey tournament which last year raised over $14,000, Parker said.

Parker also recognized another member of the club, his father W. Henry Parker, who was president of the club for 1971-1972.

The two are only the second father and son to serve as club presidents in the organization's 62-year history, Sweeney noted.

In handing the gavel to Parker, Sweeney said the teamwork has been the password to the club's accomplishments over the past year.

Among the accomplishments were increased membership, weekly attendance, and participation in all club activities.

A special presentation was made in memory of Chandler K. Garland, who was elected club president in May but died before he could serve in that position.

Other officers installed were Yves R. Poirier, secretary; Aldo M. Saluti, treasurer; the Rev. Richard C. Malmquist, vice president; James F. Stearns, Jr., president-elect.

New directors are Leo Darr, George H. Ramsden Jr., Robert Mortarelli, Douglas C. Purdy, one year; John S. Kent, John A.

Farmer and Kevin Grogan, two years. During the evening, retiring board members Robert Bunstein, Rev. Malmquist and Charles R. Simpson, Jr., were recognized.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to Walter E. Martensen, 28 years; Elmer K. Fagerlund, 25 years; Paul Ricciardi, 25 years; Leo Darr, 15 years; Aldo M. Saluti, five years; Richard T. Sweeney, Jr., four years; Robert W. Parker, James F. Stearns, Jr., Rev. Richard C. Malmquist, Yves R. Poirier, Arden St. Schofield, one year.

Master of Ceremonies was Richard Coleman.

City Has First Free Cash Surplus In 10 Years

for a community to have a free cash account. It is uncommon not to have it.

"For the city to be in the position the mayor indicates, is a result of collection of back taxes but also reduction of services.

"During 1983, 1984 and 1985, there was a surplus each year in the amount the City Council budgeted to run the departments, mostly as a result of not filling vacant positions or personnel," Councillor Condon said.

"It has been my concern for a long period of time that there is a shortage in public safety personnel.

"It would suggest," said Councillor Condon, that in the area of free cash now available, the mayor immediately look at areas such as public education and address some of the needs I continually hear at meetings.

"Some of the needs in the school system are for the very basics - such as books, paper and equipment so necessary to the educational process.

"I would also suggest that the mayor not bring in budgets that he doesn't intend to spend within that department.

"The question is whether people want to have basic necessities or do they want to substitute basic necessities for reductions in deficits," said Councillor Condon.

Police Raises Referred To Committee

'The Challenge Of Church' Sermon Topic At Bethany

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon "The Challenge of Church," based on the texts Isaiah 53:10-12 and Mark 10:35-45, at two worship services this Sunday Oct. 27.

One sermon will be delivered at 9 a.m. in the chapel, the other at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

Scripture readers will be Lois Nordstrom in the chapel and Joanne French in the sanctuary.

At the 10 a.m. service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of organist Peter E. Krasinski, will present "The Lord's My Shepherd" by C.F. Mueller, as the offertory anthem and "Children of the Heavenly Father," arranged by E. Liemohn as the second anthem.

The worship service will be broadcast by delayed tape over WJDA, 1300kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m.

with classes from pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies will be provided, as well as a Toddler Class for young children.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

For additional information about Bethany's ministries, contact the church office at 479-7300.

Catacomb Seminar At Covenant Congregational

A seminar on "Catacomb Art and the New Testament Church: A resurrection mandate for Christian Life and Worship" will be held Nov. 1 to 3 at Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell and Granite Sts.

The seminar will be given by Gregory Athnos, a member of North Park College faculty since 1966.

According to Covenant Congregational, the Resurrection Seminar is intended to bring about the theological balance between the death of Jesus and His resurrection which has existed in the New Testament, but has been all but abandoned by the post-Persecution Church. Only by reinstating the intended authority of the Resurrection can we be in good conscience embrace the Cross, says the church. Good Friday is absolutely nothing without Easter Sunday, it says.

The seminar will explore the many ways the contemporary church embraces death rather than life, point to the Resurrection of Jesus as the supreme focal point of history, approach the New Testament as a Resurrection document, reveal that the risen Christ was at the heart of the first witness of the Church, and attempt to recapture that same Resurrection Power for our own time, according to the church.

Athnos has spent time in Athens, Rome and throughout the Middle East studying the art of the early Christians. He has done research in the Archives of the Catacombs in Rome, and has spoken on this subject over 200 times across the United States and in Europe, in seminars, colleges, churches and conferences.

His teaching has elicited enthusiastic response from both laypersons and clergy, says Covenant Congregational.

There will be five sessions beginning with a slide presentation of "The Art of the Roman Catacombs" at 7 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 1. It will end with the 10:45 a.m. morning worship service message by Athnos.

For a more complete schedule of sessions and registration information, call Pastor Fred Lawson at 479-5728. The registration fee should be paid by Oct. 27.

Reformation Sunday Breakfast At Squantum First Church

Members and friends of the First Church of Squantum, Bellevue Rd., will gather Sunday morning for a Reformation Sunday breakfast at 9:15 a.m. and a special worship service at 10:15 a.m.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, will preach on the life of John Calvin, a Reformation leader of the 16th century in Switzerland.

The following Sunday there will be another breakfast and service at the church where the congregation observes Covenant Sunday, the day on which members of the church renew their covenant with God and with the others members of the church.

Last Sunday Dr. Langevin spoke on "The Old Testament Witness" in the early service and on the question "What Makes a Family Christian?" during the second.

Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott, David Williams and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the congregational singing in the early service. David Williams recited the Scripture lesson of the morning from memory. Steven Williams and Robert Dixey were the ushers.

At the second service, Helen Miller and May Lewis were the greeters; Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott, the ushers; and Pat Sorensen and Barbara Walter, in charge of the Fellowship Hour.

Accompanied by violinist James E. Sumner, the Crusader Choir sang Natalie Sleeth's "Consider the Lilies." Members of the Crusader Choir were wearing new choir robes which were dedicated to God in a prayer by the pastor. The Chancel Choir sang Richard Farrant's "Hide Not Thy Face From Us" as the anthem.

In the afternoon, young people from the church met with young people from the East Congregational Church in Milton to play football at Cunningham Park.

Adams Shore Center To Be Located In Church

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that the Adams Shore Community Center will be located, within a month, in the Toussaint Room of Adams Shore Community Methodist Church, Albatross Road.

Since June, the center office has been temporarily housed at the Houghs Neck Community Center.

Lillian T. Austin director of the center since its inception, will continue in that position.

A resident of Adams Shore, she is a member of the Board of Directors of the Manet Health Center and a past president of the Adams Shore Community Association.

The mayor announced that a blood pressure clinic will be held Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to noon.

A quilting class will be introduced at the new location.

The seniors' school, held on Wednesdays from 1 to 3 p.m., will continue to be held in the Adams Shore Library.

Information concerning the Adams Shore Community Center can be obtained by calling Miss Austin at 479-2043.

Religious Series Begins

Oct. 27 At St. John's School

Two religious programs will be offered by the Adult Education Committee of St.

John The Baptist beginning Oct. 27 from 7:30 to 9 p.m., at the parish school, 30 Phipps St.

Fr. Leonard Tighe will conduct four sessions to help the individual in learning to pray and meditate. A small fee will be charged.

The second series, conducted by Fr. Edward Carroll, will discuss "Everything You Always Wanted To Know About The Bible But Were Afraid To Ask."

Refreshments will follow both programs.

"Diabetes and Health," a program focusing on the ability of a person to control his or her diabetes and not allow it to control them, will begin Tuesday, Nov. 5, at Quincy City Hospital.

The program, a series of weekly topics, will emphasize the four cornerstones of diabetes management: What Is Diabetes?, Living With

Improved State St. South Access Study Completed

A study relative to improved access to the State Street South complex in North Quincy from Interstate 1-93 (Southeast Expressway) has been completed by the Central Transportation Planning Staff. (CTPS), announces Rep. Michael Morrissey.

"The current traffic flows and employee population and demographics of this area were evaluated," said Morrissey. "Three proposals have been submitted."

• New road from Granite Ave. to State St. South over the tidal marsh area. This was deemed impractical due to the very severe impacts on the marsh and wetlands areas.

• New interchange from Southeast Expressway connecting to State St. with new bridge over the Neponset River. This was rejected since the interchange would fall between Granite Ave. ramps and Neponset Rotary ramps with the spacing being substandard for safety and operational reasons.

• New ramps at the Neponset Rotary and Hancock St. Bridge. Ramp North-bound from Southeast Expressway to Hancock St. Bridge and return movement from Gallivan Boulevard area to Southeast Expressway appears feasible.

"Area residents are in need of alternate and less congested routes. I am hopeful that one of these proposals will satisfy those involved," said Morrissey.

"The information from this study will be forwarded to the city of Quincy to be included in a citywide traffic study."

"The citywide traffic study will seek solutions to city traffic congestion as a whole rather than a patchwork approach that would only solve scattered problem areas," said Morrissey.

Jewelry Reported Stolen At Cafe

One woman lost $1,200 in jewelry and another was injured in an altercation at the Hat Rack Cafe, Copeland St., West Quincy, according to police.

Elizabeth Carlson of 38 Taftail Rd., Germantown, told police her jewelry was stolen by an unidentified female who accosted her and asked her to step outside.

When Carlson did so, she was knocked down and assaulted, police said.

When her friend, Theresa Travers of 21 Taftail Rd., went to her aid, she was thrown against a wall by a man and suffered bruises and broken false teeth.

I-93 Exit Renumbering Nearing Phase I Completion

State DPW Commr. Robert T. Tierney announces that the first phase of renumbering of exits along Interstate 93 is scheduled to be completed by the end of October.

The Southeast Expressway is the first section of I-93 to receive the new numbers which run consecutively from new Exit 7 at the Route 3/128 split, formerly Exit 25, to new Exit 16 at Andrew Square, coincidentally also formerly known as Exit 16, said Tierney.

Originally, the highway, which runs from I-95 in Canton to the New Hampshire border, consisted of four different connecting roads, State Routes 3 and 128, the Central Artery, and I-93. Each had its own set of exit numbers except for the Central Artery where exits were not numbered, he said.

As the entire route is now designed I-93, exit numbers are being changed to run consecutively from one end of the highway to the other. The renumbering of the entire interstate is expected to be completed late this year, according to Tierney.

"The new consecutive numbering will make highway navigation a much simpler task for the motorist," said Tierney. "It will also greatly benefit businesses, institutions, and individuals giving directions to travellers."

Most of the cost of the new signage has been assumed by the Federal government, Tierney noted.

Koch Boys, Girls League Invites Bowlers

Director Anthony T. Delmonico invites boys and girls 7-15 to join the Koch Club Youth Bowling League on Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alleys, Broad St., Quincy. Each participant will be

Quincy Vietnam Veterans In MIA Post Card Drive

By DAN CONNELLY

The Quincy Chapter of the Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces is asking city residents to stand up with them and show support in sending a nationwide message to Vietnam to account for the 2,500 U.S. servicemen still missing in Southeast Asia.

The chapter is urging people to sign a small yellow card, or a facsimile of the message, that urges the Vietnamese government to speed up its efforts to locate those unaccounted for 10 years after the end of the war.

According to Quincy Chapter President David Lawson, Quincy City Hall (election department) police, and fire stations have agreed to serve as drop off points for these messages.

The cards, or facsimiles, will be collected by Lawson's group on or about Oct. 26. They will later travel with a delegation from across the country to New York on Veterans Day, Nov. 11, to deliver the message to the Vietnamese ambassador to the United Nations.

According to veterans groups, the Vietnamese made a commitment two months ago they would try to resolve the issue within two years. The veterans hope the signed messages will help make them live up to their commitment and maybe speed the process up a little bit.

Some 60,000 cards have been distributed in Massachusetts so far, and the organizers of the effort, in cooperation with the National League of Families of MIA's, are looking for millions of signatures from across the country.

The small post card, addressed to the Vietnamese ambassador reads:

"As an American citizen, I strongly urge that your government fulfill recent commitments to accelerate efforts to account for U.S. servicemen and civilians still held prisoner and missing in your country.

"While I am thankful for those you have returned, I am distressed that the families of the 2,500 still unaccounted for continue to suffer uncertainty about their missing loved ones.

"On Veterans Day, November 11, Americans honor all fellow countrymen who have served in the armed forces of our nation. This year, we urge your government to return to our shores those American veterans still held prisoner and missing in your country."

Mr. Ambassador:

As an American citizen, I strongly urge that your government fulfill recent commitments to accelerate efforts to account for U.S. Servicemen and civilians still held prisoner and missing in your country.

While I am thankful for those you have returned, I am distressed that the families of the 2500 still unaccounted for continue to suffer uncertainty about their missing loved ones.

On Veterans day, November 11, Americans honor all fellow countrymen who have served in the armed forces of our nation. This year, we urge your government to return to our shores those American veterans still held prisoner and missing in your country.

Respectfully,

Chamber Plans Small Business Seminar

An informational six-part seminar for those planning to start their own business - or who already have, begins Tuesday, Nov. 5, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, 36 Miller Stiles Rd., Quincy.

Subsequent sessions of the seminar, sponsored by the Chamber's Committee on Small Business, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at Canterbury Hall, Eastern Nazarene College, 23 East Elm Ave., Wollaston.

The sixth and final graduation session will be Dec. 10 at the Chamber. Course Titles include:

Choosing the Legal Business Entity; Developing a Business Plan; How to Develop a Marketing Plan; What are the Record Keeping and Tax Obligations for a Business; How to Use Advertising, Promotion and Public Relations to your advantage; Understanding Financial Statements; Financing Your Business; What Type of Insurance Program is best for you and an In-Depth look at a Completed Business Plan.

The cost of the six sessions is $75 which is tax deductible.

Continuing Education Credits will be available from the college. Professionals who are experts in their respective fields will teach each of the sessions.

For reservations and more information call the Chamber at 479-1111.

Shelter Decision Delayed To Dec. 3

A hearing regarding a controversial homeless shelter on Foster St. in Quincy Center has been continued by the Licensing Board until Dec. 3.

The continuance was requested by Atty. Matthew J. McDonnell, lawyer for the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition, in a letter to the board.

The coalition, a group of 45 churches, social and civic agencies and area residents, has previously appeared before the board requesting to use the Knights of Columbus building at 25 Foster St., Quincy Center, as a shelter for the homeless.

$13,754 In Permit Fees Collected

Quincy Plumbing and Gas Inspector James A. Erwin Jr. reports his department issued a total of 155 permits for the month of September.

The department also collected a total of $13,754 in permit fees. This large amount in permit fees is due to a great number of projects currently in the works said Erwin.

A breakdown of that report lists the following:

Plumbing - permits issued, 100; permit fees $13,056; number of inspections, 150.

Gas Fitting - permits issued, 55; permit fees, $698; number of inspections, 86.

State Treasurer Warns Of Money Finding Company

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane issued a warning to residents to beware of solicitations from an Ohio company charging $19 to search for abandoned accounts in Massachusetts.

The Canton (Ohio) based company bills itself as the "Department of Unclaimed Funds and Benefits." Furthermore, Crane said the company stationery pictures an eagle which may give the misleading appearance of being an official government document.

"The services this company is offering for $19 are available free of charge from my office. A toll free call at 1-800-632-8027 will produce accurate official information immediately," Crane said.

Under the Massachusetts Unclaimed Money Law, accounts which have been inactive for at least five years must be reported to the Treasury as being abandoned. The Treasury Department then tries to locate the rightful owners or legal heirs. Abandoned funds include primarily savings and checking accounts, life insurance proceeds, uncashed dividend checks and customer over-payments. The Abandoned Property Division of the Treasury maintains a complete listing of owners of lost or forgotten monies.

Written inquiries may be sent to State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane, Abandoned Property Division, One Ashburton Place, Boston, MA 02108.

Need To Improve Computer Literacy Says Santoro

Candidate for Quincy School Committee Frank Santoro said there is a need for business interaction to improve computer literacy in the city school system.

Santoro, who addressed supporters at a recent coffee hour said, "too often we have heard past campaign promises address this issue with no results."

He said the Citywide Parents' Council has started the ball rolling with its fundraising effort to improve this problem.

Santoro added: "The Greater Boston area has a vast number of businesses and colleges that could contribute to the education of our children with both financial and training assistance."

Santoro also stated that throughout the country more than 30,000 schools benefit with business adopting policies. As an example, he pointed out that in Dallas, Philadelphia, Houston and Denver, companies such as Ford, Xerox, Sears and IBM have adopted public schools.

"These companies provide construction, tutors, volunteers, tours, materials, equipment, workshops and many more essentials closing the gap between schools and business."

Santoro also reminded the audience that at the Quincy Vocational High School, equipment must constantly be updated to properly train our students for the job market. He said, "Under our current budget, replacing expensive machinery yearly is an impossibility. Business interaction is the key to the future."

Santoro said this link is important enough to create a position for a liaison whose sole function would be to seek business interaction.

"These partnerships will benefit the community and better train our students for their future," he said.

Maj. Regan Golf Tournament Raises $14,500 For Scholarships

The John F. Regan scholarship trust fund is $14,500 richer thanks to the generosity of those who participated in the recent golf tournament at the Halifax Country Club, Halifax.

The fund provides scholarships to families of both past and present members of the Massachusetts State Police.

The scholarship applications will be distributed through the State Police barracks and stations now through the month of January and will be due sometime in February 1986.

According to fund-raising chairman Jerry Coletta, this year residents are being asked to contribute directly to the Regan Fund. In past years, scholarship monies, generated from interest on the trust, amounted to $750 in 1983, $2,500 in 1984, and is expected to exceed $5,000 this year.

The Regan Trust was established in 1982 to honor the memory of Major John F. Regan Jr. of Milton, who died three years ago at age 51, following a long battle with cancer.

Regan began his career with the State Police in 1953 and served over 10 years as a trooper. He also served as an investigator in the Norfolk County District Attorney's office.

At the time of his death, he was director of the New England organized crime drug smuggling unit.

Tax deductible donations may be sent to the Major John F. Regan Jr. Charitable Trust Fund, P.O. Box 7131, Quincy, MA 02269 or contact Trust Chairman Jerry Coletta at 329-5440 or 786-8455.

FALL HOME IMPROVEMENT

Mortgage approval easier thanks to energy efficient home designs

To help prospective homebuyers qualify for home loan mortgages, leading manufacturers of fiber glass insulation are working with builders to develop innovative, energy efficient building designs that actually consume less energy than conventionally built homes. These special homes can allow buyers to qualify for a higher mortgage.

Since these homes are more energy efficient and corresponding computer programs can actually predict the number of BTUs required to heat or cool a home, Federal National Mortgage Association acknowledges many of these energy programs as an acceptable tool for qualification. One such program recognized by Fannie Mae is the Energy Conquest Home developed by the Manville Corporation's Building Materials Marketing Division.

To qualify as an Energy Conquest Home, builders must have their plans analyzed through a computerized program. This analysis determines BTU use estimates for current building plans and then makes recommendations on how to improve the energy efficiency of each home. Builders select from these recommendations and then a side-by-side comparison is made estimating BTUs needed for heating and cooling each design.

The program considers the design of the house, infiltration, site orientation and foundation treatment, use of energy-saving windows and door treatments, and high insulation R values. A BTU qualifying level, set by Manville or some other manufacturer of insulation, determines builder participation in these energy programs.

Because BTU estimates can help determine monthly utility costs, mortgage lending institutions can more precisely judge affordability. The more energy efficient the home, the more income available to qualify for mortgages.

In short, then, homes meeting higher levels of energy efficiency which are recognized by Fannie Mae and other lending institutions will benefit prospective homebuyers in three ways.

First, these homes will reduce energy consumption. Second, if consumption is reduced, prospective homeowners may be able to qualify for larger home mortgages. Third, the home should be perceived as a better value in the resale market.

WE'VE GOT THE WORKS FOR THE WORK YOU'VE GOT

Caulk repairs can save time, money — now and later

If you're like most do-it-yourself homeowners, you've probably been putting off performing caulk repairs around the house except on an as-needed basis. You've also grown a bit tired of re-caulking the same spot because the old caulk has cracked and worn away.

Evaluate caulking needs

So now, with the ravages of winter at hand, is the perfect time to evaluate your caulking needs. Spots that have peeled, cracked or separated offer an inviting area for winter chill to enter, and inside heat to escape. And the higher heating cost due to ineffective caulking can chill you deeper than winter's best effort.

Your selection of which caulk to use, and applying it correctly, is critical. How long do you want the caulk to last? Have you selected a caulk which enables you to paint over it? Is it mildew resistant? Do you need a siliconized caulk? What's the difference?

Wouldn't it be great if you only had to caulk once with a product guaranteed to last for the life of your home?

Varied capabilities

The folks at Red Devil, Inc., a leader in the DIY/Home Improvement Market, remind us that different caulks have different capabilities. Those containing silicone can flex more than caulks which do not, yet cost only a few cents more. Also, some silicone caulks provide greater flexibility than others. For the outside walls of your home, that flexibility assures a tighter, more reliable seal.

FOR TIGHTER, MORE RELIABLE SEALS to keep winter chill out and inside heat in, the folks at Red Devil, Inc., recommend using a caulk such as their LIFETIME® with Silicone, which is guaranteed for as long as you own your home. These caulks flex more than standard caulks yet cost only a few cents more.

Red Devil also points out that a caulk such as their new and improved LIFETIME® with Silicone, which is guaranteed for the life of the consumer's home, would logically provide better protection than a non-guaranteed product for the same application.

Just as important as your caulk selection is proper application: Diligently clear off the old caulk with a scraping tool and apply an even bead which fully covers the area.

Good application and a good caulking choice pay off not only in the short run this winter, but can continue to pay handsome cost saving dividends for years to come.

Just one application covers everything.

Wherever you live, you probably have some home improvement plans in mind. Whether it's repainting, inside or out, adding a new room or furnishings, such plans often add up to a lot of money.

That's where Quincy Savings Bank can help.

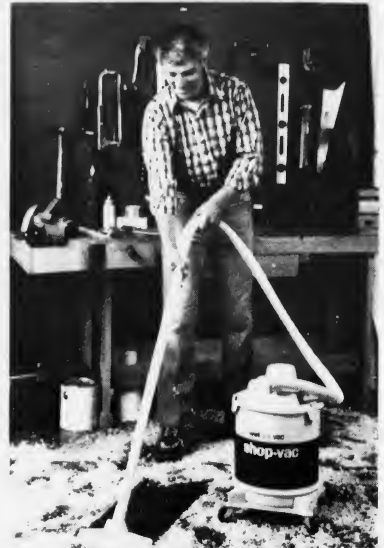

Because with one simple home improvement loan application you may be able to cover everything you're planning to do. If you qualify, you may borrow up to $15,000 at our competitive rate, and take up to 84 months to repay.

The addition of solar screens helps increase the year-round energy efficiency of storm windows

Thousands of homeowners install storm windows and doors each year. If you are one of those planning on investing in storm windows this season, here's a tip on how to make sure that the storm windows you buy will be year-round energy savers.

Instead of conventional insect screens that usually come on most storm windows and cover only the bottom half of the window, specify that your storm windows be equipped with a full screen made of SunScreen® solar screening.

Year-round effectiveness

This way, you'll get a window that will help you keep the heat inside during winter months and outside during summer months. And, you'll have a storm window that will pay for itself much faster in the form of lower heating and cooling bills.

How much faster? Well, a survey done by a Houston, Texas, utility company a few years ago showed an estimated pay-back period for storm windows to be from about 10 to almost 30 years, depending on whether you install them yourself or hire a contractor.

Survey results

The same survey showed that solar screens could pay for themselves on summer energy costs alone in two to three years, even if contractor-installed. These screens block up to 70 percent of the sun's heat and glare for "instant" comfort on a bright, sunny day.

The pay-back on a storm window equipped with a full-length SunScreen solar screen should be considerably shorter than that for a conventional storm window alone.

By "piggy backing" the two products together, you'll save on installation costs and have a window that is year-round energy efficient.

If full solar radiation is desirable on some windows, for example, south-facing windows, the solar screens can be removed and stored during winter months.

Most energy auditors agree that windows are usually the least energy-efficient part of any building. In the winter, heat escapes through and around windows to the cold outside.

Since heat always travels in one direction . . . from warm to cold . . . the process reverses itself in summer . . . with outside heat radiating toward the cooler inside. The extra layer of insulation provided by SunScreen solar screens helps to keep the heat where you want it year-round.

Other benefits

In addition, solar screens work year-round to help protect draperies, carpets and upholstered furniture against fading. SunScreen solar screening comes in several colors and choices so you can enhance the exterior of your home.

Solar screens also provide daytime privacy . . . you can see out, but not in. And, they keep the bugs out when your windows are open.

Since the solar screening is an open mesh, woven of fiber glass, gentle breezes can come in, allowing healthier, natural ventilation.

If you're shopping for storm windows, ask for SunScreen solar screening as an option. It will cost a few extra dollars now, but it will save you energy dollars for years to come.

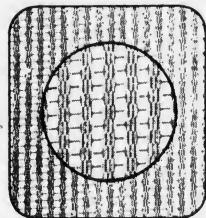

If you already have storm windows, a screen shop can install full SunScreen solar screens for you. Look in the telephone book under "Screens," "Door & Window" or "Storm Windows & Doors."

Write for information

For additional information on SunScreen solar screening, contact Philter Wire Products, Inc., P.O. Box 1700, Tuscaloosa, AL 35403. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SOLAR SCREENS can make even storm windows more energy efficient and help reduce fading and glare year-round. They can be easily installed on any type or size of window too.

THE SECRET behind SunScreen® solar screens is this unique patented mesh, which blocks up to 70 percent of the sun's heat and glare.

Harbor bill signed; mayor is 'gratified'

By Randall Keith
Patriot Ledger State House Bureau
QUINCY — Mayor Francis Y. McCauley today

For years people have been talking about cleaning up pollution in Quincy Bay. Mayor Frank McCauley did something about it. Mayor McCauley brought about the lawsuit that led to the creation of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority, the agency that will clean up Quincy Bay.

$33,000 Award To City Through Incentive Aid Program

A total of $33,000 has been awarded to the City of Quincy by the Executive Office of Communities and Development through the Incentive Aid Program, State Senator Paul D. Harold announces.

Sen. Harold said that $30,000 is to be used to survey the infrastructure of the city. An inventory of the streets, sewers and other basic installations is to be done in order to develop a capital budget for improvements.

The major work will be done by the Planning Department with technical consultants where needed, Harold said.

Harold said a $3,000 mini-grant has been awarded to the School Department to train school improvement councils.

The funds are to be used for a one-day seminar to train the 100 educators and parents who will make up the councils established under the recently enacted Education Reform Law, he said.

The Quincy School Department has been awarded the funds so that Quincy can serve as a model for the rest of the Commonwealth, Harold said.

Chapter 188 of the Acts of 1985, the Education Reform Law, requires that each school building have a council to determine the use of funds to be provided on a per student basis by the Board of Education for school improvements, according to Harold.

The School Improvement Funds are not to be used for current operating expenses, but are to establish innovative programs for a variety of educational purposes, noted Harold.

Murphy's 107.2 Paces Koch Women

Barbara Murphy dominates the individual scoring in the Koch Club Women's Bowling League with high average of 107.2, best three string total of 348 and top single string of 125. She also has the most spares with 40 and leads in strikes with 4.

Murphy, with her scoring spree, has moved her team into top spot in the standings with 21 wins and 11 losses and is followed by June Hillier with 19-13.

Barbara Murphy is joined in the top ten by Maryellen Walsh, 102.2; Debra Koch, 98.7; Nelda Pennington, 95.8; Edie Maher, 95.6; June Hillier, 95.1; Pat Lawlor, 94.8; Dolores Connors, 94.7; Pat Thornberg, 93.9, while Debbie Davis and Carol Johnson are tied for tenth spot with 92.7.

The Koch Club Women's Bowling League is enjoying its 31st season of activity and Pat Lawlor is president.

Nutley Puts Accent On 'Human Need Issues'

Thomas J. Nutley, candidate for the Ward 6 City Council seat, recently hosted a "Pre-election Party" for over 200 friends and supporters at the Quincy Elks Hall.

In a prepared statement, Nutley spoke on the many problems he feels are affecting residents of the North Quincy area.

"Based on many conversations with residents of Atlantic and Squantum when knocking at their doors, at coffee hours and at my sponsored community chat," said Nutley. "I have heard a diverse range of opinions regarding the problems that plague our citizens."

"While all of the citizens are concerned about the future, final decision on where to locate the billion dollar sewage plant and about development and the problems that accompany over-development, the major concerns stated by the people were the problems that most affect them now."

"The problems include speeding cars on their neighborhood streets, the need for increased police visibility in the neighborhoods, and the need for programs to serve our elderly and low income residents, particularly the renters who are being squeezed by the rapidly escalating costs of housing."

2 NQHS Seniors Commended Students

Two Wollaston girls, seniors at North Quincy High School, have been lauded for their outstanding academic promise by a national scholarship program.

The school was notified that Janet Reger of Willow St., and Inci Duemill of Hancock St., have been designated Commended Students in the 1986 program of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. According to Principal Peter Chrisom, these seniors will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of their outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

A spokesperson for the program said that being named a Commended Student in this extremely competitive merit program is a credit to these young women and to their schools, which play an important role in the development of academically talented youth.

There will be a childcare area where parents can leave their children with students in QJC's Early Childhood Education program.

13 Montilio 'Ghostbusters' In Halloween Events

The 13 Ghostbusters from Montilio's Bakery in Quincy have two appointments in Boston as Halloween nears and nothing, just nothing, is going to scare them away from keeping them.

Those employees, eight of whom live in Quincy, will participate in the Bewitching Ball at Boston City Hall Oct. 26. On Oct. 27, they'll vie in a Monster Dash race, with proceeds to benefit the children's ward at Boston City Hospital.

According to owner George Montilio, his 13 Ghostbusters, when not dressed in jumpsuits, sunglasses and carrying tubing bags filled with frosting are:

Edie Costa, Patti Brennan, Sharon Aldoupolis, John Milone, Filomena Cristina, Elaine Gallo, Anne Dinardo and Mary Leonard, all of Quincy.

Others are Kathy Mercer, Boston: Louis Mosquera of East Boston; Kathy Murphy of Brockton; Diane Parsloe of Milton; Janet Stetson of Marshfield.

The Monster Dash, billed as the world's largest footrace, is becoming a cultural and athletic tradition in Boston, held on the last weekend in October.

Everett 28, Quincy 12

Presidents Hope To Make Revere First Victim

Quincy football coach Jack Raymer wanted last Saturday's game at Everett postponed because of the rain, but Everett wanted to play and that was that.

Raymer wasn't any happier after the game which the Presidents lost, 28-12, to drop to 0-5 at the midway point in the season.

The loss was the second in a row to a Greater Boston League team and Quincy hosts another GBL entry, Revere, Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"We didn't come to play defensively in the first half," said Raymer. "Our defense was very poor in the first two quarters and we were especially porous on pass defense. I lectured them at the half and the defense was better in the second half."

"I didn't want to play the game in the rain because, with our best runner, Chris Veneto, our offense planned out of action. I planned out of action passing Veneto. I don't feel Steve Austin would be effective in the muddy going. Of course, it didn't affect their passer (Bob Wallace), but to be honest, he shouldn't have beaten us like he did with his passes. (Wallace was 11 for 14 and 182 yards and three touchdowns). We broke down on defense on his passes and he just shouldn't have been able to complete all those passes."

"Offensively we moved the ball well again but, as usual, weren't able to finish off the plays. We have to regroup for Revere, because it is the same type of team as Everett. We have to finish off our plays on offense. We have moved the ball well in nearly every game, but just can't put it in the end zone."

"These kids are giving their all and I still think we will win some games before the season is over. I expect Veneto back for Revere and he will make a big difference in our offense. "Veneto has had two 100 yards-plus games."

With Veneto sidelined, Mark Porzio and Ron Luisi took up the slack and did a fine job. Porzio scored both touchdowns and Luisi raced 46 yards on the end of a pass-lateral play to set up the second score.

Raymer had good words for Rick Smith, Kevin Devonshire, Paul Lally, Dave Savage, Mike Eastwick and Steve Gardner in the offensive line.

Defensively, Tony Venturilli and Larry Taglieri had pass interceptions. Eastwick recovered a fumble in Everett territory and Norm Hassan sacked Wallace for a big loss.

Quincy kicked off to open the game and Everett, which scored on four of its first five possessions, drove to its first touchdown with Wallace passing to Bob Dascoli for 34 yards and the score. Fred Veader rushed for the two-point conversion.

On its next possession Wallace finished off another scoring drive with a 16 yard pass to Darren Nicoll.

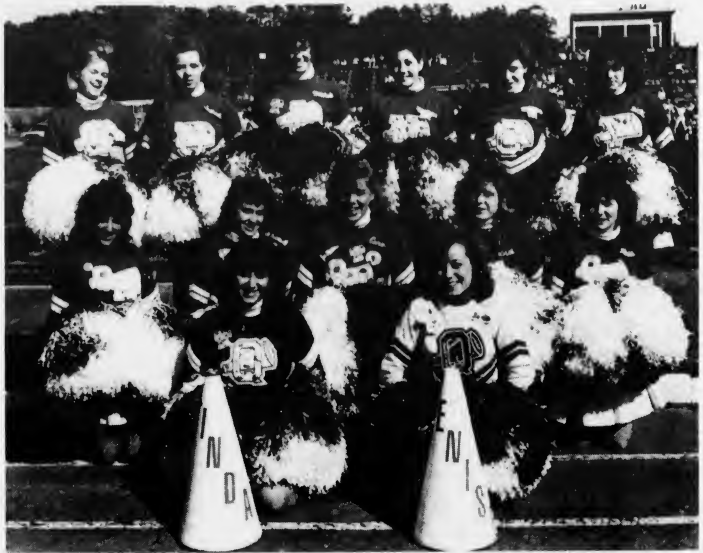

Quincy got on the scoreboard when Porzio ran 27 yards for a score, but a rush for the conversion failed.

Later in the first quarter Everett made it 22-6 when Wallace went five yards on a keeper and Veader again rushed for the two point conversion.

In the second quarter Nicoll took a pass from Wallace for the final Everett touchdown and Quincy scored later in the quarter on a well-executed pass-lateral. Austin hit Don Parry, who lateraled to Luisi. Luisi galloped 46 yards to the four, completing a 55 yard play, and Porzio scored his second touchdown from there.

Raymer felt the officials took another touchdown away from the Presidents late in the game. Austin passed to Parry, who appeared to catch the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

"Don came up with the ball and tossed it to an official and we were ready to try for the conversion," said the Presidents' coach. "But the officials called it a pass interception. It was a late call and I don't see how they ruled it was an interception."

First Ladies Roll Along

There seems to be no stopping the Quincy girls' volleyball team, which continues to roll toward another Suburban League title and, hopefully, another state crown.

The First Ladies, 12-0 overall and 11-0 in the league, met North Quincy yesterday (Wednesday), will host Newton South Monday and will be home to Boston Latin Wednesday. They have won 34 straight matches.

The Quincy girls last Friday defeated Waltham, 2-0 (15-2, 15-5), led by the strong serve of Marlo LeVangie, the hitting of LeVangie and Terry Duggan and the aggressive performance of freshman Amy Guidice.

Earlier in the week the First Ladies topped Brookline, 2-0 (15-5, 15-3) behind the strong setting of Ginny Duggan and the hitting of LeVangie and Lauren Standing.

• Youth Football Elks Sink Sailors Take Over First Place

The West Quincy Elks took over sole possession of first place in the Quincy Youth Football League with a 26-0 victory over the Quantum Sailors last Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium. The Elks improved to 5-1 and the Sailors fell to 4-2.

In the other half of the doubleheader, the Quincy Point Panthers defeated the Houghs Neck Manets, 22-6.

Sunday, the Elks take on the Panthers at 1 p.m. and the Sailors meet the North Quincy Apaches at 2:30.

The Elks scored early when Scott O'Brien swept right end for 22 yards and a touchdown.

After Jim Munroe recovered a Sailors' fumble at midfield, the Elks drove to the Sailors' 37 where, on a second and eight, quarterback Chris Noble bootlegged right and passed to Ryan Hersey for the second score.

The teams exchanged punts at the start of the third quarter and the Elks then took over and drove to their 40, from where O'Brien broke off right tackle and raced 60 yards to the touchdown. Noble passed to Louis Pagnani for the two-point conversion.

After stopping the Sailors, the Elks drove to the Sailor eight from where Noble scored to make the final score 26-0.

The Elks were again led by a swarming defense that produced three sacks, a fumble recovery and an interception. The Elks have not been scored upon in their last three games and have given up just 24 points all season.

Offensively, the Elks were led by O'Brien (over 100 yards rushing and two touchdowns) and Noble (a touchdown pass and a rushing touchdown). All members of the defensive unit stood out against a strong Sailor offensive team led by quarterback Dave Hutchins.

In the other game the Manets struck early, but from then on it was all Panthers.

The Manets kicked off to open the game and the Panthers drove just across midfield but were forced to punt. The Manets took over on their 37 and three plays later a pass was tipped into the hands of Tommy Morrell, who ran for the score.

Brian Taylor took the kickoff, ran to the 42 and scored on the first play from scrimmage for the first of his three touchdowns. Joe Russell passed to Brandon Farrell for the go-ahead two-point conversion.

Jim Sugrue hauled in a Russell pass on the Manets' 18 to open the second quarter. Taylor drove to the 10 and two plays later Taylor scored from the one.

Monte Baker kicked off, then recovered a Manet fumble (the first of his three fumble recoveries) on first down. The Panthers fumbled on fourth down and the ball exchanged hands twice as the half ended with the Panthers up, 14-6.

An interception by the Panthers' Brandon Farrell and the strong play of the Manets' Morrell, Jason Leahy, Jay MacGuinness and Mark Bogan highlighted the third quarter as there was no scoring.

The Panthers opened the final quarter on their own 35. On fourth and one, Taylor galloped 65 yards for the final touchdown. David Santussosso rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Panthers' junior varsity remained unbeaten as they topped the Manet's jayvees, 20-6, last Saturday, led by quarterback Joe Crespi and the two-way performance of Terry Hack. The Panther jayvees meet the Elks Saturday at 10 a.m. at Fore River Field.

Back, Coach Bob McCulley, Dan Overby, Mike Ainsley, Wayne Chambers, Joe Mulvey, T.J. Steen, Billy Bellew and Coaches John Franceschini and John DiNardo.

Police Boy Club Champs Honored At Dinner

The Quincy Police Boys Club baseball team, 1985 Babe Ruth League champions, recently held its annual awards banquet at the Winfield House with players, coaches and parents attending.

The players were presented championship jackets donated by the Quincy Police Department.

Other awards presented by the coaches included:

Mike Jacobacci, best catch of the year; Brian Kelly and Jeff Calvert, 13-year-old all-stars; James Ward, most versatile player; Mike Cronin, Quincy Sun reporter award;

Tom Roberts, 14-year-old all-star; Billy Bellew, Babe Ruth's second worst golfer; Mike Ainsley, largest smile; Wayne Chambers, Babe Ruth's worst golfer; T.J. Steen, 15-year-old all-star and best all-around player; Ricky Ames, unsung hero; Joe Mulvey, Most Valuable Player, and Dan Overby, Babe Ruth gigolo.

The players, coaches and parents thank Dick Laracy for his efforts in helping organize the banquet and also thank Mrs. Stroud and the waitresses for their hospitality.

37th Koch Basketball Season Opens

The Koch Club of Quincy will begin its 37th season of youth basketball Thursday, Nov. 7, at 6:30 p.m. at the Atlantic Junior High School gymnasium on Hollis Ave., North Quincy.

Richard J. Koch, executive director and founder of the organization, stated that boys from 7 through 13 years throughout the city are welcome to join and participate in one of the oldest established privately sponsored recreation programs on the South Shore.

Ages 7 through 9 years are to report at 6:30 p.m. each Thursday evening while 10 to 13 year olds should attend at 7:30 p.m. for their weekly session.

Dues are $1 nightly to members of the basketball program, used to defray the gymnasium custodial costs and must be paid weekly to comply with the rental schedule of the School Department. A registration fee of $2 is to assist in financing the program.

Registration forms will be available at the first session on Nov. 7 and parents must approve the children's application. Following several weeks of practice games, teams will be balanced and assembled for a regular league competition season of play.

There will be no tryouts and each registrant will be actively participate. Organized in 1949 at the original North Quincy High School gym, the Koch Club basketball program has provided over thirty-six years of wholesome leisure enjoyment for thousands of youths from all sections of the city.

Fathers and older brothers of league members are urged to volunteer as coaches and referees in the winter recreation program.

Directing the program will be Simone Joanne Koch assisted by Robert Woods, treasurer; Ed Leary, Tom Bowes, David Barnes and Timothy Healy.

The Broad Meadows and Montclair Districts of the Koch Club terminated their basketball leagues five years ago when the gymnasium hourly cost was increased 400 percent.

Men's Basketball To Start Oct. 28

Barry J. Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will conduct two men's adult basketball programs which will begin on a weekly schedule Monday, Oct. 28 and Wednesday, Oct. 30.

The programs are open to Quincy residents past high school age on a first-come-first-served basis. Pick up teams are established each week for informal play. There is a $2 fee each week payable at the program. This activity continues throughout the winter, except holidays.

The Monday program is at the Atlantic Middle School from 6 - 8 p.m. The Wednesday program is at the Lincoln Hancock Community School from 7 - 9 p.m. Appropriate gym attire is requested and lockers and showers are available. Additional information can be obtained by calling 773-1380, ext. 204.

Jaehnig Club Upsets D.C. South

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club of Quincy upset previously unbeaten D.C. South, 66-53, in the South Shore Sports Center Basketball League.

Jim Timmins scored 10 of his 15 points in the first half to lead Jaehnig to a 16-2 lead, which dwindled to three points at the half.

Jaehnig received strong rebounding from Bob Dacey, who also scored 12 points.

NQHS Football Social Saturday

The North Quincy High School Football Boosters are holding their annual Fall Social Saturday from 8 p.m.

and Chuck Jaehnig, who had 10. Mark Jaehnig had 16 points. Bill Murphy six, Mike Venna five and Dan Jaehnig two.

The standings: D.C. South, 4-1; John Hancock, 4-1; J.B. Heating, 4-1; Jaehnig Club, 3-2; Bank of New England, 3-2; Hawks, 3-2; Volt Busters, 2-3; SSOB, 1-4; Germantown Bangers 1-4, and Weymouth Maroons, 0-5.

McPhee Sees Better Things Ahead Raiders Back In Action At Somerville

By TOM SULLIVAN

With the football season at the midway point, North Quincy is winless in five games, but Coach Ken McPhee sees better things over the second half of the season.

The Raiders were idle last week and they have been working extra hard for their next game against Somerville Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Dilboy Stadium. Somerville is a member of the Greater Boston League.

"Our big problems have been inexperience and inconsistency," said McPhee. "We have looked good in spots but not so good in others. And, when you fall behind early, as we have done, things tend to go wrong for you. But, these kids have never given up and have given me 100 percent and more at all times."

"I honestly feel we will win some games before the season is over. Our offensive line has been improving all the time and we are moving the ball well. In our latest loss to Newton North, we had an edge in every statistic but we gave up the ball four times on fumbles and a pass interception and they scored each time."

Ted Shionis has been the brightest star for the Raiders since being inserted at

CO-CAPT. Ron Bradley is having a fine season and is picking up plenty of yardage for North Quincy.

Quincy Sun photo by Charles Flogg
halfback in the third game. He has been little short of sensational with his excellent running. In his first game at the spot he set a school record with a 98-yard touchdown run from scrimmage.

Marc Smith has also run well as has Gary McNamara, but he has missed two games with injuries.

Chris Gray has had his troubles at quarterback but McPhee said, "He hasn't done as badly as it seems. He has been just great punting and his passing hasn't been that bad. But he has turned the ball over too many times. If he can solve that problem, he could have a good second half."

Defensively several players have done consistently well, including Rob Bradley, Angelo Kapetanakis, nose guard John Ainsley and his freshman brother, Mike Ainsley at linebacker.

Mike is one of three freshmen who have played well all season. The others are Billy MacDougall, a fine wide receiver and defensive back, and Ryan Craig, who plays on the special teams.

"We have an excellent group of juniors who are playing fine ball," said McPhee. They include Smith, Dan Conway, twins Keith and Kevin Segalla, John Pacino, Scott Chansky, Tom Casey and Tom Dolan.

Among those shining in the always-improving offensive line are Ken Kemp, Kevin McCarthy, Ed Bagley, Mike Hugyo, Steve Miller, Mark Bilton and Chuck McGrail.

Following the Somerville game, North goes to Waltham Friday night, Nov. 1, to face one of the top teams in the Suburban League.

Dudek Breaks Second Record, Closes In On Payton's Mark

North Quincy's Joe Dudek broke his second record last Saturday and could break Walter Payton's NCAA all-division scoring mark Saturday when the Plymouth State College football team hosts Bridgewater State.

Two weeks ago Dudek passed Boston University's Paul Lewis as the leading rusher in New England.

• Cross Country

Raiderettes Seek 37th Straight Win

The North Quincy girls' cross country team (4-0) sought its 37th straight dual meet victory yesterday (Wednesday) when it ran at Waltham.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes last Saturday were the top Massachusetts finishers in the Brown University Invitational at Pawtucket, facing teams from Mass., Rhode Island, New York and Maritime Academy, 20-14.

The former North Quincy star scored two touchdowns on an 87 yard gallop and a five yard run to move to within one of Payton's mark of 66. With four games remaining, he is expected to break Payton's mark with plenty to spare before the season is over.

Plymouth State, seeking its fifth New England Conference title in a row, remained tie with Western Connecticut for first place with a 5-1 record (5-2 overall). Bridgewater is right behind with a 4-2 conference mark. Meanwhile, Quincy's Bob Barrett continued his excellent play for Curry College as he threw for 180 yards and a touchdown in the Colonels' 17-0 win over Western New England College.

The junior quarterback completed seven of 12 passes, including four to North Quincy's Jack Brown for 99 yards as Brown continued to be one of Barrett's favorite receivers.

Mike Donovan of Quincy, who two weeks ago sparked with 10 unassisted tackles, had another outstanding defensive game for Curry, which evened its record at 3-3.

North Girls Keep Tourney Hopes Alive

The North Quincy girls' volleyball team kept its state tournament hopes alive last week by defeating Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0 (15-5, 16-14) and Brockton, 2-1 (15-11, 10-15, 15-0). The Raiderettes improved their record to 7-5.

The North girls faced unbeaten Quincy yesterday

(Wednesday), will be home to Brookline Friday and will be at Waltham Monday.

Karen Runge continues to be a force for the Raiderettes in her middle blocking position. She had 11 kills in North's match at Cambridge. Co-Captains Jean Welby and Noreen Connolly also played well in that victory.

Against Brockton, North was led by the setting and defense of Barbara Carroll as well as the hitting of Eileen Campbell and Deirdre Murphy.

Coach Jim Rendle also had the opportunity to offer five freshmen Robin Guilfoyle and Debbie Panaro some valuable varsity experience against Brockton. Another big lift for the Raiderettes has been the return from injuries of Stacy Carvalho and Jill Caldwell.

Tickets Available For Leone

Plans are progressing for the testimonial for retired director of athletics Carl Leone, which will be held Thursday, Nov. 21, at the Lantana in Randolph.

Tickets are now available at the Quincy and North Quincy High School principals' offices and at the office of Director of Athletics Marty Finnegan.

Tickets are $20 each. Posters have been printed and Lou Ioanilli will distribute them to Quincy

Christmas Festival Committee Holding Poster Contest

The Quincy Christmas Festival Committee has distributed information regarding requirements of elementary schools participating in the 1985 Poster Contest.

Students of the nine public schools and four parochial schools have been invited to participate.

Richard J. Koch, poster contest chairman, stated that the theme parade and poster contest for 1985 will be "Visions of Christmas." Any poster larger than 22" x 28" will be disqualified. Name, address, telephone number, grade and school should be written on the back of the poster.

First prize will be a $100 United States Savings Bond; second prize will be a $50 United States Savings Bond. Two sets of winners will be chosen, one in the Grades 1 through 3 category and a second in the Grades 4 through 6 group.

The final date for receiving posters from the schools is Friday, Nov. 15.

It is suggested that teachers in the classrooms participate in selecting the winning poster of the class or allow the children to vote for the outstanding entry from the classroom.

The poster nominated from each classroom will be submitted for final judging by a special committee.

Winners will be announced at the Christmas Lighting Ceremony Friday, Nov. 29, at 7 p.m. at Quincy Center.

Posters may be submitted for final judging at the Park Department Office, 100 Southern Artery, Merry-mount Park. All posters submitted become the property of the Christmas Festival Committee.

George White is general chairman of the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee.

Ghosts, goblins, a maze room, and a mad doctor's operating room are some of the things you will find at Quincy Point Congregational Church, Sunday, Oct. 27, 6 to 8 p.m., when the church's youth group sponsors "A Haunted House."

Witchcraft On 'Psychology Tonight'

Witchcraft, ghosts and the occult are the topic of conversation Dr. Daniel Baer and "Psychology Tonight" host Tim Lynch will be discussing Oct. 30 at 8 p.m. on Quincy Cable Ch. 3.

Baer, professor of psychology and parapsychology at Boston College, and Lynch, will discuss the more esoteric studies of psychology, existence of witches and ghosts, belief systems of witches and the efficacy of spells and extra sensory perception.

The show will have an added feature; test for E.S.P. are given for the viewing audience to try at home.

Several of the classrooms in the church building, located at 444 Washington St., will be transformed into the type found in a haunted house. There will even be a graveyard, special sound effects, and a room of specially created food. Admission is $1 per person. Refreshments will be available in the lower hall.

BRING US YOUR LITTLE GOBLINS OCTOBER 31, AND HELP BENEFIT CHILDFIND.

The Gazette is planning a wicked good Halloween party for children, ages 6 to 10, this Halloween from 6 to 8 p.m. And it's all for a very good cause.

Along with ghouls, goblins and ghosts, there'll be plenty of games and goodies. Like hot dogs and hamburgers. Cookies and cakes.

And every child will get to make his own ice cream sundae. There'll even be entertainment by the Studebaker Movement Theater Company. Admission is $10 per child, with proceeds to benefit Childfind, the national missing children network.

Reservations are required. So call now. Your children will have a great time. And you'll feel a lot better knowing they're safe.

The Gazette is located atop Howard Johnson's Plaza in the State Street South Complex off Newport Ave., North Quincy.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 24

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Intellectual activities are highlighted through this period—you're prepared to handle a host of mental challenges. Romantic situation stabilizes. Financial news brightener arrives by Tuesday.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Good week to balance budgets, meet with accountant and tend to other fiscal chores. If expanding your wardrobe, accent warm and earthy colors. Offbeat ideas may backfire.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

A whimsical approach is important in romance; at work, a tried-and-true technique brings results. You excel in leadership roles; people feel privileged as you delegate tasks.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Creative entertaining is the theme of the week. If hosting a party or a meeting, you bring that special flair for which you're renowned. One caution: don't promise more than you can handle.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

You're bustling with offbeat ideas; select the brightest and put them into action before they begin to fade. This is a favorable week for campaigning, for dieting, for budgeting.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Supper bulletins keep you on your toes for much of the week. Relationship works well on an intellectual level as you and partner try to solve the world's problems.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Budget may need some revision—this is not the week to take financial short-cuts. Your enthusiasm is contagious and can bring you in contact with an interesting new friend.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Extravagant streak surfaces and friends delight in your generosity. Avoid people who tend to make your spirits sag. Professional idea is bright but needs some development.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Rely now on an even mixture of brains and charm; you can take a giant step in an academic pursuit. Older friend looks to you for creative and meaningful ideas.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Family misunderstanding may be cleared up by the weekend. Romance and friendship take a temporary back seat to financial affairs and other matters of a practical variety.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Leave the door open for discussion, especially when older relatives are involved. Recent idea may bring a modest payoff. More initiative leads to career advances.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Week includes a potpourri of activities that may range from highly cultural events to new recreational pastimes. In romance, the accent is on a lighthearted approach.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You have a reputation of being both passionate and mysterious; you may forgive but you never forget. Powers of concentration are remarkable and your inner strength has helped you overcome crises. Career path may take an interesting turn early in '86. A romantic cycle begins shortly thereafter.

BORN THIS WEEK

October 24th, comedian Art Burns; 25th, singer Helen Reddy; 26th, actress Jaclyn Smith; 27th, actress Ruby Dee; 28th, actress Jane Alexander; 29th, singer Melba Moore; 30th, actor Henry Winkler.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

BE SMART FROM THE START

QUESTION: I have a pretty good reputation as a salesman in the garment business. Why shouldn't I sell my own home?

ANSWER: Salesmanship is a very small part of the Realtor's value. It's his knowledge in the intricate field of property and financing and the ability to bring qualified prospects to see your home that really counts.

If pocketing a broker's commission tempts you, ask yourself if you can afford to let an amateur handle a transaction that involves thousands of dollars. Your dollars! When you want a job done well, you call a specialist. This is standard practice for successful businessmen... why buck success?

SELL YOUR HOME through a Realtor and you'll get the best price and fewest problems

Joint Hearing On QCH PUD Permit

The City Council and Planning Board will hold a joint public hearing Monday, Nov. 18, regarding application for a Planned Unit Development permit for the Quincy City Hospital Replacement Project.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

Councillor John Lydon, in whose ward the hospital is located, suggested the council show its cooperative effort in holding the meeting as soon as possible.

Before the council voted Oct. 7 to rezone the hospital site PUD, which gives it more control over plans, hospital officials had expressed the fear that the process would cost time and money.

Because of legal advertising requirements and the Veterans Day holiday, the council recommended Nov. 18 as the meeting date.

Council president James Sheets said the regular agenda will be kept "very, very limited" to allow time for the hearing on the hospital.

Woman Assaulted, Pocketbook Stolen

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off laundry costs
with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories
before you eat them?
Take control with
a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

58-60% Turnout Seen

A 58 to 60 per cent voter turnout is predicted for the Nov. 5 election which will have Mayor Francis McCauley, seeking his third term, challenged by Joanne Condon, a four-term city councillor from Ward 6.

"That percentage is a little below average for a city election with a contest-for-mayor," said City Clerk John Gillis.

"If you don't have many ward fights, you don't get the interest," he noted.

"In the six wards, four councillors have no opposition. There are ward contests in Wards 3 and Ward 6 only.

Gillis expects to have all the results in by 10 p.m.

McCauley, piled up a 3,479 vote margin over Condon in the preliminary election, with 30 per cent of the city's 46,297 registered voters going to the polls.

McCauley polled 8,121 votes to Condon's 4,642.

She has her work cut out for her to come back from that showing.

The race for three councillor-at-large seats is a rematch of the 1983 contest with Ron Iacobucci again the lone challenger running against three incumbents.

Two years ago Richard Koch, Jr., topped the field with 11,081 votes; Joseph LaRaia was second with 10,533; Patricia Toland third with 9,476 and Iacobucci, 8,437 — 1,039 behind Toland.

Mrs. Toland is now the only woman running for a city-council seat.

In Ward 3, chemist Howard A. MacKay, 19 Ardell St., in his first try at public office, is challenging incumbent John J. Lydon Jr., 40 Adams Circle.

Squantum appears to be the major battleground for the Ward 6 seat being vacated by Condon.

Vying for the seat are Thomas Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., and Thomas J. Nutley, 235 Billings St.

In the preliminary election, Koch edged Nutley by 57 votes.

The two Squantum candidates who lost in the preliminary election in Ward 6 have taken sides for the final.

Richard Sheridan has endorsed Thomas Koch and John Walsh is backing Thomas Nutley.

It may be the first time in the city's history that the names of two brothers, Richard Koch, Jr., and Thomas Koch, have appeared on the same election ballot.

Re-elected before the first ballot is cast are Ward 1 Councillor Michael T. Cheney; Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro; Ward 4 Councillor James A. Steets and Ward 5 Councillor Stephen J. McGrath who are all running unopposed.

Challengers Margaret Nigro, 245 Winthrop St., and Frank C. Santoro, 80 Haviland St., will vie for the School Committee seats held by Mary P. Collins, Joan C. Picard and Nicholas C. Verenis.

Gillis said he is not anticipating any problems with the city's punch card ballots which were initiated in the preliminary election.

"Everything worked fine in the preliminary," he said "and I see no reason it shouldn't work well in the final.

"We'll have demonstrators at each of the polling places," he added, "so if anyone needs help, the demonstrators will take care of it."

The polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

to a company.

The six appointed brings to 174 the number of firefighters in the department; six short of the total complement.

The mayor is asking for another list as soon as possible so those remaining spaces can be filled.

Mayor's Campaign

11th Hour Developments Heat Up Race

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Both mayoral candidates were beset with 11th hour campaign developments which may or may not affect the outcome of next Tuesday's election.

As the campaign came down the homestretch, Mayor Francis McCauley was defending personal real estate transactions and Joanne Condon was explaining alleged delinquent auto excise taxes.

Councillor Condon said that, to the best of her knowledge, she doesn't owe money for auto excise taxes.

McCauley said he saw nothing wrong with his conducting private real estate transactions with his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley.

Foley, has been in the real estate business for 15 years and is co-owner of Century 21 real estate office in Quincy.

Public officials are not prohibited from investing in real estate, but they risk conflict of interest if they engage in business transactions with their subordinates," said Colin Diver, chairman of the State Ethics Commission.

Diver stressed that he was not commenting specifically on the Quincy case, and noted that whether there are violations in the case depends on the circumstances.

McCauley said he bought a six-unit apartment building in Wollaston from Foley in

FRANCIS MCCAULEY

JOANNE CONDON

1983 for $130,000. To help finance his daughter's college education, he sold it back to Foley in 1984 and made a $90,000 profit.

McCauley later bought a four-family house for $140,000.

The first transaction was financed with a $100,000 loan from Granite Cooperative Bank and $30,000 from Foley.

The second transaction was financed with a $112,000 mortgage from Granite Cooperative and a loan of $28,000 from Foley.

Other members of his administration, Peter Kenney, his executive secretary, and City Solicitor Joseph MacRitchie, as well as Sen. Paul Harold, have also invested in several properties throughout the city.

According to records at the Registry of Deeds, they and members of their families have formed seven real estate trusts that have acquired some $3 million worth of property.

Nearly all of the money involved in the transactions have come in loans from three Quincy banks.

"These were private transactions, they didn't involve city property," said McCauley. "There were no attempts at abatements or zoning changes."

McCauley said he doesn't plan to buy more property, but that decision is not based on recent reports of the real estate transactions.

FRIGHTFUL FACES LIKE these will be a common sight around Quincy tonight (Thursday), as children venture forth in their Halloween trick-or-treat quest. Actually there is little to fear from Joey Dorsey, Kevin Nichol, and David Bogan of Cub Scout Pack 6 who were attending a pre-Halloween Eve party at the Houghs Neck Community Church.

Six Firefighters To Be Sworn In Friday

The Quincy Fire Department will come up to near full strength Friday, when six, possibly seven new recruits will be sworn in at a 10 a.m. City Hall ceremony.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti will attend the ceremony as Clerk John Gillis swears in Paul Burke, Ralph Blight, John Cadegan, James Devlin, Michael McGunagle, and Robert Pettinelli.

The seventh appointment will be announced pending a medical report.

The new recruits report Nov. 9 to the academy for training before being assigned

Boy Finds Jewelry Believed Stolen In Robbery

Boxes containing miscellaneous jewelry allegedly stolen in an armed robbery in Rhode Island were found by an 11-year-old boy in West Quincy.

The boy told police that he found two boxes in a dumpster in the rear of an apartment building across from 34 Schlager Ave.

One case contained lighting with Sammartino Jewelry Stationery in it, according to police, and another box contained jewelry with other literature in it.

More items were still left in the dumpster and more lights were found on a trail in the rear of the dumpster, police said.

Walter Sammartino, of Sammartino Jewelry, Cranston, R.I., said the articles were taken in an armed robbery at a Providence Hotel Jewelry Show.

Chuck Wagon To Be Chinese Restaurant

By LINDA WILKINS

Instead of roast beef, patrons of Chuck Wagon Restaurant, 656 Washington St., Quincy, will soon be able to order Chinese food.

The city's Licensing Board voted at its meeting Tuesday to grant a common victualer license to Ivy Ng of Boston and Saundy Chin of Brookline. The license was granted with the stipulation that they not erect a sign without approval from the building department and that the building pass inspection by the city's fire, building, and health departments.

The new restaurant's name will be Kowloon Bay. Ng and Chin will be leasing the building from David Chew, who also owns the Dairy Queen located adjacent to Chuck Wagon.

"There will be seating for 36 people and there is more than sufficient parking," said Atty. Henry Levin, who represented Ng and Chin at the meeting.

Levin said Ng and Chin both have experience in the restaurant business.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro was present at the meeting to voice his concerns about liquor at the establishment, but Levin said his clients were not requesting a license to serve alcohol.

"I have no objections then and am happy to hear they're not going to apply for a liquor license," DeCristofaro said.

Third Last Ship At GD Christened

The third of five Quincy-designed Maritime Pre-positioning Ships (MPS) to be built under the last contract awarded by the Navy to General Dynamics shipyard was christened Saturday.

The completion of the 22,700-ton 1st Lt. Baldomero Lopez, the new military cargo ship, means only two more ships will be constructed at the Quincy yard before it closes in May.

The ship's namesake, Marine 1st Lt. Baldomero Lopez was from Tampa, Fla. He was 25 when he was killed in Korea in 1950 during the invasion of Inchon. He was posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for smothering a hand grenade with his body during the beachhead assault, sparing the lives of his men.

The ship's sponsor was Lopez' sister-in-law, Mrs. Jose P. Lopez, also of Tampa, Fla., who had tears in her eyes as she broke the champagne bottle on the bow of the ship. When the bottle broke, balloons were sent aloft and the navy band played "Anchors Aweigh."

General Dynamics Corporation's Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors Stanley Pace and U.S. Congressman John P. Murtha of Pennsylvania watched the christening efforts of Mrs. Lopez.

The Rev. Joseph J. Downey, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Quincy Point, blessed the ship moments before it was christened.

But for the 250 local residents and shipyard workers on hand, it was a somber ceremony. The completion of the Lopez means only two more ships left to build before the yard closes in May.

The mission of this type of vessel is to provide support for the U.S. Rapid Deployment Force. Stationed at forward bases in regions of potential crisis and fully loaded with military cargoes, they will be ready at all times to get underway. With nearly four acres of cargo space on seven decks, each MPS vessel can deliver the ammunition, fuel, supplies and equipment needed by one-quarter of a Marine Amphibious Brigade of roughly 3,000 men.

The Lopez will join her sister ships, the 2nd Lt. John P. Bobo and PFC. Dewayne T. Williams, both products of Quincy shipbuilding, and already in service.

Shipyard spokesperson Evelyn Murphy said about 3,400 workers are still employed at the shipyard, down from a high of 6,000. Officials project the work force will dwindle to about 650 by next April and to 150 in December 1986.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off
laundry costs
with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories
before you eat them?
Take control with
a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

Hopes Italy, U.S. Breach Only Temporary

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
As an Italian-American, I am upset that the recent Arcile Lauro hijacking has led to a breach in relations, hopefully only temporary,
with our Italian allies.

It is unfortunate that this terrorist action led to the fall of the Craxi government, one of the longest running governments to rule in the last forty years.

There is a famous truism that in the world of politics, there is no such thing as permanent friends, just permanent interests. When push comes to shove, nations will protect themselves first as they should and as was expected by Prime Minister Bettino Craxi in the way he handled the "arrest" of Abul Abbas.

I can understand why Italy did what she did because Italy has been working out a relationship with the Arab world. Yasser Arafat and the P.L.O. The U.S. to date has expected direct terrorist activity in the way Italy and other western European nations have been hit.

Italy and the United States have had a 40-year history of mutual friendship. Both of us are important NATO partners and the Italian experience in America is strong, with some 50 million Americans claiming Italian ancestry.

I hope the next Italian government will be able to work with the Reagan Administration and strengthen our mutual ties. Western nations have to stick together because it is in our national interests.

I believe the best interests of the United States would be to cultivate good relations with both the Israeli government as well as with the Arab world which includes Arafat and the P.L.O. as well as a moderate
Arab factions.

The hijacking of an Italian cruise ship on the high seas is an Italian matter but international terrorism is international in scope.

I hope that the United States and Italy will work through this current problem situation and work together better in the future when a similar crisis occurs as it will may.

Fitting Tribute To McIntyre

Old City Hall will get a new look and a new name Sunday.

At 2 p.m. ceremonies, the historic 141-year-old building will be officially dedicated the "James R. McIntyre Government Center."

A granite marker will be affixed to the outside front of the structure — Quincy's seat of government since 1844 — in his honor.

It will be placed at the top part of the second floor just above the words City Hall.

An appropriate bronze plaque will also be unveiled at the street front entrance for future generations to know who Jim McIntyre was.

For those of us who did know him, it is hard to think that someday there will be people in Quincy who won't. He played such a major role in his city's politics and government.

McINTYRE

"He moved with foresight and insight while others stumbled and fell over hindsight."

For many who really knew Jim McIntyre, and were close to him, the dedication ceremony will be a bittersweet experience.

They will be pleased to witness this rare honor to his memory. But it will be painful for them to remember that his life was so short.

McIntyre died March 7, 1984 of a heart attack in the recovery room at Massachusetts General Hospital after undergoing surgery unrelated to the attack. He was 53.

He was only 25 when he made his first run for office while still a law student in 1955 and was elected to the then Plan E City Council.

BURGIN

It was a spectacular start for a youngster. He was the third highest vote-getter behind two long-time popular political figures — Thomas Burgin and Amelio Della Chiesa.

He was elected state representative in 1958, state senator in 1964 and mayor in 1965, succeeding Della Chiesa.

Safety Tips For Trick Or Treating

Children in Quincy will be trick or treating for Halloween, and Police Safety Officer Anthony Pollara joins AAA Massachusetts in reminding motorists to be on the alert.

Youngsters will be walking the streets thinking about fun, not safety, said Pollara. "This puts an added burden on drivers who need to be especially careful when driving in residential areas."

Pollara and AAA have this advice for parents to help make this Halloween safe for their children.

- The most important thing is visibility. Make sure your children can see and be seen. If the children must be out at night, they should wear light colored costumes, preferably outlined in reflective tape.

- A flashlight will not only allow them to light their path, it will serve as a warning to oncoming motorists.

- Face masks can reduce peripheral vision. An alternative is makeup.

- If a face mask is necessary, make sure the children know to take off the mask before crossing the street.

- Make sure a parent, older brother or sister, or guardian goes with the children when they trick or treat.

- Be sure children travel in groups rather than alone.

- Plan the trick or treat route ahead of time. Pick streets that are well-lighted.

- Cross the streets at corners, never from between cars.

- If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.

- Wait until getting home to sort, check, and eat treats.

Team work between parents, drivers and children can help make a safe Halloween, reminded AAA and Pollara.

He served as mayor and senator simultaneously until 1971 when he was named senator counsel, the post he held until his death.

The counsel job took him out of the political spotlight but not out of politics. He remained a dominant political figure — in the background.

DELLA CHIESA

Just about every young person thinking of running for political office sought his advice first. And veteran office holders sought his counsel, too.

Jim McIntyre had charisma by the pound and at his fighting weight, that was a lot of charisma.

He was as much at ease with a President as he was with a precinct level envelope stuffer.

He certainly was one of the brightest political stars in the city's history, and one of the most intelligent.

That intelligence was wrapped in good old common sense.

He moved with foresight and insight while others stumbled and fell over hindsight.

He was a good family man.

He liked people and they liked him. He knew most of them by first name. He was Jimmy or Jim to them.

He never lost the one big success ingredient: the common touch.

It is appropriate that old City Hall will now be the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

McIntyre loved that old building. Some of his happiest political years were spent there.

He was a history buff. He could tell you that John Quincy Adams, II served as moderator at town meetings in the second floor hall when Quincy was a town and where years later McIntyre served as a City Councillor.

And, of course, another he could tell you from that illustrious family — Charles Francis Adams served as mayor and later became Secretary of the Navy under President Herbert Hoover.

Jim McIntyre could also tell you that old City Hall was designed by famed architect Solomon Willard who received $280 for drawing the plans and supervising the construction.

He could tell you it cost exactly $19,115.93 to build.

And, probably that figure included 88 cents paid to a John Briesler for lead to seal the chimney.

There will be a few tears at the Nov. 3 dedication. But there will be a lot more smiles as Jim McIntyre is fondly remembered by those who knew him.

More smiles because Jim McIntyre is really still here. And will be as long as there is a City Hall in Quincy.

$1,000 To $10,000

Fine For Illegal Rubbish Disposal

Persons who dispose of trash or rubbish illegally may now be fined up to $1,000 for a first offense and up to $10,000 for a subsequent offense, State Sen. Paul D. Harold warns.

Under a new law now in effect, the fines have been greatly increased, according to Harold. Formerly, the maximum fine for a first offense was $200, and for a second offense, $1,000, he said.

Sen. Harold noted that the broadly-worded law on illegal disposal prohibits placing, throwing, depositing, or discharging any trash, rubbish, garbage "or any other material or any kind."

- On a public highway or within 20 yards thereof, or
- on any public land, or
- in or upon coastal or inland waters, or within 10 yards of such water, or
- on the property of another.

The law also applies to anyone who "causes" any such material to be illegal disposed, so that it would apply to anyone who orders or encourages another to do so, according to Harold.

Sen. Harold noted that the law also empowers the court to order the defendant to remove such material at his own expense.

Austin Expected To Top Plan E Vote For Council

Mrs. Edna B. Austin, the only woman in the race and the only woman ever to serve on the City Council, was favored to top the field of 31 candidates in Quincy's second Plan E. election.

A strong supporter of Plan E, she finished fifth in the voting two years before behind Thomas S. Burgin, Carl W. Anderson, David J. Crowley and Amelio Della Chiesa.

Anderson, Crowley and Della Chiesa were in the race again but Burgin, who served as mayor in the first Plan E government, had decided to retire from city politics after nearly 30 years.

Other candidates included Irving N. Allen, William A. Anderson, Louis K. Badger, James Barnett, Frederick W. Carson, J. Frederick Cutler, Robert E. Duke, Kenneth G. Gardner, John Gillis, Thomas J. Gilmartin, Alfred G. Helfrich, Richard J. Koch, John Kolson, Thomas M. Maloney.

L. Paul Marini, Joseph P. McDonough, David S. McIntosh, Frank N. Orcutt, Mario J. Praderio, Lawrence J. Purtell Jr., Ernest W. Ricker, Guy R. Sargent, James A. Shannon, Herbert A. Shaughnessy, George C. Smith Jr., Vernon C.M. Whitman and Robert A. Zottoli.

FRAZIER STARS IN QUINCY WIN

Gerry Frazier, a 144-pound senior halfback, scored three touchdowns on runs of 51, 54 and 84 yards to lead the Quincy High School football team to a 33-7 victory over Chelsea at the Stadium.

Coach Munroe MacLean operated with two backfields made up of Vin Salvucci, Walter Ojala, Henry Carlson and Gerry Frazier and Matt Pollara, Bob Derbes, Ronald Walker and Owen Lake.

TANKERS KEEL LAID

Keel was laid at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River Shipyard for the second of two 28,000-ton tankers to be built for the Gulf Oil Co.

Currently under construction at the Yard were four merchant ships and two super destroyers. Also the cruiser Northampton was being converted into a task force command ship.

"PRESERVING" YOUR FAMILY'S HEALTH

Q: My family loves the homemade jams and jellies I make every year. But as I'm pouring all that sugar into the recipe, I wonder how good it is for my family. Is sugar really so harmful to their health?

A: October is filled with an abundant array of delicious fruits and berries just waiting to be made into jams and jellies. These preserves can be loaded with refined sugars. This sugar lacks nutritional value, contains no vitamins or minerals and is a contributing factor to obesity.

This year, you can use your home cooking to control your family's consumption of sugar. The following recipe allows you to enjoy the luxury of preserves while avoiding sugar-laden calories:

2 cups berries
1 cup water
1 package unflavored gelatin
Artificial liquid sweetener, 3 shakes
Crush berries. Combine with water and gelatin. Add sweetener. Boil for one minute. Pour into hot jars and seal. Place jars in boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Cool and store.

If you are interested in other healthful ideas for yourself and your family, call your local Diet Center at 778-3442.

QHS Seniors Named Commended Students

Seven seniors from Quincy named Commended Students High School have been in a national merit scholarship program.

School principal Lloyd H. Hill said the following students: Richard L. Armstrong, Catherine R.

Buckley, Samuel T. Connolly, Michael E. Gary, Kevin J. Jolley, Stacie G. Nigro, and Renee F. Picard will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of over one million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

According to a spokesperson for the merit scholarship program, "being named a Commended Student in the extremely competitive program is a credit to these young men and women and to their schools, which play an important role in the development of academically talented youth."

Obituaries

Teodoro Pugliesi, 90 Retired Coppersmith

A funeral Mass for Teodoro Pugliesi, 90, of Quincy, will be celebrated at 10 a.m. today (Thursday) in St. Joseph's Church, Quincy.

Mr. Pugliesi, a retired coppersmith at Bethlehem Steel Co., Quincy, died Oct. 28 at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

A native of Rome, Italy, Mr. Pugliesi came to the United States when he was 16 and lived in Quincy most of his life.

He worked 46 years for Bethlehem Steel and was a member of the Bethlehem Steel Old Timers Club.

Mr. Pugliesi was a charter member of the Quincy Eagles Lodge No. 1180.

Husband of the late Elide (Paolinelli) Pugliesi, he is survived by three sons, Joseph Pugliesi and Salvatore Pugliesi, both of Quincy, and Victor Pugliesi of Milton; four daughters, Marion Phipps of California, Laura Fowles and Angela Carroll, both of Quincy, and Nancy Tucci of Weymouth, 11 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Bolca-Bunfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St., Quincy.

Joseph Rinaldi, 90, Former City Foreman

A funeral Mass for Joseph Rinaldi, 90, of Quincy was celebrated Oct. 26 in St. John's Church.

He died Oct. 24, at the Robin House Nursing Home after a long illness.

Mr. Rinaldi was a former foreman for the city highway department, which he served for 34 years before retiring in 1965.

He was a member of the South Quincy Bocce Club.

Born in Monte San Angelo, Italy, Mr. Rinaldi came to America in 1913.

He is survived by his wife, Anna Rinaldi; two nephews, two nieces, one grandnephew and two grandnieces.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Elizabeth Maher, 60

A funeral Mass for Elizabeth (Kunz) Maher, 60, of Houghs Neck, was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in the Blessed Sacrament Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Maher, a member of the Sodality of Blessed Sacrament Church, died at her home after a brief illness. She was a Quincy resident for 31 years.

She is survived by her husband, Stanislaus Maher; three sons, Douglas Maher, Frank Maher and Richard Maher, all of Quincy; four daughters, Margaret Zenker of Marshfield, Elizabeth Sacco of Rockland, and Diane Maher and Maureen Maher, both of Quincy; two sisters, Marie Goldie and Eileen Dedian, both of Quincy; her mother-in-law, Margaret Maher of California; and seven grandchildren.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Wollaston.

Henry J. Lamb Sr., 73, Credit Association Executive

A funeral Mass for Henry Lamb Sr., 73, of Quincy, was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in Sacred Heart Church, Quincy.

Mr. Lamb, a former chief executive officer of New England Association of Credit Executives, died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

He started as an office boy and worked in all departments during his 53 years with New England Association of Credit Executives Inc. He worked in the interchange department, was assistant manager and manager of the collection department, inaugurated the computer system in the credit department and was executive vice president. He retired in 1979.

Mr. Lamb was the only person in the New England area to serve the firm 50 years and in that group nationally. He was a former chairman of the Secretary Managers Executive Council.

Born in Boston, he was graduated from Jamaica Plain High School and lived in Quincy 36 years.

He is survived by his wife, Marguerite T. (Mullen) Lamb; a son, Henry J. Lamb Jr. of Quincy and Bourne; a daughter, Linda S. Murphy of Scituate; a sister, Anna Curran of Weymouth, and two grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Benedict Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Genevieve M. Hack, 74

A funeral Mass for Genevieve M. (Flavin) Hack, 74, of Quincy, was held Oct. 28 at Our Lady of Good Council Church, Merrymount.

Mrs. Hack, a life long resident of Quincy, died Oct. 25, in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

Wife of the late Louis W. Hack, she is survived by a son, Paul F. Hack of Weymouth; two brothers, Edward M. Flavin and George V. Flavin, both of Quincy; a sister, Kathleen J. Smith of Quincy; and two grandchildren.

She was a secretary for Flavin and Flavin Real Estate and Insurance Co. for 35 years, and retired from that firm last year.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by The Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to the Jimmy Fund, 44 Binney St., Boston 02115.

Szaja (Sam) Lefman, 74

Funeral services for Szaja (Sam) Lefman, 74, of Wollaston, were held Oct. 26 at Levine Briss Funeral Home, Randolph.

Mr. Lefman, a native of Poland and survivor of the holocaust, died Oct. 24, in New England Sinai Hospital, Stoughton, after a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Annie Shafer; a son, Leonard Lefman of Wollaston; a daughter, Barbara Pally of Wollaston; a nephew, Henry Lefman of Wellesley, and two grandchildren.

Mr. Lefman was a long time resident of Wollaston and a retired employee of the rubber industry.

Memorial observance was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Pally of Wollaston.

Memorial donations may be sent to a favorite charity.

Blood Pressure

Screenings At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital will conduct a free blood pressure screening for the general public Tuesday, Nov. 5, 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. in the Ambulatory Care Department.

The screenings, performed by nursing staff, will enable individuals to keep track of their blood pressure, and be aware of dangerous elevations in the pressure.

Persons in need of referral to a physician, will be advised to do so.

The screenings, which will take place on the first and third Tuesday of every month, are free of charge.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

We all have the right to believe in ourselves, that we are important and have something to give. The fact is that when a person loses his sense of a good self-image... faith in himself, he loses some of the most important driving powers in life.

What is the mental image of yourself that you carry around in your head? Is it a good or bad image? Unfortunately, too many persons have bad images of themselves. They are constantly fighting themselves. Their false image of themselves often frustrates them and prevents them from being the happy and creative persons they could be. On the other hand, persons who have good images of themselves are putting their natural talents to work harmoniously.

So, wouldn't today be a good day to size up your abilities objectively, to regain faith in yourself, and bring that self-image into line with the real truth about yourself? Namely, that you are not so bad a person after all... Do this today and this could be the best day of your life...

$1,287,051 Grant For Point Pump Station

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces today that the City of Quincy has received federal and state grants from the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, Division of Water Pollution Control, totalling $1,287,051.

The grant money will be used for the modification of the Quincy Point Pump Station and the construction of a Relief Interceptor, McCauley said.

This project will help eliminate the Quincy Point area sewer backups and residents will have the benefit of a new odor control system which will be installed at the same time, he said.

Sewer backups in Wollaston and North Quincy will also be alleviated when this project is completed by diverting flows away from the already overburdened Merrymount Pump Station.

The mayor said the total grant is broken down into: the federal grant, $684,896, the state grant, $602,155, and the local share, $423,471.

The mayor further added that the project would be put out for bids very shortly and the work on the project could be under construction by next spring.

Quincy Man Attends Army Readiness Meeting

CSM Michael F. Connolly of 10 Ashland St., West Quincy, an Individual Mobilization Augmentee (IMA) of the U.S. Army, met in St. Louis, MO, recently with other top noncommissioned officers to discuss mobilization readiness issues.

Connolly shared ideas and experiences with other active reservists and top enlisted soldiers from major U.S.

Army commands in the event of a national emergency.

Others attending the conference included Individual Ready Reservists (IRR), a larger force than IMA, they train annually with various active and reserve units to keep up their military skills. In an emergency they would be the main source of experienced manpower to augment the active Army.

South Quincy Gasoline Storage Request Withdrawn

After reviewing complaints from neighbors of a prospective automobile repair business at 94 Franklin St., South Quincy, the Licensing Board has allowed Richard McKenzie of East Wareham to withdraw without prejudice a request to store 165 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of vehicles at that location.

Without the license, McKenzie cannot operate a repair business.

According to Atty. Louis Cassis, who represented McKenzie at the meeting, the section of the building McKenzie planned to lease for his repair shop has not been used for one year.

There were, however, problems between the business previously located there and abutters.

"The residents of the area, when motorcycles were being repaired there before, had to put up with a lot. To put motorcycles back in that shop would be a terrible injustice to the people who live in the area," said Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro, who was present at the meeting to represent the neighborhood and speak out in opposition of the license being granted.

Neighbors present at the meeting said they often found batteries, wheels, fenders and hub caps strewn about their yards when Nick's Foreign Car Service, the previous patron, was in operation.

One abutter, in a letter to the board, complained of a constant fear neighbors had of prowlers and thieves using their property to steal motorcycles and parts from the car service shop. The letter also stated that neighbors were annoyed by the noise and smell of the vehicles.

"The point here is, the neighbors have had some peace and quiet and I don't think it (an automobile repair shop) should go back in there again since it's so close to the neighbors," DeCristofaro said.

"The patrons before may have abused this property, but we'll do everything we can to make sure that doesn't happen," said Cassis. Cassis added that the issue before the board was not zoning, but a gas storage permit.

"We want to work with the neighbors to alleviate the problems of the past and make sure there are none in the future," he said.

But Police Chief and board member Francis Finn told Cassis that board also has to look at a business' impact on a neighborhood.

"The neighbors have lived with this for years. This is the only time the board can stop this," said City Clerk John Gillis, Chairman of the License Board.

Quincy Woman Among Five To Be Honored

Peg Long of Quincy will be among five persons to be honored at an awards ceremony of the Friends of South Shore Rehabilitation Center, Nov. 13 at the John F. Kennedy Library, Dorchester.

She will receive the Residential Award for her outstanding progress in developing community living skills and independence while enrolled in the residential program of the Quincy-based rehabilitation center.

The awards ceremony is held to raise funds for programs to employ the disabled.

In addition to the five persons being honored, awards will be given to businesses and a foundation who have made a significant contribution to the support of the disabled in Massachusetts.

According to Sue Karant, spokespersons for the center, the awards ceremony will begin at 6:30 p.m. This year's hosts will again be television anchors Natalie Jacobson and Chet Curtis.

Marina Bay Meeting

The developers of Marina Bay will meet with Squantum residents Thursday, Nov. 7 to explain their plans for the 74 acres overlooking Boston Harbor.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on the second floor of Amelia's Restaurant at Marina Bay. It is open to families living in Squantum and residents living in the Marina Bay complex.

Construction of 225 additional condominiums, a six-story office building and shops are planned over the next two years at the site.

The long-range plan is to include nearly 1000 housing units, 850,000 square feet of office space and a 300-room hotel.

Gas Station Robbery

An attendant at the Adams St. Arco Station was robbed of about $100 by a man who said he had a gun.

Owen McEleny of West Quincy told police a man came into the station and asked for a lug wrench.

When no one else was around, he told McEleny to give him money and that he had a gun, police said.

McEleny, who said he never saw the gun, gave the money to the man who ordered him to get down on the floor.

The man appeared to flee on Connell St., said McEleny who described the robber as in his 20s, 5', 9" tall, 160 pounds with black, shoulder-length wavy hair, wearing a blue jacket and jeans.

MDC Buying 21 Acres Of Quarry Land

By
NANCY McLAUGHLIN
"It is one of the most significant events to occur in West Quincy in the last decade," said City Council President James Sheets of the Metropolitan District Commission's plan to buy 21 acres of quarry in that section of Quincy.

The plan, which Gov. Michael Dukakis is scheduled to announce today (Thursday), was discussed Monday by Environmental Control Commission chairman Leo Kelly, Planning Director James Lydon and Mayor Francis McCauley at a City Hall news conference.

The MDC will buy the Granite Rail and Little Granite Rail quarries and make them part of the Blue Hills Reservation, they said. Sheets, in whose ward the quarries are located, aid the 21 acres, combined with 183 acres the city purchased recently from the Ruscitto estate and 65-70 acres which he hopes the MDC will acquire, will be in excess of 260 acres.

"That means diminished intensity of development that can occur in that area," said Sheets, "and that's extremely important as we look at the direction in which the city is going - our efforts to try and control development as much as possible."

"That area is going to become part of the Blue Hills Reservation," Sheets continued, "it's going to become a passive recreation area and I think that is equally significant.

"We have located close to the Granite Rail Quarry, which is being purchased by the MDC, the first commercial railroad site, an outstanding historical site."

"The problem we have had with maintaining that site is that it is an isolated location and isn't tied to any other historical site in that area."

"This acquisition, along with the additional acreage, is going to possibly allow us to connect the Granite Railway with the Granite Rail Quarry, and enable us to preserve the history of that area."

"Also as part of our effort, we're going to be able to preserve the Lyon's Turning Mill."

"The acquisition is extremely important and bodes well for the future of West Quincy," said Sheets, who praised the work of MDC Commr. William Geary, among others.

Kelly, a former city councillor, agreed that this is "a big step forward for the people of West Quincy and a great step forward for the people of Quincy."

"When you can acquire, in a year's time, 200 acres of open space and have an additional chance of acquiring another 100 acres, that's almost 300 acres of land in one area so significantly tied in to the history of Quincy," Kelly said. Lydon said, "it's a very, very significant point that elected and appointed officials in the city of Quincy are maintaining for the citizenry a certain quality of life."

McCauley noted the commitment by the city to "balance off economic development, which is important, with open space and the quality of life, which is equally important."

Improvement Council Has Openings

Anyone interested in serving on the Quincy Public Schools Improvement Councils should contact Wilfred Nolan, Director of Elementary and Middle School Education, 70 Coddington St.

The Public School Improvement Act, Chapter 188 of the Acts of 1985, has established at each school within the city a School Improvement Council for the expenditure of monies designated under this act.

One of the members of each school council is a community representative appointed by the school committee, and the only requirement for such an appointment is that the representative not have children in the school to which he or she is appointed.

Q-Vote Endorses Santoro

Frank Santoro, candidate for a seat on the Quincy School Committee, announces that a city political action group has endorsed his candidacy.

According to Santoro, the board of directors of Q-Vote, a group comprised of Quincy parents and teachers interested in educational issues, unanimously endorsed his candidacy.

Two years ago, Santoro, in his bid for a seat on the board, fell 44 votes short of winning. In that election he did not have the Q-Vote endorsement.

In a campaign statement Santoro reports that Paul Phillips, chairman of the board of that political action group, said: "Frank Santoro has shown the teachers in this city an unequivocal commitment to education. He has earned our respect through his role as president of the Citywide Parents' Council, and we unanimously endorse him because of the positive changes he has initiated in the Quincy public schools."

"I am honored to receive this endorsement," Santoro said, "and look forward to uniting teachers and parents in the common goal of educating our children."

Santoro's prepared statement said Q-Vote also lent support to another school committee candidate, Margaret Nigro, while refusing to support any of the incumbents on that board for reelection.

Guerriero's 114.8 Paces St. John's

Nutley Would Publish Ward 6 Newsletter

Thomas J. Nutley, candidate for the Ward 6 City Council seat, says that if elected, he would publish a quarterly newsletter summarizing the issues of interest to residents of the ward.

"I think that the people need to be informed periodically of my vote and opinion on issues and, informed also on just what is going on in their community, both presently and for the future," said Nutley.

"I look forward to publishing this newsletter and keeping the people aware of the many serious and complex issues that affect them and that I, as their Ward 6 councillor, will have to deal with on a daily basis.

"I want my votes and my participation on the city council to reflect the feelings of the people of Ward 6.

"By utilizing this newsletter to inform, and adding a page for residents to spell out their concerns to me, I will be more fully aware of the feelings of the people of Ward 6.

"I look forward to this challenging project," concluded Nutley.

Only In Quincy

Some people march to a different drummer

I guess on occasion so do I; But here's the story of a city my friends

And so help me I do not lie.

A story of a city and some traffic lights

The ones that turn red and green;

And drivers who don't obey them

To believe this it has to be seen.

In a city called Quincy in the State of Mass

Red Yellow or green mean GO;

And what pray tell means stop to them?

They'll tell you they do not know.

So red means GO and green means GO

Red and yellow means faster still;

And if someone wants to cross the street

You have a license to kill.

The high school kids have a story of their own

When it comes to crossing a street;

Never look to the right or left

Dodging cars can be quite a treat.

But if a driver ever hit a kid

Who surely was to blame;

They'd hang that driver to the nearest tree

And blacken his family name.

Park your car in a "No Parking" space

You'll get a ticket right on the spot;

But drive through Quincy at sixty miles per

I promise you'll never get caught.

Well ladies and gents that's my story

Of this city I've had my fill

Where green means GO and red means GO

And yellow means faster still.

Don't go to Disneyland to see the sights

Just come to Quincy Square;

And try to cross on the red and yellow

I'll bet this, you wouldn't dare!

TOT FINDER STICKERS are now available at the city's eight fire stations after being purchased by the Quincy Fire Fighters Association Local 792. William Barron, right, president of the local, presented the stickers to Acting Chief Carl Valenti.

Tot Finders Stickers Now Available

The Quincy Fire Fighters Association Local No. 792 has presented 2,000 tot finder stickers and placement brochures to the city of Quincy.

The presentation, at Quincy Fire Headquarters, 40 Quincy Ave., was made by William J. Barron Jr., president of the Quincy Fire Fighters Association, to Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti.

It was brought to the union's attention that the department, for the last few years, could not afford these stickers because of financial restraints, said Barron. So the local, which represents the city's fire fighters and has long taken an interest in the community and the welfare of the people of Quincy, took it upon itself to make this purchase, he said.

Children account for over one third of the nation's fire casualties, noted Barron. In the confusion of a fire, families often become separated. All too frequently, the result is a child trapped in his or her room, cut off from rescue, said Barron.

The tot finder program is designed to help avert this tragedy, he said.

The tot finder sticker is highly visible during the day and reflective from a light source at night, said Barron.

The sticker clearly marks the location of a child's room. Should fire strike, the sticker alerts the fire fighter to check the marked areas first, he said.

"If one life is saved by this program, then the Quincy fire fighters will all feel it's been a success," Barron said.

The stickers are available at all eight fire stations in Quincy, he said.

Wollaston Glee Club Seeks New Members

The Wollaston Glee Club is now rehearsing the music it will be using for its Fall and Winter concerts, and it invites any men who enjoy singing four-part male arrangements to join the club.

The club meets in the music room of Quincy United Methodist Church, 40 Beale St., Wollaston, every Monday evening from 7:30 to 9:30.

Interested men do not have to be professionals to sing with the group and there is no audition.

For more information, call Stan Trask at 472-8054.

Student Financial Aid QJC Open House Topic

An informational seminar detailing the types of financial aid available will highlight the annual Open House at Quincy Junior College Nov. 6, from 3 to 8 p.m. in Coddington Hall.

According to Elizabeth Corcham, director of financial aid, representatives from all of the programs offered by the school will be on hand to pass out information and to answer any questions.

Those attending the Open House will also be able to see demonstrations from some of the programs as well as receiving information about course requirements and offerings.

Parents will be glad to note that there will be a child care area set up where they can leave their children with students in QJC's Early Childhood Education program. Free refreshments, prepared by the Hotel and Restaurant Management program will be served.

For more information about the Open House call 786-8799.

City Focuses On Traffic Needs For Year 2000

By DAN CONNELLY
Quincy is booming!
And because of it the city is seeking the services of a traffic expert to perform a major traffic circulation analysis of three targeted areas -- downtown, Quincy, North Quincy and a portion of the Southern Artery.

The search for such a person, or firm, is in concert with Major Francis X. McCauley's announcement of the advent of a new program -- "Quincy Traffic 2000."

The program was formed to address the city's evergrowing traffic headaches and provide solutions to road-related problems that will be facing the city by the year 2000.

A mayor's task force, working with the Department of Planning and Community Development, received some 12 responses in their initial search. They've narrowed that list to four firms: TAMS, Edward & Kelcey, Vanasse-Hangen, and Storch engineers.

These four firms were then invited to participate in a pre-submittal conference Oct. 23 in the city planning department and asked to submit proposals for selection by Nov. 6.

"Quincy Traffic 2000" was proposed because of a number of major developments in the city: the soon-to-be-opened Burgin Parkway Extension, Marina Bay development in Squantum, the State Street South complex and surrounding offices along Newport Avenue Extension and Crown Colony Place, and a $200-million development planned at the key intersection of Routes 3 and 128.

Also, the Southern Artery, offering access to land parcels with waterfront access and views, is also rapidly becoming a growth area.

In addition there is a number of residential proposals of 300-plus units each presently going through the Quincy review process.

Planning Director James Lydon said "This is the first time that the city, in a comprehensive manner, has looked at its traffic problems."

The four firms will submit proposals next week and a decision will be made within two or three weeks, Lydon said.

The 15-member traffic task force started its work last January. It is headed by Lydon and includes city officials, developers and residents.

MERLE C. SAWYER PLAYGROUND was dedicated recently in memory of the 20-year principal of the Massachusetts Fields School and 45-year Quincy educator. The playground is next to the school which has been sold. Attending dedication ceremonies were, from left, Mayor Francis McCauley, Althea Sawyer, David Smith, Quincy Personnel Director; School Supt. John Osterman and Asst. School Supt. Fred Nolan.

Montclair Playground Work Underway

Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon, Jr. announces that landscape renovations to the Montclair Playground (Bishop Field), are taking place this week.

The renovations will focus on the two regulation-size ball fields and the soccer field, Lydon said.

The contract has been awarded to the Quincy-based Company Foy and Letendre landscaping in the amount of $44,100, Lydon noted, and the project was funded through the city's Community Development Block Grant Program.

"The facility is very eroded as a result of heavy use," said Jerry Kamman of Land Design Associates of Scituate, the project landscape architect.

The renovations at the facility will include bringing the fields back to grade by adding loam where needed; the installation of 93,000 square feet of sod, and the fertilization of some existing turf.

It is estimated that the renovations will take approximately 10 days, weather permitting, to complete.

"The improvements at the facility will be a valuable asset in meeting the recreational needs of the people of Ward Three and all Quincy residents," states Councillor Lydon.

Hearing Nov. 7 Traffic Changes In Blue Hills

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey (D-Quincy) has announced the Metropolitan District Commission will hold a public hearing on Thursday, Nov. 7, on a proposed change of traffic patterns and use of park roads within the Blue Hills Reservation.

The public hearing will be held at the Trailside Museum Auditorium, 1904 Canton Ave., Milton, at 7 p.m.

The M.D.C. has proposed closing Chickatawbut Road to thru traffic permanently and to Blue Hills recreation traffic except during daylight hours, Morrissey said.

"These proposed changes will have a major impact on commuters who regularly use this road. All parties who are interested should plan to attend," Morrissey said.

'Learning The Art Of Soul Travel'

The members of ECKANKAR, The Ancient Science of Soul Travel, a non-profit organization, will present a lecture entitled "Learning The Art of Soul Travel" Nov. 7, 7:30 p.m. at Stop & Shop (community room,) 495 Southern Artery, Quincy.

The program is free. For more information call 698-0198. For a pre-recorded taped message call 354-8278.

Student Government Elections On Nov. 5

Quincy's delegates to the House of Representatives, Michael W. Morrissey, Thomas Brownell, and Robert Cerasoli announce elections will be held at North and Quincy High Schools, and Vo-Tech School Nov. 5. Each school will select a delegate to the 39th annual Student Government Day Program.

The program was established in 1947 by the Massachusetts General Court in order that secondary students of the Commonwealth would be able to learn about state government by participating in a unique and meaningful experience. This idea has developed into a six-month program which explores all aspects of our state governmental system and includes a one day 'take over' of the state administration by the students.

Any secondary school in Massachusetts is eligible to send one student representative to this program. The student must be sixteen years of age on or before May 31, 1986. The student must be elected by his/her high school in a democratically held election. The student must be dedicated to receiving full benefits offered by the program in understanding state government.

After the election in each school, the name of the delegates are placed in a "Glass Bowl." Names of the student counterparts will be drawn by the governor, other constitutional officers and supreme court justices. Another drawing will be held to select the governor's councillors, department heads, cabinet secretaries, senators and representatives. Three series of workshops will be held for the purpose of educating and informing teachers and student delegates about the legislative process and state government. The first series will be held at the State House. The governor will participate in these workshops along with the constitutional officers, legislators, judicial officials, members of interest and lobbying groups. The workshops will also provide an opportunity for students to observe the legislature in session.

Student Government will occur on the first Friday in April. On this day, students will participate in all aspects of the administration of state government in the place where it happens, the State House. This allows students who have been educated in state government the opportunity to exercise their newly obtained abilities in the atmosphere that actual governmental officials perform.

The Student Government Day Program has been successful in many ways during its long history. Along with the responsibility of educating a concerned population of the citizens and future voters of Massachusetts, it has been estimated that one-third of the elected state governmental officials currently serving in Massachusetts have participated in the program. Therefore, this program has a responsibility to Massachusetts to provide knowledgeable and exemplary public officials for future generations.

Toland Elected Municipal Organization Chairwoman

Councillor at Large Patricia M. Toland was recently elected chairwoman of the Women's Elected Municipal Association Annual Conference in Hyannis.

The organization, which is comprised of elected women officials from all over the state, meets several times a year to discuss current political issues and problems, of governance, said Councillor Toland.

It also discusses strategies to involve more women in the political process and attract them into the political arena, she said.

Councillor Toland will head the group for the 1985-1986 year.

(Cont'd from Page 1)

"The whole focus of the election could be changed from what should be important," said McCauley, "that is the mayor's record in office, not the mayor's right to buy another home in Quincy."

Foley also denied any conflict of time or interest.

He said he conducted no real estate transactions during business hours, and used personal days or vacation days when necessary.

Foley said he saw no conflict in doing business with his boss and denied gaining favor with McCauley.

"McCauley's straight as an arrow and he doesn't bend rules for anyone," Foley said.

WJDA's call-in program "Party Line" featured the two candidates Monday and five calls referred to the real estate transactions.

"Purchasing a private piece of property is perfectly legitimate," said McCauley, "it was the same process anyone would go through."

McCauley also pointed out that he spends five days a week in his office as well as most Saturday and Sunday mornings.

"The mayor said his only interest is you," said Councillor Condon, referring to an ad slogan. "But that doesn't seem to be the case."

"I challenge anyone with a good credit rating to go into Granite Cooperative Bank and ask for a loan with no money down."

"There appears to be two sets of rules - one for us and one for the mayor."

Also during the program, a caller brought up alleged delinquent excise taxes owed by Councillor Condon to the city.

The taxes, which date back to 1971, total $325.84, and the bill has been turned over to the Deputy Collector of Taxes for the city, said Treasurer and Tax Collector Franklin Jay.

"To the best of my knowledge, I don't owe excise taxes," Councillor Condon commented later.

"If I have outstanding bills, I'll be happy to pay them."

"I don't know if the bills went to an old address. I've had the same address since I was elected in 1978."

"The city has my current address to send me a check every week."

Councillor Condon criticized Jay for making available copies of the bills to the press, but not sending them to her. However, the bills are part of the public record.

"Joanne Condon has done nothing wrong as far as I'm concerned," she said.

Motorcycle Injures Quincy Girl, 10

A 10-year-old Quincy girl was reported in good condition at Quincy City Hospital after she was struck by a motorcycle Oct. 27 in a South Shore Plaza parking lot.

Meghan R. DuFresne of County Rd., Quincy, was hospitalized with a broken right leg.

Two Braintree patrolmen who reportedly witnessed the accident chased the fleeing motorcyclist to the on-ramp of Route 128 where they arrested an 18-year-old Dedham youth.

The girl and her mother, Janet DuFresne, had just stepped off the sidewalk into the parking lot in front of Filene's when the girl was struck, according to Braintree

Police.

The motorcyclist was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of a personal-injury accident, operating to endanger, failing to stop for a police officer, speeding and no license.

Towing Firm Called Before License Board

By LINDA WILKINS

Quincy Building Inspector and License Board member Allan MacDonald called a Washington St. towing firm before the board Tuesday after receiving complaints that the firm was running an "automotive business."

Belyea's Towing, which is located at 612 Washington St., had three wrecking trucks on its property, an unlicensed cadillac, and a car with its hood up which "looked like it was being worked on."

MacDonald said he recently surveyed the property and Belyea's license was for towing, not automotive repairs.

"We can't maintain a nice city with trucks all over the place," he said, adding that one of the company's trucks was in a garage but that all of them should be kept there.

Mrs. Frederick A. Belyea, who was present at the License Board meeting, said he son Charles, who operate the business, plans to sell on of the trucks. She said the garage was not large enough for two trucks.

"Those trucks aren't on the road, they're in a setback area," said Ward 2 Councilor Theodore P. DeCristofaro.

According to DeCristofaro, Belyea's does not bring the automobiles it tows to its business location.

"I've never seen a problem there," said DeCristofaro. He added that he had never received any complaint about the business.

DeCristofaro also said Mrs. Belyea was not told who she had to appear before the board.

"She should have been notified as to why she's been called up," he said.

The board placed the complaints against Belyea on file, however, it requested Mrs. Belyea look further into re-building the garage to accommodate the trucks.

Hillier Rolls High Single For Koch Women

June Hillier bowled a 135 to capture the high single string in the Koch Club Women's Bowling League at the last outing.

Barbara Murphy dominates most of the other individual scoring with high average of 105, high three string total of 348 and most spares with 43.

Barbara Murphy, Marge Finlay and Debbie Davis are tied with 4 strikes each.

Sharing honors in the top ten averages with Barbara Murphy are Maryellette Walsh, 102.3; June Hillier 97.8; Debbie Koch, 97.1; Nelda Penniman, 95.8; Pat Torberg, 95.0; Pat Lawlor 94.5; Edie Maher, 94.5; DeConnors, 93.9 and Deb Davis 93.5.

The league bowls each Monday at 7 p.m. at the Merrymount Daylight Alley and is enjoying its 31st season of competition.

Renovations Completed At St. Joseph's Oratory In Sacred Heart Church

Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, recently completed renovations to St. Joseph's Oratory which is located in the downstairs section of the church.

The work, which took nearly a year, included the addition of new lighting, green and beige carpets, and light oak seats with kneelers which surround three fourths of the altar.

There are also two provisions for confessions: the traditional boxes as well as the contemporary rooms.

The final part of the renovation was the installation of stained glass windows.

The oratory can seat 400 people: the upstairs church, 800 people; and Our Lady's Chapel, 200 people.

In a letter to parishioners, the Rev. Cornelius Herry wrote:

"I am happy to announce that the final touches of St. Joseph's Oratory are completed. This beautiful place for worship is a tribute to your outstanding generosity.

"Many have asked for an explanation of the stained glass windows in the Oratory. It pleases me to give you this brief summary.

"As you enter the Oratory and face the Sanctuary, you will notice how the windows on the left side (facing the Rectory) capture the magnificent talents, certain women have given to the church.

"The first window recalls the mystery of the Immaculate Conception. As you know, every land in Christendom has its own favorite saint. As a nation, how blessed we are to have the Mother of God as our patron, under the title of her Immaculate Conception.

"The left frame shows a cemetery with the American flag at half-mast, in remembrance of our dead. The right frame contains the symbols of the Armed Forces of the United States under which many men and women from this parish served with honor and distinction.

"This window is dedicated to the men and women of Sacred Heart Parish in North Quincy who gave their lives in defense of the country.

"The second window calls to mind the Lily of the Mohawk - Blessed Kate Tekakwitha. How beautiful / the artist captures in living color her Baptism into the Faith by Father Jacques de Lamberville on Easter, April 5, 1675.

"The left panel symbolizes Kateri embracing Christianity while the right panel contains the emblem of the eagle referring to the Indian ancestry.

"The third window shows St. Elizabeth Ann Seton receiving the constitution of her religious community from Bishop John Carroll of Baltimore in the year 1807.

"The left panel symbolizes the theological virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity, while the right panel calls to mind St. Elizabeth Seton's love for knowledge and the desire to challenge young minds to excel.

"The final window on the left side of the Oratory forces us to remember that we were and still are an immigrant church. The life of St. Francis Xavier Cabrini epitomizes this. The docks of New York City, the teeming streets of Chicago and the tenement sections of San Francisco knew her presence, as she ministered to those coming from foreign shores to this new land. Our parish has countless numbers of parishioners who have their roots in many parts of the world.

"The left panel shows the Statue of Liberty with its lighted torch bidding a warm welcome to the immigrant, and the right panel, the map of our country on which one can find a spot to call home.

"Again facing the Sanctuary, the stained glass windows on the right side (near Hancock St.) call to mind the singular achievements of men whose love for God continues to have a lasting impact on our country.

"The first window shows St. Joseph, the patron of the Universal Church. To emphasize this, the artist depicts St. Joseph blessing St. Peter's of Rome, the center of Catholicism. The right frame shows a sketch of the local church - Sacred Heart, North Quincy, while the left depicts the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, the Mother Church of the Archdiocese of Boston.

"It is fitting the Oratory should be named for St. Joseph - the foster father of the Child Jesus - the husband of Mary and the protector of the Sisters of St. Joseph. Sacred Heart parish is blessed to have these wonderful women living among us. Missioned here at Sacred Heart school for almost a quarter of a century, they have, with their teaching skills, daily challenged the youth of this parish to love God, to respect themselves and to grow in wisdom and knowledge.

"Continuing up the aisle, we see in the next stained glass window, an event that brought about the birth pains of our nation - the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

"As John Adams was native to Massachusetts, and lived south of the Neponset River and Quincy was his final resting place, it is fitting, the history made on July 4, 1776 should be remembered in this historic city.

"In this glass portrait, the artist places Charles Carroll, the only Catholic signer of this document, along side of Benjamin Franklin, John Hancock and John Adams. Interestingly enough, he was the brother of John Carroll, the first Catholic Bishop of the United States.

"On the left panel is the

Quincy Woman Knows Importance Of People

By PEGGY ELLIS

The religious program specialist (RP) rating has been in existence since 1979 and Religious Programs Specialist Chief, Elizabeth Morrissey, a Quincy native, has been in the rating since almost its inception.

Morrissey is the daughter of John and Julie Morrissey, who live at 53 Elm Avenue, Quincy, Massachusetts.

Morrissey, the leading chief at the U.S. Naval Station Rota, Chapel, located in southern Spain, enlisted in the Navy in 1975 as a yeoman. Her first duty station was with the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) in Washington, D.C.

"The DIA work was highly classified and there wasn't much room for developing relationships with people," Morrissey said. "That's why I decided to request the Yeoman Navy Enlisted Classification (NEC) for chaplain assistant. I enjoy working with people."

The NEC, 2525, was the forerunner of the present day RP rating.

Following her tour of duty in Washington, Morrissey attended the Chapel Management Specialist School at Keesler AFB, Biloxi, Miss., and then was assigned to Korea.

"While I was in Korea, the Navy announced its plans to open the RP rating," Morrissey said. "I was working for an Army chaplain and I had to be interviewed by a Navy chaplain for the conversion. I ended up being interviewed twice. A retired Navy chaplain, working 200 miles away at an Overseas Christian Servicemen's Center, came and interviewed me and then I met with a chaplain from a Navy ship."

Following her conversion to RP, Morrissey was transferred to Jacksonville, Fla., at the station chaplain's office and then returned to Korea for another tour of duty.

The Quincy, native enjoyed her two tours in Korea.

"I loved Korea," Morrissey said enthusiastically. "The Koreans seemed to be happy that the American military people were there. Seoul is a very modern city, yet just 10 miles away, people are living the same as their ancestors."

Following an additional tour of duty in Washington, D.C., Morrissey came to Rota, where she was promoted to chief petty officer.

"I guess the best way to describe the RP rating is flexibility," Morrissey said.

"The job includes office manager's work - typing and filing, logistics and setting up chapel programs. We review records for chaplains, type reports, set up the chapel for services and we need a working knowledge of the various faiths and denominations."

Morrissey said that an RP also must be able to assist in training lay people, set up training schedules, and provide criteria for all types of services, such as weddings and baptisms.

Keeping track of records can be difficult because of the constant moves of military people.

"It's particularly important to keep current with the records of Catholics," she said. "There is a central depository in New York, where we send all the records for Catholics."

Morrissey has seen all types of people in her job.

"I've seen humanity at its best and worst," she said. "We have to stay flexible and cannot push our own beliefs onto others."

She is quick to point out that RPs are not counselors.

"All we can do is listen," Morrissey said. "We cannot give advice."

Before enlisting in the Navy, Morrissey attended college for two years.

"I am working on a B.S. in administration and am only seven credits from receiving my degree," she said.

Morrissey said there is some interservice rivalry in the Morrissey family.

"My sister is a tech sergeant in the Air Force," Morrissey said. "So whenever we are home at the same time, we discuss the similarities and the differences of the two services."

Morrissey is due to leave Rota in December and hopes to go to somewhere on the East Coast. She will leave here with fond memories of Spain.

"The people here have been so friendly and I've really enjoyed traveling in this country and Portugal."

Morrissey was graduated from Quincy High School in 1970.

Renovations Completed At Sacred Heart Church

(Cont'd from Page 25)

"Moving on, we come to the stained glass window that recalls the memorable visit of Pope John Paul II to Boston on Oct. 1, 1979, when he celebrated Mass on historic Boston Common.

"The left frame shows Bishop Jean-Louis Cheverus, Boston

Boston's first Bishop, while the right frame shows Umberto Cardinal Medeiros, Boston's seventh Bishop.

"Our first and last window in the Oratory capitalizes on the missionary spirit of Saint Isaac Jogues, S.J. The left frame shows the instruments of his martyrdom, while the right frame depicts the cross surrounded by eight flames of fire referring to his companions who came, along with him, to the new world to preach Christ crucified.

"I draw your attention, my friends, to the repository in back of the Baptismal Font. It contains the Holy Oils used in Baptism, Confirmation and the Anointing of the Sick. Also enshrined within, is the relic of the True Cross. How blessed we are to have a splinter of the Cross on which hung the Savior of the world.

"On leaving the Oratory, exiting by the Rectory side, one sees the window dedicated to Saint Patrick, Ireland's own Saint and the patron of the Archdiocese of Boston.

"Before leaving Sacred Heart Church, another window calls attention to St. Joseph - the Worker.

"It has often been said: 'Remember your roots.' When Sacred Heart Church was totally destroyed by fire on Jan. 20, 1948, it was rebuilt through the personal sacrifices of countless numbers of faithful parishioners.

"To remember our past, a stained glass window, one of the few that survived the holocaust on that winter day, was recently found hidden away in the garage.

"It has since been restored and rests securely in the ambulatory leading to the upstairs sacristy. The artist shows, in lovely stained glass, the bark of St. Peter with sails unfurled, being tossed about by the winds of change, yet totally secure, knowing the Lord's hand is on the tiller."

A MORNING WALK was enjoyed by senior citizens at Martensen St., Quincy Point, as part of a program held by South Shore Elder Services. Walkers included Anna Zadrozny, Ethel Weinstein, Vivian Jenkins, Alex Chludzinski, Esther Sanderson, Lena Melanson and Arthur Anastasi.

Wollaston Park Assn. Annual Meeting

The Wollaston Park Association was scheduled to hold its annual dinner meeting last night (Wednesday) at the Hollow Restaurant, 516 Adams St., Quincy.

Following a 7 p.m. dinner, the annual election of officers was scheduled. The Nominating Committee, headed by Alice Delaney, had proposed that the three chair officers, President Benjamin Rudner, Vice President Thomas Dowd, and Secretary Treasurer Dorothy Kelly, be re-elected.

She also had proposed that the following Directors be voted in for another term: Vito A. Barresi, Madeline and Dominic Falchetta, William M. MacDonald, Eleanor Sharkey and Ruth Baker Porter. The committee nominated Richard Lockhead to replace Robert Nankin, who has moved from Wollaston.

Bob Hanna, a Quincy Police Department Crime Prevention officer, was principal speaker and addressed the city's "Crime Watch" program which instructs residents on how to protect their property and themselves from crime and violence. A brief meeting concluded the evening's program.

'Your Sins Are Forgiven' Sermon At Bethany Church

Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday, Nov. 3, at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spear Sts., Quincy Center, at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and the 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the Communion meditation entitled, "Your Sins Are Forgiven," based on scripture texts from Jeremiah 31:31-34 and Mark 2:1-12.

Reading the scriptures at the chapel service will be Calvin Young, and at the sanctuary service, Harry F. Massey, Jr. Deacons and deaconesses serving Communion will be Bruce Byorkman, Wendell Cosgrove, Jane McLain, Alfred Toy and Grace Toy during the sanctuary service, and Robert Lockwood in the chapel.

At the 10 a.m. service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing the anthem, "Hear My Prayer, O God," by Jacob Aredelt.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300kc, at 11 a.m. by delayed tape. Giving the Communion commentary during the radio broadcast will be Wendell Cosgrove.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care will also be provided for babies and toddlers.

There will be a fellowship hour at 11 a.m. in the Allen Parlor. Individuals and groups from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

A membership class for persons who are considering becoming members of Bethany, or who would like to know more about the United Church of Christ, will be held the next three Wednesday evenings, Nov. 6, 13, and 20, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The group will meet at the church and be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

For further information concerning Bethany's ministry and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

Reformation Sunday Observed At Squantum Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum observed Reformation Sunday this week with an all-church breakfast and a special worship service.

David Williams gave the call to worship. Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "John Calvin: Reformation Leader."

For the offertory anthem the Chancel Choir sang Martin Luther's hymn, "Come, Holy Spirit, God and Lord!" to a tune by Melchior Vulpus as harmonized by J.S. Bach. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

The hymns included "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," "For All the Saints," "Faith of Our Fathers" and "Lord, Dismiss Us With Thy Blessing."

The postlude was Martin Luther's "Out of the Depths I Cry to Thee" as arranged by J.S. Bach.

The greeters were Edna and Leon MacIntyre. The ushers were Chris and Robert Dixey, Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Millie Johnson and Ginny Galarneau.

This Sunday will be Covenant Sunday at the church. All members wishing to renew their commitment to Christ and His Church will want to attend the service. Persons unable to attend but wishing to be included should notify the pastor before Sunday. The morning will begin with a breakfast at 9:15 a.m.

Saturday, November 2, the church will hold its annual Church Fair from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. A variety of food, baked goods and candy will be available as well as white elephants, knitting, aprons, crafts, sewing and a country store. The public is invited,

Rev. Frank Bauer Honored For Service

The Rev. Frank J. Bauer, retired Pastor Emeritus of Wollaston Lutheran Church, recently was presented with a gold-framed, hand-embossed scroll at a Board of Directors meeting of Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments, Inc.

The scroll was an expression of gratitude for Rev. Bauer's service as Pastor of the church, chaplain of six military and government organizations, and as founder and Executive Director of the two retirement homes sponsored by the Church, Fenno House and Town Brooks House.

Fenno House, located adjacent to Wollaston Lutheran Church on Hancock St., is a six-story, 154 apartment, FHA 236 Housing Project for the elderly. It was dedicated April 29, 1973, and since then has always been 100 percent occupied with a long waiting list. Present manager is the pastor of Wollaston Lutheran Church, the Rev. Doctor A.H. Wismar, Jr.

Town Brook House, Brackett St. Quincy Center, is an eight-story, 151 Apartment HUD 202/8 Housing Project for the elderly and the handicapped. It was dedicated Nov. 30, 1980, and since then has always been 100 percent occupied with a long waiting list. Present manager is Jean H. (Mrs. Frank J.) Bauer.

Rev. Bauer served as head master of the six-grade, 100

PRESENTATION — The Rev. Frank J. Bauer receives a scroll as an expression of gratitude for his years of Pastoral service from I. Bradford Hutchinson of Braintree, Chairman of the Board of Wollaston Lutheran Church Apts., Inc., and Frederick J. Cashman of Quincy, President of Wollaston Lutheran Church.

pupil Christian Day School operated by the Church until it closed in 1966.

Chaplaincies served by Pastor Bauer were with the United States Army National Guard, the Massachusetts Military Academy, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, the United States Veterans Administration, the Massachusetts State Police, and the National Lancers.

Retired from the active pastorate in 1984 and from his chaplaincies, Pastor Bauer continues to serve as Chaplain of the Massachusetts State Police and as Executive Director of Wollaston Lutheran Church Apartments, Inc. with an office in Town Brook House.

Rev. and Mrs. Bauer presently live in a condominium on Sea St. in Merry-mount and at their legal residence in Greenfield, New Hampshire.

Revere 8, Quincy 8

By TOM SULLIVAN

Everything that can go wrong seems to be going wrong for the Quincy football team this fall.

The Presidents had several more bad breaks last Saturday when they bowed to Revere, 29-8, at Veterans Memorial Stadium, dropping their record to 0-6.

Quincy hopes to enter the win column for the first time Saturday when it travels to Weymouth to meet Weymouth North, a former Suburban League rival now in the Old Colony League, at 2 p.m. at Legion Field.

The Presidents found themselves trailing, 6-0, with just 59 seconds gone in the game and by 14-0 with four minutes gone.

They bounced back to make the score 14-8 at half-time and appeared to be on their way to another score after taking the second half kickoff. They held the ball for five minutes to move to Revere's 36. But here quarterback Steve Austin was hit hard as he pitched out and the ball went right into the hands of Dan Drover, a 230-pound defensive tackle, who huffed and puffed 58 yards for the touchdown that just about sewed things up.

"That play really turned the tide, but we just made too many mistakes," said a disappointed coach Jack Raymer.

"We had two passes intercepted in addition to the pincout that was run back, and we made some other bad pincouts. With Chris Veneto, our best runner, still out of action, our running attack is still suffering. Austin did a great job passing and Don Parry was unbelievable with his receptions. This kid plays his heart out every game and is doing a remarkable job playing

QUINCY SEASON SCORING

|            | TD | PAT | PTS |
|------------|----|-----|-----|
| Innello    | 3  | 4   | 22  |
| Porzio     | 3  | 2   | 14  |
| Parry      | 2  | 0   | 12  |
| Luisi      | 1  | 0   | 6   |
| Veneto     | 1  | 0   | 6   |

both ways."

Austin was 11 for 23 for 204 yards and a touchdown and Parry caught eight of the passes, including some great catches, for 176 yards and the touchdown.

"We had a lot of injuries today and I had to use several jayvees. We lacked depth and I just hope Veneto will be back soon. Our defense has been spotty but it will be strengthened next week at Weymouth when Jeff Sprague, a big defensive tackle, comes back for his first game. He has been injured all season."

Raymer praised the defensive performances of Steve and John Picarski, Dave Murphy, Mike O'Connor, back after missing two games; Mike Venturcili, Ken Southwick, also back after missing two games, and Norm Hassan.

On offense the Presidents' coach had good words for Paul Lally, Kevin Devonshire, John Heath, Rick Smith and sophomore Tom Bjork, who filled in well.

Revere's strong point this year has been returning kickoffs. Four times the Patriots have returned kickoffs for 80 yards and more.

It looked as if they would repeat when Joe Galvin took the game's opening kickoff and returned it all the way from his 20 to Quincy's 46, nearly breaking away and going all the way. It took Revere only three plays to score as Clark Jones gained 10 yards on two carries, then raced the remaining 36 yards for the score.

With fourth and four on Quincy's 36, Raymer took a big gamble and went for it. But a pincout went awry and Revere had the ball on the Presidents' 27. Three plays later Jones scored from the 11 with only four minutes gone and he also rushed for the two-point conversion.

Quincy gained possession on its own 37 early in the second quarter after three incomplete Revere passes. Ron Luisi and Mark Porzio brought the ball to midfield, Austin hit Steve Gardner for eight yards, then threw a beautiful pass to Parry for 47 yards and a touchdown, Parry running the last 25 yards. Austin passed to Joe Innello for the two-point conversion.

After Drover's grab of Austin's pincout and touchdown run, John Spinelli rushed for the two points and Revere led, 22-8.

Quincy failed to mount a sustained drive the rest of the way despite a 39-yarder and another 30-yarder from Austin to Parry. Parry tried to cross up the Revere defense by trying a pass of his own but it went incomplete.

Late in the third quarter, with fourth and five on the Revere 42, another pincout was fumbled and the Patriots had the ball on Quincy's 43.

Revere drove to another touchdown with Spinelli scoring from the six. He missed the extra point kick but Quincy was penalized and he made it on his second try.

Revere's Galvin passed five times, completing one for nine yards. Revere had a net of 148 yards on the ground to only 54 for Quincy and the Presidents had 11 first downs and Revere 10.

Jaehnig Club Wins Pair

The Jaehnig Chiropractic Club took two victories last week in the South Shore Sports Center Basketball League to improve to 5-2 and take over third place, a half game behind co-leaders D.C. South and John Hancock, who have 5-1 marks.

Jaehnig rolled over the Weymouth Maroons, 46-24, with Mike Venna scoring 12 points, Bob Dacey 11, Bill Murphy eight and Chuck Jaehnig seven. Every player contributed to the easy win. Against the Germantown Bombers, Jaehnig broke a 21-21 halftime tie and exploded for a 55-36 victory.

Pete Gray had 13 points, Paul Principato nine, Mark Jaehnig nine, Jim Timmins eight, Venna and Mike Jaehnig seven each and Don Jaehnig two. Dale Adams was the game's high scorer with 19 points for Germantown.

Furey Wins Plymouth Race

John Furey, former Quincy High track star and now an assistant coach at North Quincy, won the recent Plymouth Five Road Race, covering the five-mile course through historic Plymouth in a record 24:37.

A total of 205 runners took part in the race and Furey broke the record in winning the race for the first time.

The standings: D.C. South, 5-1; John Hancock, 5-1; Jaehnig Club, 5-2; J.B. Heating, 4-2; Bank of New England, 4-2; Hawks, 3-3; Volt Busters, 2-4; Germantown, 2-5; SSOB, 1-6; Weymouth Maroons, 1-6.

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Elks Clinch Berth In Championship Game

The West Quincy Elks clinched a spot in the Quincy Youth Football League's championship game when they defeated last year's runners-up, the Quincy Point Panthers, 26-0, at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The win improved the Elks' record to 6-1.

The defending champion North Quincy Apaches defeated the Squantum Sailors, resulting in a three-way tie for second place between the Panthers, Apaches and Sailors. The two top teams will meet in the championship game Nov. 17.

The Elks will face the Houghs Neck Manets Sunday at 1 p.m. and the second place tie will be broken when the Panthers take on the Sailors at 2:30.

The Panthers received the opening kickoff last Sunday and moved to the Elks' 30 where they were halted on a nice play on fourth down by linebacker Jim Munroe. The Elks scored on their first series when, after collecting a first down on their own 40, quarterback Chris Noble scampered 60 yards on a keeper.

The Panthers again drove into Elks territory in the second quarter but were stopped when Scott O'Brien intercepted a pass at the Elks' 15. On the first play O'Brien ripped over right tackle and raced 70 yards before being brought down on the Panther 15 by an open field tackle by Brandon Farrell. Two plays later O'Brien scored from the 10 and Noble rushed for the two-point conversion.

The Elks took the second half kickoff and promptly scored when Noble rolled left from six yards out. The drive was highlighted by a 50-yard pass from Noble to end Ryan Hersey.

The Elks' final score came when Noble bootlegged right and hit Hersey with a six-yard touchdown pass.

The Elks were led by a fierce defense which has shut out the last four opponents. Outstanding were Munroe, Steven Aylward, Mark Doran, David Pike and Steven O'Donoghue. For the Panthers Monte Baker played strong defense and had two quarterback sacks and a fumble recovery. Steven Feeley ran well.

Also Over 500 Yards Rushing Pro Scouts Watch Dudek Break Payton's TD Record

By TOM SULLIVAN

Several National Football League scouts, including those from the Miami Dolphins, New York Jets and New York Giants, were in the stands at Plymouth State College last Saturday to watch North Quincy's Joe Dudek go for Walter Payton's NCAA all-division scoring record.

And what a show the former North Quincy High standout put on for them!

Dudek needed two touchdowns to break the record of Payton, still one of the NFL's best with the Chicago Bears. Payton set his long-standing mark while at Jackson State and last season he broke the NFL all-time rushing record.

Dudek not only broke the record but scored a career-high five touchdowns, the only ones for Plymouth State as the Panthers topped Bridgewater State, 35-15. He tied the overall college mark of 70 TD's set by Wilbert Montgomery, another NFL standout, while at Abilene Christian, an NAIA school.

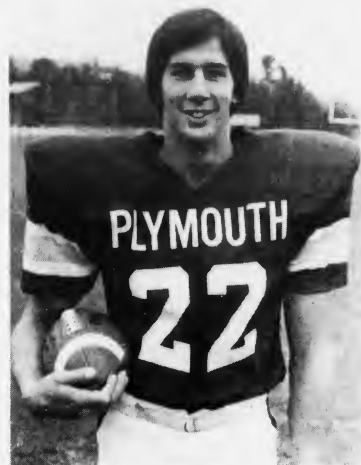

With two games remaining, Dudek will surely break that record and his scoring mark should stand for a long time.

Bridgewater State came into the game with the best defense in the New England Football Conference. But it took the Quincy native just two minutes to tie Payton's record as he scored on a 16-yard run.

The former Raider then broke four tackles on his record-breaking touchdown, a brilliant 58-yard run, with 4:35 left in the first quarter.

The game was halted and the game ball presented to Dudek, as 3568 fans, including his parents and several Quincy friends, cheered.

Dudek scored his third touchdown in the second quarter from 10 yards out.

JOE DUDEK

romped 35 yards for number four in the third quarter and finished up with a 32-yard run in the final quarter.

He ran for 274 yards to become only the seventh player in NCAA history to rush for over 5,000 career yards. He has 5001 and will add plenty to that total in the final two games.

Dudek, who started out in the Quincy Youth League, didn't go out for football until his junior year at North Quincy, after trying track (he holds the school's 220 record) and soccer.

It didn't take him long to establish himself. In 1980, he scored three touchdowns in a 27-20 win over Quincy and the following year scored the only touchdown in a 7-0 decision over the Presidents.

Dudek's success is no surprise to his head coach at North, Dave Burke, now an assistant at Milton High.

"Joe was a hard runner and tough," he said. "He could run inside or outside and was a good receiver as well. I knew he could be an outstanding college player and I am delighted at his success."

Ken McPhee, current North head coach, and Quincy coach Jack Raymer, who were assistants at North during Dudek's years, also expressed their admiration for him.

"Joe had some great moves," said North assistant Ted Sadowski. "He had the ability to stop, cut back and shift gears. He had some amazing runs for us at North and I think he can make it in the pros, although he might need just a bit more speed."

"I knew my 58-yard run might work for a long gainer, but I didn't think it would go all the way," said Dudek. "It really turned the game around for me. Certainly it was the biggest moment of my life. I wanted to get the record on a long gainer to show people the way I could go."

"A lot of words come to mind about Joe's performance," Coach Jay Cottone said. "Fantastic, remarkable, almost unbelievable. He's been a real steady performer since day 1. The whole team reacted better than I thought they could over a situation like this. All week it's been in the back of their minds and there's been a lot of distractions."

Harry Buffington, director of NFL Scouting, Inc., a service for 19 pro teams, said his service had looked at Dudek four times, an indication that the scouts think highly of the 6-1, 195-pound All-American and that he's going to be well looked at by NFL teams.

Not many Division 3 players have been drafted by the NFL, but Montgomery was drafted in the sixth round in 1977 and became a standout for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Reports from last spring projected Dudek as a fourth, fifth or sixth round pick. "He may go higher if his production is up this year," Buffington said.

Meanwhile, Curry College just missed letting Plymouth State take over sole possession of first place in the NEFC, losing a last-minute 35-31 decision to Western Connecticut, which remains in a top tie with Plymouth with a 6-1 record.

A 39-yard touchdown pass from Quincy's Bob Barrett to his favorite receiver, North Quincy's Jack Brown, gave Curry a 31-28 lead late in the game, only to have Western Connecticut come back and score with time running out.

Barrett, one of the top passers in the NEFC, had another excellent day for the Colonels.

North Girls Swimmers Defeat Waltham

The North Quincy girls' swim team defeated Waltham, 108-61, last week to improve its record to 6-4.

Bill Walker's Raiderettes will close out their dual meet season Friday night at 6 o'clock against cross-town rival Quincy at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

Although North has never lost to Quincy and is always a big favorite due to a great advantage in manpower, it is always a spirited meet with a large crowd always on hand.

In the Waltham meet Julie Killion and Liz Harrington were double winners. Killion took the 100 freestyle in 1:07.3 and the diving with 214.30 points. Harrington won the 200 individual medley in 2:46.7 and 100 breaststroke in 1:27.2.

North Quincy 20, Somerville 14

Raiders Seek Win No. 2 At Waltham Friday

It was a long time coming, but the North Quincy football team finally has its first win of the season and Coach Ken McPhee hopes things have turned around for the last four games of the season.

Following a sloppy first half, the Raiders clicked on all cylinders in the second half last Saturday at Somerville and came home with a 20-14 victory, improving their record to 1-5.

North faces a tough task Friday night when it goes to Waltham for a 7 p.m. game with one of the Suburban League's top teams, perfect in six games.

"This is just great, I hope it means things have turned around for us," said a happy McPhee. "We were a little sloppy in the first half but in the second half we played like I knew we could play."

"The defense was superb and caused seven Somerville turnovers. We recovered five fumbles and Mark Bilton intercepted two passes."

The offensive line also improved tremendously in the second half. Ted Shionis was again brilliant with an 91-yard touchdown run and several other fine runs."

NORTH QUINCY SEASON SCORING

|          | TD | PAT | Pts. |
|----------|----|-----|------|
| Shionis  | 3  | 2   | 20   |
| McNamara | 3  | 0   | 18   |
| McDougal | 1  | 0   | 6    |

McPhee praised the entire defensive unit and had good words for Gary McNamara, who was back after missing several games; Brian Flukes, Ken Kemp, Steve Miller, Don Clancy, John and Mike Ainsley, Mike Haynes, Bilton, Angelo Kapetanakis and Rob Bradley.

On offense he hailed the play of Kemp, Ed Bagley, Mike Hugbo, Miller, Kevin McCarthy and Tom Dolan, who also looked good as a line backer.

Chris Gray, one of the best punters in the Suburban League, continued his fine kicking and Clancy, kicking off, twice pushed Somerville back to its two-yard line.

Shionis rushed for 171 yards as North had 208 yards on the ground, although making only five first downs. Gray passed only five times.

completing three for 24 yards. Somerville had 193 yards on the ground and 156 yards through the air on seven of 13 and it had 12 first downs.

Miller had two fumble recoveries and Dolan, Leo LeMay and Flukes had the others. LeMay also made the key block on Shionis' 91-yard run.

North had a golden opportunity early as it recovered a fumbled punt and went to the Somerville two, but was stopped.

Somerville took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter when Tim DeArmon scored from the one. The lead held up at the half.

North kicked off to open the second half and Somerville fumbled. McNamara scored the tying touchdown from the one.

Another fumble following the kickoff was recovered by North and McNamara again scored from the one. Mike Cicerone made a fine pass reception to set up one of the touchdowns.

North made it 20-6 in the final quarter on Shionis' run and he also scored the two-point conversion on a pass from Gray.

Somerville scored a consolation touchdown on a 55-yard pass from Scott Leak to Bob Abbott. Bill McClure rushed for the two points.

Quincy Needs To Fill Basketball Vacancies

Quincy High is looking for new boys' and girls' basketball coaches for the approaching season.

Rick DeCristofaro resigned as boys' coach after being appointed assistant principal for Point Middle School and Daniel Webster Elementary School.

Bob Uhlar stepped down as girls' skipper for personal reasons, including the birth of his second child.

"I regret having to resign after two years and I'd love to be able to hold the job and also handle my new duties, but I could never give 100 percent to both," DeCristofaro said.

Both coaches knew the frustrations of competing in the strong Suburban League against perennial powers such as Cambridge Rindge and Latin and Brockton. Quincy and North Quincy are two of the smallest schools in the league.

Though his teams won only nine games in two seasons, DeCristofaro is proud of the fact all eight of his seniors from last season went on to college. "That's fantastic and I hope the new coach has the same priorities—graduate from high school and go to college first and, secondly, worry about developing the skills in basketball," he said.

Uhlar, an assistant soccer coach this fall, is happy with the boost in interest since he took over.

"We had 16 girls turn out when I started two years ago and last year we had 40 and built a good freshman program," he said.

Tipped Pass Keeps Jayvees From Sweep

By PETE ZOIA

The North Quincy junior varsity football team came within 10 seconds of sweeping its last three games as it shut out a strong Brockton team, 12-0, blanked Norwood, 6-0, and dropped a 12-8 decision to Newton North when a tipped pass dropped into a Newton receiver's hands to prevent the young Raiders from another win.

Halfback Brian Durgin, the team's top scorer, had touchdown runs of 25 and 15 to defeat Brockton. Bob Sylva at quarterback passed well to Steve Haggas and Joe Boli.

Brockton was unable to penetrate the strong North Quincy defensive group as time and again its offense sputtered and the Boxers never mounted a serious threat.

Scott Chansky continued his alert play as he picked off two more passes. He has nine interceptions this fall. John Rodophele, Tom Casey and John Pacino sparked in the secondary.

Twins Keith and Kevin Segalla, Tom Dolan, Tim Kelly, Bob Hogan, Matt McNamara and Dan Smith were praised for their hard hitting.

The Norwood game was hard-fought with a few flare-ups occurring. Dave Levine, Phil Tavares, Bob Linnane, Mike Bowes, Terry Downing, Brian Campbell, Dan Conway, Steve Brooks, Jim Liberides and Paul Moody played with intensity on defense, while Tom McDonald, Mark Simonelli and Mark Zimmerman showed improvement on offense.

Paul McCormack scored the game's only touchdown with a dazzling 65-yard run.

Ryan Craig scored North's lone touchdown in the tough loss to Newton and Sylva rushed for the two-point conversion.

This year's jayvee squad has improved with every game under coaches Mark Mulvaney, Kevin Cobban and Ted Sadowski.

The annual game between the North and Quincy jayvees on Saturday morning, Nov. 23, looms as another thriller. The rival freshman teams will play the first game of the doubleheader.

The Quincy girls' volleyball team clinched at least a tie for the Suburban League title when it defeated Boston Latin, 2-0, Monday. The win was the First Ladies' 37th straight and improved their record this season to 15-0.

The Quincy girls sought another league crown yesterday (Wednesday) at Newton North and will wind up the regular season at home against Cambridge Rindge and Latin Friday.

Quincy topped a tough Boston Latin team, 15-5, 15-8 Monday to sweep the season's series. Latin earlier had become only the third team to force Quincy to three games.

Terry Duggan served well, Pam Austin did some excellent blocking and Susan Parry turned in a strong game to pace the First Ladies.

Earlier in the week Quincy easily defeated Newton South, 2-0 (15-0, 15-2).

Quincy won behind the strong serving of Marle LeVangie, the spiking of Parry and the setting of Ginny Duggan.

S.S. YMCA Swimmers Shine At Mini-Meet

The South Shore YMCA Strypers swim team took top honors at the recent fourth annual Great Pumpkin mini-meet at the West Roxbury Y.

The mini-meet is designed for boys and girls eight years old and under and had over 40 events. It took a last-minute dramatic win in the final event, boys 80-yard freestyle relay, with Terrance Roche, Cory Madera, James Keyes and Sean McCarthy to squeeze out a 36-34 win over the Dorchester Y for the overall team victory.

In boys 6 and under, Keyes won the 20-yard freestyle in 18.35 and took second in the 20-yard backstroke. Roche took third, Madera fourth and James Crowley ninth in the boys 7 and under 20-yard freestyle.

In boys 7 and under 20-yard backstroke, Roche won. Crowley took third and Madera fifth.

McCarthy won the boys 8 and under 20-yard freestyle (15.04) and took second in the 20-yard backstroke.

In the girls' events, Adrienne MacKay took second in the 7 and under 20-yard freestyle, and Heather Bray took fifth in the same race.

The Strypers' first dual meet will be against Norwell Nov. 19 at Quincy. Coach Janet Keyes has virtually all of last year's team returning and, with the addition of many new promising swimmers in all age groups, the team is looking forward to a successful season.

p.m. at the Patriot Ledger, Temple St., Quincy Center. This year's theme is "Visions of Christmas."

Weymouth Rotary Big Band Night Friday

The big band sounds of the 30's and 40's will return at the 21st annual Weymouth Rotary Club Big Band Night Friday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Lantana in Randolph.

Rotary President Tom Borelli notes proceeds are earmarked for a number of area community projects and civic group programs.

The John Shea "Moseley on the Charles" seven-piece orchestra, augmented by eight other fine musicians, will play music-magic made popular by Glenn Miller, Jimmy and Tommy Dorsey, Duke Ellington, Harry James, Count Basie, Benny Goodman, Stan Kenton, and Les Brown.

Shea and his ballroom-seven have been entertaining Moseley audiences for over 30 years.

Other musical notes from the band will include a line dance, hustle, latin beats and waltzes.

Complimenting Shea's 15-piece group are: saxophonist Dave Chapman who will lead the reed section. He will be backed by Mark Pentino who at one time played lead sax with Buddy Rich. Also, Marty Takki, Abe Lehr and Tommy Ferranti.

The Trombone section will have Tak Takvorian who was featured with the Tommy Dorsey and Woody Herman bands.

The Trumpet section will have Joe Dailey, once associated with Bob Crosby and Les Elgart, and Bud Billings who at one time was with the Glenn Miller band.

The Rhythm section will be comprised of Kevin Shea on drums, Bill Horn on piano and Howard Garniss on bass. Karen Cameron, formerly with Fred Waring and Glenn Miller groups will do vocals.

'Mixed Signals' Debuts Quincy Cable Nov. 7

"Mixed Signals," a series of four half-hour programs featuring the work of new film and video artists will debut on Quincy's American Cable-systems next month.

The first program which includes three diverse short films will receive its first showing Thursday, Nov. 7 at 9:30 p.m., and will repeat on Sunday night, Nov. 10 at 8 p.m.

Produced by the New England Foundation for the Arts, the first of the four programs will introduce audiences to the work of three filmmakers: Ear To The Ground, by Kit Fitzgerald and John Sanborn who follow musician David Van Teigham as he drums his way through the streets of New York City. In Photo Album, young Cuban emigre Enrique Oliver tells a humorous tale about adjusting to life in America. Boston performance artist filmmaker Danny Mydlack has combined a New Wave sensibility with an accordion to produce a music video entitled The Lown Ranjer and Tonlow.

Soviet Dissenters Topic On 'Psychology Tonight'

Joshua Rubenstein will join Tim Lynch in a discussion of life as a dissenter in Russia Nov. 6 at 8 p.m. on Quincy Cable Ch. 3.

Rubenstein is northeast coordinator of Amnesty International and author of "Soviet Dissidents: Their Struggle For Human Rights." He will dramatically illustrate life in an unfree society and also give numerous examples of abuse of power in the Soviet Union, including the abuse of the psychiatric profession, which in Russia serves as an enforcement arm of the KGB.

Russian propaganda is also discussed as a psychological technique to maintain order and to punish dissenters by robbing them of friends and social contacts.

STARSCOPE

Clare Answell

WEEK OF: OCTOBER 31, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Good week for launching partnership projects, especially ones of a creative nature. There may be some tensions in the community. Important meetings should be postponed.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Friends look to you for a lesson in self-confidence. In your long-distance correspondence, emphasize bright news. Business and pleasure blend surprisingly well after Friday.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Avoid the counterproductive activity of worrying for its own sake. Unhappy friend responds positively to your encouragement. Public speaking and the performing arts are now featured.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Branching out is favored—you may take on a part-time job, or perhaps you decide to hone some skills. Partner enjoys being spoiled and responds to your sentimental ways.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Week emphasizes practical matters. You see how you can apply your abilities to present and future projects. Relationships are spotlighted. This may be the time to launch a partnership.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Good week for promoting yourself—tell people why they should listen to your ideas. If traveling, be sure that companion is compatible. Unexpected guests enliven the week.

LEO - July 23-August 22
You're superb in the role of diplomat and effectively can... family squabble. Make a point of collecting outstanding debts. Your humanitarian spirit is currently highlighted.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Platonic friend may be more devoted than you think and can help you solve a difficult dilemma. This is a good week for enrolling in courses or joining a club.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Unexpected events, no matter how minor, can play havoc with present plans. Romantic picture brightens thanks to your down-to-earth approach. Colleague lends support to your ideas.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Good week for approaching people for favors. Virgo person can influence your present thinking. Links with the past encourage you to reflect on the immediate future.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Corny ideas may prove much more effective than first believed. Avoid making rash moves where finances or careers are concerned. In romance, however, spontaneity is your middle name.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Don't be shy when it comes to telling someone how much you like him/her—give a special friend an impromptu call. Financial affairs may dominate the weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Determined, persistent, outspoken—you're both charismatic and mysterious. You take your relationships as seriously as you take your work—you're ever the perfectionist. Some touches of humor can enhance both your personal and professional spheres—results show by mid-1986.

BORN THIS WEEK

Joseph Sweeney Funeral Homes Help Restore Public Lands In State

The Joseph Sweeney Funeral Homes of Quincy will arrange for a young tree to be planted on public lands in Massachusetts for each service it performs through its recent affiliation with the Lofly Oaks Association in Bethlehem, N.H.

The tree helps renew Massachusetts forest life and provides a fitting living memorial to honor the deceased.

This program is part of a large endeavor, in cooperation with the Massachusetts Nurserymen's Association, to restore the countryside with the eternal beauty of living trees.

After each service, close family members or friends are informed that the memorial tree has been arranged for by The Joseph Sweeney Funeral Homes. Once the foresters have planted the tree, the designated relatives and friends will be sent an official certificate of planting suitable for framing and keeping in the family's history forever.

This living memorial program is an example of the new innovative approach being taken by the funeral directors profession as a whole, and by Dennis S. Sweeney at The Joseph Sweeney Funeral Homes in particular, to increasingly contribute to their community and the environment.

Donna Marcin Completes Internship With Harold

Donna Marcin, 19, of Adams Shore recently completed an internship on the staff of Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy).

Miss Marcin, a senior at Harvard University, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marcin. She is a graduate of Quincy High School.

Harold praised Miss

Marcin's efforts on his staff, where she was responsible for assisting constituents with problems, researching legislative matters, and preparing reports on issues.

"Donna was a valuable addition to the staff, and I know the educational value of her internship experience will serve her well in her future career," Harold said.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

WHERE IS THE SCRIVENER?

QUESTION: There seems to be a tremendous amount of paperwork associated with the purchase of real estate. Was it always this way?

ANSWER: In the early days, land transfer was accomplished by "liverty of seizen" which literally means transfer of possession. In the presence of witnesses, the seller would take a clod of turf and a twig from a tree and hand it over to the buyer as a symbol or token of the transfer.

The transfer was then made a matter of record by having the "scrivener" (the person in the community who could write) do his thing and write out the transfer on a parchment and affix his seal.

IN THE OLD DAYS, the transfer of property was accompanied by a simple ceremony.

Nutley, Lydon Ward Winners

McCauley Rides To Third Term, 2 New School Committee Faces

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN and LINDA WILKINS

Mayor Francis McCauley rode a 64 per cent vote cushion to a third term in Tuesday's city election, easily turning back challenger Joanne Condon.

In other highlights:

• Frank C. Santoro and Margaret (Peggy) Nigro were elected to the School Committee, ousting Joan Picard and Nicholas Verenis.

• Thomas J. Nutley defeated Thomas P. Koch for the Ward 6 City Council seat vacated by Condon to run for mayor.

• Council at-large incumbents Joseph J. LaRaia, Richard J. Koch, Jr. and Patricia M. Toland were re-elected, finishing in that order. Toland edged Ronald P. Iacobucci, the lone challenger by 339 votes.

• Ward 3 incumbent John J. Lydon, Jr. was re-elected, defeating Howard A.W. MacKay by 275 votes.

• School Committee-woman Mary P. Collins was re-elected topping the five-candidate field by a wide margin.

Only 45.4 percent of the city's voters went to the polls on a rainy election day.

McCauley polled 13,115 votes to Condon's 7,306, winning by nearly 2-1.

"It was a good victory," said McCauley. "I said all along that the people would respond to a positive campaign."

"I want to thank all the people who went out in the weather to vote. There was a strong show of support."

McCauley attributed his victory to a good record in office.

Condon said, "It seems the city of Quincy is not ready for Joanne Condon at this time."

"We were ready for the job, but they were not ready for us. "I have no regrets leaving as ward councillor. It was my time to move up."

"They haven't heard the last of Joanne Condon," she added.

The three incumbents retained their seats as councillors at large.

LaRaia a former mayor, topped the voting in that contest with 12,925; followed by 12,057 for Koch, and 10,776 for Toland.

Iacobucci tallied 10,437, 339 behind Toland.

In the school committee race, incumbent Collins topped the voting with 11,178, followed by Santoro, 9,577, and Nigro, 8,784.

Picard's total was 8,704. Verenis garnered 8,640.

"I feel as though over the past four years, a lot of parents have realized there should have been more input in the school system," said Santoro.

In Ward 3, Lydon retained his seat with 1,889 votes over MacKay's 1,614.

Nutley defeated Koch by 2,083 votes to 1,508.

"I really pushed the issue that this is a serious election," said Nutley. "we need someone with a length of community involvement and experience."

Four councillors were re-elected unopposed.

The four and their vote totals: Michael Cheney, Ward 1, 3,049; Theodore DeCristofaro, Ward 2, 2,897; James Sheets, Ward 4, 2,443; and Stephen McGrath, Ward 5, 2,282.

A total of 21,187 votes were cast in the election.

City Clerk John Gillis reported no problems with the punch card voting system which was initiated in the primary election.

All of the election results were tabulated by about 10:30 p.m.

Under the old paper ballot system, election workers would labor into the early morning hours before the results would be known.

The mayoral campaign heated up in the final weeks with McCauley defending personal real estate transactions and Condon explaining alleged delinquent auto excise taxes.

However, the developments didn't seem to have much influence on voters as McCauley's margin over Condon was much the same as in the primary - nearly 2 to 1.

Storage Permit Granted For 2,660 Gallons Gasoline

Harbor Point Realty Trust, 90 Quincy Shore Dr., was granted permission by the city's Licensing Board to store 2,660 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of cars parked in a garage at that location.

The action of the board at its meeting Tuesday means that Harbor Point can park up to 133 vehicles in the garage. A gasoline storage permit was needed because the cars will be parked in an enclosed area.

"We need the permit for the gas in the cars, not to pump gas," said Atty. Peter Eleey, who represented Harbor Point Realty Trust at the meeting. Eleey said the garage is located under a building at 90 Quincy Shore Dr. and consists of two levels for parking.

Eleey told the board the location is zoned Business B. He added that area neighbors were not opposed to the request for a gasoline storage permit.

New Law Changes Lockup Requirements

Towns with populations of less than 5,000 persons will no longer be required to maintain lockups for arrested persons, said State Senator Paul D. Harold.

Under a new law effective this month, the former threshold of 3,000 population has been increased to 5,000, Harold said.

Towns with more than 5,000 persons will now be required to have lockups, but any town may have one, he said.

Harold noted that not many towns would qualify for the exemption, but it might help some smaller communities save money, if other facilities are conveniently available.

Harold's district, Avon, with its most recent population count of 4,977, just comes under the wire, he said.

The new law amends the statute passed in 1862 to require town lockups, according to Harold. The law, last amended in 1918, provides a $10 fine for each month in which a town required to maintain a "secure and convenient" lockup neglects to do so, he said.

Auto Shop Gets 3-Month Probation

By LINDA WILKINS

Williams Auto Electric Service, 53 Intervale St., South Quincy, was placed on a three month probation Tuesday by the License Board because of neighbor's complaints.

According to neighbors, the shop causes continuous disturbances with riveting and sanding machines, stays open "all hours of the night, on Saturdays and Sundays with absolutely no consideration to the neighbors in the area," and, through spray painting, creates a severe health problem for area residents.

Neighbors present at the meeting to voice their complaints said bodywork is done in the shop and on the street.

"Your license is for repairs you just can't do bodywork," City Clerk and Board Chairman John Gillis told Glenn DePaulo of Williams Auto Electric Service. Gillis added that all work should be done inside the shop.

Another complaint by neighbors concerned spray painting by the shop. Board members told DePaulo that not only does his license not allow for spray painting, but by doing so without proper facilities, he was creating a health hazard.

But Jackie Quirk, representing Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets, told the board that some of the neighbors indicated that BFI Waste Systems, located near Williams Auto Electric Service at 22 Nightingale Ave., also was causing paint odors in the area.

"BFI does painting intermittently," she said, "we felt it was --" (DePaulo) to take the whole clout of paint fume odor."

In response to statements concerning fumes from BFI, board members said they will survey that operation.

Neighbors told DePaulo, who has been living in that area for 29 years, that they were "not at the meeting to put you (DePaulo) out of business."

"These are your neighbors, you have to protect them to some degree," Gillis added.

If there are no problems during the shop's probationary period, the complaints will be placed on file, the board decided.

"But if there are any further violations, we will revoke the license," said Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald.

License Board Briefs

Old City Hall Named After Him

Jim McIntyre 'Craftsman In Government'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"He was a craftsman in the field of government," said former Senate President Maurice A. Donahue Sunday, as the old City Hall building was renamed the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

Donahue was the main speaker at the dedication attended by about 300 people who overflowed the Council Chambers at City Hall to remember the late mayor-senator.

McIntyre, a popular political figure, died after a heart attack at the age of 53 March 7, 1984.

His career in public service included serving as city councillor, mayor and state senator. He was legal counsel to the state senate at the time of his death.

A bronze marker at the door was unveiled and a granite marker on the building dedicated during the ceremonies.

"The James R. McIntyre Government Center. How singularly appropriate it is that this thriving city dedicates one of its historic buildings to a gentleman who reflected its noble past and prepared for its future of promise," said Donahue.

"One day, some day, a child will pause before this building and inquire: 'Who was James McIntyre?' How vain is the task to supply the answer."

"...Scorn the thought that it be restricted to a sterile delineation of offices held and the years of his terms. Let him know in metaphor that Jim McIntyre was, as the Quincy granite of this building--durable, utilitarian, rugged and dependable.

"...Permit that child to know that history is shaped by men. Teach him that history is the product of the efforts, and the industry of men, who dared to dream great dreams, and never faced a challenge too awesome for their courage.

"And then he will know Jim McIntyre.

"...His sense of purpose was constantly inspired by the needs of his people. He was a craftsman in the field of government. His vision knew no limit.

Donahue's Tribute Page 5

"His resourcefulness removed boundaries--his sincerity was a magnet to his convictions. He was the ideal public servant.

"View the recent metamorphosis of your own city. The advent of public transportation. The attraction of new industry. The erection of impressive buildings to house them. From a position of satellite to the capital city, Quincy now competes with it in economic market. All these bear the benchmark of Jim McIntyre."

McIntyre's widow, Sheila, said with a smile, "Jim would be mad that we're not outside so that everybody could sit down.

MAURICE DONAHUE

"He'd also be mad, Bill (Delahunt), that you didn't introduce every single politician here.

"In a way, I'm glad that it rained because I have a chance to stand in a room that Jim loved so dearly.

"He loved the State House, but he began here and the City Council, the old City Hall, this room, meant so much to him.

"I've never stood here before, and it is quite an honor.

"Four years ago October, Jim stood not far from here in McIntyre Mall, very grateful and proud to see his beloved father honored by the designation of Capt. William F. McIntyre Mall.

"Today, Elizabeth, Sheila and Charles, are equally proud, as am I, to see their beloved father honored with this permanent memorial.

"Our hearts are heavy, and yet they are filled with warmth and appreciation.

"No matter where Jim's interests and abilities took him, his heart was always in Quincy, in its government and the welfare of its citizens."

Mayor Francis McCauley noted McIntyre's role in bringing the MBTA to Quincy.

"As mayor, Jim McIntyre knew that if the city was to prosper longterm, the MBTA must come to North Quincy.

"As Senator, Jim McIntyre saw to it that that happened."

Robert Gibbons, one of the state's executive Office of Public Affairs, read a letter sent to Mrs. McIntyre by Gov. Michael Dukakis.

In the letter, Dukakis described McIntyre as "a man whose dedication to the community has profoundly influenced everyone."

The invocation was given by Msgr. James J. Scally, pastor, St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

A prayer was given by the Rev. Steele W. Martin, rector, Christ Church, Episcopal.

The benediction was given by Rabbi Mann, Beth Israel Synagogue.

"When I was told that this place, this beautiful building is going to be called the James R. McIntyre Government Center," said Rabbi Mann, "I

Housing Finance Agency Raises Acquisition Limits

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey, (D - Quincy), announces that the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency has raised the acquisition cost limits for existing one-to-four family homes under the agency's 9.9 per cent home mortgage program.

As a result of the tremendous real estate boom, said Morrissey, most area homes were priced out of reach for people who were eligible for this program.

These higher limits will provide a wider range of choice for these people, Morrissey said.

Limits for both existing and newly-constructed units as of Oct. 28 are as follows:

One-family, newly constructed, $96,000.
One-family, existing, $124,000.
Two family, existing, $140,000.

Three-family, existing, $170,000.

$1,000 Car Damage Requires Report

Property damage in motor vehicle accidents must now reach $1,000 in order for an accident report to be required, according to State Senator Paul D. Harold.

Under a new law now in effect, the former $500 threshold for damage has been doubled to $1,000, Harold said. The damage requiring a report is not the total damage in an accident, but $1,000 damage to any one vehicle or other property, he noted.

Harold said the increase comes only three years after it was raised from $200 to $500 in 1982.

"With the cost of cars and repairs today, it doesn't take very much to cause $500 damage," Harold noted. "The purpose of accident reports is to provide the Registry and police with information they can use to improve dangerous roads and intersections, not to fill file cabinets with reports of minor accidents."

Harold said the law requires motorists involved in accidents to file the reports with the Registry of Motor Vehicles and the police department in whose jurisdiction the accident occurred. Motorists are also well-advised to file a copy with their insurance company, Senator Harold said.

The new law also requires police departments to accept hit-and-run reports from motorists, even though the culprit causing the damage files no report, according to Harold.

Tears In His Voice

Former Senate President Maurice Donahue delivered what certainly was an eloquent tribute to late Mayor-Senator James R. McIntyre Sunday.

DONAHUE

As keynote speaker at the renaming of old City Hall as the James R. McIntyre Government Center, Donahue said in part of his close friend:

"He was a craftsman in the field of government. His vision knew no limit. His resourcefulness removed boundaries. His sincerity was a magnet to his convictions. He was the ideal public servant."

But, it was another old friend, Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue who really moved the more than 300 in attendance in an emotional benediction.

If there weren't tears in his eyes, they were there in his voice as he said:

"When I was told that this place, this beautiful building is going to be called the James McIntyre Government Center, I rejoiced. He came back home. He was gone away from here. But he's back with us. Jimmy McIntyre — what a man!"

"Yes, we honor him by naming this building in his memory, but he honors the building by having his name memorialized. . . . He was a great son, a great husband and a great friend of the Jewish people."

There were more than a few misty eyes in the crowd as his words came up to his heart.

Rabbi Mann didn't say so or didn't even hint at it. But, as the Memorial Committee knows, he was the first to suggest that old City Hall be named for Jim McIntyre.

INCIDENTALLY, the granite marker proclaiming the James R. McIntyre Government Center is, appropriately, Quincy granite.

It was provided by Linda Montilio of A. Monti Granite Co. who had a long slab of it. It probably came out of either Swingle's Quarry or the Granite Railway quarry.

Quincy's handsome dark granite is scarce now. Quincy quarries, once famed the world over, are now swimming holes or have been filled with rubbish.

The last productive quarry was Swingle's which shut down in 1955.

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING the ceremony were Ron Della Chiesa, Boston radio and TV music personality and nephew of the late Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa.

Bartholomew's Fair At Quincy Schools

Bartholomew's Fair, an especially designed musical program which includes children as participants, will be performed at Quincy Middle Schools during the month of November.

Sponsored by Young Audiences of Massachusetts, Bartholomew's Fair is a live performance by professional artists. Through the program, the audience will share in the enjoyment of making music together. Musical concepts and forms, such as the drone, ostinato, a round and a call-and-response song are explored. The audience is shown many early and near eastern instruments. Widely ranging cultural traditions are introduced, including the traditional repertoire of Renaissance Europe, Early American and the American Black tradition.

Bartholomew's Fair program begins with a procession led by John Fleagle on the medieval bagpipe. Fleagle is a singer and instrumentalist who studied music at Berklee College and Renaissance music with Marleen Montgomery in Boston. Following him are the members of the group playing shawm, and percussion. Completing the entourage are ten people from the audience, also playing percussion instruments.

Fleagle introduces the individual members of Bartholomew's Fair and talks about the bagpipe and the concept of a drone.

He was with his mother, Mrs. Aldo Della Chiesa, whose husband was a City Councillor from Ward 3.

Did the Della Chiesa family mind that old City Hall be renamed for McIntyre and not, say, Della Chiesa? "No," said Ron. "It is a fitting memorial to Jim McIntyre. But we feel that the honor to my uncle and his son, Walter, is a nice one, too."

He was referring to the mini-park at Quincy Center Plaza that honors the late mayor and his son, Walter, an Army lieutenant lost in a plane crash during the Korean War.

QUINCY Atty. Richard W. Barry is listed in the current issue of "Who's Who In American Law."

Barry, one of the area's top notch trial lawyers, is a former city councillor, city solicitor and Norfolk County first assistant district attorney.

During his time on the City Council (1960-66) he kicked up a bit of a ruckus when he proposed that historic Hancock Cemetery be taken for a parking lot. He still smiles about that one.

Incidentally, Barry reportedly is interested in running for district attorney if incumbent William Delahunt runs for attorney general.

But that won't happen until Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti decides to run again for Governor or some other higher office.

You might call that Quincy political chairs. All three are Quincy residents.

HAROLD

SENATOR Paul Harold and four other Quincy runners started and finished the recent Dublin Marathon in Ireland. The other four, who with Harold are members of the Quincy Flyers are: Jack Kelley of the Quincy Police Department; Don Knight, Herb Greene and Paul Butler.

Knight's time of 2:50 was tops for the Quincy contingent and qualified him for the Boston Marathon.

The marathon which drew about 7,000 runners, was organized by Pat O'Connell, a cancer victim who ran the Boston Marathon. Proceeds go toward a Cancer Unit at Cork Regional Hospital.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: "Diplomacy is the art of letting someone else have your way."

as leader. Burrows, having spent most of his life in the Bahamas, has a strong background in folk and traditional music. During the program, he does a group of Back traditional pieces from the Georgia Sea Islands, using body slapping and different voices.

The program will be at Broadmeadows Middle School, 50 Calvin Rd., Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 9 a.m.; Sterling Middle School, 444 Granite St., Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 10:30 a.m.; Atlantic Middle School, 86 Hollis Ave., Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 9 a.m.; and Central Middle School, 1012 Hancock St., Wednesday, Nov. 20, at 10:30 a.m.

REPUBLICANS TO HONOR SALTONSTALL

The Quincy Republican Club made plans to honor Senator Leverett Saltonstall at a dinner in the President's Room of Howard Johnson's Restaurant, Quincy Sq.

Chairman Frank Jones was assisted by Harold Nannis.

Republican county chairmen, ward chairman and presidents of Republican Women's Clubs were invited to dinner. It was expected that Congressman Laurence Curtis and Governor's Councillor Augustus Means would also attend.

VANE ST. PARKING TO OPEN

Lewis Doten, president of the North Quincy Board of Trade announced that the 66-car Vane St. parking lot would be dedicated later this week. The dedication will mark the opening of "Norfolk Downs Days" with a sales and free parking promotion.

SCHOOLS CHANGE MENU

North Quincy High School and Atlantic Junior High School switched their menus from cranberries to applesauce this week, in response to reports from Secretary of Welfare Arthur Fleming, that cranberries might contain cancer-producing agents.

Miss Agnes Berry, dietician for the schools said she removed cranberries to keep everybody happy. "At a time like this people can become alarmed; we'll give them applesauce," she said.

QUINCY-ISMS

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa suggested that the Lions Club sponsor an ordinance banning political signs in the city. . . . Two new members were named to the Ward 2 Democratic Committee, Joseph LaRaia and Ralph Rotondo. The committee meeting was held at the home of chairman John Travis. . . . The bookstore at Eastern Nazarene College was broken into and robbed of $330 and six ball point pens. . . . "Absolutely Murder" was presented by the Marston class at the Wollaston Baptist Church. . . . Norfolk County's new Democratic Sheriff, Peter McCormack offered all 14 Republican deputies the opportunity to remain in their posts (if they would support him for re-election).

Text Of Donahue Tribute

(The text of former Senate President Maurice Donahue's tribute to late Mayor-Senator James R. McIntyre at Sunday's dedication of old City Hall as the James R. McIntyre Government Center):

The James R. McIntyre Government Center. How singularly appropriate it is that this thriving city dedicated one of its historic buildings to a gentleman who reflected its noble past and prepared it for its future of promise.

One day, some day a child will pause before this building and inquire, "who was James McIntyre?" How vain is the task to supply the answer. Perhaps a tape should be placed in this center, so that child may be informed.

Scorn the thought that it is restricted to a sterile delineation of offices held and the years of his terms. Let him know in metaphors that Jim McIntyre was, as the Quincy Granite of this building—durable, utilitarian, rugged and dependable.

Embrace the contiguous burial ground which provides resting abode for the settlers of the community who were also the brave and resolute founders of our infant commonwealth.

Include the First Baptist Church and the Adams Crypts. Testimony of an unshaken thirst for freedom, in passionate patriotism, participants in our nations founding and caring hands as pilots of an uncharted concept of government.

Before this fabric woven in the past, the life, the deeds, the achievements of Jim McIntyre take form and substance.

Permit that child to know that history is shaped by men. Teach him that history is the product of the efforts, and industry of men, who dared to dream great dreams, and never faced a challenge too awesome for their courage.

And then he will know Jim McIntyre!

Some knew him as a scholar at the College of the Holy Cross. The Harvard Law School, and graduate programs at Boston University. Still others followed his lead in combat as an officer in the United States Marines. He was in the practice of the law a learned advisor to many, a skilled trial practitioner, a trusted counsellor. The citizens of this city entrusted every responsibility of government to his care -- and his performance as representative, as Senator and as Mayor vindicated their confidence.

He was in the trusted sense a public man, known, respected and admired. But that was not the alpha and omega of Jim McIntyre.

He was a sensitive husband to Sheila and a loving and proud parent. His quiet humor and incisive mind made him an estimable companion and his loyalty, a treasured friend. You, the citizens of Quincy knew him best. He was of you. The public trust is not given, it is earned. In the exercise of power that which enjoys tyranny is the balm of compassion. Jim McIntyre was a compassionate man.

His sense of purpose was constantly inspired by the needs of his people. He was a craftsman in the field of government. His vision knew no limit. His resourcefulness removed boundaries -- his sincerity was a magnet to his convictions. He was the ideal public servant.

View the recent metamorphosis of your own city. The advent of public transportation. The attraction of new industry. The erection of impressive buildings to house them. From a position of satellite to the capital city, Quincy now competes with it in every economic market. All these bear the benchmark of Jim McIntyre.

You honor him here today. And it is fitting, for he was an honorable man. By your trust in him, you gave him much in his life. But you did far more, for you gave to this commonwealth a leader who was a joy to his colleagues -- An inspiration to all who believe that government is the mirror of the ideals of its citizens.

Let that child of tomorrow appreciate that this building is dedicated here today because the man whose name it bears was true to his trust and because he was, he merited our respect and possessed our love.

Council Approves Precinct Changes

The City Council has approved four minor changes to a proposed redistricting plan for Quincy's wards and precincts.

The plan, presented by City Clerk John Gillis, calls for the six wards to be changed to approximately 16,500 in population.

They currently have from 13,200 to 16,500. The present 39 precincts would be reduced to 30.

The changes were suggested by the state when the city sought approval for the new political district lines.

The changes are tailored to realign precincts so that the population figures would be equal in the areas. They also create natural boundaries -- including creeks--between wards and precincts.

The plan was approved by the City Council Sept. 18.

DIET CORNER

Elaine Aliberti

BEGINNING WITH BREAKFAST

Q: My children love cold cereal, but doesn't it contain too much sugar?

A: Some breakfast cereals, especially sugar-coated, are high in sugar content.

At Diet Center, we suggest you serve your family whole-grain, natural cereals and breads with no sugar added. Some cold cereals fit into this category. To find out, check the label. Be careful of the other names used for sugar. It is often referred to as corn syrup, dextrose or glucose. Avoid buying foods listing these sweeteners as one of their first three ingredients.

There is a wide variety of healthful, nutritious breakfast foods. Natural fruit juices and fresh fruit can be prepared and refrigerated the night before for refreshing appetizers. Fresh fruit is also a flavorful, natural sweetener for whole-grain cereals. Scrambled eggs and whole-wheat toast add additional variety and nutrition to your breakfasts. And with the convenience of a microwave and a toaster, your children can learn to easily prepare their own breakfast.

For additional information on planning and preparing nutritious meals for your children, call your local Diet Center at 776-3442.

Red Cross Seeks Volunteers To Dress Dolls

The South Shore Chapter of the American Red Cross, 1245 Hancock St., Quincy, is seeking volunteers to dress dolls which will be distributed to households identified as needing "something extra" during the holiday season.

According to spokesman Merle Lindsay, volunteers may crochet, knit or sew doll clothes of any design. The Red Cross will provide 12-inch dolls, with underwear, socks and shoes. Clothing patterns are also available. Dolls are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Last year over 50 South Shore residents volunteered their talents to make clothes for dolls, which were distributed to needy children through several community organizations.

If you are interested in making doll clothes or would like to contribute toward the purchase of small toys, please call Merle Lindsay at the Quincy office of the Red Cross, 471-5440.

Quincy Fellowship Sponsoring Meals, Fun For Seniors At Grill 29 Restaurant

The Blake Mountain Country Band from Thornton, N.H., will perform Tuesday, Nov. 12, at Grill 29 Restaurant, Quincy, for a group of 75 senior citizens.

The senior citizens are from Granite Place and Eventide Home, both in Quincy.

Also attending will be City Councillor and Mrs. James Sheets, Police Chief Finn, Police Captain Paul Nestor, Hugo Fabrizio, Al Nacar, Michael Lindburg, Judy O'Keefe, Fred Robertson, Councillor Joseph LaRaia and other Quincy business people.

The band will perform spirited "senior square dancing" and will give a demonstration of clog dancing.

Along with the entertainment, the seniors will be given a full complimentary dinner, corsages, and photographs for their scrapbooks.

Quincy Cable TV will be on hand to film the festivities.

The event is sponsored by the Quincy Fellowship, a group of Quincy residents and business people who are creating events in which senior citizens and handicapped can participate.

The fellowship welcomes all inquiries from senior housing facilities in Quincy that are interested in attending a free luncheon.

The group also hopes to hear from interested businesses in Quincy that have something to offer the seniors in conjunction with the bimonthly meals at Grill 29.

'Gold Rush Of 86' Stewardship At Bethany Church

Stewardship 'Sunday' will be observed Sunday at Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spears Sts., Quincy Center.

There will be only one service at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon on "Hidden Treasure," based on texts from the Gospels of Luke 12:15-21 and Matthew 19:16-22 and 13:44-46.

Bruce J. Byorkman will be the lay scripture reader. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist.

The Chancel Choir under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory anthem, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," by Luther. Paul David Johnson, baritone soloist will sing the traditional, "I'd Rather Have Jesus."

The annual stewardship campaign to obtain pledges to underwrite the 1986 Bethany budget, is based on the "Gold Rush" theme. Some 40 persons designated as "Prospectors" and "Miners" will be in charge of 33 "stakes" or routes.

Win Bettinson, as the General Manager, and Jean Ross, as the Chief Prospector, are heading up this year's "Gold Rush" campaign.

Nov. 10 is designated as "Dig Sunday" when the "Gold Rush" drive begins. Pouches are delivered to the home of each member and friend of Bethany, and individuals and families make their pledges, place them in the pouch and deliver them to to the next house on the stake-route. The campaign is scheduled to be completed within two weeks by Nov. 24.

There will be a "Miner's Breakfast" in the Bethany social hall for all "Gold Rush" workers also Sun., Nov. 10 at 8:30 a.m. The Chief Cook Ken Fernald and his "hands" will prepare a western-style breakfast, and all the prospectors and miners will receive their instructions and pouches.

The workers will also come forward during the worship service for a consecration ceremony.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes for pre-school through 8th grade. Nursery care will be provided for babies and toddlers.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor and light refreshments will be served. Individuals and families from the South Shore area are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

The service will also be broadcast over station WJDA, 1300 kc., at 11 a.m. by delayed tape.

A membership class for persons who would like to consider becoming members of Bethany, reexamine their Christian Faith, and learn more about the United Church of Christ, will be held Wed., Nov. 13 at the Church, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. The group will be taught jointly by Rev. Arnold and Rev. Huntington.

For information about Bethany and its ministries and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

100TH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED—Mayor Francis McCauley presented a plaque from both the city and Sen. Paul Harold to the Rev. Arthur Curtis at a recent celebration of the 100th anniversary of Memorial Congregational Church. Services of recollection and rededication were held, as were a Women's Union luncheon reception and a Centennial Banquet.

Covenant Sunday At Squantum Church

Gathering first to have breakfast together, members of the First Church of Squantum renewed their commitment Sunday to God and to each other as a church.

The service included special music. Saxophonist John Chapman played along with the organ during the hymns as well as playing "Let Us Break Bread Together" as an offertory solo. Mary Ruth Scott was organist.

Greeters for the morning were Pat and Dana Olson. Steve Williams led the opening prayer. The readings from scripture were Jeremiah 31:31-34 and Matthew 18:15-20.

Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the topic, "The Covenant We Make," taking Matthew 18:20 as his text: "For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

The Youth Choir and the Chancel Choir joined together for the offertory anthem, "Antiphonal Psalm" by Henry Pfah.

All of the hymnals that were being used by the congregation Sunday were new ones. They had been donated to the church by members and friends in a drive coordinated by Marie Mildram. The hymnals were dedicated during the service.

Hymns for the morning included "We Gather Together," "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," "We Plead the Fields and Scatter" and "Now, O Lord, Go With Us." Sunday was also the day

The third annual "run" of the Pony Express will get under way Sunday, Nov. 10, at Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, 15 Harvard St., North Quincy, a "trail boss" breakfast and commissioning ceremony.

An estimated 15 persons acting as trail bosses and other personnel are expected for the breakfast briefing to be hosted by Pastor and Karen Peterson at the church's parsonage.

Saddlebags and run route lists will be handed out at the breakfast by Jim Stynes, general manager of the stewardship campaign.

The relay of saddlebags among parishioners will begin early the same afternoon.

Each saddlebag bears the names of approximately ten church families. Each family fills in an estimated card, seals it in an envelope and inserts it in the bag pouch and then hand-carries the saddlebag to another of the families on the route.

"We're excited because of the enthusiastic reception the Pony Express solicitations system received in our parish two years ago," Pastor Peterson said.

Pastor Peterson added that the program develops a spirit of teamwork, as well as one of competition, he said, comes in the eagerness of the trail bosses to see that their run is completed before another's is finished. "It's good healthy competition for a good cause," he said.

He said the teamwork is similar to that of the Pony Express riders of a century ago, knowing they can count on the next rider to relay the mail to its next destination.

Pony Express coloring books and balloons will be given to the school age children.

Trail bosses are Flo Steeves, Johann Smith, Gary Wells, Kim Hult, Al Stein, Roger Edman, Doris Mallard, Norman Nelson, Lynn Stynes and Jim Stynes.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

Throughout recorded history it has been a tragic fact that the best of the young men had to carry the burdens of fighting the battles and the wars in which their families, their tribes and their nations have been involved.

Now as we approach Veteran's Day, let us, as a nation, pause to honor those veterans — living and dead — who have served in the United States Armed Services in time of war. They served their country in a time of need. They served it well. Many gave up their lives for their country and for the freedoms we enjoy. On this Veteran's Day let us, also, honor those who have lived to make those freedoms meaningful by post-war service to their disabled comrades, to their neighbors, to their community, to their states and to their nation.

As we honor these millions of men and women on Veteran's Day, let us remember that patriotism endures as a viable force in preserving the American Way . . .

Cerasoli Bill Signed On Parent Liability

Parents of a child under the age of 18 and over age seven shall be liable in a civil action for specified willful acts committed by their child, according to a bill submitted by Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli (D-Quincy).

The bill, signed recently by Gov. Michael Dukakis, mandates that parents shall be liable for any willful act committed by their child which results in injury or death to another person or damage to the property of another, damage to cemetery property or damage to any state, county or municipal property.

Rep. Cerasoli stated that this law does not apply to a parent who does not have custody of such a child at the time of the commission of the willful act.

Recovery under this law shall be limited to the amount of proved loss or damage, but in no event shall it exceed $5,000, Cerasoli said. This new law changes the former law which provided for parental restitution not to exceed $2,000, he said.

Rep. Cerasoli said, "I am extremely pleased that the House of Representatives, the Senate and the Governor agree with me as to the implications of the changing of this law."

"It is my hope that with the responsibility for the actions of a child being placed upon parents to a greater extent, vandalism and other malicious acts will decrease."

Veterans Day

Joseph Walsh Speaker

Veterans Day Parade Monday

Joseph Walsh, past State Commander of the World War I veterans, will be the principal speaker at Quincy's Veterans Day exercises Monday, Nov. 11.

The parade will step off on School St. at 10:30 a.m. led by Chief Marshal Ralph Paull, present commander of the Quincy Veterans Council; and honorary parade Chief Marshal Joseph Downing, commander of Quincy's 458th World War I Barracks. The line of march will move down Hancock St. to Adams Academy.

The reviewing stand will be set up in front of the Quincy Masonic Temple on Hancock St.

Following the laying of a poppy wreath at the doughboy statue on the lawn of the academy, the group will proceed to the United First Parish Church in Quincy Center. The Rev. Steele Martin, Rector of Christ Church, will give the invocation. Paull, who is also commander of the Jewish War Veterans Post, will extend a welcome and Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley will give the greetings from the city.

Walsh, former Quincy Deputy Fire Chief, will deliver his Veterans Day address.

Also participating in the ceremony at the church are Rev. William McCarthy, Pastor, St. John's Church, who will offer a prayer. The National Anthem will be played, after which Rabbi Jacob Mann of Congregation Beth Israel will deliver the benediction.

Following this ceremony the World War I group will retire to the Morrisette American Legion Post, 54 Miller St., West Quincy, where the honored guests will be feasted at a Ferguson catered dinner.

The parade roster will include Chief Marshal Ralph Paull, commander, QVC; aide to Paull, Joseph Zona, senior vice commander,

Special Day Of Tribute For World War I Veterans

By DAN CONNELLY

Quincy's annual Veterans Day parade and ceremony Nov. 11 will be a special "Day of Tribute" for World War I veterans.

Honorary Chief Marshal of the parade will be Joseph Downing, commander of the Quincy World War I Barracks.

Speaker of the day will be Joseph Walsh, past State Commander of World War I veterans, and a former Quincy Deputy Fire Chief.

Nearly 30 other veterans of the first world war have notified the Quincy Veterans Council they plan to participate in the day's activities. Beside Downing and Walsh they are:

Gustaf W. Anderson, Frank Anselmo, Robert W. Clark, John R. Copeland, Peter E. Dunn, Howard W. Evers, Howard D. Farrant, Albert H. Googins, Carroll L. Hardy, Joseph E. Hart, Walter R. Hearn, Herbert B. Hollis, Frank Holzer, Ernest A. Merritt, Daniel A. Maoney, James Montcrieff, Clark Overhiser, Michael J. Saville, George W. Shirley, Henry Shirarh, and Henry S. Wynot.

The parade will step off on School St. at 10:30 a.m. Walsh will deliver the annual address at 11 a.m. at United First Parish Church, Quincy.

According to Thomas Hurlbaeus, past commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, to give the honored World War I guests the dignity and honor they deserve, Morrisette Legion Post, 54 Miller St. has voted to forego the usual server-youself buffet and instead will hold a catered dinner at 12:30 p.m. following the parade. Hurlbaeus is also chairman of this event.

Montilio's Bakery will donate a cake for this occasion.

Among those invited are Congressman Donnelly, members of the Massachusetts Senate, House of

THE DOUGHBOY STATUE in front of the Adams Academy, home of the Quincy Historical Society, honors "The Men of Quincy Who Served in the World War 1917-1918."

Representatives and Quincy City Council, who will present honors and citations to the honored guests.

Officials of the Quincy Veterans Council will announce at the dinner that a time capsule is being readied. It will contain a document, prepared by Hobart Holly of the Historical Society, which will describe Quincy and her veterans of World War I. Also to be placed into the capsule copies of citations, signatures and biographies of these veterans, video cassette and news clippings of the days events and other pertinent material.

The container will then be buried in the Adams Academy lawn at the Doughboy Statue and opened Nov. 11 at 11 a.m. in the year 2018, the 100th anniversary of the signing of the armistice—ending hostilities of that world war.

JWV Join Brotherhood In Special Observance

The Jewish War Veterans Post of Quincy will join with the Beth Israel Brotherhood of Quincy in a special observance of Veterans' Day on Sunday, Nov. 17.

JWV Commander Ralph Paul will join with Beth Israel Brotherhood President Irving Isaacson in welcoming all members as they assemble for this annual religious convocation and breakfast meeting at 8:30 a.m. at the Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St.

World War II veteran John

Noonan, a life-long Quincy resident, and anchor newsman for Quincy Sun Ch. 8 and host of "Cabletalk" Ch. 3, will address the group.

The joint worship, held to pay tribute to those brave veterans of all wars, will include in its program the National Anthem, invocation, presentation of colors, Honor Roll call, a memorial lighting, Psalm 23 Kadish and Breaking Bread-Hamotzie.

Breakfast and a social hour will follow.

Thomas McDonald Named To VFW National Committee

A North Quincy man has been appointed by the national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to serve as a member of the organization's National Safety Committee.

Thomas M. McDonald of 24 Vershire St., a member of the Bryan VFW Post and a former State Commander, was appointed by the Commander-in-Chief of the VFW, John S. Staum of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Staum said that McDonald's record of service and achievement to both the nation and the VFW were the key considerations in making the selection.

The National Safety Committee is responsible for establishing goals and objectives for the VFW for the 1985-86 administrative year.

THOMAS McDONALD

The over two million member VFW just completed its 30th consecutive year of membership growth while celebrating its 86th anniversary of service to the country's 28 million living veterans and their families.

Tremendous Response To Write-In Campaign On POW-MIA's

Quincy's response to a nationwide postcard and letter write-in on POW-MIA's is termed "tremendous" by area Vietnam veterans.

The October campaign was launched to press the Vietnamese government for an accounting of the 2,500 American servicemen and civilians listed as prisoners of war or missing in action.

The cards, letters and facsimiles will be delivered to the Vietnamese mission to the U.N. in New York City on Nov. 11, Veterans' Day.

The write-in campaign was organized by the National League of Families, made up of relatives of the missing servicemen. It asked Americans to send a letter, postcard or facsimile urging the Vietnamese government to accelerate efforts to account for the POWs and MIAs.

A facsimile of the postcard was printed in the Oct. 24 edition of The Quincy Sun.

The Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces Quincy Chapter collected the write-in messages from scores of drop-off points in the city and turned them over Nov. 2 to Maureen Dunn of Randolph, state coordinator for the drive, at Quincy City Hall.

City leaders were on hand for the presentation.

In accepting the POW/MIA messages from President David D. Lawson of the Quincy veterans group, Mrs. Dunn said "these, as well as

THE QUINCY CHAPTER of the Vietnam Combat Veterans Combined Armed Forces now has a Quincy flag for its color guard. more than 50,000 collected from across Massachusetts will be hand delivered by myself and a delegation of members and concerned citizens to the Vietnamese government mission at the U.N. in New York City on Veterans' Day."

Her husband, Navy Cmdr. Joseph Dunn, was shot down over the South China Sea on Feb. 14, 1968.

Mrs. Dunn has served as the national coordinator of the National League of Families, and is now its regional coordinator for the Northeast.

She believes some of the POWs and MIAs are still alive, noting that there have been hundreds of live sightings of the servicemen, some as recent as four years ago.

Lawson believes that as many as 486 Americans are still held hostage and the remains of 2,000 men are in the custody of the government of Vietnam.

"The only reason that even one person has been returned is because of the pressure and public awareness campaigns conducted by the National League of Families, the Vietnam veterans and other concerned citizens who support this demand for an accounting of those still missing in Southeast Asia.

"The city council, Veterans Council, police and fire departments, the mayor, and all the people of Quincy can stand a little taller and know that by helping and participating in this MIA postcard drive they have done something to help resolve the POW/MIA issue."

Condon Asks Investigations Of McCauley Transactions

City Councillor Joanne Condon has written to the state ethics and banking commissions asking that they investigate real estate transactions made by Mayor Francis McCauley and his aide.

Condon stated in the letters that questions have been raised relative to the state conflict of interest law and alleged irregularities in financing the purchase of the properties.

"I have received calls from concerned citizens relative to these transactions and I would ask that you formally look into this matter," stated Councillor Condon.

The matter she referred to involved private real estate transactions McCauley made with his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley.

McCauley bought a six-unit apartment building in Wollaston from Foley in 1983 for $130,000. To help finance his daughter's college education, he sold it back to Foley in 1984 and made a $90,000 profit.

McCauley later bought a four-family house for $140,000.

The first transaction was financed with a $100,000 loan from Granite Cooperative Bank and $30,000 from Foley.

The second transaction was financed with a $112,000 mortgage from Granite Cooperative and a loan of $28,000 from Foley.

The State Ethics Commission cannot comment on receipt of any complaint, according to a spokesperson.

Also, any action would be put on hold, said the spokesperson, because the commission's power to investigate has been thrown in question by the Supreme Judicial Court.

"We're waiting for legislation which would correct our situation and enforce power with regard to municipal employees or elected officials," said the spokesperson.

Condon Pays Excise Taxes

City Councillor Joanne Condon has paid $325.84 in automobile excise taxes which the city said she owes.

The taxes are for 1971 to 1974, 1976, 1977, and 1985, according to City Hall records.

Councillor Condon has said that, to the best of her knowledge, she doesn't owe money on excise taxes.

"I'm paying this based on the allegations of Mr. (Franklin) Jay, (city treasurer)," said Councillor Condon. "What's the saying-- You can't fight City Hall?"

Gerard Nichol Elected Police Assn. President

Gerard Nichol was recently elected president of the Quincy Police Betterment Association.

Nichol will serve one year on the executive board of the association.

Also elected were Richard Crespi, vice president; Paul Curtin, treasurer; and Henry

P. Bradley, secretary.

The election was held at the Quincy Police Station. The annual meeting followed at the Fore River Club House.

Joseph Kelley Honored By MBTA

Joseph M. Kelley of Quincy has been honored by the MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary for 40 years of service to the Authority.

Kelley joined the MBTA as a messenger in 1945. From 1946 to 1973, he served progressively as junior clerk, clerk, garage clerk, machinist helper, machinist second class, machinist first class and garage foreman. He was promoted to maintenance supervisor in 1977 and was appointed to his present position of automotive materials officer in 1983.

In praising Kelley O'Leary said:

"I am delighted to have this opportunity to honor employees with long-term service records. The dedication of MBTA employees such as Joseph M. Kelley is representative of so many unsung heroes who contributed to meeting the T's daily challenges."

O'Leary presented Boyle with a plaque and a tie tack.

John Scolaro Completes Basic Training

Airman John G. Scolaro, son of Frank D. Scolaro of 12 Sixth Ave., Quincy Point, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

Scolaro will now receive specialized instruction in the munitions and weapons maintenance field.

He is a 1985 graduate of Quincy High School.

Weymouth North 43, Quincy 12

By TOM SULLIVAN

Things have been getting worse every week for the injury-riddled Quincy football team and the future doesn't look any rosier.

Last week the Presidents lost to Weymouth North, a former Suburban League rival now in the Old Colony League, 43-12, in the rain at Weymouth's Legion Field, dropping their record to 0-7.

Quincy faces a rough task trying to go into the North Quincy game without a win.

Saturday the Presidents go to Newton to face Newton North, winner of four of its last five games, at 1:30 p.m. The following week Quincy must go against Brockton's undefeated powerhouse.

"We have had so many players out with injuries, I've had to move kids around and many are playing at unfamiliar positions," said frustrated coach Jack Raymer. "This is like last year when I was unable to field a full team until the North Quincy game. We have had an awful lot of injuries this fall and I just hope we can be healthy for North Quincy. I'm not giving up and we'll give everything we have against Newton and Brockton, but we must get some of our hurt players back."

Chris Veneto, Quincy's top runner, has been out of action for several weeks and joining him on the sidelines last week was Ron Luisi, another top ball carrier.

A number of linemen also missed the game, including Norm Hassan and John Picarski, and Raymer was forced to keep moving players around.

While Weymouth North, which had lost five in a row following an opening-day win, stuck almost entirely to the ground on the wet surface. Raymer had to go 90 per cent through the air.

"After the first quarter we found we couldn't run and Steve Austin threw nearly 50 passes," Raymer said. "The kid did a fine job under the terrible conditions and again proved he can throw with the best of them. And Don Parry was unbelievable, again going both ways and doing a little bit of everything. He has been fantastic all season."

Austin completed eight passes for 254 yards, including six to Parry, but he had a rough afternoon as five of his passes were intercepted and several strikes were dropped due to the wet ball.

In addition to his six receptions, Parry did a fine job returning kickoffs and punting and played a strong defensive game.

Weymouth gained over 300 yards on the ground with Glen Boudreault having an amazing day with 251 yards rushing and four touchdowns.

"We scouted Weymouth at Randolph and they had only three first downs, but Boudreault was terrific today," Raymer said. "I don't want to put him down, but our tackling was very poor and many times the boys had him stopped, only to have him slip away and go for long runs. One of the game officials told me he hit as hard as anyone he has seen, but couldn't bring the runners down."

Quincy Girls Suburban Champs

The Quincy girl's volleyball team is once again the Suburban League champion and its next goal is its third state championship in four years.

The First Ladies, who had clinched the league crown earlier in the week, defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 2-0 (15-0, 15-8), last Friday to finish 17-0. They have now won 39 straight matches.

Mario LeVangie served nine points in the easy first-game win over Cambridge and Quincy won the second game behind the accurate setting of Ginny Duggan. LeVangie and Lauren Standing helped clinch the victory with some strong hitting.

Earlier in the week Quincy had clinched the title with a 2-1 (14-16, 15-10, 15-2) win over second place Newton North. This was only the fourth match in which Quincy was forced into a third game.

The accurate setting and alert play of Ginny Duggan as well as strong defense in the second half of the match helped the First Ladies cause.

Injury Plagued Presidents Face Newton North

(Cont'd from Page 21)

Larry Taglieri was outstanding at defensive end and Paul Lally, forced to play defense for the first time, did a fine job.

Offensively, Steve Gardner, sophomore Sean Munroe, Joe Innello and sophomore Tom Bjork played well.

To make matters worse, Kevin Devonshire was injured in the opening quarter and taken to the hospital and Tony Venturelli was also taken to the hospital in the final quarter.

"Venturelli seems all right and may be back Saturday, but it is doubtful Devonshire will be playing," said Raymer. "Also, I hope Veneto will be back Saturday. We have missed him tremendously since he was injured in the Malden game and has missed the last three games." Veneto had run for 100 yards or more in two of his first three games.

Things started badly for the Presidents when an Austin pass was deflected and intercepted by Dennis Shea early in the game and returned to the Quincy 24, from where Mickey O'Malley scored. Shawn Brennan passed to Brian Chaisson for the two-point conversion.

Quincy came back after holding Weymouth on the 15 and Austin passed to Parry for 30 yards, to Parry again for 13 and, finally, to Gardner for 44 yards and a touchdown. A pass for the tying points failed.

There was only 1:15 left in the first quarter but Weymouth scored again following the kickoff when Boudreauld broke away and raced 58 yards for his first score. Brennan passed to Mike Jackson for the conversion and Weymouth led, 16-6.

Early in the second quarter Mike Mahoney came up with another interception and Boudreauld capped the drive by scoring from the eight.

Later in third quarter, after Ken Southwick had sacked Brennan for an 11 yard loss, it was Boudreauld again as he shook off several defenders and went 57 yards for his third score and Weymouth led, 28-6, at the half.

Quincy kicked off to open the second half and, with just 1:15 gone in the third quarter, Boudreauld galloped 74 yards for his fourth tally and Brennan's pass to Chaisson made the score 36-6.

A few minutes later, following an Austin to Parry pass for 41 yards to Weymouth's 20, another Austin pass was intercepted on the one-yard line. Sparked by a 55-yard run by O'Malley, the Maroons drove all the way to Quincy's nine but were held. Following a Parry punt, Weymouth drove to its final score and Mahoney scored from the four. Brian Baumester kicked the point.

With time running out Austin hit Parry, who outraced the Weymouth secondary to complete an 86-yard scoring play.

North Girls Continue Hex Over Quincy

The North Quincy girls' swim team wound up another winning season last Friday night when it defeated Quincy, 114-56, before an enthusiastic crowd of over 200 at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

It was the 11th straight win over Quincy, which has never defeated its cross-town rival.

"The young Quincy team had some excellent performances and the score does not reflect how well they did as a team," said North coach Bill Walker, whose teams always have a decided manpower advantage. "More swimmers came out for the Quincy team this season and they should do well in the future."

North's points were spread out with outstanding performances by all, especially the freshmen. North is very young with 16 freshmen, six sophomores, nine juniors and only six seniors.

Quincy and North will compete in the Suburban League meet Friday at Brookline.

North Quincy won every event against Quincy with Julie Killion winning the diving (183.65 points) and the 100 freestyle (1:06.10) and also swimming on the winning 400 freestyle relay team.

Freshman Beth Hughes was a double winner, taking the 100 backstroke (1:21.11) and the 200 freestyle (2:33.23).

Other North winners were Liz Harrington, 200 individual medley (2:47.20); Donna King, 50 freestyle (28.57); Sarah Harrington, 100 butterfly (1:31.17); Stacey Quintilliani, 500 freestyle (6:17.61); Lisa Rodriguez, 100 breaststroke (1:27.24); the 200 medley and relay team of Michelle Casey, Sheila Comeau, Liz Harrington and Stephanie Francis (2:23.20) and the 400 freestyle relay team of King, Killion, Quintilliani and Lori Magrath (4:29.51).

Taking seconds for North were Rodriguez, 200 individual medley; Kristen McCready, 500 freestyle; Comeau, 100 breaststroke, and the 200 medley relay team of Sarah Harrington, Melissa Flaherty, Sarah Edwards and Allison Spring.

Placing third were Joanna Vermette, 200 freestyle; Anne O'Sullivan, diving; Renee Robichaud, 100 butterfly; Francis, 100 freestyle; Christine Calnan, 500 freestyle, and Casey, 100 backstroke.

Placing second for Quincy were Janet Morrell, 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke; Keri Mortimer, 50 freestyle; Renee Gaura, diving and 100 freestyle, and the 400 freestyle relay team of Mortimer, Karen Craig, Janet Morrell and Gaura.

Taking third places were Patty Morrell, 200 individual medley and 100 breaststroke; Craig, 50 freestyle; the 400 freestyle relay team of Karen Picarski, R. Lambert, Darlene Quinn and Pam Blowers, and the 200 freestyle relay team of Quinn, Stacey Freele, Lisa Sands and Picarski.

Waltham 36, North Quincy 0

Raiders Look For Win Against Cambridge

North Quincy's football team found out the hard way last Friday night why Waltham is 7-0 and tied with Brockton for the Suburban League lead.

The Raiders, hoping for two wins in a row after defeating Somerville the previous week, found the Hawks too much as Waltham rolled to a 36-0 victory at Waltham. The Raiders fell to 1-6.

The Brockton-Waltham game on Thanksgiving should be one of the season's best and will decide not only the league crown but one of the spots in the Super Bowl.

North hopes to return to the win column Saturday when it hosts Cambridge Ring and Latin at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

"They were just too much for us," said Coach Ken McPhee. "That is a real good team. Our boys gave it their best shot and what more can I ask? We'll be working hard for Cambridge."

North could not contain Scott Guisti, whose two brothers were all-scholastics at Waltham. He scored three touchdowns as he led the Hawks' attack, rushing for over 100 yards.

North Quincy had 134 yards on the ground as compared with 212 for Waltham, and Ted Shionis had 109 of those yards. It was his fourth 100-yard plus game since being moved into a starting halfback spot in the third game of the year.

North's Chris Gray was three of 10 passing for 37 yards and one interception, while Waltham was six for nine for 92 yards. Gray, one of the best punters in the league, had one blocked for the first time this year and it led to a Waltham touchdown. Waltham had 13 first downs and North Quincy six.

Defensively Rob Bradley and Steve Miller had fine games.

Waltham made most of their yardage around the ends.

Waltham scored with 3:24 left in the first quarter when Guisti scored from the four and Mike Keough kicked the extra point.

The Hawks widened 'their lead' to 14-0 in the second quarter as John Logue handed off to Jim Falzone, who went three yards for the score. Keough again kicked the point.

On its next possession, Guisti scored his second touchdown from the 18 and Rich LeBlanc took a pass from Keough for the two-point conversion and a 22-0 halftime lead.

North Quincy started to get things going after Shionis returned the kickoff to his 38. He carried for two first downs but, with two minutes left in the half and North on Waltham's 22, Gray was sacked for a 10-yard loss. Guisti intercepted Gray's pass as the half ended.

In the third quarter Guisti scored from a yard out and Keough added the extra point kick and Dave Falzone scored from the eight and Keough kicked the game's final point. North gained just six yards in the quarter.

North staged its best drive with time running out but Shionis was stopped on the one-yard line and Waltham had its shutout.

NORTH QUINCY'S offensive line has shown steady improvement this fall and hopes to help the Raiders to their second win Saturday. Front, left to right, Ed Bagley, Kevin McCarthy and Don Clancy. ## Raiderettes Complete 4th Straight Undefeated Season

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team completed its fourth straight undefeated Suburban League season with a 24-37 victory over Brookline. The Raiderettes have now won 38 straight dual meets.

Lou Tozzi gave his top runners a day off and gave several unheralded girls a chance to prove what they could do. They have performed well all season but have played second fiddle to the Raiderettes' veteran runners.

The Raiderettes, who will be seeking their sixth straight Eastern Mass. title soon, were paced by Sharon Barrett, who finished second in 15:41, placing behind Brookline's Megan McCarthy.

Other North scorers were Caryn Collings, fourth; Anne Toland, fifth; Bridget Toland, sixth; and Maureen Furey, seventh. Colleen Toland finished eighth and Parti Feeney 10th.

Friday Ticket Deadline For Leone Dinner

Friday is the deadline for purchasing tickets to the Carl Leone testimonial Nov. 21 at the Lantana in Randolph.

No tickets will be sold after Friday and none will be sold at the door.

Tickets are $20 each and are available at the principals' offices at Quincy High (786-8754) and North Quincy High (786-8745) and at the office of Director of Athletics Marv Finnegan (786-8782).

John Ricciutti will be master of ceremonies at the tribute for Leone, who recently retired as Coordinator of Athletics after 16 years. Speakers are being lined up and the committee hopes to have 400 present for the festivities. Many of Leone's former players (he coached North Quincy after starring for Quincy High and Brown University) and a number of his fellow athletic directors are expected to attend.

A cocktail hour and receiving line will start at 7 p.m. and a family-style roast beef dinner will be served at 8.

Anyone unable to attend but wanting to contribute, is welcome to do so. All checks can be made out to Carl Leone Testimonial.

Jaehnig Club Rallies, 66-63

The Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy, down by 15 points in the first half, rallied to defeat J.B. Heating, 66-63, in the South Shore Sports Center Basketball League. Jaehnig is 6-2, and tied for second place one game behind John Hancock.

J.B. Heating, led by John Byers' 24 points, couldn't miss in the first half and led, 37-26, at the break. The second half saw Jaehnig's full-court pressure take its toll on the tiring Heating squad.

Chuck Jaehnig scored 14 of his 26 points in the first half, Bob Dacey and Bill Murphy had 15 and 12 points respectively. Mark Jaehnig had six, Mike Venna, who along with Murphy, keyed the defense, had four apiece and Pete Gray and Mike Jaehnig two each.

Jaehnig qualified for the playoffs for the fourth straight year, while Heating misses for the first time in three seasons.

The standings, with one set of games to play: John Hancock, 7-1; Jaehnig, 6-2;

Bank of New England, 6-2; D.C. South, 6-2; J.B. Heating, 5-3; Hawks, 3-5; Germantown Bangers, 3-5; Volt Busters, 2-6; Weymouth Maroons, 1-7; SSOB, 1-7.

Dudek All-Time College Scoring Leader

North Quincy's Joe Dudek is the all-time college scoring leader after scoring three touchdowns last week in Plymouth State College's 35-0 win over Western New England College.

Dudek, the Panthers' All-American halfback, had broken Walter Payton's NCAA scoring record with five touchdowns against Bridgewater State and tied the college record of 70 set by Wilbert Montgomery at Abilene Christian, an NAIA school.

Last Saturday the former North Quincy high standout scored on runs 59, 23 and four yards to bring his career total to 73 touchdowns, a mark which should stand for some time.

And he has one more regular season game remaining at home against Curry Saturday.

This could be Dudek's final game of a fantastic college career, although the Panthers are hoping for a post-season tournament invitation.

Dudek, only the seventh player in NCAA history to go over 5000 yards in a career, rushed for 139 yards last week, giving him 5180 yards.

Saturday's game with Curry will match two lineups stocked with Quincy and North Quincy players.

In addition to Dudek, Quincy's Bob Mudge and North Quincy's Neil Fisher and Steve Lee have played prominent roles in keeping Plymouth in a top tie in the New England Conference (7-1 in the conference, 7-2 overall). Quincy's Ed Iodice is a Plymouth assistant coach.

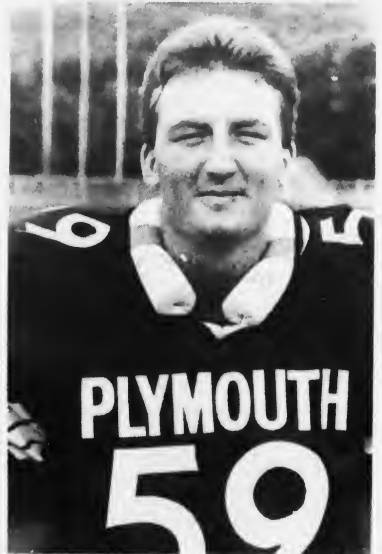

Curry is led by its brilliant quarterback, Quincy's Bob Barrett, one of the premier passers in the conference, and his favorite target, North Quincy's Jack Brown, a record-breaking receiver.

Also playing for Curry are North Quincy's Al DiBella, Jerry Martin and John Hannan and Quincy's Mike Donovan and Pat Calabro. North Quincy's Kevin Kelly played last year as a freshman but is sidelined this year. He hopes to return to action next fall. Quincy's Peter Chella is a Curry assistant coach.

Barrett and Brown sparked Curry to a 34-6 win over Nichols last Saturday, evening the Colonels' record at 4-4.

Barrett hit on five of seven passes for 142 yards, including two to Brown for touchdowns. The first was for nine yards, the second for 72 yards.

FORMER NORTH QUINCY High star Glenn Segalla is co-captain of the Plymouth, N.H. State College football team. Segalla, a 6-1, 215-pound linebacker, led the team with 125 tackles (11.4 average) last year when the team won its third straight New England Football Conference title. He was chosen as a member of AP's All-New England third team. Plymouth opened its season last Saturday with a 21-15 victory over Norwich, as North Quincy's Joe Dudek ran for 128 yards and Quincy's Scott Anson caught a touchdown pass.

• Youth Football

Elks Clinch First Place

The West Quincy Elks have clinched first place in the Quincy Youth Football League and will be one of the teams in 35th championship game on Nov. 17 at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The other spot in the title game is still a tossup. For the first time since 1978 the Quincy Point Panthers will not play in the title game following an 18-0 loss to the Squantum Sailors last Sunday.

The Elks were idle Sunday but clinched first place when the Panthers lost. Sunday the Panthers will meet the North Quincy Apaches at 2:30 and if the Panthers win, the Sailors will face the Elks in the title game. If the Apaches win, they will meet the Elks. The Elks will meet the Houghs Neck Manets at 1 o'clock Sunday.

This will be only the second time in 11 years that the Panthers have missed the championship game. They hold the league record with 19 championships. The Apaches are second with 12 titles.

The Panthers took the opening kickoff last Sunday, setting up on their 30. Brian Taylor drove to midfield for a first down but on the next play Joe Russell's pass was picked off by David Hutchins, who ran it back 50 yards for the score. Terry Hack stopped the attempt for the two-point conversion.

Led by the groundwork of Monte Baker, the Panthers took the ball into Sailor territory as the first quarter ended.

Two incomplete passes and a quarterback sack forced the Panthers to punt, setting up the second Sailor touchdown. Taylor's punt was blocked and a touchdown pass from the 10 made it 12-0. The half ended with no change in the score.

The Sailors took the second half kickoff, and, on third down pass interference was called on the Panthers on the 20-yard line. The Sailors added their final touchdown but Hutchins' kick for the conversion was blocked by Jim Sugrue.

The Panther junior varsity remained undefeated (7-2) with a 14-0 win last Saturday over the Sailors.

The Panthers, who have given up only 18 points this fall, were paced by Kevin Johnston with a fine two-way effort. Jeremy Burn played well on offense and Evan Kiley had a fine defensive game.

The Manets' jayvees outscored the Apaches, 36-30, in an exciting down-to-the-wire game. The Manets, trailing with only minutes to play, tied it at 30-30 and Rich MacDonald scored the game-winner on a sweep.

The Manets' Mark Bogan had a big day with three touchdowns and MacDonald added the other two. The defense was led by Jim Fiddler, Tim Schultz, Bobby Kane and Andrew Canniff. Dave Melly and Chad McMahon played well offensively. For the Apaches, Matt Lebrun, Mike Doherty and Matt Ryan stood out on offense and George Walsh, Steve Lombardi, Mark Kellcher and Dave Skuttle played well.

North-Cambridge Game on WJDA

Station WJDA, continuing its excellent coverage of schoolboy football, will do the play-by-play of the North Quincy-Cambridge Rindge and Latin game Saturday at 1:30 with Charlie Ross and Paul Carroll at the mike.

The pair also will do the play-by-play of the Abp. Williams at the Dom Savio game at 10 a.m.

Reports will be brought in from Quincy at Newton North, Silver Lake at Weymouth South, Weymouth North at Hingham and Braintree at Framingham South.

Ice Skating Classes At Quincy MDC Rink

Quincy residents seeking an "ice" way to stay fit and healthy, or to just have fun can take day or evening ice skating lessons at the Quincy MDC rink beginning mid-November.

Classes at the rink, which opens Nov. 17, meet at 3:30 and 4 p.m. in the afternoon, Saturday's at noon, and 7 p.m. in the evening. Most series are seven weeks for $35, plus a weekly rink admission fee of 50 cents for children and 51 for adults. Classes are co-ed and students may wear either figure or hockey skates.

Bay State Ice Skating school, which has a professional staff, is now accepting registrations. For more information, call 527-1936.

• Bantam House

Sun Wins 4th On Rudnisky Hat Trick

The Quincy Sun improved to 4-0-0 and holds a three-point lead in the Bantam House League after defeating Doran & Horgan, 8-2.

Mark Rudnisky had a hat trick, Jeff Connor two goals and Chris DeNatale, Jeff Hemphill and Bob Kane one each. Brian Mosher had three assists, Kane two and Connor, Hemphill and DeNatale one each. Chris LaForest and Darren Simmonell scored for Doran and Rod Davis, Mike Galvin, Mark Cafano and Kevin Marston had assists.

Johnson Motor Parts edged Burgin Plamer, 2-1, on goals by Sean Glennon and Bob Manning. Bobby Miller and Jerry Dunning had assists. Wayne Chambers scored for Burgin and Richie Golden and David O'Brien assisted.

The standings: Quincy Sun, 4-0-0; Johnson, 2-1-1; Burgin, 0-2-2; Doran, 0-3-1.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE

QUESTION: I have just agreed to purchase a home. It is extremely important that I move in within three days after the closing date. Is there some way I can prevent the possession date from being delayed?

ANSWER: If closing is important within a certain time limit, be sure that the phrase, "time is of the essence" is inserted into the sales agreement.

If this key phrase is not included, then either the buyer or seller can delay settlement for a "reasonable" time. What may be reasonable for one party may be unreasonable for the other. At this juncture, it may become a matter for the court to settle. Be sure to consult with your Realtor and attorney.

"TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE" is the key phrase in the agreement when closing date is vital.

Biofeedback Topic On Psychology Tonight Nov. 13

"Biofeedback In Stress Management" will be the topic of "Psychology Tonight" Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 8 p.m. on Quincy, Milton and Randolph Cable. Dr. Leonard Zaichkosky, professor of education at Boston University, and a teacher of biofeedback at the school, will join series host Tim Lynch to discuss the many uses of biofeedback.

Biofeedback, the use of machines to monitor tension, temperature and skin conductivity, enables the person to control these bodily functions that normally occur unconsciously, according to Lynch.

The use of these machines to control stress, high blood-pressure, sports training, migraine headaches and even natural child birth are discussed, a demonstration of these machines is also done with the aid of Psychology Tonight host Tim Lynch.

Heritage Senior's Fair Nov. 14

WEEK OF: NOVEMBER 7, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Financial ups and downs make this an unpredictable week in one department, but in romance you can figure out just where your relationship is headed. Music and the arts are featured.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Be wary of flatterers in your midst; you're your own best critic. Loved one may be unexpectedly defensive. Willpower is strong. This is a good time to launch improvement plans.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Whether participant or spectator, physical fitness is the theme of the week. Financial news-brightener may arrive after the weekend. Partnership activities are highlighted through period.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Partner may be preoccupied, but this may prove a favorable time for you to pursue new interests. Opportunity for increased prestige opens up. Hard work is stressed over luck.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Disappointing news can be turned to your advantage. Travel offers interesting surprises. Weekend bargain-hunting may pay off. Allow ample time for thorough financial review.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Partner may be full of silly surprises while you remain in an intellectual frame of mind. Be alert to happenings in the immediate community. Volunteer assignment leads to key contacts.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Avoid snap decisions that relate to finance or personal relationships. Highrises express admiration for your unique talents. Loved one responds to your concerns after the weekend.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Possible financial boost comes before Monday; caution against impulsive spending or investing. Romance accents the sentimental side of your relationship. Career rivalry peaks after Tuesday.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Allow extra time for the interests of youngsters; you prove an important role-model. Sophisticated events are highlighted on the weekend. Key career decision demands methodical review.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
In health, take charge and review your own needs as well as those of family and friends. Unexpected travel may take place on weekend. Management skills are put to the test.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Encouraging family news arrives by the end of the period. Financial judgment is put to the test; pick your confidant very carefully. Detective work is a present strength.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Wit sparkles and highrises admire your verbal abilities. One-time admirer may contact you during or after the weekend. Avoid snap decisions, especially those related to health.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Introspective, passionate, somewhat possessive and blessed with reserves of inner strength, you always make a lasting impression. Career and education dominate the next six months. Expansion is the keyword as you develop new interests and assume major new responsibilities.

BORN THIS WEEK

4 Escape As Plane Skids Into Swamp

By DAN CONNELLY

Four members of a Quincy management company escaped serious injury Tuesday when their Lear jet skidded off a rain-slick runway at Norwood Airport, and luckily was cushioned by mud as it plowed a path into the swamp.

The passengers were William O'Connell, a partner with his brother Peter in the O'Connell Management Company, and Walter J. Hannon Jr., O'Connell's vice president of construction and son of former Quincy Mayor Walter J. Hannon. Both businessmen are from Quincy.

Also aboard were pilots Robert Grass of Wellesley and Steve Emery of Norwood.

Dusty Rhodes, spokesperson for the firm, told The Quincy Sun the four were returning from Richmond, Va., where the company is working on a construction project.

O'Connell told Rhodes that after the plane landed in wind-whipped rain at Norwood Airport Tuesday morning, the craft proceeded down the runway and then, suddenly, experienced very intense weather conditions. As the jet approached the end of the runway and the brakes were applied, the tires suddenly hydroplaned on the soaked concrete and the craft veered off and into the swamp, finally coming to rest with its nose buried in the mud about 150 feet beyond the runway.

Rhodes said O'Connell opened a rear hatch and climbed out onto the tail followed by Hannon and the two pilots.

They slid down and then proceeded through the swamp putting distance between them and the damaged aircraft.

The four mud-covered men were walking along the runway when help arrived.

Phillip Morrison, an emergency medical technician, said that when he reached the crash scene, the plane was mostly buried. Only the tail and some of the rear fuselage were above the mud.

While pilots Grass and Emery remained at Norwood Airport to file reports and to see to the damaged Lear jet, O'Connell and Hannon called their Quincy office to say that the plane had a slight mishap while landing at Norwood. Everything was all right and they would be a little late getting to work.

Later, upon arriving at their East Squantum office, they filled in a more graphic account of the accident to Rhodes before going into their offices.

Rhodes said the plane makes frequent trips to the Richmond project.

A third pilot for the company is Tom O'Connell, brother of William. He was on, a day off when the jet landing mishap happened.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off
laundry costs
with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories
before you eat them?
Take control with
a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

Do you remember what you did on your 16th birthday?

Robert P. O'Connell of Quincy will never forget what he did.

Neither will his family, friends and classmates.

All Robbie did was:

* Fly solo in a helicopter.

* Fly solo in a twin engine fixed wing plane.

The double achievement is being submitted for entering in the Guinness Book of World Records for youngest double soloist honors.

Robbie is believed to be the youngest person in the country to complete both flights and to do them both on his 16th birthday.

The solo flights took place Oct. 27, at Sterling Airport, Sterling, in Central Massachusetts.

Robbie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. O'Connell, of Hatherly Rd. is a junior at Archbishop Williams High School in Braintree.

Flying is no stranger to the O'Connell family. His uncle, Tom O'Connell, is the chief pilot for O'Connell Management Company of North Quincy.

A birthday party was held following the flights at Amelias Restaurant at Marina Bay. Family and friends shared in the celebration as Robbie was presented with a plaque commemorating the event and a Certificate of Recognition from Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

10 Months Ahead Of Schedule Nov. 27 Target For Burgin Ext. Opening

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Officials are aiming for a Wednesday, Nov. 27, opening of the $9.9 million Burgin Parkway Extension which will link Quincy Center with Routes 3 and 128.

Whether or not the 1.2 mile road will open on that date depends on whether the traffic signals are functioning properly and weather permits the road markings to be completed, according to Sen. Paul Harold.

The extension, which would be opening 10 months ahead of schedule, proceeds straight from the Quincy Adams MBTA station, parallel to the railroad tracks, and comes out on Granite St., near Burger King, said Harold.

There are entrances and exits for the limited access highway at Star Market and Penn St., according to Harold.

Harold said he met at the site last Friday with Martha Reardon, associate commissioner of the Department of Public Works, and representatives of the district DPW and Modern Continental, the contractor.

Details of the opening ceremony have yet to be completed, said Harold, but former Mayor Thomas Burgin, after whom the Burgin Parkway and extension are named, has been invited to participate.

"The Burgin Parkway Extension is a major connector for the city and was a long time in the works," said Harold, who noted that the project was first discussed about 15 years ago. Harold said the extension has been a major project during his seven years as senator, as it was to his predecessors, senators Arthur Tobin and James McIntyre, both former Quincy mayors. "If the opening takes place on the 27th," said Harold, "that would make the extension available for the weekend shopping after Thanksgiving in downtown Quincy."

"The fact that it would be opening 10 months ahead of schedule would provide the maximum benefit for the Christmas shopping season."

"And that's one of the best Christmas presents Quincy could ask for."

Toland Tops Council

McCauley Outspends Condon In Final

Mayor Francis McCauley turned the tables and outspent challenger Joanne Condon by $7,128 during the time between the preliminary and final elections.

In the preliminary race, Condon outspent McCauley by more than $10,000.

McCauley defeated Condon in the election by nearly 2-1, 13,115 to 7,306.

According to campaign finance reports which were due the eighth day preceding the election, McCauley had an ending balance of $40,043, raised $16,350, spent $20,327 and now has $36,066.

Condon had a balance of $7,901, raised $9,610, spent $13,199, and has $4,313 remaining.

In the councillor-at-large race, in which all the incumbents were reelected, Patricia Toland led the spenders with $5,519.

Toland had $4,848, raised $3,782, and was left with a balance of $3,111.

Challenger Ron Iacobucci, who lost his bid for office, had $3,151, raised $2,450, spent $5,150, and has $452 left.

Joseph LaRaia, who was the top vote getter for that seat, had $1,058, raised $3,070, spent $1,936 and has $2,192 left.

Richard Koch, Jr., had $2,694, raised $2,750, spent $1,764, and has $3,680 left.

In the race for the Ward 6 seat, being vacated by Condon, Thomas Nutley outspent, as well as outpolled, Thomas Koch.

Nutley had $182, raised $3,763, spent $3,820 and has $125.

Koch had $598, raised $4,030, spent $2,148 and has $2,480.

In Ward 3, Howard MacKay, who lost, outspent his opponent, John Lydon, who won reelection.

MacKay had no balance, raised $390, spent $375 and has $15 left.

Lydon reported no balance, raised no revenue, made no expenditures and has no ending balance.

In uncontested races, Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath had $5,971, raised $70, spent $38 and has $6,003.

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets had $2,039, raised no money, spent $182, and has $1,857.

Margaret Nigro led the spending in the School Committee race.

She had $368, raised $2,933, spent $2,834, and has $466.

Bar Complaint Continued

By LINDA WILKINS

The 536 Bar & Grille, 536 Washington St., Quincy Point, was called before the city's Licensing Board Tuesday after police reported finding underage youths in the establishment.

According to Quincy police officer Robert Edgar, a group of teenagers milling around the front door of the 536 bar on Oct. 19 were dispersed by police approximately five times between 5:30 and 7 p.m. The last time the group was asked to leave the area, Edgar and officer Don Murray observed some members of the group go in the back door of the bar, Edgar said.

Edgar told the board he and Murray also entered the rear door of the bar and observed approximately 60 to 70 patrons inside the establishment.

"A portion of the patrons inside the lounge appeared to be under the legal drinking age. I asked a young lady for her I.D. which she could not display but stated she was underage," the police report stated. Four other patrons could not produce any form of identification and were asked to leave, the report continued.

"We have never served a minor. The night we're talking about was a birthday party, it was an unusual circumstance," said Paul G. Ricciarelli, an owner of the 536 Bar & Grille.

Ricciarelli added that the birthday party was the cause of congestion inside the establishment. He said the bar's seating capacity is for "about 60 or 70 people" but acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti, a License Board member, was concerned that the number of patrons may have exceeded the proper capacity.

Because of the conditions inside the bar, the officers decided to ask for assistance from the area sergeant, Edgar told the board.

"Apparently, this is an ongoing problem," said Sgt. Normand Goyette in regard to youths loitering in the area. "When the police come, they (the youths) go inside the barroom," he added.

Although police did report finding underage youths in the bar, there were no reports of the youths being served alcohol.

"There is no evidence of serving to minors, otherwise, I'd close them down," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

Ward 2 Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro told the board he was concerned about youths on the sidewalk in front of the establishment and in the area in back.

"If that back door were closed, they would have less problems in the back," DeCristofaro said. "And it's his responsibility to see that those kids are not out on the sidewalk in front of his place."

The board voted to continue the hearing for three months. In the interim, the board told Ricciarelli that he will have to alarm the back door and remove its outside hardware so patrons cannot enter the establishment through the rear and install a spotlight in the back of the building. The board also told Ricciarelli not to allow youths to use the establishment as an escape route and not to exceed the seating capacity.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of Marina Bay Condominiums.

At Marina Bay:

Concerns Raised But Condos Seen As 'No Adverse Impact'

By DAN CONNELLY

Several concerns were raised at a hearing on plans for phase II at Marina Bay but an official of the project said it would have no adverse impact on Squantum.

Project Director Walter J. Hannon of the North Quincy-based O'Connell Management Company, said the actual structure will be more appealing to the eye than the artist's rendering of it.

The proposed construction of two pyramid-like shaped luxury condominium buildings, whose height will graduate from five stories east and west to nine stories in the center, would be built between an abandoned airplane hanger and the existing 600-slip marina.

Hannon, former mayor, said the purpose of designing the project in this way is to provide out-of-sight vehicle parking beneath the buildings. "By decreasing the height you spread the project out and wind up with exposed parking lots," he said. "I feel the present design of the project will hopefully go forward as planned," Hannon said. "The key to this entire project has been, and will be to keep it public."

"We've seen other developments where access is required through a gate. This is not so here. This is not that kind of development."

Some of the newer developments around the country are for only limited travel.

Hannon said the overall plan will blend condominiums, marina, and office space. He added that no actual rendering can truly show the depth and dimension of this kind of project.

"Not only has Marina Bay become a focal point and gathering place for thousands of people, but a place to eye the scenic skyline on Boston and the harbor," he added.

The 231-unit condominium proposal was explained by Hannon last Thursday evening during a slide show to about 150 Squantum residents who later expressed concerns about the size of the project and its impact on traffic.

"The roads are all clogged now," said Mary Gougian of Squantum, who is concerned about the traffic the project will generate.

Richard Sheridan, who lost a primary election bid for Ward 6 city councilor, said the project's density, traffic, and sewage are definite concerns.

John Walsh, who lost the city council primary bid for Ward 6, said he believes that the small amount of open space left in Squantum was being exploited.

One resident said after the meeting that she resents the interruption in the view.

Rona Goodman, president of the Squantum Community Association, said she was concerned about the projection that the project would have on the MDC sewer system.

Hannon disagreed that the proposal would have an adverse impact on the neighborhood.

"We are building on only 125 acres in a 440-acre site," Hannon said. "There's so much open space, water, and marsh that it decreases the appearance of density."

Planned as one and two-bedroom units, the balconied-condominiums are expected to sell for $95,000 to $650,000.

The proposal still faces site review by the planning board and approval of the zoning board of appeals to build in a flood plain.

The developers hope to break ground for the buildings in January and finish in the spring of 1987.

was scheduled to be among the agenda items at a meeting of the Quincy Conservation Commission last night (Wednesday).

The meeting was scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall, 1305 Hancock St.

The public hearing was to be in regard to the marina company's intention to drive timber piles to construct an observation platform and catwalks over existing drainage swales at 542 East Squantum St.

Other agenda items scheduled were:

- Request from James D. Asher, Jr., for determination of applicability to repair and replace an AM Broadcast Antenna Ground System at 285 Fenno St.

- Request from Eric R. Stoeckel for determination of applicability to fill land and build a residential structure at 46-52 Cleaves St., Quincy.

VETERANS of World War I salute the flag as the National Anthem is played at the ceremony in the church.

(Quincy Sun photos by Charles Flagg)

HONORARY Chief Marshal of the Veterans Day parade, Joseph Downing, left, accepts a citation from Ralph Paull, right, Commander of the Quincy Veterans Council. Looking on is Joseph Walsh, past state commander of the World War I veterans, who was keynote speaker. Downing is commander of Quincy's 458th World War I Barracks. All reside in Quincy.

22 World War I Veterans Honored

The selfless service World War I veterans gave America in their youth was saluted in their senior years Monday, Nov. 11, as Quincy's annual Veterans Day ceremony held a special "Day of Tribute" for them.

The weather failed to cooperate and Ralph Paull, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, had to cancel the parade. But it did not dampen the spirit of 22 World War I veterans who showed up to participate in a solemn ceremony at the United First Parish Church in Quincy Center.

Following this service the participants adjourned to the Morrisette American Legion Post, 54 Miller St., West Quincy, where these honored senior veterans, nine of whom reside in Quincy, were feted in dignity and honor.

According to events chairman Thomas Hurlsbau, a past commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, some 63 World War I veterans, members of organizations associated with the Quincy council, were contacted to attend the special "Day of Tribute." But illness and the inclement weather narrowed that guest list to 22. That list included:

Frank Anselmo, Peter E. Dunn, Joseph H. Downing, Albert Googins, Carroll L. Hardy, Herbert B. Hollis, Frank Holzer, Edward C. Hulbert, and Joseph E. Walsh, all of Quincy.

Others were: Gustaf W. Anderson and Robert W. Clark, both of West Yarmouth; Howard W. Evis, North Weymouth; Joseph H. Hart, Milton; Walter R. Hearn, Randolph; Carl I. Kjellander and John Kracunas, both of Braintree; William Meade, Randolph; Ernest A. Merritt, Halifax; Clark Overhiser, Barnstable; George W. Shirley, Yarmouth; and Henry S. Wynot of Braintree.

During the luncheon, in which 200 persons attended, Ralph Paull, Commander of the Quincy Veterans Council, and also commander of the Jewish War Veterans Post, extended a welcome. Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley gave the greetings from the city.

State Senator Paul Harold gave each senior veteran a citation from the Massachusetts senate. Harold also presented Tom Hurlsbau with a Norman Rockwell print for his rewarding efforts as chairman.

State Representative Michael Morrissey presented the guests with a citation from the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Other tributes to the World War I veterans came from Quincy City Council President James Sheets and members of the school committee.

Dukakis Signs Petition For QCH Borrowing

Gov. Michael Dukakis has signed a home rule petition authorizing Quincy City Hospital to borrow up to $75 million to replace a portion of the facility.

The home rule petition was sent in by the mayor and city council and was sponsored by Sen. Paul Harold, Representatives Thomas Brownell, Robert Cerasoli and Michael Morrissey.

"The petition was signed in time so that QCH can begin to benefit from the ability to start to borrow money and start the planning, design and construction phase," said Sen. Harold.

The governor signed the petition Tuesday, Harold said.

Lottery Tickets Stolen

A total of 900 instant lottery game tickets worth $900 were reported stolen during the early evening hours Saturday from McNeice's Variety, 205 West Squantum St.

Downtown Employment Office Moving To North Quincy

The Quincy Center offices of the state Division of Employment Security will begin 1986 under a new roof in North Quincy.

DES offices at 1433 Hancock St. and 160 Parkway, will be consolidated into a new building more than two miles away at 1 Billings Rd., North Quincy.

According to Robert Daly, DES supervising manager in Quincy, the move will affect a traffic flow of about 2,500 people who pick up unemployment compensation checks each week, plus those who use the DES Job Matching Office.

Daly said clients will not be inconvenienced by the move.

There is adequate public transportation to the building. The new address is near the MBTA's North Quincy Red Line subway station and Hancock St. bus service.

DES is leasing all of the space inside the new $1.2 million three-story Kelly Enterprises Building.

The office also serves residents from Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Holbrook, Milton, Norwell, Randolph and Weymouth.

VCR, Rings Stolen

Raymond Mazzoleni of Smith St., West Quincy, reported to police that his apartment was ransacked and a $300 Sanyo VCR, and a man's ring and woman's ring valued at $600, and a personal check were stolen.

What Are We Doing About Housing Shortage?

(Editor's note:

A copy of the following letter to the Quincy Planning Board was submitted by Roger B.
Lyons of the Quincy
Apartment Owners Association, to The Quincy Sun for publication.)

Dear Planning Board Members:

It is a recognized fact that there is a housing shortage all over greater Boston as well as in our City of Quincy. What are we doing about it?

Every year, there are more and more legislative proposals requesting additional controls and/or restrictions on the housing industry by our local and state governments that inadvertently created the housing shortage.

The Federal Government, after forty years of being in competition with the private sector in providing housing, is now retreating from the monster it created.

We were promised meetings to discuss these housing issues, but they were never consummated.

Shouldn't our building industry also be consulted and be allowed to give some input in these restrictive housing and financially damaging proposed ordinances?

Aren't the civil rights guaranteed by the Constitution being denied both the builder and landowner in this capricious act?

Mayor McCauley said in his 1985 midterm address, that Quincy "Had the welcome mat out," and
"Present us with a plan that the city can live with that's compatible with the location that you're going into, and will not diminish the quality of life in our city."

Well, is there any building or project that does not comply with this request? If there is, tell us where it is, what's wrong. Let's not use this shotgun approach.

Is there another rezoning trade-off planned to offset the damage this proposed questionable spot zoning will cause?

Reducing the number of units by one-third by increasing the lot area from 2,000 feet to 3,000 feet in Residence "B" virtually eliminates any new small apartment house construction.

Residence C. Increasing the lot area per dwelling unit by 250 feet automatically reduces the units by one-fifth. Where is the reasoning between these two figures?

Parking. Increasing the parking spaces by .25% per unit appears totally unnecessary and unrealistic.
Isn't the national average only 1.2%? Quincy already has one space per car inside the MBTA perimeter, and 1.5
spaces outside the MBTA perimeter.

Where in Quincy is this issue not working? Can we see the report of the traffic engineering firm that was hired to make this study?

With our overtaxed sewers, it would be interesting to know what their reason is to cover so much extra soil with asphalt for the rains to run off into a sewer rather than into the ground.

Why is the small businessman, the backbone of this free nation, the one with that little bit of extra ambition to accomplish the unusual, have to have so many obstacles placed in his path?

Under this proposal, they would be denied the right to build the least expensive housing units in mostly low profile buildings, with only the simple necessities for the working class people, which is so vitally needed.

We need more good new private housing, not less.

We have the builders, but not much land.

We have a lot of people, including our own children, yearning for the limited housing available because of a lack of supply.

The needs of all the city should be addressed, not just the voice of the "I was here first" person.

All the mistakes of the March 22, 1971 rezoning should be examined, studied, and corrected.

Again, shouldn't the building industry be consulted first before any further action is taken on these important housing issues.

Can we have answers to the nine questions raised in this letter?

It May Take Dynamite

Right now it almost looks like the only way an opponent could be sure of getting Mayor Francis McCauley out of City Hall would be with dynamite.

A truck load.
His landslide win over Joanne Condon in last week's city election was the most powerful political performance in Quincy in two decades.

Almost, but not quite, MCCAULEY as lopsided as in 1965 when James McIntyre trounced Joseph
LaRaia to succeed Amelio Della
Chiesa who retired undefeated.

McCauley polled 13,115 votes to Condon's 7,306 -- 64 per cent of the vote and a 5,809 numerical margin. Voter turnout was only 45.4 per cent.

Twenty years ago, McIntyre
blitzed LaRaia, 22,034 to LaRaia's
7,713 -- 74 per cent and a 14,321 vote margin. There was a 65 per cent voter turnout in that election.

Both McIntyre and McCauley carried all 39 precincts.
Well who, if anyone, will have the political courage to take on McCauley two years from now if he decides to seek a fourth term?

Ward 4 Councillor James Sheets and Ward 5 Councillor Steve McGrath who were re-elected unopposed last week, are both interested in making a future run for the mayor's office.

But 1987, on the strength of McCauley's performance last week, might be too soon to make the move. Unless,
McCauley says he has no plans on making the mayor's office his "rest-of-my-life" career.

Some observers are already predicting he could get another "free ride" unopposed if he decides to go for a fourth term. But, at this point, he isn't thinking about another term.

"I won't give it any thought until at least another year," he says. "It will be the latter part of 1986 or early 1987 before I will make that decision."

My decision will depend on a number of things: how successful I am in my third term. What the people think of how I am doing. My health. And so forth."

His health, incidentally, is just fine in case any prospective challengers are running around with a thermometer.

McCauley will be 56 Dec. 27 which means he's in his prime years.

Both McGrath and Sheets can hide their time before making a move. McGrath is only 32 and Sheets is in his early 50's.

Sheets, who cannot succeed himself as City Council president, will be handing the gavel over to McGrath in January. McGrath will be elected unanimously. He has all eight council votes wrapped up, besides his own.

And, if something unforeseen develops and McCauley for some reason decides not to run for a fourth term, the council presidency might give McGrath an advantage. As Council president he will have the opportunity to be in the spotlight more than Sheets or any other councillor or potential challenger.

New Privileges For Clergy Visiting Inmates

Members of the clergy who wish to visit prisoners will soon enjoy the same privileges as lawyers visiting their clients in jail, according to State Senator Paul D. Harold.

Under a new law effective
Nov. 25, the superintendent of a correctional or penal institution may not abridge the right of an inmate to confer with "any accredited member of the clergy," Harold said.

The new law parallels the law which applies to inmate visits by their attorneys. Harold noted.

The visitations may be limited for state prison inmates under rules set by the commissioner of correction, he said.

Harold said the visits by lawyers, and now by clergy, generally allow for meetings outside the normal visiting hours at the institutions.

Only three incumbent mayors have been ousted since 1926 when primary elections were established in Quincy.

Prior to then, Quincy had only final elections in which there could be more than two mayoral candidates and sometimes several splitting the vote.

In primary elections, of course, there can be any number of mayoral candidates but in the final, only two can tango.

Thomas McGrath lost a bid for a fourth term in 1932 when he was defeated by Charles Ross. Walter Hannon lost to Joseph LaRaia in 1975. And, LaRaia, in turn, was defeated by Arthur Tobin in 1977.

Della Chiesa, who retired undefeated, holds Quincy's mayoral longevity record if you count both the Plan A and Plan F forms of government.

Della Chiesa served 12 years four two-year terms under Plan A and two under Plan E. But Plan F mayors were more like a City Council president and ceremonial head while the city manager was the chief executive.

The Plan A mayoral champ was Ross who served nine years.

In winning his third term, McCauley not only captured all 39 precincts but carried 37 of them by at least 55 per cent.

He attributes his big win to his record:

"We ran on the record," he says. "The vast majority of the people apparently are satisfied with the way their city is being run. It's not the problems that come up, but the ability to solve them that is the important thing."

McCauley believes the reduction in the two tax rates even though small also helped him. The residential rate dropped 40 cents and the commercial-industrial 37 cents.

He also says the voters didn't buy Condon's assertion that he was cutting municipal services to the bone.

Does he want to go down in history as the city's all-time mayoral champion in length of service?

"No," he says. "I just want to be one of the best."

But he isn't ruling out a fourth term bid. Nor, for that matter, a fifth term which would give him the title.

"Let's just wait and see what happens," he says.

MEANWHILE, some observers think that Joanne Condon should have made the city council at-large her first city wide bid instead of mayor.

And, if elected, she could have waited for a more opportune time to make her move to become Quincy's first woman mayor.

Some of them believe she could have won an at-large seat this year.

Condon, who ran a vigorous campaign, says she will be back.
And, she has history in her favor.

McIntyre came back to win the mayor's office after losing to Della Chiesa in 1959. True, McIntyre was only 29 then and lost by only 2,117 votes to the old master.

But, LaRaia, after being crushed by McIntyre in 1965 came back to win the mayor's office away from Walter Hannon in 1975 by 483 votes on a recount.

LaRaia served two stormy years and was ousted by Tobin.

But he's still around and going strong.

Last week he topped the five-man city council at-large field.

LaRaia edged Richard Koch, Jr.
by 238 votes, 12,295 to 12,057.
Incumbent Patricia Toland was third with 10,776. Lone challenger Ron Iacobucci was only 339 votes behind her with 10,437.

Two years ago Iacobucci finished 1,037 votes behind Toland and though disappointed he didn't make it this year, he feels he is closing in.

And may give it one more run in 1987.

It's Still 'Armistice Day' For World War I Vets

By DAN CONNELLY
Joseph Walsh, past State Commander of the World War I Veterans delivered this address at Quincy's Veterans Day exercises Monday, Nov. 11 at the United First Parish Church in Quincy Ctr.

"We assemble here today, in this historical church to pay tribute to all veterans of all conflicts, and to all branches of the military services.

"Today is now observed as Veterans Day and unites all who served.

"Nov. 11th was recognized during the period after World War I as Armistice Day.

"After a fake cease fire in November 1918, a commission was appointed and after a careful summation it was proposed and agreed upon that the war actually terminated on Nov. 11th at the 11th hour, 11th day and the 11th month. To the remaining few of us veterans of World War I, we would consider it a distinct privilege to continue to accept it among ourselves as Armistice Day.

"The year was 1914 a long time ago; 71 years ago and Europe was a long way from America; some 3,000 miles reached only by steamship for there was no swift airlines at that time and in 1914, America seemed safe and isolated from the mounting troubles of the European nations and the rising military power of imperial Germany under Kaiser Wilhelm even when a little known Serbian Archduke was assassinated, triggering World War I.

"It made little impression on the United States; for hadn't George Washington told us many decades before, to stay out of foreign entanglements; and that was good enough for us.

"Germany, with its man power might, its vast submarine and surface fleet was awesome. We read about submarine fleets that sank millions of tons of shipping bringing starvation and panic to European nations.

"We read about the front lines of France, where brave soldiers were killed by the thousands just for a few yards of muddy turf and we heard the term: No Man's Land, which told us that neither side owned the territory. I-I it was just a needless loss of lives on both sides.

"And what about the two-million men who made it to the battle front, soldiers of World War I. The Doughboys.

"They left the United States to the cheers of the populace singing: Over There...Over There. Smile Darn You Smile, and The Yanks Are Coming.

"K-K-Katy and the cry of 'Lafayette We Are Here, echoed through Paris as the first contingents of American troops marched down the Champ Elysee on July 4, 1917.

"Germany never imagined that America could do what it was doing; put two million combat-ready soldiers in the field, adequately supplied and ready for action.

JOSEPH WALSH

"Germany had 250 divisions against less than 170 allied divisions.

"French warfare turned into 'Over the Top.'

"General of the United States Armed Forces better known as General John 'Black' Pershing, knew that the only way to win the war was to break the stalemate and attack the Germans, and the trench-type warfare. So it was 'Over the Top' to get the job done.

"The familiar names of battle areas: Sudan, St. Mihiel, Chateau and Thierry, The Marne, Anise River, the Meuse, Mountfaucou, and Verdun were a few along the way of the expeditionary American forces involvements to destroy the Germany army.

"Armistice was signed and World War I ended on the 11th hour - 11th day - 11th month.

"More than 29 nations were involved in World War I. Some 65 million servicemen and women were involved throughout the war. Eight million were killed and casualties reach 21 million; devastation costs were beyond calculation.

"Two-hundred thousand men and women from Massachusetts enlisted into various branches of the Armed Forces.

"The Yankee Division, organized in Boston on August 20, 1917, was the first full American division to land in France.

"The Lost Battalion, under the command of Maj. Charles Whittlesey won high praise and many honors.

"Time, on its march has taken most of the brave men and women of World War I, to the great campaign in the sky and we meet here today, on the 11th hour - 11th day - 11th month so long after, to honor and pay tribute to our former buddies and sisters of World War I, and to all departed veterans that engaged in our countries' conflicts.

"The national number of living members of World War I is 772,000, out of 4 million. Buddies and sisters are dying at a rate of more than nine-per-day. The trials of war is over for them. May they rest in Peace. Amen."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Coolidge Tops Dever Here On Recount

Upon re-checking the votes of last week's election, City Clerk Hattiemay Thomas announced that Arthur Coolidge defeated Paul Dever for Governor by 82 votes in Quincy.

A re-check of the returns showed a 500-vote mistake. Mrs. Thomas said the mistake probably resulted when blank votes were being transferred. Ballots were impounded because Fred Ayer, candidate for Attorney General was considering a recount.

DOUGHBOY STATUE RE-DEDICATED

The Doughboy Statue, Quincy's World War I monument was re-dedicated this week at its new location on the lawn of the Adams Academy.

The bronze statue was designed by Quincy veteran Bruce Wilder Saville. It originally stood in front of the Coddington School.

Unveiling the statue at the re-dedication was Mrs. Victoria Morrisette of West Quincy, mother of Cyril Morrisette, the first Quincy boy killed in the war and for whom Morrisette Legion Post was named. Charles Ross, president of the City Council made the dedication address.

CORNERSTONE LAID AT WOLLASTON LUTHERAN

The cornerstone was laid for the new $80,000 addition to the Wollaston Lutheran Church at Hancock St. and Ellington Rd.

The cornerstone was actually the original stone laid in 1934 with the date 1950 added. When finished, the addition would furnish a superstructure above the basement church building. On hand for the ceremony were members of the building committee: Rudolph Sittinger, chairman, Robert Just, Lawrence Ordway, Gunnar Munick, Alfred Finger and pastor Rev. Elmer Kettner.

SQUANTUM WOMEN URGED TO FIGHT POLLUTION OF BAY

Mrs. William Voight, president of the Squantum Women's Club, urged members to attend the public hearings on pollution of Quincy Bay in the State House.

"Pollution is such a vital problem to the people of Squantum that residents should make a special effort to attend the hearings," she said.

Nuclear Weapons Freeze Vigil At City Hall Saturday

A Silent Vigil, sponsored by Congressional District 11 Nuclear Weapons Freeze (CD 11 Freeze), will be held Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. at City Hall Plaza in Quincy.

The purpose of the vigil is to entreat President Reagan to negotiate in good faith at Geneva for a Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty.

Similar vigils and other pre-Summit observances will be held in at least 31 cities and towns in the commonwealth. Anyone wishing to join in sending the message to Washington, D.C., is invited to take part in all or part of the Silent Vigil.

George Pappas, Moderator of CD 11 Freeze, will represent the group at the pre-Summit National Freeze Conference in Chicago Friday and Saturday.

The conference, at which Jesse Jackson will be featured speaker, will decide the direction the Freeze campaign will follow in 1986.

"There is a strong grassroots movement," said Pappas, "to keep the emphasis on the achievement of a Comprehensive Freeze that is both bilateral and verifiable, and to work for legislative actions on items already agreed to by the Soviets or strictly conditioned by Soviet compliance."

United Way At 68% Of Drive Goal

United Way has reached the 68 percent mark in its goal for the 1985 fund-raising drive.

South Division Chairman David B. Lynch, chairman of the Multibank Financial Corporation of Quincy, said a total $572,179 has been raised in the surrounding communities south of Boston. This figure represents 68 percent of South Division's goal of $838,000.
